(3) The board shall make periodic estimates of the amount needed from the fund for payment of losses resulting from claims, including a reasonable reserve, and administrative, organizational, and interim operating expenses and shall notify the director of the amount needed and the justification of the board for the request.

(4) The director shall approve all withdrawals from the fund and may determine when and in what amount any additional withdrawals may be necessary from the fund to assure the continuing financial stability of the pool.

(5) No later than May 1, 2002, and each May 1 thereafter, after funding of the net loss from operation of the pool for the prior premium and related retaliatory tax year, taking into account the policyholder premiums, account investment income, claims, costs of operation, and other appropriate gains and losses, the director shall transmit any money remaining in the fund as directed by section 77-912, disregarding the provisions of subdivisions (1) through (3) of such section. Interest earned on money in the fund shall be credited proportionately in the same manner as premium and related retaliatory taxes set forth in section 77-912.

44-4226 Major medical expense coverage required; considerations.

(1) The pool shall offer major medical expense coverage to every eligible individual. The pool coverage, its schedule of benefits, and exclusions and other limitations shall be established through rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the director taking into consideration the advice and recommendations of the members.

(2) In establishing the pool coverage, the director shall take into consideration the levels of individual health insurance coverage provided in the state and such medical economic factors as may be deemed appropriate and shall determine benefit levels, deductibles, coinsurance and stop-loss factors, exclusions, and limitations determined to be generally reflective of and commensurate with individual health insurance coverage provided by the ten insurers writing the largest amount of individual health insurance coverage in the state.

(3) Pool coverage established under this section shall provide both an appropriate high and low deductible to be selected by the pool applicant. The deductibles and coinsurance and stop-loss factors may be adjusted annually according to the medical component of the Consumer Price Index.

44-4227 Premium and standard risk rates; how determined.

(1)(a) For calendar years prior to January 1, 2010, rates and rate schedules may be adjusted for appropriate risk factors such as age, sex, and area variation in claim costs in accordance with established actuarial and underwriting practices. Special rates shall be provided for children under eighteen years of age.

(b) For calendar years prior to January 1, 2010, the pool, with the assistance of an independent actuary, shall determine the standard risk rate by calculating the average individual rate charged by the five insurers writing the largest amount of individual health insurance coverage in the state actuarially adjusted to be comparable with the pool coverage, except that such five insurers shall not include any insurer which has not been writing individual health insurance coverage in this state in at least the three preceding calendar years. The selection of the independent actuary shall be subject to the approval of the director. In the event five insurers do not offer comparable coverage, the standard risk rate shall be established using reasonable actuarial techniques and shall reflect anticipated risk experience and expenses for such coverage. The annual premium rate established for pool coverage shall be one hundred thirty-five percent of rates established as applicable for individual standard risks, except that the annual premium rate established for pool coverage for children under eighteen years of age shall be sixty-seven and five-tenths percent of rates established as applicable for individual standard risks.

(2)(a) For calendar years beginning on and after January 1, 2010, rates and rate schedules may be adjusted for appropriate risk factors such as age, sex, and area variation in claim costs in accordance with established actuarial and underwriting practices.

(b)(i) For calendar years beginning on and after January 1, 2010, the pool, with the assistance of an independent actuary, shall determine the standard risk rate by calculating the average individual rate charged by the ten insurers writing the largest amount of individual health insurance coverage in the state actuarially adjusted to be comparable with the pool coverage, except that such ten insurers shall not include any insurer which has not been writing individual health insurance coverage in this state in at least the three preceding calendar years. The selection of the independent actuary shall be subject to the approval of the director. In the event ten insurers do not offer comparable coverage, the standard risk rate shall be established using reasonable actuarial techniques and shall reflect anticipated risk experience and expenses for such coverage.

(ii)(A) The annual premium rate established for pool coverage for calendar year 2010 (I) shall be one hundred forty percent of rates established as applicable for individual standard risks or (II) shall be the rates established as applicable for individual standard risks for the previous calendar year adjusted by a trend factor reflecting medical economic factors as the board deems appropriate, whichever is greater.

(B) The annual premium rate established for pool coverage for calendar year 2011 (I) shall be one hundred forty-five percent of rates established as applicable for individual standard risks or (II) shall be the rates established as applicable for individual standard risks for the previous calendar year adjusted by a trend factor reflecting medical economic factors as the board deems appropriate, whichever is greater.

(C) The annual premium rate established for pool coverage for calendar year 2012 and each calendar year thereafter (I) shall be one hundred fifty percent of rates established as applicable for individual standard risks or (II) shall be the rates established as applicable for individual standard risks for the previous calendar year adjusted by a trend factor reflecting medical economic factors as the board deems appropriate, whichever is greater.

(3) The board shall not adjust or increase pool rates more than one time during any calendar year. All rates and rate schedules shall be submitted to the director for approval. The director shall hold a public hearing pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act prior to approving an adjustment to or increase in pool rates.

44-4228 Pool coverage; exclusions; application for coverage; requirements.

(1) Pool coverage shall exclude charges or expenses incurred during the first six months following the effective date of pool coverage as to any condition (a) which had manifested itself during the six-month period immediately preceding the effective date of pool coverage in such a manner as would cause an ordinarily prudent person to seek diagnosis, care, or treatment or (b) for which medical advice, care, or treatment was recommended or received during the six-month period immediately preceding the effective date of pool coverage.

(2) Any individual whose health coverage is involuntarily terminated on or after January 1, 1992, and who is not eligible for a conversion policy or a continuation-of-coverage policy or contract available under state or federal law may apply for pool coverage but shall submit proof of eligibility pursuant to subdivision (1)(a) of section 44-4221. If such proof is supplied and if pool coverage is applied for under the Comprehensive Health Insurance Pool Act within sixty days after the involuntary termination and if premiums are paid to the pool for the entire coverage period, any waiting period or preexisting condition exclusions provided for under the pool coverage shall be waived to the extent similar exclusions, if any, under the previous health coverage have been satisfied and the effective date of the pool coverage shall be the day following termination of the previous health coverage. The board may assess an additional premium for pool coverage provided pursuant to this subsection notwithstanding the premium limitations stated in section 44-4227. For purposes of this section, an individual whose health coverage is involuntarily terminated means an individual whose health insurance or health plan is terminated by reason of the withdrawal by the insurer from this state, bankruptcy or insolvency of the employer or employer trust fund, or cessation by the employer of providing any group health plan for all of its employees.

(3) Any individual whose health coverage under a continuation-of-coverage policy or contract available under state or federal law terminates or is involuntarily terminated on or after July 1, 1993, for any reasons other than nonpayment of premium may apply for pool coverage but shall submit proof of eligibility applied for within ninety days after the termination or involuntary termination. If premiums are paid to the pool for the entire coverage period, the effective date of the pool coverage shall be the day following termination of the previous coverage under the continuation-of-coverage policy or contract. Any waiting period or preexisting condition exclusions provided for under the pool shall be waived to the extent similar exclusions, if any, under any prior health coverage have been satisfied.

(4) Subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to an individual who has received medical assistance pursuant to the Medical Assistance Act or section 43-522 or an organ transplant recipient terminated from coverage under medicare during the six-month period immediately preceding the effective date of coverage.

(5) All waiting periods and preexisting conditions shall be waived for an individual eligible for pool coverage under subdivision (1)(b) of section 44-4221.

(6) The waiting period and preexisting condition exclusions are waived for a qualified trade adjustment assistance eligible individual under subdivision (1)(c) of section 44-4221 if the individual maintained creditable coverage for an aggregate period of three months as of the date on which the individual seeks to enroll in pool coverage, not counting any period prior to a sixty-three-day break in coverage.

44-4230 Recovery of noncovered expenses; cause of action; subrogation.

The pool shall have a cause of action against a covered individual for the recovery of the amount of benefits paid which are not for covered expenses. Benefits due from the pool may be reduced or refused as a setoff against any amount recoverable under this section. The pool shall have a right of subrogation to any payments made to a covered individual by another person or his or her insurer on account of an injury caused by such other person's wrongful act or negligence.

44-4233 Member; offset tax liability.

(1) Any member subject to premium and related retaliatory tax liability imposed by section 44-150 or 77-908 may offset assessments paid to the pool by such member against its tax liability in the year of payment or subsequent years. The member may offset such paid assessments against (a) subsequent premium tax prepayments imposed by section 77-918, (b) subsequent premium tax payments imposed by section 77-908, and (c) related retaliatory tax liability imposed by section 44-150. Prior to January 1, 2004, no individual member shall be subject to any liability of the pool in excess of its premium and related retaliatory tax liability which may be offset under this section.

(2) Commencing with assessments imposed or paid in 1991 and for all subsequent years prior to January 1, 2004, whenever it reasonably appears to the satisfaction of the board that a member has during a calendar year paid assessments that exceed that member's premium and related retaliatory tax liability for that calendar year, the board shall, upon request from such member, order the refund to that member of the amount of the assessment that exceeded that member's premium and related retaliatory tax liability. A member's request for a refund shall be filed with the board not later than thirty days after the due date of the member's premium tax return filed with the department. If the refund is not made by the board within thirty days after receipt of the refund request, the member may within thirty days thereafter initiate a suit in district court for the amount claimed. The suit shall be heard by the district court de novo. In the event that an assessment against a member is limited by reason of that member's premium and related retaliatory tax liability, the amount by which the assessment is limited may be assessed against the other members in a manner consistent with the basis for assessments specified in subsection (3) of section 44-4225.

Section

44-4301 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-4301 to 44-4339 shall be known and may be cited as the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act.

44-4302 Legislative findings.

The Legislature hereby finds and declares that protection against losses due to liability and damage or loss of property and provision of employee benefit plans is essential to the proper functioning of state and local government. The resources of state and local governmental agencies are often burdened by the securing of necessary insurance protection and employee benefits through standard insurance carriers. In addition, the Legislature finds that benefits can be derived through pooling of purchasing by state and local government. Proper risk management requires the spreading of risk so as to minimize fluctuation in insurance needs. The Legislature further finds that all contributions of financial and administrative resources made by state and local governmental agencies pursuant to an agreement authorized by the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act are made for a public and governmental purpose.

44-4303 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Accident insurance means insurance against loss of expense resulting from the sickness of the insured, from the bodily injury or death of the insured by accident, or both;

(2) Dental insurance means a contractual arrangement to provide specified dental services, in consideration of a specified payment for an interval of time, regardless of whether the payment is made by the beneficiaries individually or by a third person for them, in such a manner that the total cost of such services is to be spread directly or indirectly among a group of persons;

(3) Errors and omissions liability means liability to which a member of a governing body of a public agency, an elected or appointed officer of a public agency, or an employee of a public agency may be subject in an individual capacity by reason of any error, misstatement, misleading statement, act, omission, neglect of duty, or breach of duty, including misfeasance or nonfeasance, in the performance of duties for the public agency;

(4) General liability means any liability, other than workers' compensation liability, to which a public agency may be subject (a) directly, (b) by reason of liability arising out of an act or omission of its employee, agent, or officer in the course and scope of employment, (c) by reason of liability arising out of an act or omission of its student in the course and scope of education or training, or (d) by reason of liability it has assumed by contract. It includes, but is not limited to, liability commonly protected against by casualty insurance, general liability insurance, professional liability insurance, automobile insurance, motor vehicle liability insurance, and surety and fidelity insurance;

(5) Group self-insurance means the pooling of public money by a risk management pool from contributions by its members for the purpose of payment of losses incurred by members which are protected against by the pool;

(6) Health insurance means any hospital, surgical, or medical expense-incurred policy or health maintenance organization contract. Health insurance does not include (a) accident-only, disability income, hospital confinement indemnity, dental, or credit insurance, (b) coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance, (c) medicare or insurance provided as a supplement to medicare, (d) insurance arising from workers' compensation provisions, (e) automobile medical payment insurance, (f) any other specific limited coverage, or (g) insurance under which benefits are payable with or without regard to fault and which is statutorily required to be contained in any liability insurance policy;

(7) Life insurance means insurance upon lives of persons, including endowments and annuities, and every insurance pertaining thereto and disability benefits;

(8) Member means a public agency which is a party to an agreement providing for the establishment and operation of a risk management pool;

(9) Public agency means any county, city, village, school district, public power district, rural fire district, or other political subdivision of this state, the State of Nebraska, the University of Nebraska, and any corporation whose primary function is to act as an instrumentality or agency of the State of Nebraska;

(10) Risk management pool or pool means an association formed by two or more public agencies by an agreement pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk

Management Act providing for joint and cooperative action in the use of their financial or administrative resources in order to accomplish any of the public and governmental purposes authorized by the act;

(11) Standard insurance means any policy of insurance issued by a company licensed to transact insurance business in the State of Nebraska or any policy of insurance issued in accordance with the requirements for a lawful surplus lines insurance transaction;

(12) State of Nebraska includes any department, agency, board, bureau, commission, or council of the State of Nebraska authorized to participate in a risk management pool by the Risk Manager pursuant to section 81-8,239.01; and

(13) Workers' compensation liability means liability to which a public agency may be subject as an employer under the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act.

44-4304 Risk management pool; agreements authorized.

(1) Any two or more public agencies may make and execute an agreement providing for joint and cooperative action in accordance with the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act to form, become members of, and operate a risk management pool for the purpose of providing to members risk management services and insurance coverages in the form of group self-insurance or standard insurance, including any combination of group self-insurance and standard insurance, to protect members against losses arising from any of the following:

(a) General liability;

(b) Damage, destruction, or loss of real or personal property, including, but not limited to, loss of use or occupancy, and loss of income or extra expense resulting from loss of use or occupancy;

(c) Errors and omissions liability; and

(d) Workers' compensation liability.

(2) Any two or more public agencies, other than school districts and educational service units, may make and execute an agreement providing for joint and cooperative action in accordance with the act to form, become members of, and operate a risk management pool for the purpose of providing to members risk management services and insurance coverages in the form of group self-insurance or standard insurance, including any combination of group self-insurance and standard insurance, to provide health, dental, accident, and life insurance to member's employees and officers.

44-4305 Risk management pool; powers.

(1) Any risk management pool organized pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, whether or not a body corporate, shall have the power to sue and be sued, make contracts, hold and dispose of real and personal property, borrow money, contract debt, and pledge any pool assets in the name of the pool.

(2) The power to make contracts prescribed in subsection (1) of this section shall specifically include the power to establish the risk management pool as a separate legal or administrative entity.

Source: Laws 1987, LB 398, § 5.

44-4306 Risk management pool; agreement; contents.

Any agreement entered into for the purpose of establishing and operating a risk management pool shall provide:

(1) A financial plan setting forth in general terms the:

(a) Types of insurance coverage to be offered by the pool, applicable deductible levels, and maximum level of claims which the pool will self-insure;

(b) Amount of cash reserves to be set aside for the payment of claims;

(c) Amount of standard insurance to be purchased by the pool to provide coverage over and above the claims which are not to be satisfied directly from the pool's resources; and

(d) Amount of aggregate excess insurance coverage and specific excess insurance coverage to be purchased in a given fiscal period; and

(2) A plan of management setting forth:

(a) The means of establishing the governing authority of the pool. (i) The governing authority shall be a board of directors who are elected or appointed officials of member public agencies. (ii) The number of members of the board who are either elected or appointed officials of member public agencies shall not be less than the requisite number of members needed to transact all the business of the pool;

(b) The responsibility of the board of directors with regard to fixing annual contributions to the pool from members, maintaining reserves, levying and collecting from members assessments for deficiencies, disposing of surpluses, and administering the pool in the event of termination or insolvency;

(c) A procedure by which new members may be admitted to and existing members may leave the pool. The procedure shall permit members to withdraw from participation in a pool. Withdrawal shall not affect the obligations of the withdrawing member under any contract or agreement with the pool or impair the payment of any outstanding bonds or any interest on such bonds;

(d) The identification of funds and reserves by exposure area;

(e) A provision requiring that all claims shall be paid promptly;

(f) A provision requiring that no part of the net earnings or assets of the pool shall inure to the benefit of any private person;

(g) A provision requiring that, upon dissolution of the pool, all of the assets of the pool will vest in member public agencies in the manner set forth in the plan of management;

(h) A system or program of loss control; and

(i) Any other standards, procedures, or practices necessary or desirable for the continued operation of the pool.

44-4307 Certificate of authority; issuance; fee.

(1) A risk management pool shall not provide any form of group self-insurance to its members until it has received a certificate of authority to do so from the Department of Insurance. Such certificate shall expire on the last day of April in each year and shall be renewed annually thereafter if the risk management pool has continued to comply with the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act and the rules and regulations of the Department of Insurance adopted and promulgated thereunder.

(2) The Department of Insurance shall issue a certificate of authority to a risk management pool if the Director of Insurance determines:

(a) That the pool's financial plan and plan of management and any amendments thereto satisfy the requirements of section 44-4306;

(b) That the pool has adequate surplus and reserves and will receive adequate financial contributions from its members in order to operate in a manner which is not hazardous to the public; and

(c) That any individual, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or other entity engaged by the pool to provide services in connection with its management or operation is capable of running the affairs of the pool, is of good character and known business ability, and has a practical knowledge of the executive duties of conducting a risk management pool.

(3) The filing fee for a certificate of authority issued pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act shall be one thousand dollars.

44-4308 Rules and regulations.

The Department of Insurance may adopt and promulgate reasonable rules and regulations (1) requiring a risk management pool to maintain reserves similar to those required of a domestic insurance company offering the same coverage as the group self-insurance coverage offered by a pool to its members, (2) requiring prior approval by the Director of Insurance before a risk management pool distributes dividends to its members in order to ensure that adequate reserves will be maintained, (3) requiring a risk management pool to process and act upon claims in accordance with the guidelines applicable for domestic insurance companies, and (4) requiring the pool to notify the Department of Insurance thirty days in advance of any change in the contribution level of the members, of any change in the coverages offered by the pool, and of any amendments to the agreement establishing the pool.

44-4309 Risk management pool; termination of participation; effect.

(1) A member of a risk management pool may voluntarily terminate its participation in the pool by giving written notice to the other members of the pool and the Director of Insurance at least ninety days prior to the desired termination date. Such voluntary termination shall be approved by the Director of Insurance if he or she finds that the terminating member and the remaining members of the pool are in good standing and have met all requirements of the laws of this state, any rules or regulations adopted and promulgated by the Department of Insurance pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, and any bylaws of the risk management pool.

(2) A member of a risk management pool may be involuntarily terminated as a member of the pool if the Director of Insurance finds, after due notice and hearing, that the member (a) has failed to pay any contribution or assessment due to the pool, (b) has failed to discharge any other obligation it owes to the pool, or (c) has failed to comply with any laws of this state, any rules or regulations adopted and promulgated by the Department of Insurance pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, or any bylaw of the risk management pool. Such hearing may be initiated by the Director of Insurance on his or her own initiative or at the request of the pool's board of directors.

(3) Any member of a risk management pool which voluntarily terminates its membership in the pool or which is involuntarily terminated as a member of the pool shall nevertheless remain liable subsequent to the date of termination for all contractual obligations it has entered into with the pool on or before the date of termination.

44-4310 Risk management pool; report; examination.

(1) On or before March 1 of each year after a risk management pool has received a certificate of authority as prescribed in section 44-4307, it shall make and file with the Department of Insurance a report of its affairs and operations during the last preceding calendar year. Such report shall be made in such form and shall contain such information as the Director of Insurance may by rule or regulation prescribe in order to protect the public interest and the interests of the members of the pool. Upon application to and approval by the director, an individual pool may make and file the report on or before a date other than March 1 for a different twelve-month period in order to correspond with the applicable fiscal year established by the pool. The director may require any individual pool to file additional periodic reports as he or she may find to be reasonably necessary and appropriate to protect and inform members of the pool and the public, to insure solvency of the pool, and to insure fair dealings in the investments of the pool.

(2) The department shall examine the business affairs, records, and assets of each pool once every four years to assure that the pool is financially sound. The department may examine a pool sooner than four years from the preceding examination if the director has reason to believe that the pool is not financially sound. Any examination conducted by the department pursuant to this subsection shall be at the expense of the pool being examined.

44-4311 Risk management pool; dissolution.

A risk management pool shall not be voluntarily dissolved or otherwise cease to function without written approval by the Director of Insurance after he or she has determined that all claims and other legal obligations of the pool have been paid or that adequate provisions for such payment have been made.

44-4312 Risk management pool; deficiency; assessment required.

(1) If the assets of a risk management pool are at any time insufficient to enable the pool to discharge its liabilities and other obligations and to maintain adequate reserves and surpluses in accordance with reasonable determinations by the Department of Insurance, the pool shall make up the deficiency or the Director of Insurance shall order the pool to levy an assessment upon its members in an amount necessary to make up the deficiency.

(2) If the risk management pool fails to make up a deficiency or to make the required assessment of its members pursuant to subsection (1) of this section within thirty days after the Director of Insurance orders it to do so or if the deficiency is not fully made up within sixty days after the date on which such assessment is made or within such longer period of time as may be specified by the Director of Insurance, the pool shall be proceeded against in the same manner as provided for domestic insurers. The Director of Insurance shall have the same powers, duties, and limitations in such proceeding as are provided for in a proceeding against a domestic insurer.

(3) If the liquidation of a risk management pool is ordered, an assessment shall be levied upon its members for such amount as the Director of Insurance determines is necessary to discharge all liabilities of the pool, including the reasonable costs of liquidation.

Source: Laws 1987, LB 398, § 12.

44-4313 Risk management pool; investment of funds.

The capital, surplus, and other funds, or any part thereof, of any risk management pool may be invested as authorized under the Insurers Investment Act for an insurer.

44-4316 Funds, how construed.

Funds set aside by any public agency for a risk management pool shall not be construed to be a cash reserve or a sinking fund.

Source: Laws 1987, LB 398, § 16.

44-4317 Public agency; tax levy; agreements; authorized.

(1)(a) Any public agency which has the authority to levy a tax shall be authorized to levy a tax, to contract indebtedness, and to issue general obligation bonds payable from such a tax levy to pay the premium costs of general liability insurance, property insurance, workers' compensation insurance, health, dental, or accident insurance, life insurance, and any other insurance to protect against any of the losses described in section 44-4304 and to pay all costs and expenses associated with membership in a risk management pool, including, but not limited to, standard insurance coverages, group self-insurance coverages, assessments levied by the pool, retirement of debt incurred by the pool, and operating expenses of the pool.

(b) A member of a risk management pool which has the authority to levy a tax shall be authorized to enter into agreements obligating the member to make payments beyond its current budget year for any of such purposes.

(c) Taxes levied by a public agency other than an educational service unit or school district for the payment of the principal of, premium of, or interest on such a general obligation bond of such public agency, the payment of such insurance premium costs, and the payment of all costs and expenses associated with membership in a risk management pool may be levied in excess of any tax limitation imposed by statute.

(d) Except as permitted in subdivision (1)(e) of this section, taxes levied by an educational service unit or school district on or after April 3, 2008, for the payment of the principal of, premium of, or interest on such a general obligation bond of such public agency, the payment of such insurance premium costs, and the payment of all costs and expenses associated with membership in a risk management pool shall be subject to the levy limit applicable to such public agency under section 77-3442.

(e) Taxes levied by an educational service unit or school district for the payment of the principal of, premium of, or interest on such a general obligation bond of such educational service unit or school district issued prior to April 3, 2008, shall be excluded from the levy limit applicable to such public agency under section 77-3442.

(2) Nothing in the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act shall be construed or interpreted as permitting the State of Nebraska, represented by the Risk Manager, to enter into any agreement or contract or do any act in contravention of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

44-4320 Payment to director; computation.

Every risk management pool shall pay to the Director of Insurance, on or before March 1 of each year, an amount equal to five-tenths of one percent of annual contributions received by the pool less any amount paid for excess or aggregate insurance during the immediately preceding calendar year for health, dental, and accident coverage and one percent of annual contributions received by the pool less any amount paid for excess or aggregate insurance during the immediately preceding calendar year for coverage of all other risks included within the pool's group self-insurance program. A pool which has a scheme of operations that contemplates a return of a portion of the contributions of pool members without such members being claimants under the pool's insuring agreements may deduct such return contributions and any dividends paid during the immediately preceding calendar year from the pool's contributions for the purpose of calculating the amount due. The computation of such amount shall be made on forms furnished by the Department of Insurance which shall be filed with the department together with a sworn statement by the pool's chief operating officer attesting to the accuracy of the computation. The department shall furnish such forms to each pool prior to the end of the year for which such amount is payable together with any information relative to computation of the amount as may be necessary. Upon receipt of payment, the director shall audit and examine the computations and satisfy himself or herself that the amount paid is in conformity with this section. The director shall transmit such payments to the State Treasurer. One-half of the payments shall be handled in the manner prescribed in section 77-913, and the remaining one-half of such payments shall be deposited in the General Fund promptly upon completion of the director's audit and examination and in no event later than May 1 of each year.

44-4321 Bonds; issuance.

Subject only to any agreement with the holders of outstanding bonds, a risk management pool may issue such types of bonds as its board may determine, including bonds as to which the principal and interest are payable exclusively from all or a portion of the revenue from one or more revenue-producing contracts made by the risk management pool with any person, or from its revenue generally, or which may be additionally secured by a pledge of any grant, subsidy, or contribution from any person, by a pledge of any income, revenue, funds, or money of the risk management pool from any source whatsoever, or by a mortgage or security interest in any real or personal property, commodity, or product or any service or interest therein.

44-4322 Bonds; amount.

A risk management pool may from time to time issue its bonds in such principal amounts as its board of directors deems necessary to provide sufficient funds to carry out any of the risk management pool's purposes and powers, including the establishment or increase of reserves and the payment of all other costs or expenses of the risk management pool incident to and necessary or convenient to carry out its purposes and powers.

Source: Laws 1987, LB 398, § 22.

44-4323 Liability for bonds.

(1) Neither the members of a risk management pool's board of directors nor any person executing the bonds shall be liable personally on such bonds by reason of the issuance thereof.

(2) The bonds shall not be a debt, liability, or general obligation of any member of a risk management pool or of this state, and neither this state nor any member of a risk management pool shall be liable thereon. Neither the faith and credit nor the taxing power of any member of a risk management pool or of the state shall be pledged to the payment of the principal or interest on the bonds. Bonds shall be payable only out of any funds or properties of the issuing risk management pool. Such limitations shall be plainly stated upon the face of the bonds.

44-4324 Bonds; issuance; terms.

Bonds shall be authorized by resolution of the issuing risk management pool's board of directors, may be issued under a resolution or under a trust indenture or other security instrument in one or more series, and shall bear such date or dates, mature at such time or times, bear interest at such rate or rates, be in such denomination or denominations, be in such form, either coupon or registered, carry such conversion or registration privileges, have such rank or priority, be executed in such manner, be payable in such medium of payment and at such place or places, and be subject to such terms of redemption, with or without premium, as such resolution, trust indenture, or other security instrument may provide and without limitation by the provisions of any other law limiting amounts, maturities, or interest rates. Any officer authorized or designated to sign, countersign, execute, or attest any bond or any coupon may utilize a facsimile signature in lieu of his or her manual signature.

44-4325 Bonds; negotiable; sale.

(1) Except as the issuing risk management pool's board of directors may otherwise provide, any bond and any interest coupons thereto attached shall be fully negotiable within the meaning and for all purposes of article 8, Uniform Commercial Code.

(2) The bonds may be sold at public or private sale as the issuing risk management pool's board of directors may provide and at such price or prices as such board shall determine.

44-4326 Signatures; validity.

In case any officers whose signatures appear on any bonds or coupons cease to be such officers before the delivery of such obligations, such signatures shall nevertheless be valid and sufficient for all purposes to the same extent as if such officers had remained in office until such delivery.

Source: Laws 1987, LB 398, § 26.

44-4327 Bonds; risk management pool; powers.

A risk management pool shall have power in connection with the issuance of its bonds:

(1) To covenant as to the use of any or all of its property, real or personal;

(2) To redeem the bonds, to covenant for their redemption, and to provide the terms and conditions thereof;

(3) To covenant to charge or seek necessary approval to charge fees and charges sufficient to meet operating and maintenance expenses of the risk management pool, interest and principal payments, whether at maturity or upon sinking fund redemption, on any outstanding bonds or other indebtedness of the risk management pool, and creation and maintenance of any reasonable reserves therefor and to provide for any margins or coverages over and above debt service on the bonds deemed desirable for the marketability or security of the bonds;

(4) To covenant and prescribe as to events of default and terms and conditions upon which any or all of its bonds shall become or may be declared due before maturity, as to the terms and conditions upon which such declaration and its consequences may be waived, and as to the consequences of default and the remedies of bondholders;

(5) To covenant as to the mortgage or pledge of or the grant of any other security interest in any real or personal property and all or any part of the revenue from any revenue-producing contract or contracts made by the risk management pool with any person to secure the payment of bonds, subject to such agreements with the holders of outstanding bonds as may then exist;

(6) To covenant as to the custody, collection, securing, investment, and payment of any revenue, assets, money, funds, or property with respect to which the risk management pool may have any rights or interest;

(7) To covenant as to the purposes to which the proceeds from the sale of any bonds then or thereafter to be issued may be applied and the pledge of such proceeds to secure the payment of the bonds;

(8) To covenant as to limitations on the issuance of any additional bonds, the terms upon which additional bonds may be issued and secured, and the refunding of outstanding bonds;

(9) To covenant as to the rank or priority of any bonds with respect to any lien or security;

(10) To covenant as to the procedure by which the terms of any contract with or for the benefit of the holders of bonds may be amended or abrogated, the amount of bonds the holders of which must consent thereto, and the manner in which such consent may be given;

(11) To covenant as to the custody of any of its properties or investments, the safekeeping thereof, the insurance to be carried thereon, and the use and disposition of insurance proceeds;

(12) To covenant as to the vesting in a trustee or trustees, within or outside the state, of such properties, rights, powers, and duties in trust as the risk management pool may determine;

(13) To covenant as to the appointing and providing for the duties and obligations of a paying agent or paying agents or other fiduciaries within or outside the state;

(14) To make all other covenants and to do any and all such acts and things as may be necessary, convenient, or desirable in order to secure its bonds or in the absolute discretion of the risk management pool as may tend to make the bonds more marketable, notwithstanding that such covenants, acts, or things may not be enumerated in this section; and

(15) To execute all instruments necessary or convenient in the exercise of the powers granted in the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act or in the performance of covenants or duties, which instruments may contain such covenants and provisions as any purchaser of bonds may reasonably require.

44-4328 Refunding bonds; issuance; terms.

A risk management pool may issue and sell refunding bonds for the purpose of paying or providing for the payment of any of its bonds at or prior to maturity or upon acceleration or redemption. Refunding bonds may be issued at any time prior to or at the maturity or redemption of the refunded bonds as the risk management pool's board of directors deems appropriate. The refunding bonds may be issued in a principal amount not exceeding an amount sufficient to pay or to provide for the payment of (1) the principal of the bonds being refunded, (2) any redemption premium thereon, (3) interest accrued or to accrue to the first or any subsequent redemption date or dates selected by the risk management pool's board of directors in its discretion, or to the date or dates of maturity, whichever is determined to be most advantageous or convenient for the risk management pool, (4) the expenses of issuing the refunding bonds, including bond discount, and redeeming the bonds being refunded, and (5) such reserves for debt service or other capital or current expenses from the proceeds of such refunding bonds as may be deemed necessary or convenient by the board of directors of the issuing risk management pool. A determination by the board of directors that any refinancing is advantageous or necessary to the risk management pool, that any of the amounts provided in this section should be included in such refinancing, or that any of the bonds to be refinanced should be called for redemption on the first or any subsequent redemption date or permitted to remain outstanding until their respective dates of maturity shall be conclusive.

44-4329 Refunding bonds; use.

Refunding bonds may be exchanged for and in payment and discharge of any of the outstanding obligations being refunded. The refunding bonds may be exchanged for a like, greater, or smaller principal amount of the bonds being refunded as the issuing risk management pool's board of directors may determine in its discretion. The holder or holders of the bonds being refunded need not pay accrued interest on the refunding bonds if and to the extent that interest is due or accrued and unpaid on the bonds being refunded and to be surrendered.

44-4330 Refunding bond proceeds; use.

To the extent not required for the immediate payment and retirement of the obligations being refunded or for the payment of expenses incurred in connection with such refunding and subject to any agreement with the holders of any outstanding bonds, principal proceeds from the sale of any refunding bonds shall be deposited in trust to provide for the payment and retirement of the bonds being refunded, payment of interest and any redemption premiums, and payment of any expenses incurred in connection with such refunding, but provision may be made for the pledging and disposition of any surplus, including, without limitation, provision for the pledging of any such surplus to the payment of the principal of and interest on any issue or series of refunding bonds. Money in any such trust fund may be invested in direct obligations of or obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by the United States Government, in obligations of any agency or instrumentality of the United States Government, or in certificates of deposit issued by a bank or trust company if such certificates are secured by a pledge of any of such obligations having an aggregate market value, exclusive of accrued interest, equal at least to the principal amount of the certificates so secured. Nothing in this section shall be construed as a limitation on the duration of any deposit in trust for the retirement of obligations being refunded but which shall not have matured and which are not presently redeemable or, if presently redeemable, have not been called for redemption.

44-4331 Refunding bonds; procedures applicable.

The issue of refunding bonds, the manner of sale, maturities, interest rates, form, and other details thereof, the security therefor, the rights of the holders thereof, and the rights, duties, and obligations of the risk management pool in respect of the same shall be governed by the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act relating to the issue of bonds other than refunding bonds insofar as the same may be applicable.

44-4332 Bonds; issuance; consent not required.

Bonds may be issued under the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act without obtaining the consent of any department, division, commission, board, bureau, or instrumentality of this state and without any other proceedings or the happening of any other conditions or things than those proceedings, conditions, or things which are specifically required by the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, and the validity of and security for any bonds shall not be affected by the existence or nonexistence of any such consent or other proceedings, conditions, or things.

44-4333 Bonds; publication; when required.

The board of directors of a risk management pool may provide for the publication of any resolution or other proceeding adopted by it pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act or, in lieu thereof, a notice of intention to issue bonds in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the principal office or place of business of the risk management pool is located or, if no newspaper is so published, then in a newspaper qualified to carry legal notices having general circulation in such county.

44-4334 Notice of intention to issue bonds; contents.

In the case of a resolution or other proceeding providing for the issuance of bonds pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, the board of directors of the risk management pool may, either before or after the adoption of such resolution or other proceeding, in lieu of publishing the entire resolution or other proceeding, publish a notice of intention to issue bonds under the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act, titled as such, containing:

(1) The name of the risk management pool;

(2) The purpose of the issue, including a brief description of the project and the names of the public agencies to be serviced by the project;

(3) The maximum principal amount of bonds to be issued;

(4) The maturity date or dates and maximum amount maturing on such dates;

(5) The maximum rate of interest payable on the bonds; and

(6) The time and place where a copy of the form of the resolution or other proceeding providing for the issuance of the bonds may be examined, which copy shall be at an office of the risk management pool identified in the notice, during regular business hours of the risk management pool as described in the notice, for a period of at least thirty days after the publication of the notice.

44-4335 Bonds; issuance; right to contest.

For a period of thirty days after such publication, any person in interest shall have the right to contest the legality of such resolution or proceeding or any bonds which may be authorized thereby, any provisions made for the security and payment of such bonds, any contract of purchase, sale, or lease, or any insurance policy contract, and after such time no one shall have any cause of action to contest the regularity, formality, or legality thereof for any cause whatsoever.

44-4336 Bonds; authorized as investments.

Bonds issued pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act are hereby made securities in which all public officers and instrumentalities of the state and all political subdivisions, insurance companies, trust companies, banks, savings and loan associations, investment companies, personal representatives, administrators, trustees, and other fiduciaries may properly and legally invest funds, including capital in their control or belonging to them. Such bonds are hereby made securities which may properly and legally be deposited with and received by any officer or instrumentality of this state or any political subdivision for any purpose for which the deposit of bonds or obligations of this state or any political subdivision thereof is now or may hereafter be authorized by law.

44-4337 Bonds; risk management pool property; tax exempt.

(1) All bonds of a risk management pool are declared to be issued for an essential public and governmental purpose and, together with interest thereon and income therefrom, shall be exempt from all taxes.

(2) The property of a risk management pool, including any pro rata share of any property owned by a risk management pool in conjunction with any other person, is declared to be public property of a public agency used for essential public and governmental purposes. Such property and the income of a risk management pool shall be exempt from all taxes of the state or any member of a risk management pool or other public agency and shall be exempt from all special assessments of any participating member of a risk management pool.

44-4338 State of Nebraska; agreement with bond holders.

The State of Nebraska does hereby pledge to and agree with the holders of any bonds and with those parties who may enter into contracts with any risk management pool or member of a risk management pool under the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act that the state will not alter, impair, or limit the rights thereby vested until the bonds, together with applicable interest, are fully met and discharged and such contracts are fully performed. Nothing contained in the act shall preclude such alteration, impairment, or limitation if and when adequate provisions have been made by law for the protection of the holders of the bonds or persons entering into contracts with any risk management pool or member of a risk management pool. Each risk management pool and member of a risk management pool may include this pledge and undertaking for the state in such bonds or contracts.

ARTICLE 44

RISK RETENTION ACT

Section

44-4401 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-4401 to 44-4423 shall be known and may be cited as the Risk Retention Act.

Source: Laws 1987, LB 514, § 1; Laws 1991, LB 236, § 45.

44-4402 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Risk Retention Act is to regulate the formation and operation of risk retention groups in this state formed under the federal Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986 and to regulate the operation of purchasing groups in this state formed under the federal Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986.

Source: Laws 1987, LB 514, § 2.

44-4403 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Risk Retention Act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Commissioner shall mean the commissioner, director, or superintendent of insurance in any other state;

(2) Completed operations liability shall mean liability arising out of the installation, maintenance, or repair of any product at a site which is not owned or controlled by (a) any person who performs the work or (b) any person who hires an independent contractor to perform the work. The term shall include liability for activities completed or abandoned before the date of the occurrence giving rise to the liability;

(3) Department shall mean the Department of Insurance;

(4) Director shall mean the Director of Insurance;

(5) Domicile, for purposes of determining the state in which a purchasing group is domiciled, shall mean (a) for a corporation, the state in which the purchasing group is incorporated and (b) for an unincorporated entity, the state of its principal place of business;

(6) Hazardous financial condition shall mean that, based on its present or reasonably anticipated financial condition, a risk retention group, although not yet financially impaired or insolvent, is unlikely to be able to (a) meet obligations to policyholders with respect to known claims and reasonably anticipated claims or (b) pay other obligations in the normal course of business;

(7) Insurance shall mean primary insurance, excess insurance, reinsurance, surplus lines insurance, and any other arrangement for shifting and distributing risk which is determined to be insurance under the laws of this state;

(8) Liability shall mean legal liability for damages, including the cost of defense, legal costs and fees, and other claim expenses, for injuries to other persons, damage to their property, or other damage or loss to such other persons resulting from or arising out of (a) any profit or nonprofit business, trade, product, services, including professional services, premises, or operations or (b) any activity of any state or local government or any agency or political subdivision thereof. The term shall not include personal risk liability, workers' compensation, and an employer's liability with respect to its employees other than legal liability under the Federal Employers' Liability Act, 45 U.S.C. 51 et seq.;

(9) Personal risk liability shall mean liability for damages for injury to any person, damage to property, or other loss or damage resulting from any personal, familial, or household responsibilities or activities rather than from responsibilities or activities referred to in subdivision (8) of this section;

(10) Plan of operation or a feasibility study shall mean an analysis which presents the expected activities and results of a risk retention group including at a minimum:

(a) Information sufficient to verify that its members are engaged in businesses or activities similar or related with respect to the liability to which members are exposed by virtue of any related, similar, or common business, trade, product, services, premises, or operations;

(b) The coverages, deductibles, coverage limits, rates, and rating classification systems for each line of insurance the group intends to offer;

(c) Historical and expected loss experience of the proposed members and national experience of similar exposures to the extent that such experience is reasonably available;

(d) Pro forma financial statements and projections;

(e) Appropriate opinions by a qualified, independent casualty actuary, including a determination of minimum premium or participation levels required to commence operations and to prevent a hazardous financial condition;

(f) Identification of management, underwriting and claims procedures, marketing methods, managerial oversight methods, investment policies, and reinsurance agreements;

(g) Identification of each state in which the risk retention group has obtained or sought to obtain a charter and license and a description of its status in each such state; and

(h) Such other matters as may be prescribed by the commissioner of the state in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed for liability insurance companies authorized by the insurance laws of that state;

(11) Product liability shall mean liability for damages for any personal injury, death, emotional harm, consequential economic damage, or property damage, including damages resulting from loss of use of property, arising out of the manufacture, design, importation, distribution, packaging, labeling, lease, or sale of a product but shall not include the liability of any person for such damages if the product involved was in the possession of the person when the incident giving rise to the claim occurred;

(12) Purchasing group shall mean any group which:

(a) Has as one of its purposes the purchase of liability insurance on a group basis;

(b) Purchases such insurance only for its members and only to cover their similar or related liability exposure as described in subdivision (c) of this subdivision;

(c) Is composed of members whose businesses or activities are similar or related with respect to the liability to which members are exposed by virtue of any related, similar, or common business, trade, product, services, premises, or operations; and

(d) Is domiciled in any state;

(13) Risk retention group shall mean a corporation or other limited liability association formed under the laws of any state, Bermuda, or the Cayman Islands:

(a) Whose primary activity consists of assuming and spreading all or part of the liability exposure of its members;

(b) That is organized for the primary purpose of conducting the activity described under subdivision (a) of this subdivision;

(c) That (i) is chartered and licensed as a liability insurance company and authorized to engage in the business of insurance under the laws of any state or (ii) before January 1, 1985, was chartered or licensed and authorized to engage in the business of insurance under the laws of Bermuda or the Cayman Islands and, before such date, had certified to the commissioner of at least one state that it satisfied the capitalization requirements of such state, except that any such group shall be considered to be a risk retention group only if it has been engaged in business continuously since such date and only for the purpose of continuing to provide insurance to cover product liability or completed operations liability as such terms were defined in the federal Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 before the date of the enactment of the Risk Retention Act of 1986;

(d) That does not exclude any person from membership in a group solely to provide members of such group a competitive advantage over such person;

(e) That (i) has as its owners only persons who comprise the membership of the risk retention group and who are provided insurance by such group or (ii) has as its sole owner an organization which has as (A) its members only persons who comprise the membership of the risk retention group and (B) its owners only persons who comprise the membership of the risk retention group and who are provided insurance by such group;

(f) Whose members are engaged in businesses or activities similar or related with respect to the liability of which such members are exposed by virtue of any related, similar, or common business, trade, product, services, premises, or operations;

(g) Whose activities do not include the provision of insurance other than (i) liability insurance for assuming and spreading all or any portion of the liability of its group members and (ii) reinsurance with respect to the liability of any other risk retention group or any members of such other group that is engaged in businesses or activities so that such group or member meets the requirement described in subdivision (f) of this subdivision from membership in the risk retention group which provides such reinsurance; and

(h) The name of which includes the phrase Risk Retention Group; and

(14) State shall mean any state of the United States or the District of Columbia.

44-4404 Risk retention group; charter and license requirements; governance standards; material service provider contract; term; audit committee; written charter; waiver of requirement; code of business conduct and ethics.

(1) A risk retention group seeking to be chartered and licensed in this state shall be chartered and licensed as a liability insurance company under Chapter 44 and, except as provided elsewhere in the Risk Retention Act, shall comply with all of the laws, rules, and regulations applicable to such insurers chartered and licensed in this state and with sections 44-4405 to 44-4413 to the extent such requirements are not a limitation on laws, rules, or regulations of this state.

(2) Before a risk retention group may offer insurance in any state, it shall submit for approval to the director a plan of operation and revisions of such plan if the group intends to offer any additional lines of liability insurance.

(3) At the time of filing its application for a charter and license, the risk retention group shall provide to the director in summary form the following information: The identity of the initial members of the group; the identity of those individuals who organized the group or who will provide administrative services or otherwise influence or control the activities of the group; the amount and nature of initial capitalization; the coverages to be afforded; and the states in which the group intends to operate. Upon receipt of this information, the director shall forward such information to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Providing notification to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners shall be in addition to and shall not be sufficient to satisfy the requirements of section 44-4405 or any other sections of the act.

(4) Subsections (5) through (11) of this section provide governance standards for risk retention groups licensed and chartered in this state. Any risk retention group in existence on January 1, 2017, shall be in compliance with such standards by January 1, 2018. Any risk retention group that is initially licensed on or after January 1, 2017, shall be in compliance with such standards at the time of licensure.

(5)(a) For purposes of this subsection:

(i) Board of directors or board means the governing body of the risk retention group elected by the shareholders or members to establish policy, elect or appoint officers and committees, and make other governing decisions; and

(ii) Director means a natural person designated in the articles of the risk retention group or designated, elected, or appointed by any other manner, name, or title to act as a director.

(b) The board of directors of the risk retention group shall have a majority of independent directors. If the risk retention group is a reciprocal, then the attorney in fact would be required to adhere to the same standards regarding independence of operation and governance as imposed on the risk retention group's board of directors or subscribers advisory committee under this subsection. To the extent permissible under state law, service providers of a reciprocal risk retention group should contract with the risk retention group and not the attorney in fact.

(c) No director qualifies as independent unless the board of directors affirmatively determines that the director has no material relationship with the risk retention group. Each risk retention group shall disclose these determinations to its domestic regulator at least annually. For this purpose, any person that is a direct or indirect owner of or subscriber in the risk retention group, or is an officer, director, or employee of such an owner and insured unless some other position of such officer, director, or employee constitutes a material relationship, as contemplated by section 3901(a)(4)(E)(ii) of the federal Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986, is considered to be independent.

(d) Material relationship of a person with the risk retention group includes, but is not limited to:

(i) The receipt in any one twelve-month period of compensation or payment of any other item of value by such person, a member of such person's immediate family, or any business with which such person is affiliated from the risk retention group or a consultant or service provider to the risk retention group is greater than or equal to five percent of the risk retention group's gross written premium for such twelve-month period or two percent of its surplus, whichever is greater, as measured at the end of any fiscal quarter falling in such a twelve-month period. Such person or immediate family member of such person is not independent until one year after his or her compensation from the risk retention group falls below the threshold;

(ii) A relationship with an auditor as follows: A director or an immediate family member of a director who is affiliated with or employed in a professional capacity by a present or former internal or external auditor of the risk retention group is not independent until one year after the end of the affiliation, employment, or auditing relationship; and

(iii) A relationship with a related entity as follows: A director or immediate family member of a director who is employed as an executive officer of another company where any of the risk retention group's present executives serve on that other company's board of directors is not independent until one year after the end of such service or the employment relationship.

(6)(a) The term of any material service provider contract with the risk retention group shall not exceed five years. Any such contract, or its renewal, shall require the approval of the majority of the risk retention group's independent directors. The risk retention group's board of directors shall have the right to terminate any service provider, audit, or actuarial contracts at any time for cause after providing adequate notice as defined in the contract. The service provider contract is deemed material if the amount to be paid for such contract is greater than or equal to five percent of the risk retention group's annual gross written premium or two percent of its surplus, whichever is greater.

(b) For purposes of this subsection, service providers shall include captive managers, auditors, accountants, actuaries, investment advisors, lawyers, managing general underwriters, or other parties responsible for underwriting, determination of rates, collection of premiums, adjusting and settling claims, or the preparation of financial statements. Any reference to lawyers in this subdivision does not include defense counsel retained by the risk retention group to defend claims, unless the amount of fees paid to such lawyers are material as referenced in subdivision (5)(d) of this section.

(c) No service provider contract meeting the definition of material relationship contained in subdivision (5)(d) of this section shall be entered into unless the risk retention group has notified the director in writing of its intention to enter into such transaction at least thirty days prior thereto and the director has not disapproved it within such period.

(7) The risk retention group's board of directors shall adopt a written policy in the plan of operation as approved by the board that requires the board to:

(a) Assure that all owners or insureds of the risk retention group receive evidence of ownership interest;

(b) Develop a set of governance standards applicable to the risk retention group;

(c) Oversee the evaluation of the risk retention group's management, including, but not limited to, the performance of the captive manager, managing general underwriter, or other party or parties responsible for underwriting, determination of rates, collection of premiums, adjusting or settling claims, or the preparation of financial statements;

(d) Review and approve the amount to be paid for all material service providers; and

(e) Review and approve, at least annually:

(i) The risk retention group's goals and objectives relevant to the compensation of officers and service providers;

(ii) The officers' and service providers' performance in light of those goals and objectives; and

(iii) The continued engagement of the officers and material service providers.

(8)(a) The risk retention group shall have an audit committee composed of at least three independent board members as described in subsection (5) of this section. A nonindependent board member may participate in the activities of the audit committee, if invited by the members, but cannot be a member of such committee.

(b) The audit committee shall have a written charter that defines the committee's purpose, which, at a minimum, must be to:

(i) Assist board oversight of (A) the integrity of the financial statements, (B) the compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, and (C) the qualifications, independence, and performance of the independent auditor and actuary;

(ii) Discuss the annual audited financial statements and quarterly financial statements with management;

(iii) Discuss the annual audited financial statements with its independent auditor and, if advisable, discuss its quarterly financial statements with its independent auditor;

(iv) Discuss policies with respect to risk assessment and risk management;

(v) Meet separately and periodically, either directly or through a designated representative of the committee, with management and independent auditors;

(vi) Review with the independent auditor any audit problems or difficulties and management's response;

(vii) Set clear hiring policies of the risk retention group as to the hiring of employees or former employees of the independent auditor;

(viii) Require the external auditor to rotate the lead or coordinating audit partner having primary responsibility for the risk retention group's audit as well as the audit partner responsible for reviewing that audit so that neither individual performs audit services for more than five consecutive fiscal years; and

(ix) Report regularly to the board of directors.

(c) The domestic regulator may waive the requirement to establish an audit committee composed of independent board members if the risk retention group is able to demonstrate to the domestic regulator that it is impracticable to do so and the risk retention group's board of directors itself is otherwise able to accomplish the purposes of an audit committee as described in subdivision (8)(b) of this section.

(9) The board of directors shall adopt and disclose governance standards, where disclose means making such information available through electronic or other means, including the posting of such information on the risk retention group's website, and providing such information to members or insureds upon request, which shall include:

(a) A process by which the directors are elected by the owners or insureds;

(b) Director qualification standards;

(c) Director responsibilities;

(d) Director access to management and, as necessary and appropriate, independent advisors;

(e) Director compensation;

(f) Director orientation and continuing education;

(g) The policies and procedures that are followed for management succession; and

(h) The policies and procedures that are followed for annual performance evaluation of the board.

(10) The board of directors shall adopt and disclose a code of business conduct and ethics for directors, officers, and employees and promptly disclose to the board of directors any waivers of the code for directors or executive officers, which should include the following topics:

(a) Conflicts of interest;

(b) Matters covered under the corporate opportunities doctrine under the state of domicile;

(c) Confidentiality;

(d) Fair dealing;

(e) Protection and proper use of risk retention group assets;

(f) Compliance with all applicable laws, rules, and regulations; and

(g) Requiring the reporting of any illegal or unethical behavior which affects the operation of the risk retention group.

(11) The captive manager, president, or chief executive officer of the risk retention group shall promptly notify the domestic regulator in writing if he or she becomes aware of any material noncompliance with any of the governance standards provided in subsections (5) through (11) of this section.

44-4405 Foreign risk retention groups; requirements.

Risk retention groups chartered and licensed in states other than this state and seeking to do business as a risk retention group in this state shall observe and abide by the laws of this state as follows:

(1) Before offering insurance in this state, a risk retention group shall submit to the director:

(a) A statement identifying the state or states in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed as a liability insurance company, the date of chartering and licensing, its principal place of business, and such other information, including information on its membership, as the director may require to verify that the risk retention group is qualified under subdivision (13) of section 44-4403. The identity and location of specific group members shall not be considered public record, except that such information may be provided to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the documents, material, or other information. The director may receive such information regarding the identity and location of specific group members from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged information received pursuant to this subdivision with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subdivision, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subdivision as a result of information sharing authorized by this section;

(b) A copy of its plan of operation or a feasibility study and revisions of such plan or study submitted to the state in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed, except that the provision relating to the submission of a plan of operation or a feasibility study shall not apply with respect to any line or classification of liability insurance which (i) was defined in the federal Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 before October 27, 1986, and (ii) was offered before such date by any risk retention group which had been chartered and licensed and operating for not less than three years before such date. The risk retention group shall submit a copy of any revision to its plan of operation or feasibility study required by subsection (2) of section 44-4404 at the same time that such revision is submitted to the state in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed; and

(c) A statement of registration which designates the director as its agent for the purpose of receiving service of legal documents or process; and

(2) Any risk retention group doing business in this state shall submit to the director:

(a) A copy of the group's financial statement submitted to the state in which the risk retention group is chartered and licensed which shall be certified by an independent public accountant and contain a statement of opinion on loss and loss adjustment expense reserves made by a member of the American Academy of Actuaries or a qualified loss reserve specialist under criteria established by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners;

(b) A copy of each examination of the risk retention group as certified by the commissioner or public official conducting the examination;

(c) Upon request by the director, a copy of any audit performed with respect to the risk retention group; and

(d) Such information as may be required to verify its continuing qualification as a risk retention group under subdivision (13) of section 44-4403.

44-4406 Premiums; taxable.

All premiums paid for coverage within this state to risk retention groups shall be subject to taxation at the same rate and subject to the same interest, fines, and penalties for nonpayment as that applicable to foreign admitted insurers, and it shall be the responsibility of each risk retention group to report and pay such taxes whether or not the group is licensed as an insurance company in this state and whether or not agents or brokers are utilized.

44-4407 Unfair trade and claims settlement practices laws; applicability.

Any risk retention group shall comply with and be subject to the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act and any rule or regulation issued under the act. Any risk retention group and its agents and representatives shall comply with and be subject to the Unfair Insurance Claims Settlement Practices Act and any rule or regulation issued under the act. If the director seeks an injunction regarding such conduct, the injunction shall be obtained from a court of competent jurisdiction.

44-4416 Purchasing group; exemption from insurance laws; when.

Any purchasing group meeting the criteria established under the federal Liability Risk Retention Act of 1986 shall be exempt from any law of this state relating to the creation of groups for the purchase of insurance or to the prohibition of group purchasing or any law that would discriminate against a purchasing group or its members. In addition, an insurer shall be exempt from any law of this state which prohibits providing or offering to provide to a purchasing group or its members advantages based on their loss and expense experience not afforded to other persons with respect to rates, policy forms, coverages, or other matters. A purchasing group shall be subject to all other applicable laws of this state.

44-4417 Purchasing group; notice; requirements; registration fees.

(1) A purchasing group which intends to do business in this state shall, prior to doing business, furnish notice to the director which shall:

(a) Identify the state in which the purchasing group is domiciled;

(b) Identify all other states in which the purchasing group intends to do business;

(c) Specify the lines and classifications of liability insurance which the purchasing group intends to purchase;

(d) Identify the insurance company from which the group intends to purchase its insurance and the domicile of such company;

(e) Specify the method by which and the person or persons, if any, through whom insurance will be offered to its members whose risks are resident or located in this state;

(f) Identify the principal place of business of the group; and

(g) Provide such other information as may be required by the director to verify that the purchasing group is qualified under subdivision (12) of section 44-4403.

(2) A purchasing group which intends to do business in this state shall include an initial registration fee of one hundred dollars at the time it furnishes notice to the director pursuant to subsection (1) of this section. A purchasing group shall pay an additional fee of one hundred dollars to the director on October 1 of each year thereafter so long as such registration continues. The fees required by this subsection shall be payable to the department and shall be remitted to the State Treasurer for credit to the Department of Insurance Cash Fund.

(3) A purchasing group shall, within ten days, notify the director of any changes in the items set forth in subsection (1) of this section.

(4) A purchasing group shall register with and designate the director as its agent solely for the purpose of receiving service of legal documents or process, except that such requirement shall not apply in the case of a purchasing group that:

(a) Was domiciled before April 1, 1986, and is domiciled on and after October 27, 1986, in any state of the United States;

(b) Before October 27, 1986, purchased insurance from an insurance carrier licensed in any state;

(c) Since October 27, 1986, purchased its insurance from an insurance carrier licensed in any state;

(d) Was a purchasing group under the requirements of the federal Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 before October 27, 1986; and

(e) Does not purchase insurance that was not authorized for purposes of an exemption under the federal Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 as in effect before October 27, 1986.

(5) Each purchasing group that is required to give notice pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall also furnish such information as may be required by the director to:

(a) Verify that the entity qualifies as a purchasing group;

(b) Determine where the purchasing group is located; and

(c) Determine appropriate tax treatment.

44-4418 Purchasing group; purchase of insurance; authorized; when.

(1) A purchasing group shall not purchase insurance from a risk retention group that is not chartered and licensed in a state or from an insurer not admitted in the state in which the purchasing group is located, unless the purchase is effected through a licensed agent or broker acting pursuant to the surplus lines laws, rules, and regulations of such state, except that such licensed agent or broker need not be a resident of this state.

(2) A purchasing group which obtains liability insurance from an insurer not admitted in this state or from a risk retention group shall inform each of the members of the purchasing group which have a risk resident or located in this state that such risk is not protected by an insurance insolvency guaranty fund in this state and that such risk retention group or such insurer may not be subject to all insurance laws, rules, and regulations of this state.

(3) No purchasing group may purchase insurance providing for a deductible or self-insured retention applicable to the group as a whole, but coverage may provide for a deductible or self-insured retention applicable to individual members.

(4) Purchases of insurance by purchasing groups are subject to the same standards regarding aggregate limits which are applicable to all purchases of group insurance.

44-4419 Director; administrative powers.

The director may make use of any of the powers established under Chapter 44 to enforce the laws of this state if those powers are not specifically preempted by the federal Product Liability Risk Retention Act of 1981 as amended by the Risk Retention Amendments of 1986. Such powers shall include, but not be limited to, administrative authority to investigate, issue subpoenas, conduct depositions and hearings, issue orders, and impose penalties. With regard to any investigation, administrative proceedings, or litigation, the director may rely on the procedural law, rules, and regulations of this state. The injunctive authority of the director in regard to risk retention groups shall be restricted by the requirement that any injunction be issued by a court of competent jurisdiction.

44-4502 Purpose of act.

The purposes of the Long-Term Care Insurance Act are to promote the public interest, to promote the availability of long-term care insurance policies, to protect applicants for long-term care insurance from unfair or deceptive sales or enrollment practices, to establish standards for long-term care insurance, to facilitate public understanding and comparison of long-term care insurance policies, and to facilitate flexibility and innovation in the development of long-term care insurance coverage.

44-4503 Long-term care insurance; applicability of acts.

The Long-Term Care Insurance Act shall apply to policies delivered or issued for delivery in this state on or after May 30, 1987, and shall not supersede the obligations of entities subject to the act to comply with the provisions of Chapter 44 insofar as such provisions do not conflict with the Long-Term Care Insurance Act, except that the Medicare Supplement Insurance Minimum Standards Act shall not apply to long-term care insurance. Any product advertised, marketed, or offered as long-term care insurance shall be subject to the Long-Term Care Insurance Act.

44-4508 Group policy, defined.

Group policy shall mean a long-term care insurance policy which is delivered or issued for delivery in this state and issued to:

(1) One or more employers or labor organizations or a trust or the trustees of a fund established by one or more employers or labor organizations, or a combination thereof, for employees or former employees, or a combination thereof, or for members or former members, or a combination thereof, of the labor organizations;

(2) Any professional, trade, or occupational association for its members or former or retired members, or a combination thereof, if such association:

(a) Is composed of individuals all of whom are or were actively engaged in the same profession, trade, or occupation; and

(b) Has been maintained in good faith for purposes other than obtaining insurance;

(3) An association or a trust or the trustee of a fund established, created, or maintained for the benefit of members of one or more associations. Prior to advertising, marketing, or offering such policy within this state, the association or associations or the insurer of the association or associations shall file evidence with the director that the association or associations have at the outset a minimum of one hundred members, have been organized and maintained in good faith for purposes other than that of obtaining insurance, have been in active existence for at least one year, and have a constitution and bylaws which provide that (a) the association or associations hold regular meetings not less than annually to further purposes of the members, (b) except for credit unions, the association or associations collect dues or solicit contributions from members, and (c) the members have voting privileges and representation on the governing board and committees. Thirty days after such filing, the association or associations shall be deemed to satisfy such organizational requirements unless the director makes a finding that the association or associations do not satisfy those organizational requirements; or

(4) A group other than as described in subdivision (1), (2), or (3) of this section, subject to a finding by the director that:

(a) The issuance of the group policy is not contrary to the best interest of the public;

(b) The issuance of the group policy would result in economies of acquisition or administration; and

(c) The benefits are reasonable in relation to the premiums charged.

44-4509 Long-term care insurance, defined.

Long-term care insurance shall mean any insurance policy or rider advertised, marketed, offered, or designed to provide coverage for not less than twelve consecutive months for each covered person on an expense-incurred, indemnity, prepaid, or other basis for one or more necessary or medically necessary diagnostic, preventive, therapeutic, rehabilitative, maintenance, or personal care services provided in a setting other than an acute care unit of a hospital. Long-term care insurance shall include group and individual annuities and life insurance policies or riders which provide directly or which supplement long-term care insurance. Long-term care insurance shall also include a policy or rider which provides for payment of benefits based upon cognitive impairment or the loss of functional capacity. Long-term care insurance may be issued by insurers, fraternal benefit societies, prepaid health plans, health maintenance organizations, or any similar organizations to the extent they are otherwise authorized to issue life or health insurance. Long-term care insurance shall not include any insurance policy which is offered primarily to provide medicare supplement coverage, basic hospital expense coverage, basic medical-surgical expense coverage, hospital confinement indemnity coverage, major medical expense coverage, disability income or related asset-protection coverage, accident-only coverage, specified disease or specified accident coverage, or limited-benefit health coverage. Long-term care insurance shall not include life insurance policies which accelerate the death benefit specifically for one or more of the qualifying events of terminal illness, medical conditions requiring extraordinary medical intervention, or permanent institutional confinement and which provide the option of a lump-sum payment for those benefits and in which neither the benefits nor the eligibility for the benefits is conditioned upon the receipt of long-term care.

44-4513 Policy; certificate; restrictions.

(1) No long-term care insurance policy may:

(a) Be canceled, refused renewal, or otherwise terminated on the grounds of the age or the deterioration of the mental or physical health of the insured individual or certificate holder;

(b) Contain a provision establishing a new waiting period in the event existing coverage is converted to or replaced by a new or other form within the same company, except with respect to an increase in benefits voluntarily selected by the insured individual or group policyholder; or

(c) Provide coverage for skilled nursing care only or provide significantly more coverage for skilled care in a facility than coverage for lower levels of care.

(2) No long-term care insurance policy or certificate, other than a policy or certificate thereunder issued to a group as defined in subdivision (1) of section 44-4508, shall use a definition of preexisting condition which is more restrictive than the following: Preexisting condition shall mean a condition for which medical advice or treatment was recommended by or received from a provider of health care services within six months preceding the effective date of coverage of an insured person.

(3) No long-term care insurance policy or certificate, other than a policy or certificate thereunder issued to a group as defined in subdivision (1) of section 44-4508, may exclude coverage for a loss or confinement which is the result of a preexisting condition unless such loss or confinement begins within six months following the effective date of coverage of an insured person.

(4) The director may extend the limitation periods set forth in subsections (2) and (3) of this section as to specific age group categories in specific policy forms upon finding that the extension is in the best interest of the public.

(5) The definition of preexisting condition shall not prohibit an insurer from using an application form designed to elicit the complete health history of an applicant and, on the basis of the answers on that application, from underwriting in accordance with such insurer's established underwriting standards. Unless otherwise provided in the policy or certificate, a preexisting condition, regardless of whether it is disclosed on the application, need not be covered until the waiting period described in subsection (3) of this section expires. No long-term care insurance policy or certificate may exclude or use waivers or riders of any kind to exclude, limit, or reduce coverage or benefits for specifically named or described preexisting diseases or physical conditions beyond the waiting period described in subsection (3) of this section.

(6) No long-term care insurance policy may be delivered or issued for delivery in this state if such policy:

(a) Conditions eligibility for any benefits on a prior hospitalization requirement;

(b) Conditions eligibility for benefits provided in an institutional care setting on the receipt of a higher level of institutional care; or

(c) Conditions eligibility for any benefits other than waiver of premium, postconfinement, postacute care, or recuperative benefits on a prior institutionalization requirement.

(7)(a) A long-term care insurance policy containing postconfinement, postacute care, or recuperative benefits shall clearly label in a separate paragraph of the policy or certificate entitled Limitations or Conditions on Eligibility for Benefits such limitations or conditions, including any required number of days of confinement.

(b) A long-term care insurance policy which conditions eligibility of noninstitutional benefits on the prior receipt of institutional care shall not require a prior institutional stay of more than thirty days.

44-4515 Applicants; rights.

Long-term care insurance applicants shall have the right to return the policy or certificate within thirty days of its delivery and to have the premium refunded if, after examination of the policy or certificate, the applicant is not satisfied for any reason. Long-term care insurance policies and certificates shall have a notice prominently printed on the first page of the policy or certificate or attached thereto stating in substance that the applicant has the right to return the policy or certificate within thirty days of its delivery and to have the premium refunded if, after examination of the policy or certificate other than a certificate issued to a group as defined in subdivision (1) of section 44-4508, the applicant is not satisfied for any reason.

44-4516 Outline of coverage; required; contents.

(1)(a) An outline of coverage shall be delivered to a prospective applicant at the time of initial solicitation through means which prominently direct the attention of the recipient to the document and its purpose.

(b) The director shall prescribe a standard format, including style, arrangement, and overall appearance, and the content of an outline of coverage.

(c) In the case of agent solicitations, an agent shall deliver the outline of coverage prior to the presentation of an application or enrollment form.

(d) In the case of direct-response solicitations, the outline of coverage shall be presented in conjunction with any application or enrollment form.

(2) The outline of coverage shall include:

(a) A description of the principal benefits and coverage provided in the policy;

(b) A statement of the principal exclusions, reductions, and limitations contained in the policy;

(c) A statement of the terms under which the policy or certificate, or both, may be continued in force or discontinued, including any reservation in the policy of a right to change premiums. Continuation or conversion provisions of group coverage shall be specifically described;

(d) A statement that the outline of coverage is a summary only, not a contract of insurance, and that the policy or group master policy contains governing contractual provisions;

(e) A description of the terms under which the policy or certificate may be returned and premium refunded; and

(f) A brief description of the relationship of cost of care and benefits.

(3) A certificate issued pursuant to a group policy that is delivered or issued for delivery in this state shall include:

(a) A description of the principal benefits and coverage provided in the policy;

(b) A statement of the principal exclusions, reductions, and limitations contained in the policy; and

(c) A statement that the group master policy contains governing contractual provisions.

(4) At the time of policy delivery, a policy summary shall be delivered for an individual life insurance policy which provides long-term care benefits within the policy or by rider. In the case of direct-response solicitations, the insurer shall deliver the policy summary upon the applicant's request, but regardless of request shall make such delivery no later than at the time of policy delivery. The summary shall include:

(a) An explanation of how the long-term care benefit interacts with other components of the policy, including deductions from death benefits;

(b) An illustration of the amount of benefits, the length of benefit, and the guaranteed lifetime benefits, if any, for each covered person;

(c) Any exclusions, reductions, and limitations on benefits of long-term care; and

(d) If applicable to the policy type:

(i) A disclosure of the effects of exercising other rights under the policy;

(ii) A disclosure of guarantees related to long-term care costs of insurance charges; and

(iii) Current and projected maximum lifetime benefits.

(5) Any time a long-term care benefit funded through a life insurance vehicle by the acceleration of the death benefit is in benefit-payment status, a monthly report shall be provided to the policyholder. Such report shall include:

(a) Any long-term care benefits paid out during the month;

(b) An explanation of any changes in the policy, such as death benefits or cash values, due to long-term care benefits being paid out; and

(c) The amount of long-term care benefits existing or remaining.

44-4517.01 Policy or certificate; claim denial; grounds; exception; issuance restriction.

(1) For a policy or certificate that has been in force for less than six months, an insurer may rescind a long-term care insurance policy or certificate or deny an otherwise valid long-term care insurance claim upon a showing of misrepresentation that is material to the acceptance for coverage.

(2) For a policy or certificate that has been in force for at least six months but less than two years, an insurer may rescind a long-term care insurance policy or certificate or deny an otherwise valid long-term care insurance claim upon a showing of misrepresentation that is both material to the acceptance for coverage and which pertains to the condition for which benefits are sought.

(3) After a policy or certificate has been in force for two years it is not contestable upon the grounds of misrepresentation alone. Such policy or certificate may be contested only upon a showing that the insured knowingly and intentionally misrepresented relevant facts relating to the insured's health.

(4)(a) No long-term care insurance policy or certificate may be field issued based on medical or health status.

(b) For purposes of this section, field issued means a policy or certificate issued by an agent or a third-party administrator pursuant to the underwriting authority granted to the agent or third-party administrator by an insurer.

(5) If an insurer has paid benefits under a long-term care insurance policy or certificate, the benefit payments may not be recovered by the insurer in the event that the policy or certificate is rescinded.

(6) In the event of the death of the insured, this section shall not apply to the remaining death benefit of a life insurance policy that accelerates benefits for long-term care. In this situation, the remaining death benefits under these policies shall be governed by section 44-502. In all other situations, this section shall apply to life insurance policies that accelerate benefits for long-term care.

44-4517.02 Policy or certificate; nonforfeiture benefits.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, a long-term care insurance policy may not be delivered or issued for delivery in this state unless the policyholder or certificate holder has been offered the option of purchasing a policy or certificate including a nonforfeiture benefit. The offer of a nonforfeiture benefit may be in the form of a rider that is attached to the policy.

(2) When a group long-term care insurance policy is issued, the offer required in subsection (1) of this section shall be made to the group policyholder. However, if the policy is issued as group long-term care insurance, other than to a continuing care retirement community or other similar entity, the offering shall be made to each proposed certificate holder.

(3) The director shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations specifying the type or types of nonforfeiture benefits to be offered as part of long-term care insurance policies and certificates and the standards for nonforfeiture benefits.

44-4520 Violations; administrative penalty.

In addition to any other penalties provided by the laws of this state, any insurer or agent found by the director to have violated the Long-Term Care Insurance Act or any rule or regulation shall be subject to an administrative penalty of up to three times the amount of any commissions paid for each policy involved in the violation or up to ten thousand dollars, whichever is greater.

44-4521 Sale, solicitation, or negotiation of long-term care insurance; license required; training course; insurer; duties; records.

(1) On or after August 1, 2008, an individual may not sell, solicit, or negotiate long-term care insurance unless the individual is licensed as an insurance producer for health or sickness and accident insurance and has completed a one-time training course and ongoing training every twenty-four months thereafter. All training shall meet the requirements of subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The one-time training course required by subsection (1) of this section shall be no less than eight hours in length, and the required ongoing training shall be no less than four hours in length. All training required under subsection (1) of this section shall consist of topics related to long-term care insurance, long-term care services, and, if applicable, qualified state long-term insurance partnership programs, including, but not limited to:

(a) State and federal regulations and requirements and the relationship between qualified state long-term care insurance partnership programs and other public and private coverage of long-term care services, including medicaid;

(b) Available long-term care services and providers;

(c) Changes or improvements in long-term care services or providers;

(d) Alternatives to the purchase of private long-term care insurance;

(e) The effect of inflation on benefits and the importance of inflation protection; and

(f) Consumer suitability standards and guidelines.

Training required by subsection (1) of this section shall not include any sales or marketing information, materials, or training other than those required by state or federal law.

(3)(a) Insurers subject to the Long-Term Care Insurance Act shall obtain verification that the insurance producer receives training required by subsection (1) of this section before a producer is permitted to sell, solicit, or negotiate the insurer's long-term care insurance products. Records shall be maintained in accordance with section 44-5905 and shall be made available to the director upon request.

(b) Insurers subject to the act shall maintain records with respect to the training of its producers concerning the distribution of its partnership policies that will allow the director to provide assurance to the Department of Health and Human Services that producers have received the training required by subsection (1) of this section and that producers have demonstrated an understanding of the partnership policies and their relationship to public and private coverage of long-term care, including medicaid, in this state. These records shall be maintained in accordance with section 44-5905 and shall be made available to the director upon request.

(4) The satisfaction of the training requirements in any state shall be deemed to satisfy the training requirements of the State of Nebraska.

(5) The training requirements of subsection (1) of this section may be approved as continuing education activities pursuant to sections 44-3901 to 44-3908.

44-4701 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-4701 to 44-4727 shall be known and may be cited as the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act.

Source: Laws 1989, LB 320, § 1.

44-4702 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act:

(1) Director shall mean the Director of Insurance;

(2) Enrollee shall mean an individual, including dependents, who is entitled to limited health services pursuant to a contract with an entity authorized to provide or arrange for such services under the act;

(3) Evidence of coverage shall mean any certificate, agreement, or contract issued pursuant to section 44-4709 setting forth the coverage to which an enrollee is entitled;

(4) Limited health services shall mean dental care services, vision care services, mental health services, substance abuse services, pharmaceutical services, podiatric care services, and such other services as may be determined by the director to be limited health services. Limited health services shall not include hospital, medical, surgical, or emergency services except as such services are provided incident to the limited health services set forth in this subdivision;

(5) Prepaid limited health service organization shall mean any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or other entity which, in return for a prepayment, undertakes to provide or arrange for the provision of one or more limited health services to enrollees. Prepaid limited health service organization shall not include (a) an entity otherwise authorized pursuant to the laws of this state either to provide any limited health service on a prepayment or other basis or to indemnify for any limited health service, (b) an entity that meets the requirements of section 44-4707, or (c) a provider or entity when providing or arranging for the provision of limited health services pursuant to a contract with a prepaid limited health service organization or with an entity described in subdivision (5)(a) or (b) of this section;

(6) Provider shall mean any physician, dentist, health facility, or other person or institution which is duly licensed or otherwise authorized to deliver or furnish limited health services; and

(7) Subscriber shall mean the person whose employment or other status, except for family dependency, is the basis for entitlement to limited health services pursuant to a contract with an entity authorized to provide or arrange for such services under the act.

44-4703 Certificate of authority; required.

No person, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or other entity may operate a prepaid limited health service organization in this state without obtaining and maintaining a certificate of authority from the director pursuant to the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act.

44-4704 Application for certificate of authority; contents.

An application for a certificate of authority to operate as a prepaid limited health service organization shall be filed with the director on a form prescribed by the director. Such application shall be verified by an officer or authorized representative of the applicant and shall set forth or be accompanied by the following:

(1) A copy of the basic organizational document, if any, of the applicant, such as the articles of incorporation, articles of association, articles of organization, partnership agreement, trust agreement, or other applicable documents and all amendments to such documents;

(2) A copy of all bylaws, rules and regulations, or similar documents, if any, regulating the conduct of the internal affairs of the applicant;

(3) A list of the names, addresses, official positions, and biographical information of the individuals who are responsible for conducting the applicant's affairs, including, but not limited to, all members of the board of directors, board of trustees, executive committee, or other governing board or committee, the principal officers, any person or entity owning or having the right to acquire ten percent or more of the voting securities of the applicant, and the partners or members in the case of a partnership, limited liability company, or association;

(4) A statement generally describing the applicant, its facilities and personnel, and the limited health services to be offered;

(5) A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any providers regarding the provision of limited health services to enrollees;

(6) A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any person listed in subdivision (3) of this section;

(7) A copy of the form of any contract made or to be made between the applicant and any person, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or other entity for the performance on the applicant's behalf of any functions, including, but not limited to, marketing, administration, enrollment, investment management, and subcontracting for the provision of limited health services to enrollees;

(8) A copy of the form of any group contract which is to be issued to employers, unions, trustees, or other organizations and a copy of any form of evidence of coverage to be issued to subscribers;

(9) A copy of the most recent financial statements of the applicant audited by independent certified public accountants. If the financial affairs of the applicant's parent company are audited by independent certified public accountants but those of the applicant are not, a copy of the most recent audited financial statement of the applicant's parent company, certified by an independent certified public accountant, attached to which shall be consolidating financial statements of the applicant, shall satisfy this requirement unless the director determines that additional or more recent financial information is required for the proper administration of the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act;

(10) A financial plan which includes a three-year projection of anticipated operating results, a statement of the sources of working capital, any other sources of funding, and provisions for contingencies;

(11) A schedule of rates and charges;

(12) A description of the proposed method of marketing;

(13) A description of the complaint procedures to be utilized as required under section 44-4713;

(14) A description of the quality assessment and utilization review procedures to be utilized by the applicant;

(15) A description of how the applicant will comply with section 44-4718;

(16) The fee for issuance of a certificate of authority provided in section 44-4724; and

(17) Such other information as the director may reasonably require to make the determinations required by the act.

Source: Laws 1989, LB 320, § 4; Laws 1993, LB 121, § 256.

44-4705 Issuance of certificate of authority; conditions; denial.

(1) Following receipt of an application filed pursuant to section 44-4704, the director shall review such application and notify the applicant of deficiencies therein. The director shall issue a certificate of authority if the following conditions are met:

(a) The requirements of section 44-4704 have been fulfilled;

(b) The individuals responsible for the conduct of the affairs of the applicant are competent and trustworthy, possess good reputations, and have had appropriate experience, training, or education;

(c) The applicant is financially responsible and may reasonably be expected to meet its obligations to enrollees and to prospective enrollees. In making this determination, the director may consider:

(i) The financial soundness of the applicant's arrangements for limited health services and the minimum standard rates, deductibles, copayments, and other patient charges used in connection therewith;

(ii) The adequacy of working capital, other sources of funding, and provisions for contingencies;

(iii) Any agreement providing for payment of the cost of the limited health services or for alternative coverage in the event of insolvency of the prepaid limited health service organization; and

(iv) The manner in which the requirements of section 44-4718 have been fulfilled;

(d) The agreements with providers for the provision of limited health services contain the provisions required by section 44-4717; and

(e) Any deficiencies identified by the director have been corrected.

(2) If the certificate of authority is denied, the director shall notify the applicant by certified mail and shall specify the reasons for denial in the notice.

The prepaid limited health service organization shall have ten days from the date of receipt of the notice to request a hearing before the director pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act.

44-4706 Effect on organizations operating without a certificate of authority.

Within one hundred eighty days after August 25, 1989, every prepaid limited health service organization operating in this state without a certificate of authority shall submit an application for a certificate of authority to the director. Each such organization may continue to operate during the pendency of its application. In the event an application is denied under this section, the applicant shall then be treated as a prepaid limited health service organization whose certificate of authority has been revoked.

44-4707 Filing requirements for authorized entities; disapproval.

(1) Any entity authorized pursuant to the laws of this state to operate a health maintenance organization, an accident and health insurance company, or a fraternal benefit society and which is not otherwise authorized pursuant to the laws of this state to offer limited health services on a per capita or fixed prepayment basis may do so by filing for approval with the director the information described in subdivisions (4), (5), (7), (8), (10), (11), (12), and (14) of section 44-4704 and any subsequent material modification or addition thereto.

(2) If the director disapproves the filing, the procedures set forth in subsection (2) of section 44-4705 shall be followed.

Source: Laws 1989, LB 320, § 7.

44-4708 Changes in rates or benefits; material modifications; addition of a limited health service; notices; hearing.

(1) A prepaid limited health service organization shall file with the director prior to use a notice of any change in rates, charges, or benefits and of any material modification of any matter or document furnished pursuant to section 44-4704, together with such supporting documents as are necessary to fully explain the change or modification. If the director does not disapprove such filing within thirty days of its filing, such filing shall be deemed approved.

(2) If a prepaid limited health service organization desires to add one or more limited health services, it shall file a notice with the director and, at the same time, shall submit the information required by section 44-4704 if different from that filed with the prepaid limited health service organization's application and shall demonstrate compliance with sections 44-4717, 44-4718, and 44-4724. If the director does not disapprove such filing within thirty days of its filing, such filing shall be deemed approved.

(3) If the director does not approve the change, modification, or addition of a limited health service, the director shall notify the prepaid limited health service organization by certified mail and shall specify the reasons for disapproval in the notice. The prepaid limited health service organization shall have ten days from the date of receipt of the notice to request a hearing before the director pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act.

44-4709 Evidence of coverage.

(1) Every subscriber shall be issued an evidence of coverage which shall contain a clear and complete statement of:

(a) The services to which each enrollee is entitled;

(b) Any limitation of the services, kind of services, or benefits to be provided and exclusions, including any deductible, copayment, or other charges;

(c) Where and in what manner information is available as to where and how services may be obtained; and

(d) The method for resolving complaints.

(2) Any amendment to the evidence of coverage may be provided to the subscriber in a separate document.

44-4711 Construction with other laws.

(1) A prepaid limited health service organization shall be subject to the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act and the Unfair Insurance Claims Settlement Practices Act. No other provision of Chapter 44 shall apply unless specifically mentioned in the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act or unless prepaid limited health service organizations are specifically mentioned in the provisions of Chapter 44.

(2) The provision of limited health services by a prepaid limited health service organization or other entity pursuant to the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act shall not be deemed to be the practice of medicine or other healing arts.

(3) Solicitation to arrange for or provide limited health services in accordance with the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act shall not be construed to violate any provision of law relating to solicitation or advertising by health professionals.

(4) A prepaid limited health service organization organized under the laws of this state shall be deemed to be a domestic insurer for purposes of the Insurance Holding Company System Act unless specifically exempted in writing from one or more of the provisions of the act by the director.

44-4714 Examination of organization.

(1) The director may make an examination of the affairs of any prepaid limited health service organization as often as is reasonably necessary for the protection of the interests of the people of this state but not less frequently than once every four years.

(2) Every prepaid limited health service organization shall make its relevant books and records available for such examination and in every way cooperate with the director to facilitate such examination.

(3) The expenses of examinations under this section shall be charged to the prepaid limited health service organization being examined, and the prepaid limited health service organization shall remit the charges to the director.

(4) In lieu of such examination, the director may accept the report of an examination made by the chief administrative officer of an insurance department of another state.

44-4717 Provider agreements.

All contracts with providers or with entities subcontracting for the provision of limited health services to enrollees on a prepayment or other basis shall contain or shall be construed to contain the following terms and conditions:

(1) In the event the prepaid limited health service organization fails to pay for limited health services for any reason whatsoever, including, but not limited to, insolvency or breach of this contract, the enrollees shall not be liable to the provider for any sums owed to the provider under this contract;

(2) No provider or an agent, trustee, or assignee thereof may maintain an action at law or attempt to collect from the enrollee sums owed to the provider by the prepaid limited health service organization;

(3) These provisions shall not prohibit collection of copayments from enrollees;

(4) These provisions shall survive the termination of this contract, regardless of the reason giving rise to the termination;

(5) Termination of this contract shall not release the provider from the obligations and duties imposed by this contract to complete procedures in progress on enrollees then receiving treatment for a specific condition for a period not to exceed thirty days at the same schedule of copayment or other applicable charge in effect upon the effective date of termination of this contract; and

(6) Any amendment to the provisions of this contract shall be submitted to and be approved by the director prior to becoming effective.

44-4718 Equity requirements.

(1) Each prepaid limited health service organization shall, at all times, have and maintain a tangible net equity at least equal to the greater of (a) fifty thousand dollars or (b) two percent of the organization's annual gross premium income, up to a maximum of the required capital and surplus of an accident and health insurer.

(2) A prepaid limited health service organization that has uncovered expenses in excess of fifty thousand dollars, as reported on the most recent annual financial statement filed with the director, shall maintain tangible net equity equal to twenty-five percent of the uncovered expense in excess of fifty thousand dollars in addition to the tangible net equity required by subsection (1) of this section.

(3) For the purpose of this section: (a) Net equity shall mean the excess of total assets over total liabilities, excluding liabilities which have been subordinated in a manner acceptable to the director; and (b) tangible net equity shall mean net equity reduced by the value assigned to intangible assets, including, but not limited to: (i) Goodwill; (ii) going-concern value; (iii) organizational expense; (iv) starting-up costs; (v) obligations of officers, directors, owners, or affiliates, except short-term obligations of affiliates for goods or services arising in the normal course of business which are payable on the same terms as equivalent transactions with nonaffiliates and which are not past due; (vi) long-term prepayments of deferred charges; and (vii) nonreturnable deposits.

(4)(a) Each prepaid limited health service organization shall deposit, with the director or with any organization or trustee acceptable to the director through which a custodial or controlled account is utilized, cash, securities, or any combination of these or other measures that is acceptable to the director in an amount equal to twenty-five thousand dollars plus twenty-five percent of the tangible net equity required in subsection (1) of this section not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars.

(b) The deposit shall be an admitted asset of the prepaid limited health service organization in the determination of tangible net equity.

(c) All income from deposits shall be an asset of the prepaid limited health service organization. A prepaid limited health service organization may withdraw a deposit or any part thereof after making a substitute deposit of equal amount and value. Any securities shall be approved by the director before being substituted.

(d) The deposit shall be used to protect the interests of the prepaid limited health service organization's enrollees and to assure continuation of limited health services to enrollees of a prepaid limited health service organization that is in rehabilitation or conservation. If a prepaid limited health service organization is placed in receivership or liquidation, the deposit shall be an asset subject to the liquidation laws of the state.

(e) The director may reduce or eliminate the deposit requirement if the prepaid limited health service organization has made an acceptable deposit with the state or jurisdiction of domicile for the protection of all enrollees, wherever located, and delivers to the director a certificate to such effect, duly authenticated by the appropriate state official holding the deposit.

(5) Upon application by a prepaid limited health service organization, the director may waive some or all of the requirements of subsection (1) of this section for any period of time the director deems proper upon a finding that either (a) the prepaid limited health service organization has a net equity of five million dollars or more or (b) an entity having a net equity of five million dollars or more furnishes to the director a written commitment which is acceptable to the director to provide for the uncovered expenses of the prepaid limited health service organization. For the purposes of this subsection, uncovered expense shall mean the cost of limited health services that are the obligation of a prepaid limited health service organization (i) for which an enrollee may be liable in the event of the insolvency of the organization and (ii) for which alternative arrangements acceptable to the director have not been made to cover the costs. Costs incurred by a provider who has agreed in writing not to bill enrollees, except for permissible supplemental charges, shall be considered covered expenses.

44-4719 Officers and employees; fidelity bond or deposit.

(1) A prepaid limited health service organization shall maintain in force a fidelity bond in its own name on its officers and employees in an amount not less than fifty thousand dollars or in any other amount prescribed by the director. Except as otherwise provided by subsection (2) of this section, the bond shall be issued by an insurance company that is licensed to do business in this state, or if the fidelity bond required by this subsection is not available from an insurance company that holds a certificate of authority in this state, a fidelity bond procured by a surplus lines licensee resident in this state in compliance with section 44-5504 shall satisfy the requirements of this subsection.

(2) In lieu of the bond specified in subsection (1) of this section, a prepaid limited health service organization may deposit with the director fifty thousand dollars in cash or securities or other investments of the types set forth in section 44-4715. Such a deposit shall be maintained in joint custody with the director in the amount and subject to the same conditions required for a bond under this section.

44-4720 Reports required; contents; fine.

(1) Every prepaid limited health service organization shall file with the director annually, on or before March 1, a report verified by at least two principal officers covering the preceding calendar year.

(2) Such report shall be on forms prescribed by the director and shall include:

(a) A financial statement of the organization, including its balance sheet, income statement, and statement of changes in financial position for the preceding year, audited by an independent certified public accountant, or the director may in lieu of such statement accept a consolidated audited financial statement of its parent company audited by an independent certified public accountant, attached to which shall be consolidating financial statements of the prepaid limited health service organization;

(b) Any material changes in the information submitted pursuant to section 44-4704;

(c) The number of subscribers at the beginning of the year, the number of subscribers as of the end of the year, and the number of enrollments terminated during the year; and

(d) Such other information relating to the performance of the prepaid limited health service organization as is necessary to enable the director to carry out his or her duties under the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act.

(3) The director may require more frequent reports containing such information as is necessary to enable the director to carry out his or her duties under the act.

(4) The director may assess a fine of up to one hundred dollars per day for each day any required report is late, and the director may suspend the organization's certificate of authority pending the proper filing of the required report by the organization.

44-4721 Suspension or revocation of certificate of authority.

(1) The director may suspend or revoke any certificate of authority issued to a prepaid limited health service organization pursuant to the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act upon determining that any of the following conditions exists:

(a) The prepaid limited health service organization is operating significantly in contravention of its basic organizational document or in a manner contrary to that described in and reasonably inferred from any other information submitted pursuant to section 44-4704 unless amendments to such submissions have been filed with and approved by the director;

(b) The prepaid limited health service organization issues an evidence of coverage or uses rates or charges which do not comply with the requirements of section 44-4709 or 44-4710;

(c) The prepaid limited health service organization is unable to fulfill its obligations to furnish limited health services;

(d) The prepaid limited health service organization is no longer financially responsible and may reasonably be expected to be unable to meet its obligations to enrollees or prospective enrollees;

(e) The prepaid limited health service organization has failed to implement the complaint system required by section 44-4713 in a reasonable manner to resolve valid complaints;

(f) The continued operation of the prepaid limited health service organization would be hazardous to its enrollees;

(g) The tangible net equity of the prepaid limited health service organization is less than that required by section 44-4718 or the prepaid limited health service organization has failed to correct any deficiency in its tangible net equity as required by the director; and

(h) The prepaid limited health service organization has otherwise failed to substantially comply with the act.

(2) If the director has cause to believe that grounds for the suspension or revocation of a certificate of authority exist, he or she shall notify the prepaid limited health service organization in writing by certified mail specifically stating the grounds for suspension or revocation and fixing a time not more than sixty days thereafter for a hearing on the matter. Any decision of the director may be appealed. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(3) When the certificate of authority of a prepaid limited health service organization is revoked, such organization shall proceed, immediately following the effective date of the order of revocation, to wind up its affairs and shall conduct no further business except as may be essential to the orderly conclusion of the affairs of such organization. It shall engage in no further advertising or solicitation whatsoever. The director may, by written order, permit such further operation of the organization as he or she may find to be in the best interest of enrollees to the end that enrollees will be afforded the greatest practical opportunity to obtain continuing limited health services.

44-4725 Confidentiality; exceptions.

(1) Any information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment, or health of any enrollee or applicant obtained from such person or from any provider by any prepaid limited health service organization and any contract submitted pursuant to the requirements of the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act shall be held in confidence and shall not be disclosed to any person except:

(a) To the extent that it may be necessary to carry out the purposes of the act;

(b) Upon the express consent of the enrollee, applicant, provider, or prepaid limited health service organization, whichever is applicable;

(c) Pursuant to statute or court order for the production of evidence or the discovery thereof; or

(d) In the event of claim or litigation in which such data or information is relevant.

(2) With respect to any information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment, or health of any enrollee or applicant, a prepaid limited health service organization shall be entitled to claim any statutory privileges against disclosure which the provider who furnished such information to the prepaid limited health service organization is entitled to claim.

(3) Any information provided to the director which constitutes a trade secret, is privileged information, or is part of an investigation or examination by the director shall be held in confidence.

ARTICLE 48

INSURERS SUPERVISION, REHABILITATION, AND LIQUIDATION

44-4801 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act is to protect the interests of insureds, claimants, creditors, and the public with minimum interference with the normal prerogatives of the owners and managers of insurers through:

(1) Early detection of any potentially dangerous condition in an insurer and prompt application of appropriate corrective measures;

(2) Improved methods for rehabilitating insurers involving the cooperation and management expertise of the insurance industry;

(3) Enhanced efficiency and economy of liquidation, through clarification of the law, to minimize legal uncertainty and litigation;

(4) Equitable apportionment of any unavoidable loss;

(5) Lessening the problems of interstate rehabilitation and liquidation by facilitating cooperation between states in the liquidation process and by extending the scope of personal jurisdiction over debtors of the insurer outside this state;

(6) Regulation of the insurance business by the impact of the law relating to delinquency procedures and substantive rules on the entire insurance business; and

(7) Providing for a comprehensive scheme for the supervision, rehabilitation, and liquidation of insurers and those subject to the act as part of the regulation of the business of insurance, insurance industry, and insurers in this state. Proceedings in cases of insurer insolvency and delinquency are deemed an integral aspect of the business of insurance and are of vital public interest and concern.

The act shall be liberally construed to effect the purposes enumerated in this section and shall not be interpreted to limit the powers granted the director by other provisions of the law.

Proceedings under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act are equitable in nature, and therefore, the liquidation court's determinations of claims disputes are reviewed de novo on the record. State ex rel. Wagner v. Amwest Sur. Ins. Co., 274 Neb. 121, 738 N.W.2d 813 (2007).

44-4802 Act; applicability.

The proceedings authorized by the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act may be applied to:

(1) All insurers who are doing or have done an insurance business in this state and against whom claims arising from that business may exist now or in the future;

(2) All insurers who purport to do an insurance business in this state;

(3) All insurers who have insureds who are residents of this state;

(4) All other persons organized or in the process of organizing with the intent to do an insurance business in this state;

(5) All fraternal benefit societies subject to Chapter 44, article 10;

(6) All title insurers subject to the Title Insurers Act;

(7) All health maintenance organizations subject to the Health Maintenance Organization Act;

(8) All legal service insurance corporations subject to Chapter 44, article 33;

(9) All prepaid dental service corporations subject to Chapter 44, article 38; and

(10) All prepaid limited health service organizations subject to the Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Act.

44-4803 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act:

(1) Ancillary state means any state other than a domiciliary state;

(2) Creditor means a person having any claim, whether matured or unmatured, liquidated or unliquidated, secured or unsecured, or absolute, fixed, or contingent;

(3) Delinquency proceeding means any proceeding instituted against an insurer for the purpose of liquidating, rehabilitating, reorganizing, or conserving such insurer and any summary proceeding under section 44-4809 or 44-4810;

(4) Department means the Department of Insurance;

(5) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(6) Doing business includes any of the following acts, whether effected by mail or otherwise:

(a) The issuance or delivery of contracts of insurance to persons who are residents of this state;

(b) The solicitation of applications for such contracts or other negotiations preliminary to the execution of such contracts;

(c) The collection of premiums, membership fees, assessments, or other consideration for such contracts;

(d) The transaction of matters subsequent to execution of such contracts and arising out of them; or

(e) Operating as an insurer under a license or certificate of authority issued by the department;

(7) Domiciliary state means the state in which an insurer is incorporated or organized or, in the case of an alien insurer, its state of entry;

(8) Fair consideration is given for property or an obligation:

(a) When in exchange for such property or obligation, as a fair equivalent therefor, and in good faith, (i) property is conveyed, (ii) services are rendered, (iii) an obligation is incurred, or (iv) an antecedent debt is satisfied; or

(b) When such property or obligation is received in good faith to secure a present advance or antecedent debt in an amount not disproportionately small as compared to the value of the property or obligation obtained;

(9) Foreign country means any other jurisdiction not in any state;

(10) Foreign guaranty association means a guaranty association now in existence in or hereafter created by the legislature of another state;

(11) Formal delinquency proceeding means any liquidation or rehabilitation proceeding;

(12) General assets means all property, real, personal, or otherwise not specifically mortgaged, pledged, deposited, or otherwise encumbered for the security or benefit of specified persons or classes of persons. As to specifically encumbered property, general assets includes all such property or its proceeds in excess of the amount necessary to discharge the sum or sums secured thereby. Assets held in trust and on deposit for the security or benefit of all insureds or all insureds and creditors, in more than a single state, are treated as general assets;

(13) Guaranty association means the Nebraska Property and Liability Insurance Guaranty Association, the Nebraska Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Association, and any other similar entity now or hereafter created by the Legislature for the payment of claims of insolvent insurers;

(14) Insolvency or insolvent means:

(a) For an insurer formed under Chapter 44, article 8:

(i) The inability to pay any obligation within thirty days after it becomes payable; or

(ii) If an assessment is made within thirty days after such date, the inability to pay such obligation thirty days following the date specified in the first assessment notice issued after the date of loss;

(b) For any other insurer, that it is unable to pay its obligations when they are due or when its admitted assets do not exceed its liabilities plus the greater of:

(i) Any capital and surplus required by law to be maintained; or

(ii) The total par or stated value of its authorized and issued capital stock; and

(c) For purposes of this subdivision, liabilities includes, but is not limited to, reserves required by statute or by rules and regulations adopted and promulgated or specific requirements imposed by the director upon a subject company at the time of admission or subsequent thereto;

(15) Insurer means any person who has done, purports to do, is doing, or is licensed to do an insurance business and is or has been subject to the authority of or to liquidation, rehabilitation, reorganization, supervision, or conservation by the director or the director, commissioner, or equivalent official of another state. Any other persons included under section 44-4802 are deemed to be insurers;

(16) Netting agreement means an agreement and any terms and conditions incorporated by reference therein, including a master agreement that, together with all schedules, confirmations, definitions, and addenda thereto and transactions under any thereof, shall be treated as one netting agreement:

(a) That documents one or more transactions between parties to the agreement for or involving one or more qualified financial contracts; and

(b) That provides for the netting or liquidation of qualified financial contracts or present or future payment obligations or payment entitlements thereunder, including liquidation or closeout values relating to such obligations or entitlements among the parties to the netting agreement;

(17) Person includes any individual, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, association, trust, or other entity;

(18) Qualified financial contract means a commodity contract, forward contract, repurchase agreement, securities contract, swap agreement, and any similar agreement that the director determines by rule and regulation, resolution, or order to be a qualified financial contract for the purposes of the act;

(19) Receiver means receiver, liquidator, rehabilitator, or conservator as the context requires;

(20) Reciprocal state means any state other than this state in which in substance and effect sections 44-4818, 44-4852, 44-4853, and 44-4855 to 44-4857 are in force, in which provisions are in force requiring that the director, commissioner, or equivalent official of such state be the receiver of a delinquent insurer, and in which some provision exists for the avoidance of fraudulent conveyances and preferential transfers;

(21) Secured claim means any claim secured by mortgage, trust deed, pledge, or deposit as security, escrow, or otherwise but does not include a special deposit claim or a claim against general assets. The term includes claims which have become liens upon specific assets by reason of judicial process;

(22) Special deposit claim means any claim secured by a deposit made pursuant to statute for the security or benefit of a limited class or classes of persons but does not include any claim secured by general assets;

(23) State means any state, district, or territory of the United States and the Panama Canal Zone; and

(24) Transfer includes the sale of property or an interest therein and every other and different mode, direct or indirect, of disposing of or of parting with property, an interest therein, or the possession thereof or of fixing a lien upon property or an interest therein, absolutely or conditionally, voluntarily, or by or without judicial proceedings. The retention of a security title to property delivered to a debtor is deemed a transfer suffered by the debtor.

44-4804 Jurisdiction; venue.

(1) No delinquency proceeding shall be commenced under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act by anyone other than the director, and no court shall have jurisdiction to entertain, hear, or determine any proceeding commenced by any other person.

(2) No court of this state shall have jurisdiction to entertain, hear, or determine any complaint praying for the dissolution, liquidation, rehabilitation, sequestration, conservation, or receivership of any insurer or praying for an injunction or restraining order or other relief preliminary to, incidental to, or relating to such proceedings other than in accordance with the act.

(3) In addition to other grounds for jurisdiction provided by the law of this state, a court of this state having jurisdiction of the subject matter has jurisdiction over a person served pursuant to sections 25-505.01 to 25-530.08 or other applicable provisions of law in an action brought by the receiver of a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state:

(a) If the person served is an agent, broker, or other person who has at any time written policies of insurance for or has acted in any manner whatsoever on behalf of an insurer against which a delinquency proceeding has been instituted, in any action resulting from or incident to such a relationship with the insurer;

(b) If the person served is a reinsurer who has at any time entered into a contract of reinsurance with an insurer against which a delinquency proceeding has been instituted or is an agent or broker of or for the reinsurer, in any action on or incident to the reinsurance contract;

(c) If the person served is or has been an officer, manager, trustee, organizer, promoter, or person in a position of comparable authority or influence in an insurer against which a rehabilitation or liquidation order is in effect when the action is commenced, in any action resulting from such a relationship with the insurer;

(d) If the person served is or was at the time of the institution of the delinquency proceeding against the insurer holding assets in which the receiver claims an interest on behalf of the insurer, in any action concerning the assets; or

(e) If the person served is obligated to the insurer in any way whatsoever, in any action on or incident to the obligation.

(4) If the court on motion of any party finds that any action should as a matter of substantial justice be tried in a forum outside this state, the court may enter an appropriate order to stay further proceedings on the action in this state.

(5) All actions authorized by the act shall be brought in the district court of Lancaster County.

44-4805 Injunctions and orders.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, any receiver appointed in a proceeding under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act may at any time apply for, and the court may grant, such restraining orders, preliminary and permanent injunctions, and other orders as may be deemed necessary and proper to prevent:

(a) The transaction of further business;

(b) The transfer of property;

(c) Interference with the receiver or with a proceeding under the act;

(d) Waste of the insurer's assets;

(e) Dissipation and transfer of bank accounts;

(f) The institution or further prosecution of any actions or proceedings;

(g) The obtaining of preferences, judgments, attachments, garnishments, or liens against the insurer, its assets, or its insureds;

(h) The levying of execution against the insurer, its assets, or its insureds;

(i) The making of any sale or deed for nonpayment of taxes or assessments that would lessen the value of the assets of the insurer;

(j) The withholding from the receiver of books, accounts, documents, or other records relating to the business of the insurer; or

(k) Any other threatened or contemplated action that might lessen the value of the insurer's assets or prejudice the rights of insureds, creditors, or shareholders or the administration of any proceeding under the act.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, the receiver may apply to any court outside of the state for the relief described in subsection (1) of this section.

(3) A Federal Home Loan Bank shall not be stayed, enjoined, or prohibited from exercising or enforcing any right or cause of action regarding collateral pledged under any security agreement, or any pledge, security, collateral or guarantee agreement or any other similar arrangement or credit enhancement relating to such Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement.

44-4806 Cooperation of officers, owners, and employees; violation; penalty.

(1) Any officer, manager, director, trustee, owner, employee, or agent of any insurer or any other persons with authority over or in charge of any segment of the insurer's affairs shall cooperate with the director in any proceeding under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act or any investigation preliminary to the proceeding. For purposes of this section, the term person shall include any person who exercises control directly or indirectly over activities of the insurer through a management contract or any holding company or other affiliate of the insurer. To cooperate shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following:

(a) To reply promptly in writing to any inquiry from the director requesting such a reply; and

(b) To make available to the director any books, accounts, documents, or other records or information or property of or pertaining to the insurer and in his or her possession, custody, or control.

(2) No person shall obstruct or interfere with the director in the conduct of any delinquency proceeding or any investigation preliminary or incidental thereto.

(3) This section shall not be construed to abridge otherwise existing legal rights, including the right to resist a petition for liquidation or other delinquency proceedings, or other orders.

(4) Any person included within subsection (1) of this section who fails to cooperate with the director or any person who obstructs or interferes with the director in the conduct of any delinquency proceeding or any investigation preliminary or incidental thereto or who violates any order the director issued validly under the act shall be guilty of a Class I misdemeanor or may, after a hearing, be subject to the imposition by the director of a civil penalty not to exceed ten thousand dollars and shall be subject further to the revocation or suspension of any insurance licenses issued by the director.

44-4807 Bonds.

In any proceeding under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, the director and his or her deputies shall be responsible on their official bonds for the faithful performance of their duties. If the court deems it desirable for the protection of the assets, it may at any time require an additional bond from the director or his or her deputies, and such bond shall be paid for out of the assets of the insurer as a cost of administration.

44-4808 Insurer subject to delinquency proceedings; restrictions.

No insurer that is subject to any delinquency proceedings, whether formal, informal, administrative, or judicial, shall (1) be released from such proceeding unless such proceeding is converted into a judicial rehabilitation or liquidation proceeding, (2) be permitted to solicit or accept new business or request or accept the restoration of any suspended or revoked license or certificate of authority, (3) be returned to the control of its shareholders or private management, or (4) have any of its assets returned to the control of its shareholders or private management, until all payments of or on account of the insurer's contractual obligations by all guaranty associations, along with all expenses thereof and interest on all such payments and expenses, have been repaid to the guaranty associations or a plan of repayment by the insurer has been approved by the guaranty association.

(1) Whenever the director has reasonable cause to believe and determines, after a hearing held under subsection (5) of this section, that any domestic insurer has committed or engaged in or is about to commit or engage in any act, practice, or transaction that would subject it to delinquency proceedings under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, he or she may make and serve upon the insurer and any other persons involved such orders as are reasonably necessary to correct, eliminate, or remedy such conduct, condition, or ground.

(2)(a) Whenever the director has reasonable cause to believe and determines, upon examination of any domestic insurer or at any other time, that (i) the insurer's condition renders the continuance of its business hazardous to the public or to its insureds, (ii) the insurer has or appears to have exceeded its powers granted under its certificate of authority and applicable law, (iii) the insurer has failed to comply with the applicable provisions of the insurance laws of this state, (iv) the insurer's business is being conducted fraudulently, or (v) the insurer gives its consent, the director shall by order notify the insurer of his or her determination and furnish to the insurer a written list of the requirements to abate the determination.

(b) For purposes of subdivision (2)(a)(ii) of this section, an insurer has exceeded its powers if it:

(i) Has refused to permit examination of its books, papers, accounts, records, or affairs by the director or his or her deputies, employees, or examiners;

(ii) Has unlawfully removed from this state books, papers, accounts, or records necessary for an examination of the insurer;

(iii) Has failed to promptly comply with the applicable financial reporting statutes or rules and departmental requests relating thereto;

(iv) Has neglected or refused to observe an order of the director to make good, within the time prescribed by law, any prohibited deficiency in its capital, capital stock, or surplus;

(v) Has continued doing business after its license or certificate of authority has been revoked or suspended by the director;

(vi) By contract or otherwise, has unlawfully, in violation of an order of the director, or without first having obtained written approval of the director if approval is required by law:

(A) Totally reinsured its entire outstanding business; or

(B) Merged or consolidated substantially its entire property or business with another insurer;

(vii) Has engaged in any transaction in which it is not authorized to engage under the laws of this state; or (viii) Has refused to comply with a lawful order of the director.

(3) If the director makes a determination to supervise an insurer subject to an order under subsection (1) or (2) of this section, he or she shall notify the insurer that it is under the supervision of the director. During the period of supervision, the director may appoint a supervisor to supervise such insurer. The order appointing a supervisor shall direct the supervisor to enforce orders issued under subsection (1) or (2) of this section and may also require that the insurer not do any of the following things during the period of supervision without the prior approval of the director or the supervisor:

(a) Dispose of, convey, or encumber any of its assets or its business in force;

(b) Withdraw any funds from any of its bank accounts;

(c) Lend any of its funds;

(d) Invest any of its funds;

(e) Transfer any of its property;

(f) Incur any debt, obligation, or liability;

(g) Merge or consolidate with another company;

(h) Enter into any new reinsurance contract or treaty;

(i) Write or renew any insurance business;

(j) Terminate, surrender, forfeit, convert, or lapse any insurance policy, certificate, or contract except for nonpayment of premiums due;

(k) Release, pay, or refund premium deposits, accrued cash or loan values, unearned premiums, or other reserves on any insurance policy, certificate, or contract;

(l) Make any material change in management; or

(m) Increase salaries and benefits of officers or directors or make any preferential payment of bonuses, dividends, or other payments deemed preferential.

(4) Any insurer subject to an order under this section shall comply with the lawful requirements of the director and, if placed under supervision, shall have sixty days from the date the supervision order is served within which to comply with the requirements of the director. In the event of such insurer's failure to comply within such period, the director may institute proceedings under section 44-4812 or 44-4817 to have a rehabilitator or liquidator appointed or may extend the period of supervision.

(5) A notice of hearing under subsection (1) or (2) of this section and any order issued pursuant to either subsection shall be served upon the insurer pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act. The notice of hearing shall state the time and place of hearing and the conduct, condition, or ground upon which the director would base his or her order. Unless mutually agreed between the director and the insurer, the hearing shall occur not less than ten days nor more than thirty days after notice is served and shall be either in the offices of the department or in some other place convenient to the parties to be designated by the director. Such hearings and any notices, orders, correspondence, records, or reports relating thereto shall be considered public unless the director deems it to be in the best interests of the insurer, its insureds or creditors, or the public that such hearings shall be held privately and such notices, orders, correspondence, records, or reports shall be considered confidential.

(6)(a) Any insurer subject to an order under subsection (2) of this section may request a hearing to review the order, but the request for a hearing shall not stay the effect of the order.

(b) If the director issues an order under subsection (2) of this section, the insurer may, at any time, waive a director's hearing and apply for immediate judicial relief by means of any remedy afforded by law without first exhausting administrative remedies. Subsequent to a hearing, any party to the proceedings whose interests are substantially affected shall be entitled to judicial review of any order issued by the director.

(c) If the director issues an order under subsection (2) of this section and subsequently determines that a rehabilitation or liquidation is appropriate, the director may at any time institute such proceedings under section 44-4812 or 44-4817.

(7) During the period of supervision, the insurer may request the director to review an action taken or proposed to be taken by the supervisor, specifying why the action complained of is believed not to be in the best interest of the insurer.

(8) If any person has violated any supervision order issued under this section which as to him or her was then still in effect, he or she shall be liable to pay a civil penalty imposed by the district court of Lancaster County not to exceed ten thousand dollars.

(9) The director may apply for and the court may grant such restraining orders, preliminary and permanent injunctions, and other orders as may be deemed necessary and proper to enforce a supervision order.

(10) In the event that any person subject to the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, including those persons described in subsection (1) of section 44-4806, knowingly violates any valid order of the director issued under this section and, as a result of such violation, the net worth of the insurer is reduced or the insurer suffers loss it would not otherwise have suffered, such person shall become personally liable to the insurer for the amount of any such reduction or loss. The director or supervisor may bring an action on behalf of the insurer in the district court of Lancaster County to recover the amount of the reduction or loss together with any costs.

44-4810 Court; seizure order.

(1) The director may file in the district court of Lancaster County a petition alleging, with respect to a domestic insurer:

(a) That there exist any grounds that would justify a court order for a formal delinquency proceeding against an insurer under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act;

(b) That the interests of insureds, creditors, or the public will be endangered by delay; and

(c) The contents of an order deemed necessary by the director.

(2) Upon a filing under subsection (1) of this section, the court may issue, forthwith, ex parte, and without a hearing, the requested order which shall direct the director to take possession and control of all or a part of the property, books, accounts, documents, and other records of an insurer and of the premises occupied by it for transaction of its business and until further order of the court enjoin the insurer and its officers, managers, agents, and employees from disposition of its property and from the transaction of its business except with the written consent of the director.

(3) The court shall specify in the order what its duration shall be, which shall be such time as the court deems necessary for the director to ascertain the condition of the insurer. On motion of either party or on its own motion, the court may from time to time hold such hearings as it deems desirable after such notice as it deems appropriate and may extend, shorten, or modify the terms of the seizure order. The court shall vacate the seizure order if the director fails to commence a formal delinquency proceeding under the act after having had a reasonable opportunity to do so. An order of the court pursuant to a formal delinquency proceeding under the act shall ipso facto vacate the seizure order.

(4) Entry of a seizure order under this section shall not constitute an anticipatory breach of any contract of the insurer.

(5) An insurer subject to an ex parte order under this section may petition the court at any time after the issuance of such order for a hearing and review of the order. The court shall hold such a hearing and review not more than fifteen days after the request. A hearing under this subsection may be held privately in chambers, and it shall be so held if the insurer proceeded against so requests.

(6) If, at any time after the issuance of such an order, it appears to the court that any person whose interest is or will be substantially affected by the order did not appear at the hearing and has not been served, the court may order that notice be given to such person. An order that notice be given shall not stay the effect of any order previously issued by the court.

44-4811 Confidentiality of hearings.

(1) In all proceedings and judicial review thereof under section 44-4810, all records of the insurer, other documents, all department files, and court records and papers, so far as they pertain to or are a part of the record of the proceedings, shall be and remain confidential except as is necessary to obtain compliance therewith unless and until the court, after hearing arguments from the parties in chambers, orders otherwise or unless the insurer requests that the matter be made public. Until such court order, all papers filed with the clerk of the district court shall be held by him or her in a confidential file.

(2)(a) The records described in subsection (1) of this section may be provided to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the records.

(b) The director may receive supervision, rehabilitation, and liquidation records from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged records received pursuant to this subdivision with notice or the understanding that they are confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subdivision, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subdivision as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

44-4812 Grounds for rehabilitation.

The director may apply by petition to the district court of Lancaster County for an order authorizing him or her to rehabilitate a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state on any one or more of the following grounds:

(1) The insurer is in such condition that the further transaction of business would be hazardous financially to its insureds or creditors or the public;

(2) There is reasonable cause to believe that there has been embezzlement from the insurer, wrongful sequestration or diversion of the insurer's assets, forgery or fraud affecting the insurer, or other illegal conduct in, by, or with respect to the insurer that if established would endanger assets in an amount threatening the solvency of the insurer;

(3) The insurer has failed to remove any person who in fact has executive authority in the insurer, whether an officer, manager, general agent, employee, or other person, if the person has been found after notice and hearing by the director to be dishonest or untrustworthy in a way affecting the insurer's business;

(4) Control of the insurer, whether by stock ownership or otherwise and whether direct or indirect, is in a person or persons found after notice and hearing to be untrustworthy;

(5) Any person who in fact has executive authority in the insurer, whether an officer, manager, general agent, director, trustee, employee, or other person, has refused to be examined under oath or affirmation by the director concerning its affairs, whether in this state or elsewhere, and after reasonable notice of the fact, the insurer has failed promptly and effectively to terminate the employment and status of the person and all his or her influence on management;

(6) After demand by the director under the Insurers Examination Act or under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, the insurer has failed to promptly make available for examination any of its own property, books, accounts, documents, or other records, those of any subsidiary or related company within the control of the insurer, or those of any person having executive authority in the insurer so far as they pertain to the insurer;

(7) Without first obtaining the written consent of the director, the insurer has transferred or attempted to transfer, in a manner contrary to the Insurance Holding Company System Act or sections 44-224.01 to 44-224.10, substantially its entire property or business or has entered into any transaction the effect of which is to merge, consolidate, or reinsure substantially its entire property or business in or with the property or business of any other person;

(8) The insurer or its property has been or is the subject of an application for the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian, conservator, or sequestrator or similar fiduciary of the insurer or its property otherwise than as authorized under the insurance laws of this state, such appointment has been made or is imminent, and such appointment might oust the courts of this state of jurisdiction or might prejudice orderly delinquency proceedings under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act;

(9) Within the previous four years the insurer has willfully violated its charter or articles of incorporation, its bylaws, any insurance law of this state, or any valid order of the director under section 44-4809;

(10) The insurer has failed to pay within sixty days after due date any obligation to any state or any subdivision thereof or any judgment entered in any state if the court in which such judgment was entered had jurisdiction over such subject matter, except that such nonpayment shall not be a ground until sixty days after any good faith effort by the insurer to contest the obligation has been terminated, whether it is before the director or in the courts, or the insurer has systematically attempted to compromise or renegotiate previously agreed settlements with its creditors on the ground that it is financially unable to pay its obligations in full;

(11) The insurer has failed to file its annual report or other financial report required by statute or by rule or regulation within the time allowed by law and, after written demand by the director, has failed to give an adequate explanation immediately; or

(12) The board of directors or the holders of a majority of the shares entitled to vote or a majority of those individuals entitled to the control of those entities listed in section 44-4802 requests or consents to rehabilitation under the act.

44-4813 Rehabilitation orders.

(1) An order to rehabilitate the business of a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state shall appoint the director and his or her successors in office the rehabilitator and shall direct the rehabilitator forthwith to take possession of the assets of the insurer and to administer them under the general supervision of the court. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court of Lancaster County or register of deeds of the county in which the principal business of the company is conducted or in which its principal office or place of business is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that register of deeds would have imparted. The order to rehabilitate the insurer shall by operation of law vest title to all assets of the insurer in the rehabilitator.

(2) Any order issued under this section shall require accounting to the court by the rehabilitator. Accountings shall be at such intervals as the court specifies in the order but no less frequently than semiannually. Each accounting shall include a report concerning the rehabilitator's opinion as to the likelihood that a plan under subsection (4) of section 44-4814 will be prepared by the rehabilitator and the timetable for doing so.

(3) Entry of an order of rehabilitation shall not constitute an anticipatory breach of any contracts of the insurer and shall not be grounds for retroactive revocation or retroactive cancellation of any contracts of the insurer unless such revocation or cancellation is done by the rehabilitator pursuant to section 44-4814.

44-4814 Director; powers and duties.

(1) The director as rehabilitator may appoint one or more special deputies who shall have all the powers and responsibilities of the rehabilitator granted under this section, and the director may employ such counsel, clerks, and assistants as deemed necessary. The compensation of the special deputy, counsel, clerks, and assistants and all expenses of taking possession of the insurer and of conducting the proceedings shall be fixed by the director, with the approval of the court, and shall be paid out of the funds or assets of the insurer. The persons appointed under this section shall serve at the pleasure of the director. The director, as rehabilitator, may, with the approval of the court, appoint an advisory committee of policyholders, claimants, or other creditors, including guaranty associations, should such a committee be deemed necessary. Such committee shall serve at the pleasure of the director and shall serve without compensation other than reimbursement for reasonable travel and per diem living expenses. No other committee of any nature shall be appointed by the director or the court in rehabilitation proceedings conducted under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act.

(2) The rehabilitator may take such action as he or she deems necessary or appropriate to reform and revitalize the insurer. He or she shall have all the powers of the directors, officers, and managers of the insurer, whose authority shall be suspended, except as they are redelegated by the rehabilitator. He or she shall have full power to direct and manage, to hire and discharge employees subject to any contract rights they may have, and to deal with the property and business of the insurer.

(3) If it appears to the rehabilitator that there has been criminal or tortious conduct or breach of any contractual or fiduciary obligation detrimental to the insurer by any officer, manager, agent, broker, employee, or other person, he or she may pursue all appropriate legal remedies on behalf of the insurer.

(4)(a)(i) If the rehabilitator determines that reorganization, consolidation, conversion, reinsurance, merger, or other transformation of the insurer is appropriate, he or she shall prepare a plan to effect such changes.

(ii) Such plan may include the establishment of a trust to be treated as an insurer with the trustee serving as liquidator under the act retaining all liabilities and assets except the charter and licenses and shall include provisions requiring the rehabilitator to petition the court to convert the rehabilitation proceedings to a liquidation. Such trust shall be considered an insurer for the purposes of the act. Such plan may include provisions for cancellation of all outstanding stock and other securities of, and other equity interests in, the insurer and court approval of the issuance and sale of new stock or other securities for the purpose of transferring to one or more buyers control and ownership of the insurer together with any or all of its licenses and certificates to do business and such other assets as the rehabilitator deems appropriate to the transaction. The proceeds of such sale shall be assets of the trust. The order of the court approving such a sale may provide that the sale is free and clear of all claims and interests of the insurer's insureds, creditors, shareholders, and members and all other persons interested in the insurer and may discharge the insurer and all property which is the subject of the sale from all claims and interests of the insurer's insureds, creditors, shareholders, and members and all other persons interested in the insurer, except that such a discharge shall not affect the rights of the insurer's insureds, creditors, shareholders, and members and all other persons interested in the insurer's estate to participate in distributions from the trust as otherwise provided in the act.

(b) Upon application of the rehabilitator for approval of the plan and after such notice and hearings as the court may prescribe, the court may either approve or disapprove the plan proposed or may modify it and approve it as modified. Any plan approved under this section shall be, in the judgment of the court, fair and equitable to all parties concerned. If the plan is approved, the rehabilitator shall carry out the plan. In the case of a life insurer, the plan proposed may include the imposition of liens upon the policies of the company if all rights of shareholders are first relinquished. A plan for a life insurer may also propose the imposition of a moratorium upon loan and cash surrender rights under policies for such period and to such an extent as may be necessary.

(5) The rehabilitator shall have the power under sections 44-4826 and 44-4827 to avoid fraudulent transfers.

44-4815 Actions; effect of rehabilitation.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, any court in this state before which any action or proceeding in which the insurer is a party or is obligated to defend a party is pending when a rehabilitation order against the insurer is entered shall stay the action or proceeding for ninety days and such additional time as is necessary for the rehabilitator to obtain proper representation and prepare for further proceedings. The rehabilitator shall take such action respecting the pending litigation as he or she deems necessary in the interests of justice and for the protection of insureds, creditors, and the public. The rehabilitator shall immediately consider all litigation pending outside this state and shall petition the courts having jurisdiction over that litigation for stays whenever necessary to protect the estate of the insurer.

(2) No statute of limitations or defense of laches shall run with respect to any action by or against an insurer between the filing of a petition for appointment of a rehabilitator for that insurer and the order granting or denying that petition. Any action by or against the insurer that might have been commenced when the petition was filed may be commenced for at least sixty days after the order of rehabilitation is entered or the petition is denied. The rehabilitator may, upon an order for rehabilitation, within one year or such other longer time as applicable law may permit, institute an action or proceeding on behalf of the insurer upon any cause of action against which the period of limitation fixed by applicable law has not expired at the time of the filing of the petition upon which such order is entered.

(3) Any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association covering life or health insurance or annuities shall have standing to appear in any court proceeding concerning the rehabilitation of a life or health insurer if such association is or may become liable to act as a result of the rehabilitation.

(4) A Federal Home Loan Bank shall not be stayed, enjoined, or prohibited from exercising or enforcing any right or cause of action regarding collateral pledged under any security agreement, or any pledge, security, collateral or guarantee agreement or any other similar arrangement or credit enhancement relating to such Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement.

44-4816 Liquidation; termination of rehabilitation.

(1) Whenever the director believes further attempts to rehabilitate an insurer would substantially increase the risk of loss to insureds, creditors, or the public or would be futile, the director may petition the district court of Lancaster County for an order of liquidation. A petition under this subsection shall have the same effect as a petition under section 44-4817. The court shall permit the directors of the insurer to take such actions as are reasonably necessary to defend against the petition and may order payment from the estate of the insurer of such costs and other expenses of defense as justice may require.

(2) The protection of the interests of insureds, claimants, and the public requires the timely performance of all insurance policy obligations. If the payment of policy obligations is suspended in substantial part for a period of six months at any time after the appointment of the rehabilitator and the rehabilitator has not filed an application for approval of a plan under subsection (4) of section 44-4814, the rehabilitator shall petition the court for an order of liquidation on grounds of insolvency.

(3) The rehabilitator may at any time petition the district court of Lancaster County for an order terminating rehabilitation of an insurer. The court shall also permit the directors of the insurer to petition the court for an order terminating rehabilitation of the insurer and may order payment from the estate of the insurer of such costs and other expenses of such petition as justice may require. If upon the petition of the rehabilitator or the directors of the insurer or upon its own motion at any time the court finds that rehabilitation has been accomplished and that grounds for rehabilitation under section 44-4812 no longer exist, it shall order that the insurer be restored to possession of its property and the control of the business.

44-4817 Grounds for liquidation.

The director may petition the district court of Lancaster County for an order directing him or her to liquidate a domestic insurer or an alien insurer domiciled in this state on the basis:

(1) Of any ground for an order of rehabilitation as specified in section 44-4812 whether or not there has been a prior order directing the rehabilitation of the insurer;

(2) That the insurer is insolvent; or

(3) That the insurer is in such condition that the further transaction of business would be hazardous, financially or otherwise, to its insureds or creditors or the public.

44-4818 Liquidation order; effect; appeal-pendency plan.

(1) An order to liquidate the business of a domestic insurer shall appoint the director and his or her successors in office liquidator and shall direct the liquidator forthwith to take possession of the assets of the insurer and to administer them under the general supervision of the court. The liquidator shall be vested by operation of law with the title to all of the property, contracts, and rights of action and all of the books and records of the insurer ordered liquidated, wherever located, as of the entry of the final order of liquidation. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court and the register of deeds of the county in which its principal office or place of business is located or, in the case of real estate, with the register of deeds of the county where the property is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that register of deeds would have imparted.

(2) Upon issuance of the order, the rights and liabilities of any such insurer and of its insureds, creditors, shareholders, and members and all other persons interested in its estate shall become fixed as of the date of entry of the order of liquidation except as provided in sections 44-4819 and 44-4837.

(3) An order to liquidate the business of an alien insurer domiciled in this state shall be in the same terms and have the same legal effect as an order to liquidate a domestic insurer, except that the assets and the business in the United States shall be the only assets and business included therein.

(4) At the time of petitioning for an order of liquidation or at any time thereafter, the director, after making appropriate findings of an insurer's insolvency, may petition the court for a judicial declaration of such insolvency. After providing such notice and hearing as it deems proper, the court may make the declaration.

(5) Any order issued under this section shall require financial reports to the court by the liquidator. Financial reports shall include at a minimum the assets and liabilities of the insurer and all funds received or disbursed by the liquidator during the current period. Financial reports shall be filed within one year of the liquidation order and at least annually thereafter.

(6)(a) Within five days after the initiation of an appeal of an order of liquidation, which order has not been stayed, the director shall present for the court's approval a plan for the continued performance of the insurer's policy claims obligations, including the duty to defend insureds under liability insurance policies, during the pendency of an appeal. For appeals pending on March 12, 1991, the plan shall be filed within five days after such date. Such plan shall provide for the continued performance and payment of policy claims obligations in the normal course of events, notwithstanding the grounds alleged in support of the order of liquidation including the ground of insolvency. In the event the insurer's financial condition will not, in the judgment of the director, support the full performance of all policy claims obligations during the appeal-pendency period, the plan may prefer the claims of certain insureds and claimants over creditors and interested parties as well as other insureds and claimants, as the director finds to be fair and equitable considering the relative circumstances of such insureds and claimants. The court shall examine the plan submitted by the director, and if it finds the plan to be in the best interests of the parties, the court shall approve the plan. No action shall lie against the director or any of his or her deputies, agents, clerks, assistants, or attorneys by any party based on preference in an appeal-pendency plan approved by the court.

(b) The appeal-pendency plan shall not supersede or affect the obligations of any guaranty association.

(c) An appeal-pendency plan shall provide for equitable adjustments to be made by the liquidator to any distributions of assets to guaranty associations in the event that the liquidator pays claims from assets of the estate which would otherwise be the obligations of any particular guaranty association but for the appeal of the order of liquidation, such that all guaranty associations equally benefit on a pro rata basis from the assets of the estate. In the event an order of liquidation is set aside upon any appeal, the insurer shall not be released from delinquency proceedings unless all funds advanced by any guaranty association, including reasonable administrative expenses in connection therewith relating to obligations of the insurer, are repaid in full, together with interest at the judgment rate of interest, or unless an arrangement for repayment thereof has been made with the consent of all applicable guaranty associations.

44-4819 Termination and continuation of coverage.

(1) All policies including bonds and other noncancelable business, other than life or health insurance or annuities, in effect at the time of issuance of an order of liquidation shall continue in force until the earliest of:

(a) Thirty days from the date of entry of the liquidation order;

(b) The expiration of the policy coverage;

(c) The date when the insured has replaced the insurance coverage with equivalent insurance in another insurer or otherwise terminated the policy;

(d) The liquidator has effected a transfer of the policy obligation pursuant to subdivision (1)(j) of section 44-4821; or

(e) The date proposed by the liquidator and approved by the court to cancel coverage.

(2) An order of liquidation under section 44-4818 shall terminate coverages at the time specified in subsection (1) of this section for purposes of any other statute.

(3) Policies of life or health insurance or annuities shall continue in force for such period and under such terms as is provided for by any applicable guaranty association or foreign guaranty association.

(4) Policies of life or health insurance or annuities or any period or coverage of such policies not covered by a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association shall terminate under subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

44-4820 Dissolution of insurer; court-ordered transfer of control and ownership.

(1) The director may petition for an order dissolving the corporate existence of a domestic insurer or the United States branch of an alien insurer domiciled in this state at the time he or she applies for a liquidation order. The court shall order dissolution of the corporation upon petition by the director upon or after the granting of a liquidation order. If the dissolution has not previously been ordered and if control and ownership of the insurer has not been transferred pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, dissolution shall be effected by operation of law upon the discharge of the liquidator if the insurer is insolvent but may be ordered by the court upon the discharge of the liquidator if the insurer is under a liquidation order for some other reason.

(2) Notwithstanding the entry of a liquidation order, on the motion of the liquidator and following such notice and hearing and on such terms as the court deems appropriate, the court may approve the liquidator's cancellation of all outstanding stock and other securities of, and other equity interests in, the insurer and the court may approve the issuance and sale of new stock or other securities for the purpose of transferring to one or more buyers control and ownership of the insurer together with any or all of its licenses and certificates to do business and such other assets as the liquidator deems appropriate to the transaction. The proceeds of such sale shall be assets of the liquidation estate of the insurer. The order of the court approving such a sale may provide that the sale is free and clear of all claims and interests of the insurer's insureds, creditors, shareholders, and members and all other persons interested in the insurer's estate and may discharge the insurer and all property which is the subject of the sale from all claims and interests of the insurer's insureds, creditors, shareholders, and members and all other persons interested in the insurer's estate, except that such a discharge shall not affect the rights of the insurer's insureds, creditors, shareholders, and members and all other persons interested in the insurer's estate to participate in distributions from the estate as otherwise provided in the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act.

44-4821 Powers of liquidator.

(1) The liquidator shall have the power:

(a) To appoint a special deputy to act for him or her under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act and to determine his or her reasonable compensation. The special deputy shall have all powers of the liquidator granted by this section. The special deputy shall serve at the pleasure of the liquidator;

(b) To employ employees, agents, legal counsel, actuaries, accountants, appraisers, consultants, and such other personnel as he or she may deem necessary to assist in the liquidation;

(c) To appoint, with the approval of the court, an advisory committee of policyholders, claimants, or other creditors, including guaranty associations, should such a committee be deemed necessary. Such committee shall serve without compensation other than reimbursement for reasonable travel and per diem living expenses. No other committee of any nature shall be appointed by the director or the court in liquidation proceedings conducted under the act;

(d) To fix the reasonable compensation of employees, agents, legal counsel, actuaries, accountants, appraisers, and consultants with the approval of the court;

(e) To pay reasonable compensation to persons appointed and to defray from the funds or assets of the insurer all expenses of taking possession of, conserving, conducting, liquidating, disposing of, or otherwise dealing with the business and property of the insurer;

(f) To hold hearings, to subpoena witnesses, to compel their attendance, to administer oaths and affirmations, to examine any person under oath or affirmation, and to compel any person to subscribe to his or her testimony after it has been correctly reduced to writing and, in connection therewith, to require the production of any books, papers, records, or other documents which he or she deems relevant to the inquiry;

(g) To audit the books and records of all agents of the insurer insofar as those records relate to the business activities of the insurer;

(h) To collect all debts and money due and claims belonging to the insurer, wherever located, and for this purpose:

(i) To institute timely action in other jurisdictions, in order to forestall garnishment and attachment proceedings against such debts;

(ii) To do such other acts as are necessary or expedient to collect, conserve, or protect its assets or property, including the power to sell, compound, compromise, or assign debts for purposes of collection upon such terms and conditions as he or she deems best; and

(iii) To pursue any creditor's remedies available to enforce his or her claims;

(i) To conduct public and private sales of the property of the insurer;

(j) To use assets of the estate of an insurer under a liquidation order to transfer policy obligations to a solvent assuming insurer if the transfer can be arranged without prejudice to applicable priorities under section 44-4842;

(k) To acquire, hypothecate, encumber, lease, improve, sell, transfer, abandon, or otherwise dispose of or deal with any property of the insurer at its market value or upon such terms and conditions as are fair and reasonable. He or she shall also have power to execute, acknowledge, and deliver any and all deeds, assignments, releases, and other instruments necessary or proper to effectuate any sale of property or other transaction in connection with the liquidation;

(l) To borrow money on the security of the insurer's assets or without security and to execute and deliver all documents necessary to that transaction for the purpose of facilitating the liquidation. Any such funds borrowed may be repaid as an administrative expense and shall have priority over any other claims under subdivision (1) of section 44-4842;

(m) To enter into such contracts as are necessary to carry out the order to liquidate and to affirm or disavow any contracts to which the insurer is a party, except that a liquidator shall not have power to disavow, reject, or repudiate any Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement, or any pledge, security, collateral or guarantee agreement or any other similar arrangement or credit enhancement relating to such Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement;

(n) To continue to prosecute and to institute in the name of the insurer or in his or her own name any and all suits and other legal proceedings in this state or elsewhere and to abandon the prosecution of claims he or she deems unprofitable to pursue further. If the insurer is dissolved under section 44-4820, the liquidator shall have the power to apply to any court in this state or elsewhere for leave to substitute himself or herself for the insurer as plaintiff;

(o) To prosecute any action which may exist on behalf of the insureds, creditors, members, or shareholders of the insurer against any officer of the insurer or any other person;

(p) To remove any or all records and property of the insurer to the offices of the director or to such other place as may be convenient for the purposes of efficient and orderly execution of the liquidation. Guaranty associations and foreign guaranty associations shall have such reasonable access to the records of the insurer as is necessary for them to carry out their statutory obligations;

(q) To deposit in one or more banks in this state such sums as are required for meeting current administration expenses and dividend distributions;

(r) To invest all sums not currently needed unless the court orders otherwise;

(s) To file any necessary documents for record in the office of any register of deeds or record office in this state or elsewhere where property of the insurer is located;

(t) To assert all defenses available to the insurer as against third persons, including statutes of limitations, statutes of frauds, and the defense of usury. A waiver of any defense by the insurer after a petition in liquidation has been filed shall not bind the liquidator. Whenever a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association has an obligation to defend any suit, the liquidator shall give precedence to such obligation and may defend only in the absence of a defense by such guaranty associations;

(u) To exercise and enforce all the rights, remedies, and powers of any insured, creditor, shareholder, or member, including any power to avoid any transfer or lien that may be given by the general law and that is not included with sections 44-4826 to 44-4828, except that a liquidator shall not have power to disavow, reject, or repudiate any Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement, or any pledge, security, collateral or guarantee agreement or any other similar arrangement or credit enhancement relating to such Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement;

(v) To intervene in any proceeding wherever instituted that might lead to the appointment of a receiver or trustee and to act as the receiver or trustee whenever the appointment is offered;

(w) To enter into agreements with any receiver or the director, commissioner, or equivalent official of any other state relating to the rehabilitation, liquidation, conservation, or dissolution of an insurer doing business in both states; and

(x) To exercise all powers now held or hereafter conferred upon receivers by the laws of this state not inconsistent with the provisions of the act.

(2)(a) If a company placed in liquidation has issued liability policies on a claims-made basis, which policies provided an option to purchase an extended period to report claims, then the liquidator may make available to holders of such policies, for a charge, an extended period to report claims as stated in this subsection. The extended reporting period shall be made available only to those insureds who have not secured substitute coverage. The extended period made available by the liquidator shall begin upon termination of any extended period to report claims in the basic policy and shall end at the earlier of the final date for filing of claims in the liquidation proceeding or eighteen months from the order of liquidation.

(b) The extended period to report claims made available by the liquidator shall be subject to the terms of the policy to which it relates. The liquidator shall make available such extended period within sixty days after the order of liquidation at a charge to be determined by the liquidator subject to approval of the court. Such offer shall be deemed rejected unless the offer is accepted in writing and the charge is paid within ninety days after the order of liquidation. No commissions, premium taxes, assessments, or other fees shall be due on the charge pertaining to the extended period to report claims.

(3) The enumeration in this section of the powers and authority of the liquidator shall not be construed as a limitation upon him or her nor shall it exclude in any manner his or her right to do such other acts not in this section specifically enumerated or otherwise provided for as may be necessary or appropriate for the accomplishment of or in aid of the purpose of liquidation.

(4) Notwithstanding the powers of the liquidator as stated in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the liquidator shall have no obligation to defend claims or to continue to defend claims subsequent to the entry of a liquidation order.

44-4822 Notice to creditors and others.

(1) Unless the court otherwise directs, the liquidator shall give or cause to be given notice of the liquidation order as soon as possible:

(a) By first-class mail and by telegram, electronic mail, facsimile, or telephone to the director, commissioner, or equivalent official of each jurisdiction in which the insurer is doing business;

(b) By first-class mail to any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association which is or may become obligated as a result of the liquidation;

(c) By first-class mail to all insurance agents of the insurer;

(d) By first-class mail to all persons known or reasonably expected to have claims against the insurer, including all policyholders at their last-known address as indicated by the records of the insurer; and

(e) By publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the insurer has its principal place of business and in such other locations as the liquidator deems appropriate.

(2) Notice to potential claimants under subsection (1) of this section shall require claimants to file with the liquidator their claims together with proper proofs thereof under section 44-4836 on or before a date the liquidator shall specify in the notice. Although an earlier date may be set by the liquidator, the last day to file claims shall be no later than eighteen months following the order of liquidation. The liquidator need not require persons claiming cash surrender values or other investment values in life insurance and annuities to file a claim. All claimants shall have a duty to keep the liquidator informed of any changes of address.

(3)(a) Notice under subsection (1) of this section to agents of the insurer and to potential claimants who are policyholders shall include, when applicable, notice that coverage by a guaranty association may be available for all or part of policy benefits in accordance with applicable state insurance guaranty laws.

(b) The liquidator shall promptly provide to any guaranty association such information concerning the identities and addresses of such policyholders and their policy coverages as may be within the liquidator's possession or control and shall otherwise cooperate with a guaranty association to assist in providing to such policyholders timely notice of the guaranty association's coverage of policy benefits, including, as applicable, coverage of claims and continuation or termination of coverages.

(4) If notice is given in accordance with this section, the distribution of assets of the insurer under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act shall be conclusive with respect to all claimants whether or not they receive actual notice.

If the liquidator's file reflects the potential claimant's direct address, the mailing of a notice to attorneys listed in correspondence between the claimant and the insurance company from several years previous does not satisfy the notice requirements of this section. State ex rel. Wagner v. Amwest Sur. Ins. Co., 274 Neb. 121, 738 N.W.2d 813 (2007).

When notice is not properly given in accordance with this section, a claimant should not be penalized for failing to timely file a claim in the liquidation proceeding of which the claimant was unaware. State ex rel. Wagner v. Amwest Sur. Ins. Co., 274 Neb. 121, 738 N.W.2d 813 (2007).

44-4823 Duties of agents; violation; penalty.

(1) Every person who receives notice in the form prescribed in section 44-4822 that an insurer which he or she represents as an agent is the subject of a liquidation order shall, within fifteen days of such notice, give notice of the liquidation order. The notice shall be sent by first-class mail to the last address contained in the agent's records to each policyholder or other person named in any policy issued through the agent by the insurer if he or she has a record of the address of the policyholder or other person. A policy shall be deemed issued through an agent if the agent has a property interest in the expiration of the policy or if the agent has had in his or her possession a copy of the declarations of the policy at any time during the life of the policy except when the ownership of the expiration of the policy has been transferred to another. The written notice shall include the name and address of the insurer, the name and address of the agent, identification of the policy impaired, and the nature of the impairment, including termination of coverage as described in section 44-4819. Notice by a general agent satisfies the notice requirement for any agents under contract to him or her. Each agent obligated to give notice under this section shall file a report of compliance with the liquidator.

(2) Any agent failing to give notice or file a report of compliance as required in subsection (1) of this section may be subject to payment of a civil penalty of not more than one thousand dollars and may have his or her license suspended. The penalty shall be imposed after a hearing held by the director.

(3) The liquidator may waive the duties imposed by this section if he or she determines that other notice to the policyholders of the insurer under liquidation is adequate.

44-4824 Actions by and against liquidator.

(1) Upon issuance of an order appointing a liquidator of a domestic insurer or of an alien insurer domiciled in this state, no action at law or equity or in arbitration shall be brought against the insurer or liquidator, whether in this state or elsewhere, nor shall any such existing actions be maintained or further presented after issuance of such order. The courts of this state shall give full faith and credit to injunctions against the liquidator or the company or the continuation of existing actions against the liquidator or the company when such injunctions are included in an order to liquidate an insurer issued pursuant to corresponding provisions in other states. Whenever, in the liquidator's judgment, protection of the estate of the insurer necessitates intervention in an action against the insurer that is pending outside this state, he or she may intervene in the action. The liquidator may defend any action in which he or she intervenes under this section at the expense of the estate of the insurer.

(2) The liquidator may, upon or after an order for liquidation, within two years or such time in addition to two years as applicable law may permit, institute an action or proceeding on behalf of the estate of the insurer upon any cause of action against which the period of limitation fixed by applicable law has not expired at the time of the filing of the petition upon which such order is entered. In any agreement, when a period of limitation is fixed for instituting a suit or proceeding upon any claim or for filing any claim, proof of claim, proof of loss, demand, notice, or the like or in any proceeding, judicial or otherwise, when a period of limitation is fixed either in the proceeding or by applicable law for taking any action, filing any claim or pleading, or doing any act, and when in any such case the period had not expired at the date of the filing of the petition, the liquidator may, for the benefit of the estate, take any such action or do any such act required of or permitted to the insurer within a period of one hundred eighty days subsequent to the entry of an order for liquidation or within such further period as is shown to the satisfaction of the court not to be unfairly prejudicial to the other party.

(3) No statute of limitations or defense of laches shall run with respect to any action against an insurer between the filing of a petition for liquidation against an insurer and the denial of the petition. Any action against the insurer that might have been commenced when the petition was filed may be commenced for at least sixty days after the petition is denied.

(4) Any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association shall have standing to appear in any court proceeding concerning the liquidation of an insurer if such association is or may become liable to act as a result of the liquidation.

44-4825 Collection and list of assets.

(1) As soon as practicable after the liquidation order but not later than one hundred twenty days thereafter, the liquidator shall prepare in duplicate a list of the insurer's assets. The list shall be amended or supplemented from time to time as the liquidator may determine. One copy shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of Lancaster County and one copy shall be retained for the liquidator's files. All amendments and supplements shall be similarly filed.

(2) The liquidator shall reduce the assets to a degree of liquidity that is consistent with the effective execution of the liquidation.

(3) The submission of an application to the court for disbursement of assets in accordance with section 44-4834 shall fulfill the requirements of subsection (1) of this section.

44-4826 Fraudulent transfers and obligations incurred prior to petition.

(1) Every transfer made or suffered and every obligation incurred by an insurer within one year prior to the filing of a successful petition for rehabilitation or liquidation under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act shall be fraudulent as to then existing and future creditors if made or incurred without fair consideration or with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud either existing or future creditors. Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, a transfer made or an obligation incurred by an insurer ordered to be rehabilitated or liquidated under the act which is fraudulent under this section may be avoided by the receiver, except as to a person who in good faith is a purchaser, lienor, or obligee for a present fair equivalent value, and except that any purchaser, lienor, or obligee who in good faith has given a consideration less than fair for such transfer, lien, or obligation may retain the property, lien, or obligation as security for repayment. The court may, on due notice, order any such transfer or obligation to be preserved for the benefit of the estate, and in that event, the receiver shall succeed to and may enforce the rights of the purchaser, lienor, or obligee.

(2)(a) A transfer of property other than real property shall be deemed to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings on a simple contract could become superior to the rights of the transferee under subsection (3) of section 44-4828.

(b) A transfer of real property shall be deemed to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent bona fide purchaser from the insurer could obtain rights superior to the rights of the transferee.

(c) A transfer which creates an equitable lien shall not be deemed to be perfected if there are available means by which a legal lien could be created.

(d) Any transfer not perfected prior to the filing of a petition for liquidation shall be deemed to be made immediately before the filing of the successful petition.

(e) The provisions of this subsection shall apply whether or not there are or were creditors who might have obtained any liens or persons who might have become bona fide purchasers.

(3) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, any transaction of the insurer with a reinsurer shall be deemed fraudulent and may be avoided by the receiver under subsection (1) of this section if:

(a) The transaction consists of the termination, adjustment, or settlement of a reinsurance contract in which the reinsurer is released from any part of its duty to pay the originally specified share of losses that had occurred prior to the time of the transactions unless the reinsurer gives a present fair equivalent value for the release; and

(b) Any part of the transaction took place within one year prior to the date of filing of the petition through which the receivership was commenced.

(4) Every person receiving any property from the insurer or any benefit thereof which is a fraudulent transfer under subsection (1) of this section shall be personally liable therefor and shall be bound to account to the liquidator.

(5) A receiver may not avoid any transfer of, or any obligation to transfer, money or any other property arising under or in connection with any Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement, or any pledge, security, collateral or guarantee agreement or any other similar arrangement or credit enhancement relating to such Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement. However, a transfer may be avoided under this subsection if it was made with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud either existing or future creditors.

44-4827 Fraudulent transfer after petition.

(1) After a petition for rehabilitation or liquidation has been filed, a transfer of any of the real property of the insurer made to a person acting in good faith shall be valid against the receiver if made for a present fair equivalent value or, if not made for a present fair equivalent value, then to the extent of the present consideration actually paid therefor, for which amount the transferee shall have a lien on the property so transferred. The commencement of a proceeding in rehabilitation or liquidation shall be constructive notice upon the recording of a copy of the petition for or order of rehabilitation or liquidation with the register of deeds in the county where any real property in question is located. The exercise by a court of the United States or any state or jurisdiction to authorize or effect a judicial sale of real property of the insurer within any county in any state shall not be impaired by the pendency of such a proceeding unless the copy is recorded in the county prior to the consummation of the judicial sale.

(2) After a petition for rehabilitation or liquidation has been filed and before either the receiver takes possession of the property of the insurer or an order of rehabilitation or liquidation is granted:

(a) A transfer of any of the property of the insurer, other than real property, made to a person acting in good faith shall be valid against the receiver if made for a present fair equivalent value or, if not made for a present fair equivalent value, then to the extent of the present consideration actually paid therefor, for which amount the transferee shall have a lien on the property so transferred;

(b) A person indebted to the insurer or holding property of the insurer may, if acting in good faith, pay the indebtedness or deliver the property or any part thereof to the insurer or upon his or her order with the same effect as if the petition were not pending;

(c) A person having actual knowledge of the pending rehabilitation or liquidation shall be deemed not to act in good faith; and

(d) A person asserting the validity of a transfer under this section shall have the burden of proof. Except as elsewhere provided in this section, no transfer by or on behalf of the insurer after the date of the petition for liquidation by any person other than the liquidator shall be valid against the liquidator.

(3) Every person receiving any property from the insurer or any benefit thereof which is a fraudulent transfer under subsection (1) of this section shall be liable therefor and shall be bound to account to the liquidator.

(4) Nothing in the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act shall impair the negotiability of currency or negotiable instruments.

(5) A receiver may not avoid any transfer of, or any obligation to transfer, money or any other property arising under or in connection with any Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement, or any pledge, security, collateral or guarantee agreement or any other similar arrangement or credit enhancement relating to such Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement. However, a transfer may be avoided under this subsection if it was made with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud either existing or future creditors.

44-4828 Preferences and liens.

(1)(a) A preference shall mean a transfer of any of the property of an insurer to or for the benefit of a creditor, for or on account of an antecedent debt, made or suffered by the insurer within one year before the filing of a successful petition for liquidation under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act the effect of which transfer may be to enable the creditor to obtain a greater percentage of such debt than another creditor of the same class would receive. If a liquidation order is entered while the insurer is already subject to a rehabilitation order, such transfers shall be deemed preferences if made or suffered within one year before the filing of the successful petition for rehabilitation or within two years before the filing of the successful petition for liquidation, whichever time is shorter.

(b) Except as provided in subdivision (1)(d) of this section, any preference may be avoided by the liquidator if:

(i) The insurer was insolvent at the time of the transfer;

(ii) The transfer was made within four months before the filing of the petition;

(iii) The creditor receiving it or to be benefited thereby or his or her agent acting with reference thereto had, at the time when the transfer was made, reasonable cause to believe that the insurer was insolvent or was about to become insolvent; or

(iv) The creditor receiving it was: An officer; any employee, attorney, or other person who was in fact in a position of comparable influence in the insurer to an officer whether or not he or she held such position; any shareholder holding directly or indirectly more than five percent of any class of any equity security issued by the insurer; or any other person, firm, corporation, association, or aggregation of persons with whom the insurer did not deal at arm's length.

(c) When the preference is voidable, the liquidator may recover the property or, if it has been converted, its value from any person who has received or converted the property, except when a bona fide purchaser or lienor has given less than fair equivalent value, he or she shall have a lien upon the property to the extent of the consideration actually given by him or her. When a preference by way of lien or security title is voidable, the court may on due notice order the lien or title to be preserved for the benefit of the estate, in which event the lien or title shall pass to the liquidator.

(d) A liquidator or receiver shall not avoid any preference arising under or in connection with any Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement, or any pledge, security, collateral or guarantee agreement or any other similar arrangement or credit enhancement relating to such Federal Home Loan Bank security agreement.

(2)(a) A transfer of property other than real property shall be deemed to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings on a simple contract could become superior to the rights of the transferee.

(b) A transfer of real property shall be deemed to be made or suffered when it becomes so far perfected that no subsequent bona fide purchaser from the insurer could obtain rights superior to the rights of the transferee.

(c) A transfer which creates an equitable lien shall not be deemed to be perfected if there are available means by which a legal lien could be created.

(d) A transfer not perfected prior to the filing of a petition for liquidation shall be deemed to be made immediately before the filing of the successful petition.

(e) The provisions of this subsection shall apply whether or not there are or were creditors who might have obtained liens or persons who might have become bona fide purchasers.

(3)(a) A lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings upon a simple contract shall be one arising in the ordinary course of such proceedings upon the entry or recording of a judgment or decree or upon attachment, garnishment, execution, or like process, whether before, upon, or after judgment or decree and whether before or upon levy. It shall not include liens which under applicable law are given a special priority over other liens which are prior in time.

(b) A lien obtainable by legal or equitable proceedings could become superior to the rights of a transferee or a purchaser could obtain rights superior to the rights of a transferee within the meaning of subsection (2) of this section if such consequences would follow only from the lien or purchase itself or from the lien or purchase followed by any step wholly within the control of the respective lienholder or purchaser with or without the aid of ministerial action by public officials. Such a lien could not, however, become superior and such a purchase could not create superior rights for the purpose of subsection (2) of this section through any acts subsequent to the obtaining of such a lien or subsequent to such a purchase which require the agreement or concurrence of any third party or which require any further judicial action or ruling.

(4) A transfer of property for or on account of a new and contemporaneous consideration which is deemed under subsection (2) of this section to be made or suffered after the transfer because of delay in perfecting shall not thereby become a transfer for or on account of an antecedent debt if any acts required by the applicable law to be performed in order to perfect the transfer as against liens or bona fide purchasers' rights are performed within twenty-one days or any period expressly allowed by the law, whichever is less. A transfer to secure a future loan, if such a loan is actually made, or a transfer which becomes security for a future loan shall have the same effect as a transfer for or on account of a new and contemporaneous consideration.

(5) If any lien deemed voidable under subdivision (1)(b) of this section has been dissolved by the furnishing of a bond or other obligation, the surety on which has been indemnified directly or indirectly by the transfer of or the creation of a lien upon any property of an insurer before the filing of a petition under the act which results in a liquidation order, the indemnifying transfer or lien shall also be deemed voidable.

(6) The property affected by any lien deemed voidable under subsections (1) and (5) of this section shall be discharged from such lien, and that property and any of the indemnifying property transferred to or for the benefit of a surety shall pass to the liquidator, except that the court may on due notice order any such lien to be preserved for the benefit of the estate and the court may direct that such conveyance be executed as may be proper or adequate to evidence the title of the liquidator.

(7) The district court of Lancaster County shall have summary jurisdiction of any proceeding by the liquidator to hear and determine the rights of any parties under this section. Reasonable notice of any hearing in the proceeding shall be given to all parties in interest, including the obligee of a releasing bond or other like obligation. When an order is entered for the recovery of indemnifying property in kind or for the avoidance of an indemnifying lien, the court, upon application of any party in interest, shall in the same proceeding ascertain the value of the property or lien, and if the value is less than the amount for which the property is indemnity or than the amount of the lien, the transferee or lienholder may elect to retain the property or lien upon payment of its value, as ascertained by the court, to the liquidator within such reasonable times as the court shall fix.

(8) The liability of the surety under a releasing bond or other like obligation shall be discharged to the extent of the value of the indemnifying property recovered or the indemnifying lien nullified and avoided by the liquidator or, when the property is retained under subsection (7) of this section, to the extent of the amount paid to the liquidator.

(9) If a creditor has been preferred and afterward in good faith gives the insurer further credit without security of any kind for property which becomes a part of the insurer's estate, the amount of the new credit remaining unpaid at the time of the petition may be set off against the preference which would otherwise be recoverable from him or her.

(10) If an insurer, directly or indirectly, within four months before the filing of a successful petition for liquidation under the act or at any time in contemplation of a proceeding to liquidate, pays money or transfers property to an attorney for services rendered or to be rendered, the transactions may be examined by the court on its own motion or shall be examined by the court on petition of the liquidator and shall be held valid only to the extent of a reasonable amount to be determined by the court, and the excess may be recovered by the liquidator for the benefit of the estate, except that if the attorney is in a position of influence in the insurer or an affiliate thereof, payment of any money or the transfer of any property to the attorney for services rendered or to be rendered shall be governed by subdivision (1)(b)(iv) of this section.

(11)(a) Every officer, manager, employee, shareholder, member, subscriber, attorney, or any other person acting on behalf of the insurer who knowingly participates in giving any preference when he or she has reasonable cause to believe the insurer is or is about to become insolvent at the time of the preference shall be personally liable to the liquidator for the amount of the preference. It shall be permissible to infer that there is a reasonable cause to so believe if the transfer was made within four months before the date of filing of the successful petition for liquidation.

(b) Every person receiving any property from the insurer or the benefit thereof as a preference voidable under subsection (1) of this section shall be personally liable therefor and shall be bound to account to the liquidator.

(c) Nothing in this subsection shall prejudice any other claim by the liquidator against any person.

44-4829 Claims of holders of void or voidable rights.

(1) No claims of a creditor who has received or acquired a preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment, or encumbrance voidable under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act shall be allowed unless he or she surrenders the preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment, or encumbrance. If the avoidance is effected by a proceeding in which a final judgment has been entered, the claim shall not be allowed unless the money is paid or the property is delivered to the liquidator within thirty days from the date of the entering of the final judgment, except that the court having jurisdiction over the liquidation may allow further time if there is an appeal or other continuation of the proceeding.

(2) A claim allowable under subsection (1) of this section by reason of the avoidance, whether voluntary or involuntary, of a preference, lien, conveyance, transfer, assignment, or encumbrance may be filed as an excused late filing under section 44-4835 if filed within thirty days from the date of the avoidance or within the further time allowed by the court under subsection (1) of this section.

(1) Mutual debts or mutual credits whether arising out of one or more contracts between the insurer and another person in connection with any action or proceeding under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act shall be set off and the balance only shall be allowed or paid except as provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section and in section 44-4833.

(2) No setoff shall be allowed in favor of any person when:

(a) The obligation of the insurer to the person would not at the date of the filing of a petition for rehabilitation or liquidation entitle the person to share as a claimant in the assets of the insurer;

(b) The obligation of the insurer to the person was purchased by or transferred to the person with a view to its being used as a setoff;

(c) The obligation of the insurer is owed to an affiliate of such person or any other entity or association other than the person;

(d) The obligation of the person is owed to an affiliate of the insurer or any other entity or association other than the insurer;

(e) The obligation of the person is to pay an assessment levied against the members or subscribers of the insurer, is to pay a balance upon a subscription to the capital stock of the insurer, or is in any other way in the nature of a capital contribution; or

(f) The obligations between the person and the insurer arise out of transactions by which either the person or the insurer has assumed risks and obligations from the other party and then has ceded back to that party substantially the same risks and obligations. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subdivision, the rehabilitator or liquidator may permit setoffs if in his or her discretion a setoff is appropriate because of specific circumstances relating to a transaction.

(3) The rehabilitator or liquidator shall provide persons with accounting statements identifying debts which are currently due and payable. When a person owes to the insurer amounts which are currently due and payable, against which the person asserts setoff of mutual credits which may become due and payable from the insurer in the future, the person shall promptly pay to the rehabilitator or liquidator the amounts currently due and payable, except that, notwithstanding section 44-4842, the rehabilitator or liquidator shall promptly and fully refund, to the extent of the person's prior payments, any mutual credits that become due and payable to the person by the insurer.

(4) The provisions of subdivision (2)(f) and subsection (3) of this section shall apply to all contracts entered into, renewed, extended, or amended on or after October 1, 1995, and to debts or credits arising from any business written after such date pursuant to any such contract. For purposes of this subsection, any change in the terms of or consideration for any such contract shall be deemed an amendment of the contract.

44-4830.01 Netting agreement; qualified financial contract; net or settlement amount; treatment; receiver; powers; duties; notice; claim of counterparty; rights of counterparty.

(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act to the contrary, including any other provision of the act that permits the modification of contracts, or another law of this state, a person shall not be stayed or prohibited from exercising any of the following:

(a) A contractual right to terminate, liquidate, or close out any netting agreement or qualified financial contract with an insurer because of one of the following:

(i) The insolvency, financial condition, or default of the insurer at any time, if the right is enforceable under applicable law other than the act; or

(ii) The commencement of a formal delinquency proceeding under the act;

(b) Any right under a pledge, security, collateral, or guarantee agreement or any other similar security arrangement or credit support document relating to a netting agreement or qualified financial contract; or

(c) Subject to any provision of subsection (2) of section 44-4830, any right to setoff or net out any termination value, payment amount, or other transfer obligation arising under or in connection with a netting agreement or qualified financial contract if the counterparty or its guarantor is organized under the laws of the United States or a state or foreign jurisdiction approved by the Securities Valuation Office of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners as eligible for netting.

(2) Upon termination of a netting agreement or qualified financial contract, the net or settlement amount, if any, owed by a nondefaulting party to an insurer against which an application or petition has been filed under the act shall be transferred to or on the order of the receiver for the insurer, even if the insurer is the defaulting party, notwithstanding any provision in the netting agreement or qualified financial contract that may provide that the defaulting party is not required to pay any net or settlement amount due to the defaulting party upon termination. Any limited two-way payment provision in a netting agreement or qualified financial contract with an insurer that has defaulted shall be deemed to be a full two-way payment provision as against the defaulting insurer. Any such amount, except to the extent it is subject to one or more secondary liens or encumbrances, shall be a general asset of the insurer.

(3) In making any transfer of a netting agreement or qualified financial contract of an insurer subject to a proceeding under the act, the receiver shall do one of the following:

(a) Transfer to one party, other than an insurer subject to a proceeding under the act, all netting agreements and qualified financial contracts between a counterparty or any affiliate of the counterparty and the insurer that is the subject of the proceeding, including all of the following:

(i) All rights and obligations of each party under each netting agreement and qualified financial contract; and

(ii) All property, including any guarantees or credit support documents, securing any claims of each party under each such netting agreement and qualified financial contract; or

(b) Transfer none of the netting agreements, qualified financial contracts, rights, obligations, or property referred to in subdivision (a) of this subsection with respect to the counterparty and any affiliate of the counterparty.

(4) If a receiver for an insurer makes a transfer of one or more netting agreements or qualified financial contracts, the receiver shall use his or her best efforts to notify any person who is party to the netting agreement or qualified financial contract of the transfer by noon of the receiver's local time on the business day following the transfer. For purposes of this subsection, business day means a day other than a Saturday, Sunday, or any day on which either the New York Stock Exchange or the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is closed.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of the act to the contrary, a receiver shall not avoid a transfer of money or other property arising under or in connection with a netting agreement or qualified financial contract or any pledge, security, collateral, or guarantee agreement or any other similar security arrangement or credit support document relating to a netting agreement or qualified financial contract that is made before the commencement of a formal delinquency proceeding under the act. However, a transfer may be avoided under section 44-4828 if the transfer was made with actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud the insurer, a receiver appointed for the insurer, or an existing or future creditor.

(6)(a) In exercising any of its powers under the act to disaffirm or repudiate a netting agreement or qualified financial contract, the receiver shall take action with respect to each netting agreement or qualified financial contract and all transactions entered into in connection therewith in its entirety.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of the act to the contrary, any claim of a counterparty against the estate arising from the receiver's disaffirmance or repudiation of a netting agreement or qualified financial contract that has not been previously affirmed in the liquidation or in the immediately preceding rehabilitation case shall be determined and allowed or disallowed as if the claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition for liquidation or, if a rehabilitation proceeding is converted to a liquidation proceeding, as if the claim had arisen before the date of the filing of the petition for rehabilitation. The amount of the claim shall be the actual direct compensatory damages determined as of the date of the disaffirmance or repudiation of the netting agreement or qualified financial contract. For purposes of this subdivision, actual direct compensatory damages does not include punitive or exemplary damages, damages for lost profit or lost opportunity, or damages for pain and suffering, but does include normal and reasonable costs of cover or other reasonable measures of damages utilized in the derivatives market for the contract and agreement claims.

(7) For purposes of this section, contractual right includes any right, whether or not evidenced in writing, arising under (a) statutory or common law, (b) a rule or bylaw of a national securities exchange, a national securities clearing organization, or a securities clearing agency, (c) a rule or bylaw or a resolution of the governing body of a contract market or its clearing organization, or (d) law merchant.

(8) This section does not apply to persons who are affiliates of the insurer that is the subject of the proceeding.

(9) All rights of a counterparty under the act shall apply to netting agreements and qualified financial contracts entered into on behalf of the general account or separate accounts, if the assets of each separate account are available only to counterparties to netting agreements and qualified financial contracts entered into on behalf of that separate account.

44-4831 Assessments.

(1) As soon as practicable, but not more than two years from the date of an order of liquidation under section 44-4818 of an insurer issuing assessable policies, the liquidator shall make a report to the court setting forth:

(a) The reasonable value of the assets of the insurer;

(b) The insurer's probable total liabilities;

(c) The probable aggregate amount of the assessment necessary to pay all claims of creditors and expenses in full, including expenses of administration and costs of collecting the assessment; and

(d) A recommendation as to whether or not an assessment should be made and in what amount.

(2)(a) Upon the basis of the report provided in subsection (1) of this section, including any supplements and amendments thereto, the district court of Lancaster County may levy one or more assessments against all members of the insurer who are subject to assessment.

(b) Subject to any applicable legal limits on assessability, the aggregate assessment shall be for the amount that the sum of the probable liabilities, the expenses of administration, and the estimated cost of collection of the assessment, exceeds the value of existing assets, with due regard being given to assessments that cannot be collected economically.

(3) After levy of assessment under subsection (2) of this section, the liquidator shall issue an order directing each member who has not paid the assessment pursuant to the order to show cause why the liquidator should not pursue a judgment therefor.

(4) The liquidator shall give notice of the order to show cause by publication and by first-class mail to each member liable thereunder mailed to his or her last-known address as it appears on the insurer's records at least twenty days before the return day of the order to show cause.

(5)(a) If a member does not appear and serve duly verified objections upon the liquidator on or before the return day of the order to show cause under subsection (3) of this section, the court shall make an order adjudging the member liable for the amount of the assessment against him or her pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, together with costs, and the liquidator shall have a judgment against the member therefor.

(b) If on or before such return day the member appears and serves duly verified objections upon the liquidator, the director may hear and determine the matter or may appoint a referee to hear it and make such order as the facts warrant. In the event that the director determines that such objections do not warrant relief from assessment, the member may request the court to review the matter and vacate the order to show cause.

(6) The liquidator may enforce any order or collect any judgment under subsection (5) of this section by any lawful means.

44-4832 Reinsurer's liability.

The amount recoverable by the liquidator from reinsurers shall not be reduced as a result of the delinquency proceedings, regardless of any provision in the reinsurance contract or other agreement. Payment made directly to an insured or other creditor shall not diminish the reinsurer's obligation to the insurer's estate except when the reinsurance contract provided for direct coverage of a named insured and the payment was made in discharge of that obligation.

44-4833 Recovery of premiums owed; violation; penalty; appeal.

(1)(a) An agent, broker, premium finance company, or any other person, other than the insured, responsible for the payment of a premium shall be obligated to pay any unpaid earned premium due the insurer at the time of the declaration of insolvency as shown on the records of the insurer. The liquidator shall also have the right to recover from such person any part of an unearned commission of such person. An agent, broker, premium finance company, or any other person, other than the insured, responsible for the payment of a premium shall not be obligated to pay the unpaid unearned premium due the insurer at the time of the declaration of insolvency as shown on the records of the insurer, and any such unearned premium in the possession of such agent, broker, premium finance company, or other person at such time shall be returned promptly by such agent, broker, premium finance company, or other person to the insured or other person from whom it was received. Credits or setoffs or both shall not be allowed to an agent, broker, or premium finance company for any amounts advanced to the insurer by the agent, broker, or premium finance company on behalf of, but in the absence of a payment by, the insured.

(b) An insured shall be obligated to pay any unpaid earned premium due the insurer at the time of the declaration of insolvency as shown on the records of the insurer.

(2) Upon satisfactory evidence of a violation of this section, the director may pursue either one or both of the following courses of action:

(a) Suspend, revoke, or refuse to renew the licenses of such offending party or parties; or

(b) Impose a civil penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each and every act in violation of this section by the party or parties.

(3) Before the director takes any action as set forth in subsection (2) of this section, he or she shall give written notice to the person, company, association, or exchange accused of violating the law, stating specifically the nature of the alleged violation and fixing a time and place, at least ten days thereafter, when a hearing on the matter shall be held. After such hearing or upon failure of the accused to appear at such hearing, the director, if he or she finds such violation, shall impose the penalties under subsection (2) of this section as he or she deems advisable.

(4) When the director takes action in any or all of the ways set out in subsection (2) of this section, the party aggrieved may appeal from the action to the district court of Lancaster County.

44-4834 Liquidator's proposal to distribute assets.

(1) Within one hundred twenty days of a final determination of insolvency of an insurer by a court of competent jurisdiction of this state, the liquidator shall make application to the court for approval of a proposal to disburse assets out of marshalled assets, from time to time as such assets become available, to a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association having obligations because of such insolvency. If the liquidator determines that there are insufficient assets to disburse, the application required by this section shall be considered satisfied by a filing by the liquidator stating the reasons for this determination.

(2) Such proposal shall at least include provisions for:

(a) Reserving amounts for the payment of expenses of administration and the payment of claims of secured creditors to the extent of the value of the security held and claims falling within the priority established in subdivision (1) of section 44-4842;

(b) Disbursement of the assets marshalled to date and subsequent disbursement of assets as they become available;

(c) Equitable allocation of disbursements to each of the guaranty associations and foreign guaranty associations entitled thereto;

(d) The securing by the liquidator from each of the associations entitled to disbursements pursuant to this section of an agreement to return to the liquidator such assets, together with income earned on assets previously disbursed, as may be required to pay claims of secured creditors and claims falling within the priorities established in section 44-4842 in accordance with such priorities. No bond shall be required of any such association; and

(e) A full report to be made by each association to the liquidator accounting for all assets so disbursed to the association, all disbursements made therefrom, any interest earned by the association on such assets, and any other matter as the court may direct.

(3) The liquidator's proposal shall provide for disbursements to the associations in amounts estimated at least equal to the claim payments made or to be made thereby for which such associations could assert a claim against the liquidator and shall further provide that if the assets available for disbursement from time to time do not equal or exceed the amount of such claim payments made or to be made by the association, then disbursements shall be in the amount of available assets.

(4) The liquidator's proposal shall, with respect to an insolvent insurer writing life or health insurance or annuities, provide for disbursements of assets to any guaranty association or any foreign guaranty association covering life or health insurance or annuities or to any other entity or organization reinsuring, assuming, or guaranteeing policies or contracts of insurance under the laws creating such associations.

(5) Notice of such application shall be given to the association in and to the director, commissioner, or equivalent official of each of the states. Any such notice shall be deemed to have been given when deposited in the United States certified mail, first-class postage prepaid, at least thirty days prior to submission of such application to the court. Action on the application may be taken by the court if the required notice has been given and the liquidator's proposal complies with subdivisions (2)(a) and (b) of this section.

44-4835 Filing of claims.

(1) Proof of all claims shall be filed with the liquidator in the form required by section 44-4836 on or before the last day for filing specified in the notice required under section 44-4822, except that proof of claims for cash surrender values or other investment values in life insurance and annuities need not be filed unless the liquidator expressly so requires.

(2) The liquidator may permit a claimant making a late filing to share in distributions, whether past or future, as if he or she were not late, to the extent that any such payment will not prejudice the orderly administration of the liquidation, under the following circumstances:

(a) The existence of the claim was not known to the claimant and he or she filed his or her claim as promptly thereafter as reasonably possible after learning of it;

(b) A transfer to a creditor was avoided under sections 44-4826 to 44-4828 or was voluntarily surrendered under section 44-4829 and the filing satisfies the conditions of such section; or

(c) The valuation under section 44-4841 of security held by a secured creditor shows a deficiency, which is filed within thirty days after the valuation.

(3) The liquidator shall permit late filing claims to share in distributions, whether past or future, as if they were not late if such claims are claims of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association for reimbursement of covered claims paid or expenses incurred, or both, subsequent to the last day for filing when such payments were made and expenses incurred as provided by law.

(4) The liquidator may consider any claim filed late which is not covered by subsection (2) of this section and permit it to receive distributions which are subsequently declared on any claims of the same or lower priority if the payment does not prejudice the orderly administration of the liquidation. The late-filing claimant shall receive at each distribution the same percentage of the amount allowed on his or her claim as is then being paid to claimants of any lower priority. This shall continue until his or her claim has been paid in full.

44-4836 Proof of claim.

(1) Proof of claim shall consist of a statement signed by the claimant that includes all of the following that are applicable:

(a) The particulars of the claim, including the consideration given for it;

(b) The identity and amount of the security on the claim;

(c) The payments made on the debt, if any;

(d) That the sum claimed is justly owing and that there is no setoff, counterclaim, or defense to the claim;

(e) Any right of priority of payment or other specific right asserted by the claimants;

(f) A copy of the written instrument which is the foundation of the claim; and

(g) The name and address of the claimant and the attorney who represents him or her, if any.

(2) No claim need be considered or allowed if it does not contain all the information in subsection (1) of this section which may be applicable. The liquidator may require that a prescribed form be used and may require that other information and documents be included.

(3) At any time the liquidator may request the claimant to present information or evidence supplementary to that required under subsection (1) of this section and may take testimony under oath or affirmation, require production of affidavits or depositions, or otherwise obtain additional information or evidence.

(4) No judgment or order against an insured or the insurer entered after the date of filing of a successful petition for liquidation and no judgment or order against an insured or the insurer entered at any time by default or by collusion need be considered as evidence of liability or of quantum of damages. No judgment or order against an insured or the insurer entered within four months before the filing of the petition need be considered as evidence of liability or of the quantum of damages.

(5) All claims of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association shall be in such form and contain such substantiation as may be agreed to by the association and the liquidator.

44-4837 Special claims.

(1) The claim of a third party which is contingent only on his or her first obtaining a judgment against the insured shall be considered and allowed as if there were no such contingency.

(2) A claim may be allowed even if contingent if it is filed in accordance with section 44-4835. It may be allowed and may participate in all distributions declared after it is filed to the extent that it does not prejudice the orderly administration of the liquidation.

(3) Claims that are due except for the passage of time shall be treated as absolute claims are treated, except that such claims may be discounted at the legal rate of interest.

(4) Claims made under employment contracts by directors, principal officers, or persons in fact performing similar functions or having similar powers shall be limited to payment for services rendered prior to the issuance of any order of rehabilitation or liquidation under section 44-4813 or 44-4818.

44-4838 Third-party claims.

(1) Whenever any third party asserts a cause of action against an insured of an insurer in liquidation, the third party may file a claim with the liquidator.

(2) Whether or not the third party files a claim, the insured may file a claim on his or her own behalf in the liquidation. If the insured fails to file a claim by the date for filing claims specified in the order of liquidation or within sixty days after mailing of the notice required by section 44-4822, whichever is later, he or she is an unexcused late filer.

(3) The liquidator shall make his or her recommendations to the court under section 44-4842 for the allowance of an insured's claim under subsection (2) of this section after consideration of the probable outcome of any pending action against the insured on which the claim is based, the probable damages recoverable in the action, and the probable costs and expenses of defense. After allowance by the court, the liquidator shall withhold any dividends payable on the claim pending the outcome of litigation and negotiation with the insured. Whenever it seems appropriate, the liquidator shall reconsider the claim on the basis of additional information and amend his or her recommendations to the court. The insured shall be afforded the same notice and opportunity to be heard on all changes in the recommendation as in its initial determination. The court may amend its allowance as it thinks appropriate. As claims against the insured are settled or barred, the insured shall be paid from the amount withheld the same percentage dividend as was paid on other claims of like property based on the lesser of (a) the amount actually recovered from the insured by action or paid by agreement plus the reasonable costs and expenses of defense or (b) the amount allowed on the claims by the court. After all claims are settled or barred, any sum remaining from the amount withheld shall revert to the undistributed assets of the insurer. Delay in final payment under this subsection shall not be a reason for unreasonable delay of final distribution and discharge of the liquidator.

(4) If several claims founded upon one policy are filed, whether by third parties or as claims by the insured under this section, and the aggregate allowed amount of the claims to which the same limit of liability in the policy is applicable exceeds that limit, each claim as allowed shall be reduced in the same proportion so that the total equals the policy limit. Claims by the insured shall be evaluated as in subsection (3) of this section. If any insured's claim is subsequently reduced under subsection (3) of this section, the amount thus freed shall be apportioned ratably among the claims which have been reduced under this subsection.

(5) No claim may be presented under this section if it is or may be covered by any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association.

44-4839 Disputed claims.

(1) When a claim is denied in whole or in part by the liquidator, written notice of the determination shall be given to the claimant or his or her attorney by first-class mail at the address shown in the proof of claim. Within sixty days from the mailing of the notice, the claimant may file his or her objections with the liquidator. If no such filing is made, the claimant may not further object to the determination.

(2) Whenever objections are filed with the liquidator and the liquidator does not alter his or her denial of the claim as a result of the objections, the liquidator shall ask the court for a hearing as soon as practicable and give notice of the hearing by first-class mail to the claimant or his or her attorney and to any other persons directly affected not less than ten or more than thirty days before the date of the hearing. The matter may be heard by the court or by a court-appointed referee who shall submit findings of fact along with his or her recommendation.

44-4840 Claims of surety.

Whenever a creditor whose claim against an insurer is secured in whole or in part by the undertaking of another person fails to prove and file the claim, the other person may do so in the creditor's name and shall be subrogated to the rights of the creditor, whether the claim has been filed by the creditor or by the other person in the creditor's name, to the extent that he or she discharges the undertaking. In the absence of an agreement with the creditor to the contrary, the other person shall not be entitled to any distribution until the amount paid to the creditor on the undertaking plus the distributions paid on the claim from the insurer's estate to the creditor equals the amount of the entire claim of the creditor. Any excess received by the creditor shall be held by him or her in trust for such other person. The term other person as used in this section shall not apply to a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association.

44-4841 Secured creditor's claims.

(1) The value of any security held by a secured creditor shall be determined in one of the following ways, as the court may direct:

(a) By converting the same into money according to the terms of the agreement pursuant to which the security was delivered to such creditors; or

(b) By agreement, arbitration, compromise, or litigation between the creditor and the liquidator.

(2) The determination shall be under the supervision and control of the court with due regard for the recommendation of the liquidator. The amount so determined shall be credited upon the secured claim, and any deficiency shall be treated as an unsecured claim. If the claimant surrenders his or her security to the liquidator, the entire claim shall be allowed as if unsecured.

44-4842 Priority of distribution.

The priority of distribution of claims from the insurer's estate shall be in accordance with the order in which each class of claims is set forth in this section. Every claim in each class shall be paid in full or adequate funds retained for such payment before the members of the next class receive any payment. No subclasses shall be established within any class. The order of distribution of claims shall be:

(1) Class 1. The costs and expenses of administration during rehabilitation and liquidation, including, but not limited to, the following:

(a) The actual and necessary costs of preserving or recovering the assets of the insurer;

(b) Compensation for all properly authorized services rendered in the rehabilitation and liquidation;

(c) Any necessary filing fees;

(d) The fees and mileage payable to witnesses;

(e) Authorized reasonable attorney's fees and fees for other professional services rendered in the rehabilitation and liquidation;

(f) The reasonable expenses of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association for unallocated loss adjustment expenses; and

(g) The expenses of examinations conducted pursuant to the Insurers Examination Act;

(2) Class 2. All claims under policies, including such claims of the federal or any state or local government, for losses incurred, including third-party claims, all claims against the insurer for liability for bodily injury or for injury to or destruction of tangible property which are not under policies, and all claims of a guaranty association or foreign guaranty association. All claims under life insurance and annuity policies, funding agreements, guaranteed interest contracts, guaranteed investment contracts, synthetic guaranteed investment contracts, and deposit administration contracts, whether for death proceeds, annuity proceeds, or investment values, shall be treated as loss claims. That portion of any loss, indemnification for which is provided by other benefits or advantages recovered by the claimant, shall not be included in this class, other than benefits or advantages recovered or recoverable in discharge of familial obligation of support or by way of succession at death or as proceeds of life insurance or as gratuities. No payment by an employer to his or her employee shall be treated as a gratuity;

(3) Class 3. Claims of the federal government other than those claims included in subdivision (2) of this section;

(4) Class 4. Reasonable compensation to employees for services performed to the extent that they do not exceed two months of monetary compensation and represent payment for services performed within one year before the filing of the petition for liquidation or, if rehabilitation preceded liquidation, within one year before the filing of the petition for rehabilitation. Principal officers and directors of the insurer shall not be entitled to the benefit of this priority except as otherwise approved by the liquidator and the court. Such priority shall be in lieu of any other similar priority which may be authorized by law as to wages or compensation of employees;

(5) Class 5. Claims under nonassessable policies for unearned premium or other premium refunds and claims of general creditors, including claims of ceding and assuming insurers in their capacity as such;

(6) Class 6. Claims of any state or local government except those under subdivision (2) of this section. Claims, including those of a governmental body for a penalty or forfeiture, shall be allowed in this class only to the extent of the pecuniary loss sustained from the act, transaction, or proceeding out of which the penalty or forfeiture arose, with reasonable and actual costs occasioned thereby. The remainder of such claims shall be postponed to the class of claims under subdivision (9) of this section;

(7) Class 7. Claims filed late or any other claims other than claims under subdivisions (8) and (9) of this section;

(8) Class 8. Surplus or contribution notes or similar obligations and premium refunds on assessable policies. Payments to members of domestic mutual insurance companies shall be limited in accordance with law; and

(9) Class 9. The claims of shareholders or other owners in their capacity as shareholders.

44-4842.01 Claims allowed under separate account policies, contracts, or agreements; how treated.

(1) Every claim allowed under a separate account policy, contract, or agreement providing, in effect, that the assets allocated to the separate account are not chargeable with liabilities arising out of any other business of the life insurer, shall be satisfied out of the assets properly allocated to and maintained in the separate account, equal to the reserves maintained in the separate account for the policies, contracts, or agreements. No liabilities of the insurer arising out of any other business of the insurer shall be satisfied from assets properly allocated to and maintained in a separate account except from any assets allocated to the separate account that exceed the reserves under the separate account policies, contracts, or agreements. Any valid and allowed claim for contractual benefits that cannot be satisfied out of the assets properly allocated to and maintained in a separate account shall be included as a claim against the general account as set forth in subdivision (2) of section 44-4842.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, to the extent that any assets of a life insurer, other than those assets properly allocated to, and maintained in, a separate account, have been used to fund or pay any expenses, taxes, or policyholder benefits that are attributable to a separate account policy, contract, or agreement that should have been paid by a separate account prior to the commencement of delinquency proceedings, then upon the commencement of delinquency proceedings, the separate accounts that benefited from this payment or funding shall first be used to repay or reimburse the insurer's general assets or account for any unreimbursed net sums due at the commencement of delinquency proceedings prior to the application of the separate account assets to the satisfaction of liabilities of the corresponding separate account policies, contracts, and agreements.

(3) For purposes of this section, separate account policies, contracts, or agreements means any policies, contracts, or agreements that provide for separate accounts as contemplated by sections 44-402.01 to 44-402.05 or section 44-708.

44-4843 Liquidator's recommendations to the court.

(1) The liquidator shall review all claims duly filed in the liquidation and shall make such further investigation as he or she deems necessary. He or she may compound, compromise, or in any other manner negotiate the amount for which claims will be recommended to the court except when the liquidator is required by law to accept claims as settled by any person or organization, including any guaranty association or foreign guaranty association. Unresolved disputes shall be determined under section 44-4839. As soon as practicable, the liquidator shall present to the court a report of the claims against the insurer with his or her recommendations. The report shall include the name and address of each claimant and the amount of the claim finally recommended, if any. If the insurer has issued annuities or life insurance policies, the liquidator shall report the persons to whom, according to the records of the insurer, amounts are owed as cash surrender values or other investment value and the amounts owed.

(2) The court may approve, disapprove, or modify the report on claims by the liquidator. Such reports as are not modified by the court within a period of sixty days following submission by the liquidator shall be treated by the liquidator as allowed claims, subject thereafter to later modification or to rulings made by the court pursuant to section 44-4839. No claim under a policy of insurance shall be allowed for an amount in excess of the applicable policy limits.

44-4844 Distribution of assets.

Under the direction of the court, the liquidator shall pay distributions in a manner that will assure the proper recognition of priorities and a reasonable balance between the expeditious completion of the liquidation and the protection of unliquidated and undetermined claims, including third-party claims. Distribution of assets in kind may be made at valuations set by agreement between the liquidator and the creditor and approved by the court.

44-4845 Unclaimed and withheld funds.

(1) All unclaimed funds subject to distribution remaining in the liquidator's hands when he or she is ready to apply to the court for discharge, including the amount distributable to any creditor, shareholder, member, or other person who is unknown or cannot be found, shall be deposited with the district court and shall be paid without interest, except in accordance with section 44-4842, to the person entitled thereto or his or her legal representative upon proof satisfactory to the district court of his or her right thereto. Any amount on deposit not claimed within three years from the date such amount was paid to the district court shall be presumed abandoned and shall be subject to the Uniform Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act.

(2) All funds withheld under section 44-4838 and not distributed shall, upon discharge of the liquidator, be deposited with the district court and paid by the district court in accordance with section 44-4842. Any sums remaining which under section 44-4842 would revert to the undistributed assets of the insurer shall be presumed abandoned and shall be subject to the act.

44-4846 Termination of proceedings.

(1) When all assets justifying the expense of collection and distribution have been collected and distributed under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, the liquidator shall apply to the court for discharge. The court may grant the discharge and make any other orders, including an order to transfer any remaining funds that are uneconomical to distribute, as may be deemed appropriate.

(2) Any other person may apply to the court at any time for an order under subsection (1) of this section. If the application is denied, the applicant shall pay the costs and expenses of the liquidator in resisting the application, including reasonable attorney's fees.

44-4847 Reopening liquidation.

After the liquidation proceeding has been terminated and the liquidator discharged, the director or other interested party may at any time petition the district court of Lancaster County to reopen the proceedings for good cause, including the discovery of additional assets. If the court is satisfied that there is justification for reopening, it shall so order.

44-4848 Records; disposition.

Whenever it appears to the director that the records of any insurer in process of liquidation or completely liquidated are no longer useful, he or she may recommend to the court and the court shall direct what records should be retained for future reference and what should be destroyed.

44-4849 Receiver; audit.

The district court of Lancaster County may cause audits to be made of the books of the director relating to any receivership established under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, and a report of each audit shall be filed with the director and with the court. The books, records, and other documents of the receivership shall be made available to the auditor at any time without notice. The expense of each audit shall be considered a cost of administration of the receivership.

44-4850 Conservation of property of foreign or alien insurers.

(1) If a domiciliary liquidator has not been appointed, the director may apply to the district court of Lancaster County by verified petition for an order directing him or her to act as conservator to conserve the property of an alien insurer not domiciled in this state or a foreign insurer on any one or more of the following grounds:

(a) Any of the grounds in section 44-4812;

(b) That any of its property has been sequestered by official action in its domiciliary state or in any other state;

(c) That enough of its property has been sequestered in a foreign country to give reasonable cause to believe that the insurer is or may become insolvent; or

(d)(i) That its certificate of authority to do business in this state has been revoked or that none was ever issued; and

(ii) That there are residents of this state with outstanding claims against or outstanding policies issued by such insurer.

(2) When an order is sought under subsection (1) of this section, the court shall cause the insurer to be given such notice and time to respond thereto as is reasonable under the circumstances.

(3) The court may issue the order in whatever terms it deems appropriate. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court or the register of deeds of the county in which the principal business of the company is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that register of deeds would have imparted.

(4) The conservator may at any time petition for and the court may grant an order under section 44-4851 to liquidate assets of a foreign or alien insurer under conservation or, if appropriate, for an order under section 44-4853 to be appointed ancillary receiver.

(5) The conservator may at any time petition the court for an order terminating conservation of an insurer. If the court finds that the conservation is no longer necessary, it shall order that the insurer be restored to possession of its property and the control of its business. The court may also make such finding and issue such order at any time upon motion of any interested party, but if such motion is denied all costs shall be assessed against such party.

44-4851 Liquidation of property of foreign or alien insurers.

(1) If no domiciliary receiver has been appointed, the director may apply to the district court of Lancaster County by verified petition for an order directing him or her to liquidate the assets found in this state of a foreign insurer or an alien insurer not domiciled in this state on any of the following grounds:

(a) Any of the grounds in section 44-4812 or 44-4817; or

(b) Any of the grounds specified in subdivisions (1)(b) through (d) of section 44-4850.

(2) When an order is sought under subsection (1) of this section, the court shall cause the insurer to be given such notice and time to respond thereto as is reasonable under the circumstances.

(3) If it appears to the court that the best interests of insureds, creditors, and the public require, the court may issue an order to liquidate in whatever terms it deems appropriate. The filing or recording of the order with the clerk of the district court or the register of deeds of the county in which the principal business of the company is located or the county in which its principal office or place of business is located shall impart the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that register of deeds would have imparted.

(4) If a domiciliary liquidator is appointed in a reciprocal state while a liquidation is proceeding under this section, the liquidator under this section shall thereafter act as ancillary receiver under section 44-4853. If a domiciliary liquidator is appointed in a nonreciprocal state while a liquidation is proceeding under this section, the liquidator under this section may petition the court for permission to act as ancillary receiver under section 44-4853.

(5) On the same grounds as are specified in subsection (1) of this section, the director may petition any appropriate federal district court to be appointed receiver to liquidate that portion of the insurer's assets and business over which the court will exercise jurisdiction or any lesser part thereof that the director deems desirable for the protection of the insureds and creditors in this state.

(6) The court may order the director, when he or she has liquidated the assets of a foreign or alien insurer under this section, to pay claims of residents of this state against the insurer under such rules as to the liquidation of insurers under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act as are otherwise compatible with the provisions of this section.

44-4852 Domiciliary liquidators in other states; claims of residents.

(1) The domiciliary liquidator of an insurer domiciled in a reciprocal state shall, except as to special deposits and security on secured claims under subsection (3) of section 44-4853, be vested by operation of law with the title to all of the assets, property, contracts, and rights of action, agents' balances, and all of the books, accounts, and other records of the insurer located in this state. The date of vesting shall be the date of the filing of the petition if that date is specified by the domiciliary law for the vesting of property in the domiciliary state. Otherwise, the date of vesting shall be the date of entry of the order directing possession to be taken. The domiciliary liquidator shall have the immediate right to recover balances due from agents and to obtain possession of the books, accounts, and other records of the insurer located in this state. He or she also shall have the right to recover all other assets of the insurer located in this state subject to section 44-4853.

(2) If a domiciliary liquidator is appointed for an insurer not domiciled in a reciprocal state, the director shall be vested by operation of law with the title to all of the property, contracts, and rights of action and all of the books, accounts, and other records of the insurer located in this state at the same time that the domiciliary liquidator is vested with title in the domicile. The director may petition for a conservation or liquidation order under section 44-4850 or 44-4851 or for an ancillary receivership under section 44-4853 or, after approval by the district court of Lancaster County, may transfer title to the domiciliary liquidator as the interests of justice and the equitable distribution of the assets require.

(3) Claimants residing in this state may file claims with the liquidator or ancillary receiver, if any, in this state or with the domiciliary liquidator if the domiciliary law permits. The claims shall be filed on or before the last date fixed for the filing of claims in the domiciliary liquidation proceedings.

44-4853 Ancillary formal proceedings.

(1) If a domiciliary liquidator has been appointed for an insurer not domiciled in this state, the director may file a petition with the district court of Lancaster County requesting appointment as ancillary receiver in this state:

(a) If he or she finds that there are sufficient assets of the insurer located in this state to justify the appointment of an ancillary receiver; or

(b) If the protection of insureds or creditors in this state so requires.

(2) The court may issue an order appointing an ancillary receiver in whatever terms it deems appropriate. The filing or recording of the order with the register of deeds in this state imparts the same notice as a deed, bill of sale, or other evidence of title duly filed or recorded with that register of deeds.

(3) When a domiciliary liquidator has been appointed in a reciprocal state, then the ancillary receiver appointed in this state may, whenever necessary, aid and assist the domiciliary liquidator in recovering assets of the insurer located in this state. The ancillary receiver shall, as soon as practicable, liquidate from their respective securities those special deposit claims and secured claims which are proved and allowed in the ancillary proceedings in this state and shall pay the necessary expenses of the proceedings. He or she shall promptly transfer all remaining assets, books, accounts, and records to the domiciliary liquidator. Subject to this section, the ancillary receiver and his or her deputies shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties with respect to the administration of assets as a liquidator of an insurer domiciled in this state.

(4) When a domiciliary liquidator has been appointed in this state, ancillary receivers appointed in reciprocal states shall have, as to assets and books, accounts, and other records in their respective states, corresponding rights, duties, and powers to those provided in subsection (3) of this section for ancillary receivers appointed in this state.

44-4855 Claims of nonresidents against insurers domiciled in this state.

(1) In a liquidation proceeding begun in this state against an insurer domiciled in this state, claimants residing in foreign countries or in states which are not reciprocal states shall file claims in this state and claimants residing in reciprocal states may file claims either with the ancillary receivers, if any, in their respective states or with the domiciliary liquidator. Claims shall be filed on or before the last date fixed for the filing of claims in the domiciliary liquidation proceeding.

(2) Claims belonging to claimants residing in reciprocal states may be proved either in the liquidation proceeding in this state as provided in the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act or in ancillary proceedings, if any, in the reciprocal states. If notice of the claims and opportunity to appear and be heard is afforded the domiciliary liquidator of this state as provided in subsection (2) of section 44-4856 with respect to ancillary proceedings, the final allowance of claims by the courts in ancillary proceedings in reciprocal states shall be conclusive as to amount and as to priority against special deposits or other security located in such ancillary states but shall not be conclusive with respect to priorities against general assets under section 44-4842.

44-4856 Claims of residents against insurers domiciled in reciprocal states.

(1) In a liquidation proceeding in a reciprocal state against an insurer domiciled in that state, claimants against the insurer who reside within this state may file claims either with the ancillary receiver, if any, in this state or with the domiciliary liquidator. Claims shall be filed on or before the last date fixed for the filing of claims in the domiciliary liquidation proceeding.

(2) Claims belonging to claimants residing in this state may be proved either in the domiciliary state under the law of that state or in ancillary proceedings, if any, in this state. If a claimant elects to prove his or her claim in this state, he or she shall file his or her claim with the liquidator in the manner provided in sections 44-4835 and 44-4836. The ancillary receiver shall make his or her recommendation to the court as under section 44-4843. He or she shall also arrange a date for hearing if necessary under section 44-4839 and shall give notice to the liquidator in the domiciliary state, either by certified mail or by personal service, at least forty days prior to the date set for hearing. If the domiciliary liquidator, within thirty days after the giving of such notice, gives notice in writing to the ancillary receiver and to the claimant, either by certified mail or by personal service, of his or her intention to contest the claim, he or she shall be entitled to appear or to be represented in any proceeding in this state involving the adjudication of the claim.

(3) The final allowance of the claim by the courts of this state shall be accepted as conclusive as to amount and as to priority against special deposits or other security located in this state.

44-4858 Interstate priorities.

(1) In a liquidation proceeding in this state involving one or more reciprocal states, the order of distribution of the domiciliary state shall control as to all claims of residents of this and reciprocal states. All claims of residents of reciprocal states shall be given equal priority of payment from general assets regardless of where such assets are located.

(2) The owners of special deposit claims against an insurer for which a liquidator is appointed in this or any other state shall be given priority against the special deposits in accordance with the statutes governing the creation and maintenance of the deposits. If there is a deficiency in any deposit so that the claims secured by it are not fully discharged from it, the claimants may share in the general assets, but the sharing shall be deferred until general creditors and also claimants against other special deposits who have received smaller percentages from their respective special deposits have been paid percentages of their claims equal to the percentage paid from the special deposit.

(3) The owner of a secured claim against an insurer for which a liquidator has been appointed in this or any other state may surrender his or her security and file his or her claim as a general creditor or the claim may be discharged by resort to the security in accordance with section 44-4841, in which case the deficiency, if any, shall be treated as a claim against the general assets of the insurer on the same basis as claims of unsecured creditors.

44-4859 Subordination of claims for noncooperation.

If an ancillary receiver in another state or foreign country, whether called by that name or not, fails to transfer to the domiciliary liquidator in this state any assets within his or her control other than special deposits, diminished only by the expenses of the ancillary receivership, if any, the claims filed in the ancillary receivership, other than special deposit claims or secured claims, shall be placed in the class of claims under subdivision (8) of section 44-4842.

44-4902 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Managing General Agents Act:

(1) Actuary means a person who is a member in good standing of the American Academy of Actuaries;

(2) Business entity means a corporation, association, partnership, limited liability company, limited liability partnership, or other legal entity;

(3) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(4) Insurer means any person duly licensed in this state as an insurance company pursuant to Chapter 44;

(5) Managing general agent means any person who manages all or part of the insurance business of an insurer, including the management of a separate division, department, or underwriting office, and acts as an agent for such insurer, whether known as a managing general agent, manager, or other similar term, who, with or without the authority, either separately or together with affiliates, produces, directly or indirectly, and underwrites in any one quarter or year an amount of gross direct written premium equal to or more than five percent of the policyholders surplus as reported in the last annual statement of the insurer in any one quarter or year and who (a) adjusts or pays claims in excess of ten thousand dollars or (b) negotiates reinsurance on behalf of the insurer. Managing general agent does not include an attorney in fact for a reciprocal or interinsurance exchange under a power of attorney, an employee of the insurer, a United States manager of the United States branch of an alien insurer, or an underwriting manager who, pursuant to contract, manages all or part of the insurance operations of the insurer, is under common control with the insurer, and is subject to the Insurance Holding Company System Act and whose compensation is not based on the volume of premiums written;

(6) Person means an individual or a business entity; and

(7) Underwrite means the authority to accept or reject risk on behalf of the insurer.

44-4904 Contract; requirements.

No person acting in the capacity of a managing general agent shall place business with an insurer unless there is in force a written contract between the parties which sets forth the responsibilities of each party and, if both parties share responsibility for a particular function, specifies the division of such responsibilities and which contains the following minimum provisions:

(1) The insurer may terminate the contract for cause upon written notice to the managing general agent. The insurer may suspend the underwriting authority of the managing general agent during the pendency of any dispute regarding the cause for termination;

(2) The managing general agent will render accounts to the insurer detailing all transactions and remit all funds due under the contract to the insurer on not less than a monthly basis;

(3) All funds collected for the account of an insurer will be held by the managing general agent in a fiduciary capacity in an institution that is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The account shall be used for all payments on behalf of the insurer. The managing general agent may retain no more than three months' estimated claims payments and allocated loss adjustment expenses;

(4) Separate records of business written by the managing general agent will be maintained. The insurer shall have access and right to copy all accounts and records related to its business in a form usable by the insurer, and the director shall have access to all books, bank accounts, and records of the managing general agent in a form usable to the director. Such records shall be retained as determined by the director;

(5) The contract may not be assigned in whole or in part by the managing general agent;

(6) Appropriate underwriting guidelines, including:

(a) The maximum annual premium volume;

(b) The basis of the rates to be charged;

(c) The types of risks which may be written;

(d) Maximum limits of liability;

(e) Applicable exclusions;

(f) Territorial limitations;

(g) Policy cancellation provisions; and

(h) The maximum policy period. The insurer shall have the right to cancel or nonrenew any policy of insurance subject to applicable insurance statutes and regulations;

(7) The insurer shall require the managing general agent to obtain and maintain a surety bond for the protection of the insurer. The bond amount shall be at least one hundred thousand dollars or ten percent of the managing general agent's total annual written premium nationwide produced by the managing general agent for the insurer in the prior calendar year, whichever is greater, but not greater than five hundred thousand dollars;

(8) The insurer may require the managing general agent to maintain an errors and omissions policy;

(9) If the contract permits the managing general agent to settle claims on behalf of the insurer:

(a) All claims must be reported to the insurer in a timely manner;

(b) A copy of the claim file will be sent to the insurer at its request or as soon as it becomes known that the claim:

(i) Has the potential to exceed an amount determined by the director or exceeds the limit set by the insurer, whichever is less;

(ii) Involves a coverage dispute;

(iii) May exceed the managing general agent's claims settlement authority;

(iv) Is open for more than six months; or

(v) Is closed by payment of an amount set by the director or an amount set by the insurer, whichever is less;

(c) All claim files will be the joint property of the insurer and the managing general agent. Upon an order of liquidation of the insurer, such files shall become the sole property of the insurer or its estate, and the managing general agent shall have reasonable access to and the right to copy the files on a timely basis; and

(d) Any settlement authority granted to the managing general agent may be terminated for cause upon the insurer's written notice to the managing general agent or upon the termination of the contract. The insurer may suspend the settlement authority during the pendency of any dispute regarding the cause for termination;

(10) If electronic claims files are in existence, the contract must address the timely transmission of the data;

(11) The managing general agent shall use only advertising material pertaining to the business issued by an insurer that has been approved in writing by the insurer in advance of its use; and

(12) If the contract provides for a sharing of interim profits by the managing general agent and the managing general agent has the authority to determine the amount of the interim profits by establishing loss reserves or controlling claim payments or in any other manner, interim profits will not be paid to the managing general agent until one year after they are earned for property insurance business and five years after they are earned on casualty business and not until the profits have been verified pursuant to section 44-4906.

44-4905 Managing general agent; prohibited acts.

The managing general agent shall not:

(1) Bind reinsurance or retrocessions on behalf of the insurer, except that the managing general agent may bind facultative reinsurance contracts pursuant to obligatory facultative agreements if the contract with the insurer contains reinsurance underwriting guidelines, including, for both reinsurance assumed and ceded, a list of reinsurers with which such automatic agreements are in effect, the coverages and amounts or percentages that may be reinsured, and commission schedules;

(2) Commit the insurer to participate in insurance or reinsurance syndicates;

(3) Appoint any agent or broker without assuring that the agent or broker is lawfully licensed to transact the type of insurance for which he or she is appointed;

(4) Without prior approval of the insurer, pay or commit the insurer to pay a claim over a specified amount, net of reinsurance, which shall not exceed one percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus as of December 31 of the last-completed calendar year;

(5) Collect any payment from a reinsurer or commit the insurer to any claim settlement with a reinsurer without prior approval of the insurer. If prior approval is given, a report shall be promptly forwarded to the insurer;

(6) Permit subagents or subbrokers of the insurer appointed by the managing general agent to serve on the insurer's board of directors;

(7) Jointly employ an individual who is employed by the insurer; or

(8) Appoint a submanaging general agent.

44-4906 Insurer; duties.

(1) The insurer shall have on file an independent audited financial examination or reports for the two most recent fiscal years that prove that the managing general agent has a positive net worth. If the managing general agent has been in existence for less than two fiscal years, the managing general agent shall include financial statements or reports, certified by an officer of the managing general agent and prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, for any completed fiscal years and for any month during the current fiscal year for which such financial statements or reports have been completed. An audited financial/annual report prepared on a consolidated basis shall include a columnar consolidating or combining worksheet that shall be filed with the report and include the following: (a) Amounts shown on the consolidated audited financial/annual report shall be shown on the worksheet; (b) amounts for each entity shall be stated separately; and (c) explanations of consolidating and eliminating entries.

(2) If a managing general agent establishes loss reserves, the insurer shall annually obtain the opinion of an actuary attesting to the adequacy of loss reserves established for losses incurred and outstanding on business produced by the managing general agent. The opinion shall be in addition to any other required loss reserve certification.

(3) The insurer shall periodically, at least semiannually, conduct an onsite review of the underwriting and claims-processing operations of the managing general agent.

(4) Binding authority for all reinsurance contracts or participation in insurance or reinsurance syndicates shall rest with an officer of the insurer who is not affiliated with the managing general agent.

(5) Within thirty days of entering into or termination of a contract with a managing general agent, the insurer shall provide written notification of such appointment or termination to the director. Notices of appointment of a managing general agent shall include a statement of duties which the applicant is expected to perform on behalf of the insurer, the lines of insurance for which the applicant is to be authorized to act, and any other information the director may request.

(6) An insurer shall each quarter review its books and records to determine if any producer has become a managing general agent. If the insurer determines that a producer has become a managing general agent, the insurer shall promptly notify the producer and the director of such determination and the insurer and producer shall fully comply with the Managing General Agents Act within thirty days.

(7) No officer, director, employee, subproducer, or controlling shareholder of the insurer's managing general agent shall be appointed to its board of directors. This subsection shall not apply to relationships governed by the Insurance Holding Company System Act.

(8) The insurer shall keep the bond required by subdivision (7) of section 44-4904 on file for review by any applicable state insurance director, superintendent, or commissioner.

44-4908 Violations; penalties; action for damages; construction of act.

(1) If the director determines that the managing general agent or any other person has not materially complied with the Managing General Agents Act, any rule or regulation adopted or promulgated thereunder, or any order issued thereunder, after notice and opportunity to be heard in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, the director may:

(a) For each separate violation, order a penalty in an amount not exceeding five thousand dollars;

(b) Order revocation or suspension of the agent's or broker's license; and

(c) If it was found that because of such material noncompliance that the insurer has suffered any loss or damage, maintain a civil action brought by or on behalf of the insurer and its policyholders and creditors for recovery of damages for the benefit of the insurer and its policyholders and creditors and other appropriate relief.

(2) If an order of rehabilitation or liquidation of the insurer has been entered pursuant to the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, and the receiver appointed under the order determines that the managing general agent or any other person has not materially complied with the Managing General Agents Act, any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated thereunder, or any order issued thereunder, and the insurer suffered any loss or damage therefrom, the receiver may maintain a civil action for recovery of damages and other appropriate relief for the benefit of the insurer.

(3) This section shall not affect the right of the director to impose any other penalties provided for in Chapter 44.

(4) The Managing General Agents Act is not intended to and shall not in any manner limit or restrict the rights of policyholders, claimants, and auditors.

44-5001 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-5001 to 44-5005 shall be known and may be cited as the Children of Nebraska Hearing Aid Act.

Source: Laws 2019, LB15, § 1.

44-5002 Legislative findings and declarations.

The Legislature finds and declares that:

(1) For a child impacted by hearing loss, his or her ability to develop language can be improved by the consistent use of a hearing aid;

(2) Private insurance benefits for children's hearing aids will ultimately provide long-term savings to the State of Nebraska by decreasing the need for special education services and increasing the academic success of children impacted by hearing loss; and

(3) In the long-term, implementation of the Children of Nebraska Hearing Aid Act will allow those impacted by the act to be more competitive in the workforce and less dependent on assistance from the state and federal governments.

Source: Laws 2019, LB15, § 2.

44-5003 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Children of Nebraska Hearing Aid Act:

(1) Health insurance plan means a plan which includes dependent coverage for an insured child and which is delivered, issued for delivery, renewed, extended, or modified in this state. Health insurance plan includes any such group or individual sickness and accident insurance policy, health maintenance organization contract, subscriber contract, employee medical, surgical, or hospital care benefit plan, or self-funded employee benefit plan to the extent not preempted by federal law. Health insurance plan also includes any policy, contract, or plan offered or administered by the state or its political subdivisions. Health insurance plan does not include a group health plan offered by a small employer as defined in section 44-5260 or a policy providing coverage for a specified disease, accident-only coverage, hospital indemnity coverage, disability income coverage, Medicare supplement coverage, long-term care coverage, or other limited-benefit coverage;

(2) Hearing aid means an ear level or bone conduction hearing device intended to aid or improve the sense of hearing for a person with a hearing impairment. The term includes all parts, replacement parts, parts for repair, tubing, and ear molds;

(3) Hearing impairment means a hearing impairment diagnosed by an otolaryngologist with an auditory assessment completed by a licensed audiologist; and

(4) Insured child means an individual who is covered by a health insurance plan and less than nineteen years of age.

Source: Laws 2019, LB15, § 3.

44-5004 Health insurance plan; coverage required; items and services; exemption from act.

(1) Beginning January 1, 2020, except as provided in subsection (4) of this section and notwithstanding section 44-3,131, any health insurance plan delivered, issued for delivery, renewed, extended, or modified in this state shall provide coverage pursuant to the Children of Nebraska Hearing Aid Act to each insured child. Such coverage shall be subject to subsection (2) of this section and shall include, for each ear affected by a hearing impairment, the following items and services:

(a) A hearing aid purchased from a licensed audiologist with the medical clearance from an otolaryngologist and costs related to dispensing such hearing aid;

(b) Evaluation for a hearing aid;

(c) Fitting of a hearing aid;

(d) Programming of a hearing aid;

(e) Probe microphone measurements for verification that hearing aid gain and output meet the prescribed targets;

(f) Hearing aid repairs;

(g) Follow-up adjustments, servicing, and maintenance of a hearing aid;

(h) Ear mold impressions;

(i) Ear molds; and

(j) Auditory rehabilitation and training.

(2)(a) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, the items and services listed in subsection (1) of this section shall be covered on a continual basis to the extent that benefits paid for such items and services during the immediately preceding forty-eight-month period have not exceeded three thousand dollars.

(b) Coverage pursuant to the act shall allow for the replacement of a hearing aid and the associated services within three months of the dispensing date if the hearing aid gain and output fail to meet prescribed targets or the hearing aid is unable to be repaired or adjusted. If an insured child uses a hearing aid on September 1, 2019, and the hearing aid has been deemed unrepairable or obsolete by the manufacturer of the device, the insured child shall be eligible to use the benefits required by the act towards the acquisition of a new hearing aid, parts, and associated services.

(c) Coverage provided to an insured child pursuant to the act shall be subject to the same deductible, copayment, and coinsurance as similar covered items and services under the health insurance plan.

(3) A health insurance plan shall not refuse or deny coverage, refuse to renew or reissue coverage, or terminate coverage for an individual with a hearing impairment who is less than nineteen years of age based on such hearing impairment.

(4) A health insurance plan shall be exempt from the act for a plan year if, using a calculation method approved by the Department of Insurance, the cost of coverage would likely exceed one percent of all premiums collected under such plan for such plan year.

44-5104 Applicability of act.

(1) A domestic insurer holding a certificate of authority to do business in this state shall be subject to the Insurers Investment Act. Except as otherwise provided by law, only investments determined to be authorized investments under the act shall be considered admitted assets for purposes of a domestic insurer's financial statements filed with the director pursuant to section 44-322.

(2) A foreign or alien insurer holding a certificate of authority to do business in this state shall not be subject to the act unless the director notifies such insurer that any of its investments will not be recognized by him or her as an authorized investment for purposes of the act.

44-5105 Authorization and approval; investment records; board of directors; duties.

(1) An insurer shall not make any investment, sale, loan, or exchange, except loans on its own policies or contracts, unless authorized, approved, or ratified by a majority of the members of the board of directors or by a committee of its members charged by the board of directors or bylaws with the duty of making such investment, sale, loan, or exchange. The board of directors shall further determine by formal resolution at least annually whether all investments have been made in accordance with the delegations, standards, limitations, and investment objectives prescribed by the board of directors or a committee of the board of directors charged with the responsibility to direct its investments.

(2) The board of directors, after reviewing and assessing the insurer's technical investment and administrative capabilities and expertise, shall adopt a written plan for making investments and for engaging in investment practices. The plan shall specify, unless otherwise authorized by the Director of Insurance, the quality, maturity, and diversification of investments, including investment strategies intended to assure that the investments and investment practices are appropriate for the business conducted by the insurer, its liquidity needs, and its capital and surplus.

(3) On no less than a quarterly basis, and more often if deemed appropriate, the board of directors or committee of the board of directors shall:

(a) Receive and review a summary report on the insurer's investment portfolio, investment activities, and investment practices engaged in under delegated authority, in order to determine whether the investment activity of the insurer is consistent with its written plan; and

(b) Review and revise, as appropriate, the written plan.

(4) The board of directors shall require that records of authorizations, approvals or other documentation as the board of directors may require, and reports of any action taken under authority delegated under the written plan shall be made available on a regular basis to the board of directors.

(5) The board of directors shall perform its duties in good faith and with that degree of care that ordinarily prudent individuals in like positions would use under similar circumstances.

(6) Each insurer shall maintain a record of its investments in a form and manner as prescribed by the Director of Insurance. Such record shall include an indication by the insurer of the provision of law under which an investment is held.

(7) For purposes of this section, board of directors includes the governing body of an insurer having authority equivalent to that of a board of directors.

44-5106 Policy loans.

An insurer may make loans on any of its policies in an amount not exceeding the reserve thereon.

Source: Laws 1991, LB 237, § 6.

44-5107 Separate accounts.

A life insurer may allocate amounts to separate accounts established pursuant to sections 44-402.01 to 44-402.05.

Source: Laws 1991, LB 237, § 7.

44-5108 Convertible securities.

An insurer may invest in securities which are convertible into other securities if:

(1) The convertible securities are authorized under the Insurers Investment Act at the time of acquisition; and

(2) The securities into which such securities are convertible are authorized under the act at the time of conversion.

Source: Laws 1991, LB 237, § 8.

44-5109 Investments in name of insurer.

An insurer's investments shall be held in its own name or the name of its nominee, except that:

(1) Investments may be held in the name of a clearing corporation, a custodian, or the nominee of either on the following conditions:

(a) The clearing corporation, custodian, or nominee shall be legally authorized to hold the particular investment for the account of others;

(b) Security certificates held by the custodian shall be held separate from the security certificates of the custodian and of all its other customers; and

(c) Securities held indirectly by the custodian and securities in a clearing corporation shall be separately identified on the custodian's official records as being owned by the insurer. The records shall identify which securities are held by the custodian or by its agent and which securities are in a clearing corporation. If the securities are in a clearing corporation, the records shall also identify where the securities are and if in a clearing corporation, the name of the clearing corporation, and if through an agent, the name of the agent; and

(2) An insurer may participate through a member bank in the Federal Reserve book-entry system. The records of the member bank shall at all times show that the investments are held for the insurer or for specific accounts of the insurer.

44-5110 Participation.

(1) An insurer may invest in an individual interest of a pool of obligations or a fractional interest of a single obligation if:

(a) The certificate of participation or interest or the confirmation of participation or interest in the investment is issued in the name of the insurer, a custodian bank, or the nominee of either; and

(b) The certificate or confirmation, if held by a custodian bank, is kept separate and apart from the investment of others so that at all times the participation or interest may be identified as belonging solely to the insurer making the investment.

(2) If an investment is not evidenced by a certificate, adequate evidence of the insurer's investment shall be obtained from the issuer or its transfer or recording agent and retained by the insurer, custodian bank, or clearing corporation except as provided in subdivision (2) of section 44-5109. For purposes of this subsection, adequate evidence shall mean a written receipt or other verification issued by the depository, issuer, or custodian bank which shows that the investment is held for the insurer. Transfers of ownership or investments held as described in subdivisions (1)(c) and (2) of section 44-5109 and this section may be evidenced by a bookkeeping entry on the books of the issuer of the investment, its transfer or recording agent, or the clearing corporation without physical delivery of certificates, if any, evidencing the insurer's investment.

(3) Any investment made pursuant to this section shall also conform with the following:

(a) The investment in which the interest is purchased shall be authorized under the Insurers Investment Act; and

(b) The insurer's pro rata interest in the investment shall be in the same percentage as the par amount of its interest bears to the outstanding par amount of the investment at the time of purchase.

(4) An investment may be authorized under this section although its interest does not include the right to exercise the investor's rights or enforce the investor's remedies according to the provisions of the issue.

(5) Any investment made pursuant to this section shall be purchased pursuant to a written participation agreement.

Source: Laws 1991, LB 237, § 10; Laws 1997, LB 273, § 5; Laws 2003, LB 216, § 13; Laws 2007, LB117, § 13.

44-5111 Computation of investment limitations.

Any investment limitation in the Insurers Investment Act based upon the amount of the insurer's admitted assets or policyholders surplus shall relate to admitted assets or policyholders surplus as shown by the most recent financial statement filed by the insurer pursuant to section 44-322 unless the insurer's admitted assets or policyholders surplus is revised as a result of an examination conducted pursuant to the Insurers Examination Act, in which case the results of the examination shall control. Except as otherwise provided by law, an investment shall be measured by the lesser of actual cost or admitted value at the time of acquisition. If there is no actual cost at the time of acquisition, the investment shall be measured at the lesser of fair value or admitted value.

For purposes of this section, actual cost means the total amount invested, expended, or which should be reasonably anticipated to be invested or expended in the acquisition or organization of any investment, insurer, or subsidiary, including all organizational expenses or contributions to capital and surplus whether or not represented by the purchase of capital stock or issuance of other securities.

44-5112 Minimum quality ratings.

Any investment required to meet minimum quality ratings by the Insurers Investment Act shall be subject to the following categories:

(1) Category 1. Any investment subject to this subdivision shall have a 1 designation from the Securities Valuation Office. If the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question but does rate an obligation of the obligor having a priority equal to or lower than the investment in question, the insurer may apply such rating to the investment. If the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question or an outstanding obligation of the obligor having a priority equal to or lower than the investment in question, the investment shall have a minimum quality rating of A3 by Moody's Investors Services, Inc., A- by Standard and Poor's Corporation, or the corresponding investment grade rating from any nationally recognized statistical rating organization recognized by the Securities Valuation Office; and

(2) Category 2. Any investment subject to this subdivision shall have a 1 or 2 designation from the Securities Valuation Office. If the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question but does rate an obligation of the obligor having a priority equal to or lower than the investment in question, the insurer may apply such rating to the investment. If the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question or an outstanding obligation of the obligor having a priority equal to or lower than the investment in question, the investment shall have a minimum quality rating of Baa3 by Moody's Investors Services, Inc., BBB- by Standard and Poor's Corporation, or the corresponding investment grade rating from any nationally recognized statistical rating organization recognized by the Securities Valuation Office. If the obligor of an investment is authorized by, established by, or incorporated under the laws of Canada or any province thereof and the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question, the minimum quality rating shall be BBB (low) by the Dominion Bond Rating Service, B++ by the Canadian Bond Rating Service, or the corresponding rating of any successor organization approved by the director.

44-5114 Prohibited investments.

An insurer shall not invest in:

(1) Issued shares of its own capital stock except with the written permission of the director. Such permission may be granted if the purpose of the acquisition is:

(a) In connection with the lawful plan for mutualization of the insurer;

(b) In furtherance of a retirement, pension, or incentive program for officers or employees of the insurer which has been approved by the shareholders; or

(c) Shown to be for the benefit of all shareholders.

Any share acquired pursuant to this subdivision shall not be considered an admitted asset; and

(2) Any investment which is found by the director to be designed to evade any provision of the Insurers Investment Act.

44-5115 Limitation in any one person.

(1) Except as provided in subsections (2) through (4) of this section, an insurer's investments authorized under the Insurers Investment Act in any one person shall not exceed five percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

(2) Subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to:

(a) Investments authorized under sections 44-5123, 44-5125, 44-5142, and 44-5153;

(b) Investments authorized under sections 44-5124, 44-5126 to 44-5129, and 44-5132 if collateralized by obligations or mortgages for which the full faith and credit of the United States or Canada is pledged for the payment of all principal and interest;

(c) Loans made pursuant to section 44-5106; and

(d) Real estate held pursuant to subsection (2) or (3) of section 44-5144.

(3)(a) An insurer's investments authorized under section 44-5124 or 44-5126 in any one agency or instrumentality of the United States or Canada shall not exceed twenty-five percent of the insurer's admitted assets, and (b) an insurer's investments authorized under section 44-5132 in any one person if collateralized by mortgages for which the full faith and credit of an agency or instrumentality of the United States or Canada is pledged for the payment of all principal and interest shall not exceed twenty-five percent of the insurer's admitted assets. An insurer's investments authorized under section 44-5124 or 44-5126 in any one agency or instrumentality of the United States or Canada and the insurer's investments authorized under section 44-5132 collateralized by mortgages for which the full faith and credit of such agency or instrumentality of the United States or Canada is pledged for the payment of all principal and interest, in the aggregate, shall not exceed twenty-five percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

(4)(a) An insurer's investments in any one person whose senior obligations have a 3 designation from the Securities Valuation Office, in the aggregate, shall not exceed three percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

(b) An insurer's investments in any one person whose senior obligations have a 4 designation from the Securities Valuation Office, in the aggregate, shall not exceed two percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

(c) An insurer's investments in any one person whose senior obligations have a 5 designation from the Securities Valuation Office, in the aggregate, shall not exceed one percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

(d) An insurer's investments in any one person whose senior obligations have a 6 designation from the Securities Valuation Office, in the aggregate, shall not exceed one-half percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

(5) For purposes of this section, person shall mean an individual or entity or group of individuals or entities so related as in fact to constitute a single venture, institution, corporation, association, company, partnership, limited liability company, syndicate, trust, society, or other legal entity.

44-5117 Investments authorized under more than one provision.

An insurer may hold an investment authorized under more than one provision of the Insurers Investment Act under the provision of its choice except as otherwise expressly provided by law. Nothing in the act shall prevent an insurer from holding an investment under a provision different from the one under which it previously held the investment except as otherwise expressly provided by law.

44-5119 Director's authority.

(1) The director may impose reasonable and temporary restrictions upon the investments of an insurer, including prohibition or divestment of a particular investment, if the director finds that the interests of insureds, creditors, or the general public are or may be endangered.

(2) If any insurer desires to exceed any investment limitation contained in the Insurers Investment Act, the insurer shall file an application with the director requesting written approval to exceed the investment limitation. The application shall set out all pertinent information regarding the proposed investment, including a full description of the investment, its actual cost, its market value, any appraisals, any encumbrances, the interest rate, the maturity dates, as appropriate, and any other relevant information requested by the director. The application shall be a public record open to public inspection from the date of filing. If the application is not approved or disapproved by the director within thirty days from the date of filing, the application shall be deemed disapproved. The disapproval in whole or in part shall be in the sole discretion of the director and shall not be subject to judicial review.

In determining whether to approve or disapprove the application, the director shall consider the following factors:

(a) The credit risk quality of the proposed investment;

(b) The liquidity of the proposed investment and of the insurer's entire investment portfolio;

(c) The extent of the diversification of the insurer's investment portfolio;

(d) The yield of the proposed investment;

(e) The reasonableness of the insurer's policyholders surplus in relation to the insurer's outstanding liabilities and financial needs as evaluated in accordance with the factors set forth in section 44-2136; and

(f) Any other relevant considerations.

If the director approves the application in whole or in part, the proposed investment shall be deemed to be an authorized investment to the extent of the director's approval. Whenever an insurer makes application pursuant to this subsection, the director may retain, at the insurer's expense, such attorneys, actuaries, accountants, and other experts not otherwise a part of the director's staff as are reasonably necessary to assist the director in determining whether such application should be approved. Any individual or organization so retained shall be under the direction and control of the director and shall serve in a purely advisory capacity.

44-5120 Lending of securities.

(1) An insurer may lend its securities if:

(a) The securities are created or existing under the laws of the United States and, simultaneously with the delivery of the loaned securities, the insurer receives collateral from the borrower consisting of cash or securities backed by the full faith and credit of the United States or an agency or instrumentality of the United States, except that any securities provided as collateral shall not be of lesser quality than the quality of the loaned securities. Any investment made by an insurer with cash received as collateral for loaned securities shall be made in the same kinds, classes, and investment grades as those authorized under the Insurers Investment Act and in a manner that recognizes the liquidity needs of the transaction or is used by the insurer for its general corporate purposes. The securities provided as collateral shall have a market value when the loan is made of at least one hundred two percent of the market value of the loaned securities;

(b) The securities are created or existing under the laws of Canada or are securities described in section 44-5137 and, simultaneously with the delivery of the loaned securities, the insurer receives collateral from the borrower consisting of cash or securities backed by the full faith and credit of the foreign country, except that any securities provided as collateral shall not be of lesser quality than the quality of the loaned securities. Any investment made by an insurer with cash received as collateral for loaned securities shall be made in the same kinds, classes, and investment grades as those authorized under the Insurers Investment Act and in a manner that recognizes the liquidity needs of the transaction or is used by the insurer for its general corporate purposes. The securities provided as collateral shall have a market value when the loan is made of at least one hundred two percent of the market value of the loaned securities;

(c) Prior to the loan, the borrower or any indemnifying party furnishes the insurer with or the insurer otherwise obtains the most recent financial statement of the borrower or any indemnifying party;

(d) The insurer receives a reasonable fee related to the market value of the loaned securities and to the term of the loan;

(e) The loan is made pursuant to a written loan agreement; and

(f) The borrower is required to furnish by the close of each business day during the term of the loan a report of the market value of all collateral and the market value of all loaned securities as of the close of trading on the previous business day. If at the close of any business day the market value of the collateral for any loan outstanding to a borrower is less than one hundred percent of the market value of the loaned securities, the borrower shall deliver by the close of the next business day an additional amount of cash or securities. The market value of the additional securities, together with the market value of all previously delivered collateral, shall equal at least one hundred two percent of the market value of the loaned securities for that loan.

(2) For purposes of this section, market value includes accrued interest.

(3) An insurer shall effect securities lending only through the services of a custodian bank or similar entity as approved by the director.

(4) An insurer's investments authorized under this section shall not exceed ten percent of its admitted assets.

44-5120.01 Repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions.

(1) For purposes of this section:

(a) Acceptable collateral means:

(i) As to repurchase transactions, cash, cash equivalents, and direct obligations of, or securities that are fully guaranteed as to principal and interest by, the government of the United States or an agency of the government of the United States or the Federal National Mortgage Association or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation; and

(ii) As to reverse repurchase transactions, cash and cash equivalents;

(b) Cash equivalents means short-term, highly rated investments or securities readily convertible to known amounts of cash without penalty and so near maturity that they present insignificant risk of change in value. Cash equivalents includes government money market mutual funds and class one money market mutual funds. For purposes of this definition:

(i) Short-term means investments with a remaining term to maturity of ninety days or less; and

(ii) Highly rated means an investment rated at least P-1 by Moody's Investors Service, Inc., A-1 by Standard and Poor's division of The McGraw Hill Companies, Inc., or its equivalent rating by a nationally recognized statistical rating organization recognized by the Securities Valuation Office;

(c) Repurchase transaction means a transaction in which an insurer purchases securities from a business entity that is obligated to repurchase the purchased securities or equivalent securities from the insurer at a specified price, either within a specified period of time or upon demand; and

(d) Reverse repurchase transaction means a transaction in which an insurer sells securities to a business entity and is obligated to repurchase the sold securities or equivalent securities from the business entity at a specified price, either within a specified period of time or upon demand.

(2) An insurer may engage in repurchase and reverse repurchase transactions as set forth in this section. The insurer shall enter into a written agreement for transactions entered under this section. Such agreements shall require that each transaction terminate no more than one year from its inception.

(3) Cash received in a transaction under this section shall be invested in accordance with the Insurers Investment Act and in a manner that recognizes the liquidity needs of the transaction or is used by the insurer for its general corporate purposes.

(4) So long as the transaction remains outstanding, the insurer, or its agent or custodian, shall maintain as acceptable collateral received in a transaction under this section, either physically or through the book entry systems of the federal reserve, depository trust company, participants' trust company, or other securities depositories approved by the director:

(a) Possession of the acceptable collateral;

(b) A perfected security interest in the acceptable collateral; or

(c) In the case of a jurisdiction outside of the United States, title to, or rights of a secured creditor to, the acceptable collateral.

(5) The limitations of sections 44-5115 and 44-5137 shall not apply to the business entity counterparty exposure created by transactions under this section. An insurer shall not enter into a transaction under this section if, as a result of and after giving effect to the transaction:

(a) The aggregate amount of securities then sold to or purchased from any one business entity counterparty under this section would exceed five percent of its admitted assets; and in calculating the amount sold to or purchased from a business entity counterparty under repurchase or reverse repurchase transactions, effect may be given to netting provisions under a master written agreement; or

(b) The aggregate amount of all securities then sold to or purchased from all business entities under this section would exceed twenty percent of its admitted assets.

(6)(a) In a reverse repurchase transaction, the insurer shall receive acceptable collateral having a market value as of the transaction date at least equal to ninety-five percent of the market value of the securities transferred by the insurer in the transaction as of that date. If at any time the market value of the acceptable collateral is less than ninety-five percent of the market value of the securities so transferred, the business entity counterparty shall be obligated to deliver additional acceptable collateral, the market value of which, together with the market value of all acceptable collateral then held in connection with the transaction, at least equals ninety-five percent of the market value of the transferred securities.

(b) In a repurchase transaction, the insurer shall receive acceptable collateral having a market value at least equal to one hundred two percent of the purchase price paid by the insurer. If at any time the market value of the acceptable collateral is less than one hundred percent of the purchase price paid by the insurer, the business entity counterparty shall be obligated to provide additional acceptable collateral, the market value of which, together with the market value of all acceptable collateral then held in connection with the transaction, at least equals one hundred two percent of the purchase price. Securities acquired by an insurer in a repurchase transaction shall not be sold in a reverse repurchase transaction, loaned in a securities lending transaction, or otherwise pledged.

44-5128 Other governmental and related obligations.

An insurer may invest in obligations issued, assumed, or guaranteed by the United States, an agency or instrumentality of the United States, a state, a municipality, a political subdivision, the government of Canada, an agency or instrumentality of the government of Canada, any province or municipality of Canada, or any municipal utility, corporate authority, nonprofit corporation, or institution authorized or established by an act of Congress or by the laws of any state, Canada, or any province of Canada if, by statutory or other legal requirements applicable to those obligations, they are payable as to both principal and interest:

(1) From taxes levied or required to be levied upon all taxable property or all taxable income within the jurisdiction of the borrowing entity;

(2) From adequate special revenue pledged or otherwise appropriated or required by law to be provided for the purpose of the payment, excluding any obligation payable solely out of special assessments on properties benefited by local improvements;

(3) From and secured by a pledge of rentals from leases or subleases on property owned or leased by the obligor if:

(a) Such underlying lease has an unexpired term of not less than the term of the lease or sublease whose rentals are pledged by the issuer; and

(b) The fixed rentals reserved under such lease or sublease will be sufficient to pay all of the expenses of the lessor in connection with the lease or sublease and the operation of the property and to pay principal and interest so as to retire the bonds during the fixed term of such lease or sublease or, if such fixed rentals are not sufficient, a governmental subdivision agrees to pay such required amounts;

(4) From revenue specifically pledged therefor of a public service operated by the borrowing entity if the entity is legally authorized and does obligate itself that rates of service will be fixed, maintained, and collected so as to produce revenue or earnings sufficient to pay all operating and maintenance charges and all principal and interest of such obligations in accordance with their terms; or

(5) From revenue specifically pledged therefor from excise taxes levied.

44-5132 Bankruptcy-remote business entity securities.

(1) An insurer may invest in a security or other instrument, excluding a mutual fund, evidencing an interest in or the right to receive payments from, or payable from distributions on, an asset, a pool of assets, or specifically divisible cash flows which are legally transferred to a special purpose bankruptcy-remote business entity created or existing under the laws of the United States or Canada or any state or province thereof, on the following conditions:

(a) The business entity is established solely for the purpose of acquiring specific types of assets or rights to cash flows, issuing securities and other instruments representing an interest in or right to receive cash flows from those assets or rights, and engaging in activities required to service the assets or rights and any credit enhancement or support features held by the business entity; and

(b) The assets of the business entity consist solely of interest-bearing obligations or other contractual obligations representing the right to receive payment from the cash flows from the assets or rights. However, the existence of credit enhancements, such as letters of credit or guarantees, or other support features, shall not cause a security or other instrument to be an unauthorized investment under this section.

(2) Investments in interest-only securities or other instruments shall not be authorized under this section.

44-5134 Collateral loans.

(1) An insurer may, in addition to any investment authorized under section 44-5132, invest in obligations secured by pledged securities if:

(a) The market value of such pledged securities or the fair value if the securities have no recognized market value will at all times of holding the investment be equal to at least one hundred ten percent of the investment in the notes or other evidence of indebtedness; and

(b) The pledged securities are of the kind authorized for investment under the Insurers Investment Act.

(2) For purposes of this section, pledged securities shall mean notes, mortgages, bonds, debentures, and preferred or common stock. Pledged securities shall not be valued at an amount greater than the value at which they could be shown on the insurer's financial statements filed with the director pursuant to section 44-322 if owned directly by the insurer.

(3) An insurer's investments authorized under this section shall not exceed twenty percent of its admitted assets.

44-5135 Leased property.

An insurer may invest in obligations secured by an assignment of a lease to or for the benefit of the insurer and the rents payable under the lease if:

(1) The lessee or ultimate guarantor of any lease securing the obligation is an entity the obligations of which are authorized for investment under sections 44-5123 to 44-5131;

(2) The rentals assigned are sufficient to repay not less than ninety percent of the obligation within the unexpired term of the lease excluding any term that may be provided by an enforceable option of renewal; and

(3) A first lien on the lessor's interest in the unencumbered leased property is obtained as additional security for the obligation for which the rentals described in subdivision (2) of this section are not sufficient to repay the obligation.

44-5137 Foreign securities.

(1) An insurer may invest in securities or other investments (a) issued in, (b) located in, (c) denominated in the currency of, (d) whose ultimate payment amounts of principal or interest are subject to fluctuations in the currency of, or (e) whose obligors are domiciled in countries other than the United States or Canada, which are substantially of the same kinds and classes as those authorized for investment under the Insurers Investment Act.

(2) Subject to the limitations in subsection (3) of this section:

(a) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (1) of this section in any one foreign jurisdiction whose sovereign debt has a 1 designation from the Securities Valuation Office shall not exceed ten percent of the insurer's admitted assets;

(b) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (1) of this section in any one foreign jurisdiction whose sovereign debt has a 2 or 3 designation from the Securities Valuation Office shall not exceed five percent of the insurer's admitted assets;

(c) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (1) of this section in any one foreign jurisdiction whose sovereign debt has a 4, 5, or 6 designation from the Securities Valuation Office shall not exceed three percent of the insurer's admitted assets;

(d) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (1) of this section denominated in any one foreign currency shall not exceed two percent of the insurer's admitted assets;

(e) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (1) of this section denominated in foreign currencies, in the aggregate, shall not exceed five percent of the insurer's admitted assets; and

(f) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (1) of this section shall not be considered denominated in a foreign currency if the acquiring insurer enters into one or more contracts in transactions permitted under section 44-5149 to exchange all payments made on the foreign currency denominated investments for United States currency at a rate which effectively insulates the investment cash flows against future changes in currency exchange rates during the period the contract or contracts are in effect.

(3) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (1) of this section shall not exceed, in the aggregate, twenty percent of its admitted assets.

(4) An insurer which is authorized to do business in a foreign country or which has outstanding insurance, annuity, or reinsurance contracts on lives or risks resident or located in a foreign country may, in addition to the investments authorized by subsection (1) of this section, invest in securities and investments (a) issued in, (b) located in, (c) denominated in the currency of, (d) whose ultimate payment amounts of principal and interest are subject to fluctuations in the currency of, or (e) whose obligors are domiciled in such foreign countries, which are substantially of the same kinds and classes as those authorized for investment under the act.

(5) An insurer's investments authorized under subsection (4) of this section and cash in the currency of such country which is at any time held by such insurer, in the aggregate, shall not exceed the greater of (a) one and one-half times the amount of its reserves and other obligations under such contracts or (b) the amount which such insurer is required by law to invest in such country.

(6) Any investment in debt obligations authorized under this section shall have a minimum quality rating as described in subdivision (2) of section 44-5112.

(7) An insurer's investments made under this section shall be aggregated with investments of the same kinds and classes made under the Insurers Investment Act except section 44-5153 for purposes of determining compliance with the limitations contained in other sections.

44-5138 Short-term investments.

(1) An insurer may invest in:

(a) Bank certificates of deposit, banker's acceptances, or corporate promissory notes with a remaining term of no more than one year; and

(b) Shares, interests, or participation certificates in any management type of investment trust, corporate or otherwise, registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified open-end investment company, that invests solely in such investments as described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section.

(2) Any investment in corporate promissory notes authorized under subdivision (1)(a) of this section shall have a 1 or 2 designation from the Securities Valuation Office. If the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question but does rate an obligation of the obligor having a priority equal to or lower than the investment in question, the insurer may apply such rating to the investment. If the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question or an outstanding obligation of the obligor having a priority equal to or lower than the investment in question, the investment shall have a minimum short-term quality rating of P-2 by Moody's Investors Service, Inc., A-2 by Standard and Poor's Corporation, or the corresponding investment grade rating from any nationally recognized statistical rating organization recognized by the Securities Valuation Office. If the obligor of an investment is authorized by, established by, or incorporated under the laws of Canada or any province thereof and the Securities Valuation Office does not rate the investment in question, the minimum quality rating shall be R-2 by the Dominion Bond Rating Service, A-1 by the Canadian Bond Rating Service, or the corresponding rating of any successor organization approved by the director.

44-5139 Investment trusts and investment companies.

(1) An insurer may invest in shares of a fund registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified open-end investment company and in shares, interests, or participation certificates in any management type of investment trust, corporate or otherwise, subject to the following restrictions:

(a) The investment restrictions and policies relating to the investment of the assets of the trust and its activities shall be limited to the same kinds, classes, and investment grades as those authorized for investment under the Insurers Investment Act; and

(b) The assets of such investment trust shall not be less than twenty million dollars at the date of purchase.

An insurer's investments authorized under this subsection shall not exceed ten percent of its admitted assets. Shares, interests, or participation certificates in trusts described in this subsection shall also be subject to the overall limitation of subsection (3) of section 44-5141.

(2) An insurer may invest in the shares of a fund registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified open-end investment company when the investment restrictions and policies relating to the investment of the assets of the fund and its activities are limited solely to (a) obligations, (b) commitments to purchase obligations, or (c) assignments of interest in obligations issued or guaranteed by the United States or its agencies or instrumentalities. An insurer's investments authorized under this subsection shall not exceed twenty-five percent of its admitted assets.

44-5140 Preferred stock.

(1) An insurer may invest in the preferred stock of any corporation which:

(a) Has retained earnings of not less than one million dollars;

(b) Has earned and paid regular dividends at the regular prescribed rate each year upon its preferred stock, if any is or has been outstanding, for not less than five years immediately preceding the purchase of such preferred stock or during such part of such five-year period as it has had preferred stock outstanding; and

(c) Has had no material defaults in principal payments of or interest on any obligations of such corporation and its subsidiaries having a priority equal to or higher than those purchased during the period of five years immediately preceding the date of acquisition or, if outstanding for less than five years, at any time since such obligations were issued.

The earnings of and the regular dividends paid by all predecessor, merged, consolidated, or purchased corporations may be included through the use of consolidated or pro forma statements.

(2) Except as authorized under the Insurance Holding Company System Act, an insurer shall not own more than five percent of the total issued shares of stock of any corporation other than an insurer.

(3) A life insurer's investments authorized under this section shall not exceed the greater of twenty-five percent of its admitted assets or one hundred percent of its policyholders surplus, nor shall a life insurer's investments authorized under this section that are not rated P-1 or P-2 by the Securities Valuation Office exceed ten percent of its admitted assets.

44-5141 Common stock; equity interests.

(1) An insurer may invest in the common stock or rights to purchase or sell common stock of any corporation which has retained earnings of not less than one million dollars, except that an investment may be made in any corporation having a majority of its operations in this state which has retained earnings of not less than two hundred fifty thousand dollars. The earnings of all predecessor, merged, consolidated, or purchased corporations shall be included through the use of consolidated or pro forma statements.

(2)(a) An insurer may invest in equity interests or rights to purchase or sell equity interests in business entities other than general partnerships.

(b)(i) A life insurer's investments authorized under this subsection shall not exceed fifty percent of its policyholders surplus.

(ii) A life insurer shall not invest under this subsection in any investment which the life insurer may invest in under section 44-5140 or 44-5144 or subsection (1) of this section.

(3) Except as authorized under the Insurance Holding Company System Act, an insurer shall not invest in more than ten percent of the total equity interests in any business entity other than an insurer.

(4) A life insurer's investments authorized under this section shall not exceed one hundred percent of its policyholders surplus.

44-5142 Insurance company stock.

(1) Stock insurers which maintain capital stock required by section 44-214 and nonstock insurers which maintain surplus required by section 44-219 may invest in the common and preferred stock of other insurers.

(2) An insurer's investments authorized under this section shall not exceed the lesser of (a) the amount by which such insurer's admitted assets exceed its required capital and liabilities if a stock insurer or its required surplus and liabilities if a nonstock insurer or (b) fifty percent of its policyholders surplus.

(3) In calculating the admitted assets of the insurer acquiring the stock of another insurer pursuant to this section, the value of any investment in such common or preferred stock shall be the cost of such stock to the acquiring insurer.

44-5143 Real estate mortgages.

(1) An insurer may invest in bonds or notes secured by a first mortgage on real estate in the United States or Canada if the amount loaned by the insurer, together with any amount secured by an equal security interest, does not exceed eighty percent of the appraised value of the real estate and improvements at the time of making the investment, or if the funds are used for a construction loan, the amount does not exceed eighty percent of the market value of the real estate together with the actual costs of improvements constructed thereon at the time of final funding by the insurer. The limitation in this subsection shall not:

(a) Apply to investments authorized under section 44-5132;

(b) Prohibit an insurer from renewing or extending a loan for the original amount when the value of such real estate has depreciated;

(c) Prohibit an insurer from accepting, as part payment for real estate sold by it, a mortgage thereon for more than eighty percent of the purchase price of such real estate; or

(d) Prohibit an insurer from advancing additional loan funds to protect its real estate security.

(2) An insurer may invest in bonds or notes secured by a first mortgage on leasehold estates in improved real estate located in the United States or Canada if:

(a) Such underlying real estate is unencumbered except by rentals to accrue therefrom to the owner of the real estate;

(b) There is no condition or right of reentry or forfeiture under which such lien can be cut off, subordinated, or otherwise disturbed so long as the lessee is not in default;

(c) The amount loaned by the insurer, together with any amount secured by an equal security interest, does not exceed eighty percent of the appraised value of such leasehold with improvements at the time of making the loan; and

(d) Such mortgage loan will be completely amortized during the unexpired portion of the lease or leasehold estate.

(3) Nothing in this section shall prevent any amount invested under this section that exceeds eighty percent of the appraised value of the real estate or leasehold and improvements, as the case may be, from being authorized under section 44-5153.

(4) All buildings and other real estate improvements which constitute a material part of the value of the mortgaged premises, whether estates in fee or leasehold estates or combination thereof, shall be (a)(i) substantially completed before the investment is made or (ii) of a value that is at all times substantial in value in relation to the amount of construction loan funds advanced by the insurer on account of the loan and (b) kept insured against loss or damage by fire or windstorm in a reasonable amount for the benefit of the mortgagee.

(5) If there are more than four holders of the issue of such bonds or notes described in subsection (1) or (2) of this section, (a) the security of such bonds or notes, as well as all collateral papers including insurance policies executed in connection therewith, shall be made to and held by a trustee, which trustee shall be a solvent bank or trust company having a paid-in capital of not less than two hundred fifty thousand dollars, except in case of a bank or trust company incorporated under the laws of this state, in which case a paid-in capital of not less than one hundred thousand dollars shall be required, and (b) it shall be agreed that, in case of proper notification of default, such trustee, upon request of at least twenty-five percent of the holders of the par amount of the bonds outstanding and proper indemnification, shall proceed to protect the rights of such bondholders under the provisions of the trust indenture.

(6)(a) An insurer may invest in notes or bonds secured by second mortgages or other second liens, including all inclusive or wraparound mortgages or liens, upon real property encumbered only by a first mortgage or lien which meets the requirements set forth in this section, subject to either of the following conditions:

(i) The insurer also owns the note or bond secured by the prior first mortgage or lien and the aggregate value of both loans does not exceed the loan to market value ratio requirements of this section; or

(ii) The note or bond is secured by an all-inclusive or wraparound lien or mortgage which conforms to the requirements set forth in subdivision (b) of this subsection, if the aggregate value of the resulting loan does not exceed the loan to market value ratio requirements of this section.

(b) For purposes of this subsection, the terms wraparound and all-inclusive lien or mortgage refer to a loan made by an insurer to a borrower on the security of a mortgage or lien on real property other than property containing a residence of one to four units or on which a residence of one to four units is to be constructed, where such real property is encumbered by a first mortgage or lien and which loan is subject to all of the following requirements:

(i) There is no more than one preexisting mortgage or lien on the real property;

(ii) The total amount of the obligation of the borrower to the insurer under the loan is not less than the sum of the amount disbursed by the insurer on account of the loan and the outstanding balance of the obligation secured by the preexisting lien or mortgage;

(iii) The instrument evidencing the lien or mortgage by which the obligation of the borrower to the insurer under the loan is secured, is recorded, and the lien is insured under a policy of title insurance in an amount not less than the total amount of the obligation of the borrower to the insurer under the loan; and

(iv) The insurer either (A) files for record in the office of the recorder of the county in which the real property is located a duly acknowledged request for a copy of any notice of default or of sale under the preexisting lien or (B) is entitled under applicable law to receive notice of default, sale, or foreclosure of the preexisting lien.

(7)(a) An insurer may invest in mezzanine real estate loans subject to the following conditions:

(i) The terms of the mezzanine loan agreement:

(A) Require that each pledgor abstain from granting additional security interests in the equity interest pledged;

(B) Employ techniques to minimize the likelihood or impact of a bankruptcy filing on the part of the real estate owner or the mezzanine real estate loan borrower; and

(C) Require the real estate owner, or mezzanine real estate loan borrower, to: (I) Hold no assets other than, in the case of the real estate owner, the real property, and in the case of the mezzanine borrower, the equity interest in the real estate owner; (II) not engage in any business other than, in the case of the real estate owner, the ownership and operation of the real estate, and in the case of the mezzanine real estate borrower, holding an ownership interest in the real estate owner; and (III) not incur additional debt, other than limited trade payables, a first mortgage loan, and the mezzanine real estate loan; and

(ii) At the time of the initial investment, the mezzanine real estate loan lender shall corroborate that the sum of the first mortgage and the mezzanine real estate loan does not exceed one hundred percent of the value of the real estate as evidenced by a current appraisal.

(b) The value of an insurer's investments authorized under this subsection shall not exceed three percent of its admitted assets.

(c) For purposes of this subsection, mezzanine real estate loan refers to a loan made by an insurer to a borrower on the security of debt obligation, that is not a security, which is secured by a pledge of a direct or indirect equity interest in an entity that owns real estate.

(8) An insurer's investments authorized under this section shall not exceed forty percent of its admitted assets, and an insurer's investments authorized under this section and section 44-5144, in the aggregate, shall not exceed fifty percent of its admitted assets.

44-5144 Real estate.

(1) An insurer may acquire and hold unencumbered real estate or certificates evidencing participation with other investors, either directly or through partnership or limited liability company interests, in unencumbered real estate if:

(a) The real estate is leased under a lease contract in which the lessee contracts to pay all assessments, taxes, maintenance, and operating costs;

(b) The net amount of the annual lease payments to the owner of the real estate is sufficient to amortize the cost of the real estate within the duration of the lease, but in no event for a period of longer than forty years, and pay at least three percent per annum on the unamortized balance of the cost of the real estate; and

(c) The amount invested in any such real estate does not exceed its appraised value.

When the lessee under a lease described in this subsection is the United States or any agency or instrumentality thereof, any state or any county, municipality, district, or other governmental subdivision thereof, or any agency, board, authority, or institution established or maintained under the laws of the United States or any state thereof, such lease contract may provide that upon the termination of the term thereof, title to such real estate shall vest in the lessee.

When an insurer owns less than the entire real estate leased under a lease described in this subsection, the legal title to the real estate shall be in the name of a trustee which meets the qualifications set out in subsection (5) of section 44-5143 under a trust agreement which provides, among other things, that upon proper notification of default under such lease and request to such trustee by an investor or investors representing at least twenty-five percent of the equitable ownership of the real estate and proper indemnification, the trustee shall proceed to protect the rights and interest of the investors owning the equitable title to the real estate.

For purposes of this subsection, unencumbered real estate means real estate in which other interests may exist which if enforced would not result in the forfeiture of the insurer's interest.

(2) An insurer may also acquire and hold real estate:

(a) Mortgaged to it in good faith by way of security for a loan previously contracted or for money due;

(b) Conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings; and

(c) Purchased at sale upon judgments, decrees, or mortgages obtained or made for such debts.

(3) An insurer may invest in real estate required for its home offices or to be otherwise occupied by the insurer or its employees in the transaction of its business and may rent the balance of the space therein. The value of an insurer's investments authorized under this subsection shall not exceed ten percent of its admitted assets.

(4)(a) An insurer with policyholders surplus of at least one million dollars may individually or in conjunction with other investors acquire, own, hold, develop, and improve real estate that is essentially residential or commercial in character, even though subject to an existing mortgage or thereafter mortgaged by the insurer, if such real estate is located in a city or village or within five miles of the limits thereof.

(b) For purposes of this subsection, real estate shall include a leasehold having an unexpired term of at least twenty years, including the term provided by any enforceable option of renewal. The income from such leasehold shall be applied so as to amortize the cost of leasehold and improvements within the lesser of eighty percent of such unexpired term or forty years from acquisition.

(c) The value of an insurer's investments authorized under this subsection shall not exceed ten percent of its admitted assets.

(5) An insurer may also acquire such other real estate as may be acquired ancillary to a corporate merger, acquisition, or reorganization of the insurer.

(6) The value of an insurer's investments authorized under subsections (3), (4), and (5) of this section, in the aggregate, shall not exceed fifteen percent of its admitted assets.

(7) For purposes of this section, value shall mean original cost plus any development and improvement costs whenever expended less the unpaid balance of any mortgage and annual depreciation on improvements of not less than two percent.

(8) An insurer's investments authorized under this section and section 44-5143, in the aggregate, shall not exceed fifty percent of its admitted assets.

44-5145 Equipment.

An insurer may invest in equipment or interests in equipment wholly situated or maintained in the United States and Canada which are mortgaged or otherwise encumbered by the insurer as security for a nonrecourse debt and which are leased under a lease contract if:

(1) The annual lease payments to the lessor are sufficient to repay the full cost of the financing thereof within the unexpired term of the lease; and

(2) The lessee or ultimate guarantor of any lease securing the obligation is an entity the obligations of which are authorized investments under sections 44-5123 to 44-5131.

An insurer's investments authorized under this section shall not exceed five percent of its admitted assets.

44-5149 Hedging transactions; derivative instruments.

(1) An insurer may use derivative instruments in hedging transactions if:

(a) The aggregate statement value of options, caps, floors, and warrants not attached to any financial instrument and used in hedging transactions does not exceed the lesser of seven and one-half percent of the insurer's admitted assets or seventy-five percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus;

(b) The aggregate statement value of options, caps, and floors written in hedging transactions does not exceed the lesser of three percent of the insurer's admitted assets or thirty percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus; and

(c) The aggregate potential exposure of collars, swaps, forwards, and futures used in hedging transactions does not exceed the lesser of six and one-half percent of the insurer's admitted assets or sixty-five percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus.

(2)(a) An insurer may use derivative instruments in income-generation transactions by selling:

(i) Covered call options on non-callable fixed income securities or callable fixed income securities if the option expires by its terms prior to the end of the non-callable period;

(ii) Covered call options on equity securities if the insurer holds in its portfolio, or can immediately acquire through the exercise of options, warrants, or conversion rights already owned, the equity securities subject to call during the complete term of the call option sold;

(iii) Covered puts on investments that the insurer is permitted to acquire under the Insurers Investment Act if the insurer has escrowed, or entered into a custodian agreement segregating, cash or cash equivalents with a market value equal to the amount of its purchase obligations under that put during the complete term of the put option sold; and

(iv) Covered caps or floors if the insurer holds in its portfolio the investments generating the cash flow to make the required payments under such caps or floors during the complete term that the cap or floor is outstanding.

(b) An insurer may enter into income-generation transactions under this subsection if the aggregate statement value of the fixed income assets that are subject to call or that generate the cash flows for payments under the caps or floors, plus the face value of fixed income securities underlying any derivative instrument subject to call, does not exceed the lesser of ten percent of the insurer's admitted assets or one hundred percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus.

(3) An insurer may use derivative instruments in replication transactions if:

(a) The aggregate statement value of options, caps, floors, and warrants not attached to any financial instrument and used in replication transactions does not exceed the lesser of seven and one-half percent of the insurer's admitted assets or seventy-five percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus;

(b) The aggregate statement value of options, caps, and floors written in replication transactions does not exceed the lesser of three percent of the insurer's admitted assets or thirty percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus;

(c) The aggregate potential exposure of collars, swaps, forwards, and futures used in replication transactions does not exceed the lesser of six and one-half percent of the insurer's admitted assets or sixty-five percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus;

(d) The replication transactions are limited to the replication of investments or instruments otherwise permitted under the Insurers Investment Act; and

(e) The insurer engages in hedging transactions or income generation transactions pursuant to this section and has sufficient experience with derivatives generally such that its performance and procedures reflect that the insurer has been successful in adequately identifying, measuring, monitoring, and limiting exposures associated with such transactions and that the insurer has superior corporate controls over such activities as well as a sufficient number of dedicated staff who are knowledgeable and skilled with these sophisticated financial instruments.

(4) An insurer may purchase or sell one or more derivative instruments to offset any derivative instrument previously purchased or sold, as the case may be, without regard to the quantitative limitations of this section, provided that the derivative instrument is an exact offset to the original derivative instrument being offset.

(5) An insurer shall demonstrate to the director upon request the intended hedging, income-generation, or replication characteristics and the ongoing effectiveness of the derivative transaction or combination of the transactions through cash flow testing or other appropriate analysis.

(6) An insurer shall include all counterparty exposure amounts in determining compliance with the limitations in section 44-5115.

(7) The director may approve additional transactions involving the use of derivative instruments pursuant to rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the director.

(8) For purposes of this section:

(a) Derivative instrument means an agreement, option, instrument, or a series or combination thereof:

(i) To make or take delivery of, or assume or relinquish, a specified amount of one or more underlying interests or to make a cash settlement in lieu thereof; or

(ii) That has a price, performance, value, or cash flow based primarily upon the actual or expected price, level, performance, value, or cash flow of one or more underlying interests.

Derivative instrument includes all investment instruments or contracts that derive all or almost all of their value from the performance of an underlying market, index, or financial instrument, including, but not limited to, options, warrants, caps, floors, collars, swaps, credit default swaps, swaptions, forwards, and futures. Derivative instrument does not include investments authorized under any other section of the Insurers Investment Act;

(b) Hedging transaction means a derivative transaction which is entered into and maintained to reduce:

(i) The risk of a change in value, yield, price, cash flow, or quantity of assets or liabilities which the insurer has acquired or incurred or anticipates acquiring or incurring; or

(ii) The currency exchange rate risk or the degree of exposure as to assets or liabilities which an insurer has acquired or incurred or anticipates acquiring or incurring;

(c) Income-generation transaction means a derivative transaction involving the writing of covered call options, covered put options, covered caps, or covered floors that is intended to generate income or enhance return; and

(d) Replication transaction means a derivative transaction or combination of derivative transactions effected either separately or in conjunction with cash market investments included in the insurer's portfolio in order to replicate the investment characteristic of another authorized transaction, investment, or instrument or that may operate as a substitute for cash market investments. A derivative transaction entered into by the insurer as a hedging or income-generation transaction authorized pursuant to this section shall not be considered a replication transaction.

44-5151 Other investment grade obligations.

(1) An insurer may hold investments not otherwise authorized under the Insurers Investment Act if such investments:

(a) Have minimum quality ratings as described in subdivision (2) of section 44-5112; and

(b) In the aggregate do not exceed one hundred percent of the insurer's policyholders surplus.

(2) Investments authorized under any other section of the Insurers Investment Act, except section 44-5153, shall not be authorized investments under this section.

44-5152 Securities Valuation Office; designated obligations; limitation.

(1) In addition to investments otherwise authorized under the Insurers Investment Act and subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, an insurer may invest in obligations having 3, 4, 5, and 6 designations from the Securities Valuation Office.

(2) Subject to the limitation in subsection (3) of this section, an insurer shall not acquire, directly or indirectly through an investment subsidiary, investments in obligations:

(a) Having a 4 designation from the Securities Valuation Office if, as a result of and giving effect to the investment, the aggregate amount of such investments would exceed four percent of the insurer's admitted assets;

(b) Having a 5 designation from the Securities Valuation Office if, as a result of and giving effect to the investment, the aggregate amount of such investments would exceed two percent of the insurer's admitted assets; and

(c) Having a 6 designation from the Securities Valuation Office if, as a result of and giving effect to the investment, the aggregate amount of such investments would exceed one percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

(3) An insurer shall not acquire, directly or indirectly through an investment subsidiary, investments under this section if, as a result of and giving effect to the investment, the aggregate amount would exceed fifteen percent of the insurer's admitted assets.

44-5153 Additional authorized investments.

(1)(a)(i) A life insurer may make investments not otherwise authorized under the Insurers Investment Act in an amount, in the aggregate, not exceeding the lesser of five percent of its admitted assets or one hundred percent of its policyholders surplus.

(ii) An insurer other than a life insurer may make investments not otherwise authorized under the act in an amount, in the aggregate, not exceeding the lesser of twenty-five percent of the amount by which its admitted assets exceed its total liabilities, excluding capital, or five percent of its admitted assets.

(b) Investments authorized under this subsection shall not include obligations having 3, 4, 5, and 6 designations from the Securities Valuation Office.

(2)(a) In addition to the provisions of subdivision (1)(a)(i) of this section, a life insurer may make investments not otherwise authorized under the act in an amount not exceeding that portion of its policyholders surplus which is in excess of ten percent of its admitted assets.

(b) In addition to the provisions of subdivisions (1)(a)(ii) and (b) of this section, an insurer other than a life insurer may make investments not otherwise authorized under the act in an amount not exceeding that portion of its policyholders surplus which is in excess of fifty percent of its annual net written premiums as shown by the most recent annual financial statement filed by the insurer pursuant to section 44-322.

(3) Investments authorized under subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall not include insurance agents' balances or amounts advanced to or owing by insurance agents.

(4) The limitations set forth in this section shall be applied at the time the investment in question is made and at the end of each calendar quarter. An insurer's investment, which at the time of its acquisition was authorized only under the provisions of this section but which has subsequently and while held by such insurer become of such character as to be authorized elsewhere under the act, shall not be included in determining the amount of such insurer's investments, in the aggregate, authorized under this section, and investments otherwise authorized under the act at the time of their acquisition shall not be included in making such determination.

(5) Derivative instruments described in subsections (1), (2), and (3) of section 44-5149 shall not be authorized investments under this section.

44-5224 Purposes of act.

The purposes of the Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act are to promote the availability of health insurance coverage to small employers regardless of their health status or claims experience, to prevent abusive rating practices, to require disclosure of rating practices to purchasers, to establish rules regarding renewability of coverage, to establish limitations on the use of preexisting condition exclusions, to provide for development of basic and standard health benefit plans to be offered to all small employers, and to improve the overall fairness and efficiency of the small group health insurance market. The act is not intended to provide a comprehensive solution to the problem of affordability of health care or health insurance.

(1) Creditable coverage shall mean, with respect to an individual, coverage of the individual under any of the following:

(a) A group health plan;

(b) Health insurance coverage;

(c) Part A or Part B of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act;

(d) Title XIX of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq., other than coverage consisting solely of benefits under section 1928 of the act, 42 U.S.C. 1396s;

(e) 10 U.S.C. chapter 55, as such chapter existed on January 1, 2003;

(f) A medical care program of the Indian Health Service or of a tribal organization;

(g) A state health benefits risk pool;

(h) A health plan offered under 5 U.S.C. 8901 et seq.;

(i) A public health plan as defined under regulations promulgated by the federal Secretary of Health and Human Services; and

(j) A health benefit plan under 22 U.S.C. 2504.

(2) Creditable coverage shall not include any coverage that occurs before a significant break in coverage. For purposes of this section, a significant break in coverage shall mean any period of sixty-three consecutive days during all of which the individual does not have any creditable coverage, except that neither a waiting period nor an affiliation period shall be taken into account in determining a significant break in coverage.

(3) Creditable coverage shall not include coverage consisting solely of coverage of excepted benefits as that term is defined in the federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, 29 U.S.C. 1191b, and regulations adopted pursuant to the act and in effect on April 19, 1998.

44-5242 Health benefit plan, defined.

(1) Health benefit plan shall mean any hospital or medical policy or certificate, major medical expense insurance, or health maintenance organization subscriber contract.

(2) Health benefit plan shall not include one or more, or any combination, of the following:

(a) Coverage only for accident or disability income insurance, or any combination thereof;

(b) Coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance;

(c) Liability insurance, including general liability insurance and automobile liability insurance;

(d) Workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(e) Automobile medical payment insurance;

(f) Credit-only insurance;

(g) Coverage for onsite medical clinics; and

(h) Other similar insurance coverage, specified in federal regulations, under which benefits for medical care are secondary or incidental to other insurance benefits.

(3) Health benefit plan shall not include the following benefits if they are provided under a separate policy, certificate, or contract of insurance or are otherwise not an integral part of the plan:

(a) Limited-scope dental or vision benefits;

(b) Benefits for long-term care, nursing home care, home health care, community-based care, or any combination thereof; and

(c) Such other similar, limited benefits as are specified in federal regulations.

(4) Health benefit plan shall not include the following benefits if the benefits are provided under a separate policy, certificate, or contract of insurance, there is no coordination between the provision of the benefits and any exclusion of benefits under any group health benefit plan maintained by the same plan sponsor, and such benefits are paid with respect to an event without regard to whether benefits are provided with respect to such an event under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor:

(a) Coverage only for a specified disease or illness; and

(b) Hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity insurance.

(5) Health benefit plan shall not include the following if it is offered as a separate policy, certificate, or contract of insurance:

(a) Medicare supplemental health insurance as defined under section 1882(g)(1) of the Social Security Act;

(b) Coverage supplemental to the coverage provided under 10 U.S.C. chapter 55, as such chapter existed on January 1, 2003; and

(c) Similar supplemental coverage provided to coverage under a group health plan.

44-5244 Late enrollee, defined.

Late enrollee shall mean an eligible employee or dependent who requests enrollment in a health benefit plan of a small employer following the initial enrollment period during which the individual is entitled to enroll under the terms of the health benefit plan if the initial enrollment period is a period of at least thirty days. An eligible employee or dependent shall not be considered a late enrollee if:

(1) The individual meets the following:

(a) The individual was covered under creditable coverage at the time of the initial enrollment;

(b) The individual lost coverage under creditable coverage as a result of termination of employment or eligibility, reduction in the number of hours of employment, the involuntary termination of the creditable coverage, the death of a spouse, divorce, or legal separation; and

(c) The individual requests enrollment within thirty days after termination of the creditable coverage;

(2) The individual is employed by an employer which offers multiple health benefit plans and the individual elects a different plan during an open enrollment period;

(3) A court has ordered coverage be provided for a spouse or a minor or dependent child under a covered employee's health benefit plan and the request for enrollment is made within thirty days after issuance of the court order; or

(4) The individual had coverage under a COBRA continuation provision and the coverage under that provision was exhausted.

44-5256 Act; applicability; conditions; waiver.

(1) The Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act shall apply to any health benefit plan that provides coverage to the employees of a small employer in this state if any of the following conditions are met:

(a) Any portion of the premium or benefits is paid by or on behalf of the small employer;

(b) An eligible employee or dependent is reimbursed, whether through wage adjustments or otherwise, by or on behalf of the small employer for any portion of the premium; or

(c) The health benefit plan is treated by the employer or any of the eligible employees or dependents as part of a plan or program for the purposes of section 106, 125, or 162 of the Internal Revenue Code.

(2) The act shall not apply to individual health benefit plans issued:

(a) To eligible employees of a small employer if the arrangement with the small employer was established prior to January 1, 1995, and met any of the conditions set forth in subsection (1) of this section;

(b) On or after January 1, 1995, to eligible employees of a small employer if the small employer had fewer than three eligible employees when the arrangement was established regardless of whether the small employer subsequently employs three or more employees; or

(c) To eligible employees of a small employer if the full cost of the premium is paid by a salary reduction plan or payroll deduction.

(3)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (b) of this subsection, carriers that are affiliated companies or that are eligible to file a consolidated tax return shall be treated as one carrier and any restrictions or limitations imposed by the act shall apply as if all health benefit plans delivered or issued for delivery to small employers in this state by such affiliated carriers were issued by one carrier.

(b) An affiliated carrier that is a health maintenance organization having a certificate of authority pursuant to the Health Maintenance Organization Act may be considered to be a separate carrier for the purposes of the Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act.

(c) Unless otherwise authorized by the director, a small employer carrier shall not enter into one or more ceding arrangements with respect to health benefit plans delivered or issued for delivery to small employers in this state if such arrangements would result in less than fifty percent of the insurance obligation or risk for such health benefit plans being retained by the ceding carrier. The Assumption Reinsurance Act shall apply if a small employer carrier cedes or assumes all of the insurance obligation or risk with respect to one or more health benefit plans delivered or issued for delivery to small employers in this state.

(4)(a) A Taft-Hartley trust, or a carrier with the written authorization of such a trust, may make a written request to the director for a waiver from the application of any of the provisions of subsection (1) of section 44-5258 with respect to a health benefit plan provided to the trust.

(b) The director may grant such a waiver if the director finds that application of such subsection with respect to the trust would:

(i) Have a substantial adverse effect on the participants and beneficiaries of such trust; and

(ii) Require significant modifications to one or more collective-bargaining arrangements under which the trust is established or maintained.

(c) A waiver granted under this section shall not apply to an individual if the person participates in such a trust as an associate member of an employee organization.

44-5257 Separate class of business; established; when; limit.

(1) A small employer carrier may establish a separate class of business only to reflect substantial differences in expected claims experience or administrative costs related to the following reasons:

(a) The small employer carrier uses more than one type of system for the marketing and sale of health benefit plans to small employers;

(b) The small employer carrier has acquired a class of business from another small employer carrier; or

(c) The small employer carrier provides coverage to one or more association groups that meet the requirements of section 44-760.

(2) A small employer carrier may establish up to nine separate classes of business.

(3) The director may adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to provide for a period of transition in order for a small employer carrier to come into compliance with subsection (2) of this section in the instance of acquisition of an additional class of business from another small employer carrier.

(4) The director may approve the establishment of additional classes of business upon application to the director and a finding by the director that such action would enhance the efficiency and fairness of the small employer marketplace.

44-5258 Premium rates; requirements; limitation on transfers; director; powers; disclosures required; small employer carrier; duties.

(1) Premium rates for health benefit plans subject to the Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act shall be subject to the following provisions:

(a) The index rate for a rating period for any class of business shall not exceed the index rate for any other class of business by more than twenty percent;

(b) For a class of business, the premium rates charged during a rating period to small employers with similar case characteristics for the same or similar coverage or the rates that could be charged to such employers under the rating system for that class of business shall not vary from the index rate by more than twenty-five percent of the index rate;

(c) The percentage increase in the premium rate charged to a small employer for a new rating period may not exceed the sum of the following:

(i) The percentage change in the new business premium rate measured from the first day of the prior rating period to the first day of the new rating period. In the case of a health benefit plan into which the small employer carrier is no longer enrolling new small employers, the small employer carrier shall use the percentage change in the base premium rate if such change does not exceed, on a percentage basis, the change in the new business premium rate for the most similar health benefit plan into which the small employer carrier is actively enrolling new small employers;

(ii) Any adjustment, not to exceed fifteen percent annually and adjusted pro rata for rating periods of less than one year, due to the claim experience, health status, or duration of coverage of the employees or dependents of the small employer as determined from the small employer carrier's rate manual for the class of business; and

(iii) Any adjustment due to change in coverage or change in the case characteristics of the small employer as determined from the small employer carrier's rate manual for the class of business;

(d) Adjustments in rates for claim experience, health status, and duration of coverage shall not be charged to individual employees or dependents. Any such adjustment shall be applied uniformly to the rates charged for all employees and dependents of the small employer;

(e) Premium rates for health benefit plans shall comply with the requirements of this section;

(f) A small employer carrier may utilize industry as a case characteristic in establishing premium rates, provided that the highest rate factor associated with any industry classification shall not exceed the lowest rate factor associated with any industry classification by more than fifteen percent;

(g) In the case of health benefit plans delivered or issued for delivery prior to January 1, 1995, a premium rate for a rating period may exceed the ranges set forth in subdivisions (a) and (b) of this subsection for a period of three years following January 1, 1995. In such case, the percentage increase in the premium rate charged to a small employer for a new rating period shall not exceed the sum of the following:

(i) The percentage change in the new business premium rate measured from the first day of the prior rating period to the first day of the new rating period. In the case of a health benefit plan into which the small employer carrier is no longer enrolling new small employers, the small employer carrier shall use the percentage change in the base premium rate if such change does not exceed, on a percentage basis, the change in the new business premium rate for the most similar health benefit plan into which the small employer carrier is actively enrolling new small employers; and

(ii) Any adjustment due to change in coverage or change in the case characteristics of the small employer as determined from the carrier's rate manual for the class of business;

(h)(i) Small employer carriers shall apply rating factors, including case characteristics, consistently with respect to all small employers in a class of business. Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups which differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design and do not reflect differences due to the nature of the groups assumed to select particular health benefit plans.

(ii) A small employer carrier shall treat all health benefit plans issued or renewed in the same calendar month as having the same rating period;

(i) For the purposes of this subsection, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision if the restriction of benefits to network providers results in substantial differences in claim costs;

(j) The small employer carrier shall not use case characteristics, other than age, gender, industry, geographic area, family composition, and group size without the prior approval of the director; and

(k) The director may establish regulations to implement the provisions of this section and to assure that rating practices used by small employer carriers are consistent with the purposes of the act, including regulations that:

(i) Assure that differences in rates charged for health benefit plans by small employer carriers are reasonable and reflect objective differences in plan design, not including differences due to the nature of the groups assumed to select particular health benefit plans; and

(ii) Prescribe the manner in which case characteristics may be used by small employer carriers.

(2) A small employer carrier shall not transfer a small employer involuntarily into or out of a class of business. A small employer carrier shall not offer to transfer a small employer into or out of a class of business unless such offer is made to transfer all small employers in the class of business without regard to case characteristics, claim experience, health status, or duration of coverage since issue.

(3) The director may suspend for a specified period the application of subdivision (1)(a) of this section as to the premium rates applicable to one or more small employers included within a class of business of a small employer carrier for one or more rating periods upon a filing by the small employer carrier and a finding by the director either that the suspension is reasonable in light of the financial condition of the small employer carrier or that the suspension would enhance the efficiency and fairness of the marketplace for small employer health insurance.

(4) In connection with the offering for sale of any health benefit plan to a small employer, a small employer carrier shall make a reasonable disclosure, as part of its solicitation and sales materials, of all of the following:

(a) The extent to which premium rates for a specified small employer are established or adjusted based upon the actual or expected variation in claims costs or actual or expected variation in health status of the employees of the small employer and their dependents;

(b) The provisions of the health benefit plan concerning the small employer carrier's right to change premium rates and the factors, other than claim experience, that affect changes in premium rates;

(c) The provisions relating to the renewability of policies and contracts; and

(d) The provisions relating to any preexisting condition provision.

(5)(a) Each small employer carrier shall maintain at its principal place of business a complete and detailed description of its rating practices and renewal underwriting practices, including information and documentation that demonstrate that its rating methods and practices are based upon commonly accepted actuarial assumptions and are in accordance with sound actuarial principles.

(b) Each small employer carrier shall file with the director annually on or before March 15, an actuarial certification certifying that the carrier is in compliance with the act and that the rating methods of the small employer carrier are actuarially sound. Such certification shall be in a form and manner, and shall contain such information, as specified by the director. A copy of the certification shall be retained by the small employer carrier at its principal place of business.

(c) A small employer carrier shall make the information and documentation described in subdivision (a) of this subsection available to the director upon request. Except in cases of violations of the act, the information shall be considered proprietary and trade secret information and shall not be subject to disclosure by the director to persons outside of the Department of Insurance except as agreed to by the small employer carrier or as ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction.

44-5259 Health benefit plan; renewable; exceptions; small employer carrier; requirements.

(1) A health benefit plan subject to the Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act shall be renewable with respect to all eligible employees or dependents, at the option of the small employer, except in any of the following cases:

(a) The small employer has failed to pay premiums or contributions in accordance with the terms of the health benefit plan or the health carrier has not received timely premium payments;

(b)(i) Fraud or misrepresentation of the small employer or, with respect to coverage of individual insureds, the insureds, or their representatives; or

(ii) The small employer has performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud or made an intentional misrepresentation of material fact under the terms of the coverage;

(c) Noncompliance with the small employer carrier's minimum participation requirements;

(d) Noncompliance with the small employer carrier's employer contribution requirements;

(e) A decision by the small employer carrier to discontinue offering a particular type of group health benefit plan in the state's small employer market. A type of health benefit plan may be discontinued by the small employer carrier in that market only if the small employer carrier:

(i) Provides advance notice of its decision to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which it is licensed;

(ii) Provides notice of the decision not to renew coverage to all affected small employers, participants, and beneficiaries, and to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which an affected insured individual is known to reside, at least one hundred eighty days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans by the small employer carrier. Notice to the director shall be provided at least three working days prior to the notice to the affected small employers, participants, and beneficiaries;

(iii) Offers to each small employer provided the type of group health benefit plan the option to purchase all other health benefit plans currently being offered by the small employer carrier to small employers in the state; and

(iv) In exercising the option to discontinue the particular type of group health benefit plan and in offering the option of coverage under subdivision (1)(e)(iii) of this section, acts uniformly without regard to the claims experience of those small employers or any health-status-related factor relating to any participants or beneficiaries covered or new participants or beneficiaries who may become eligible for such coverage;

(f) A decision by the small employer carrier to discontinue offering and to nonrenew all its health benefit plans delivered or issued for delivery to small employers in this state. In such a case the small employer carrier shall:

(i) Provide advance notice of its decision to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which it is licensed;

(ii) Provide notice of the decision not to renew coverage to all affected small employers, participants, and beneficiaries, and to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which an affected insured individual is known to reside, at least one hundred eighty days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans by the small employer carrier. Notice to the director shall be provided at least three working days prior to the notice to the affected small employers, participants, and beneficiaries; and

(iii) Discontinue all health insurance issued or delivered for issuance in the state's small employer market and not renew coverage under any health benefit plan issued to a small employer; and

(g) The director finds that the continuation of the coverage would:

(i) Not be in the best interests of the policyholders or certificate holders; or

(ii) Impair the carrier's ability to meet its contractual obligations.

In such instance the director shall assist affected small employers in finding replacement coverage.

(2) A small employer carrier that elects not to renew a health benefit plan shall be prohibited from writing new business in the small employer market in this state for a period of five years from the date of notice to the director.

(3) In the case of a small employer carrier doing business in one established geographic service area of the state, the rules set forth in this section shall apply only to the carrier's operations in that service area.

(4) A small employer carrier offering coverage through a network plan shall not be required to offer coverage or accept applications pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of this section in the case of the following:

(a) To an eligible person who no longer resides, lives, or works in the service area of the small employer carrier or in an area for which the small employer carrier is authorized to do business, but only if coverage is terminated under this section uniformly without regard to any health-status-related factor of covered individuals; or

(b) To a small employer that no longer has any enrollee in connection with such plan who lives, resides, or works in the service area of the small employer carrier or the area for which the small employer carrier is authorized to do business.

44-5260 Small employer, defined; group health plan; health benefit plans; requirements; filing; exceptions; preexisting condition exclusion; network plans.

(1) For purposes of this section, small employer shall mean, in connection with a group health plan with respect to a calendar year and a plan year, any person, firm, corporation, partnership, association, or political subdivision that is actively engaged in business that employed an average of at least two but not more than fifty employees on business days during the preceding calendar year and who employs at least two employees on the first day of the plan year. All persons treated as a single employer under subsection (b), (c), (m), or (o) of section 414 of the Internal Revenue Code shall be treated as one employer. Subsequent to the issuance of a health benefit plan to a small employer and for the purpose of determining continued eligibility, the size of a small employer shall be determined annually. Except as otherwise specifically provided, provisions of the Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act that apply to a small employer shall continue to apply at least until the health benefit plan anniversary following the date the small employer no longer meets the requirements of this definition. In the case of an employer which was not in existence throughout the preceding calendar year, the determination of whether the employer is a small or large employer shall be based on the average number of employees that it is reasonably expected the employer will employ on business days in the current calendar year. Any reference in the act to an employer shall include a reference to any predecessor of such employer.

(2)(a) Every small employer carrier shall, as a condition of transacting business in this state with small employers, actively offer to small employers all health benefit plans it actively markets to small employers in this state, including at least two health benefit plans. One health benefit plan offered by each small employer carrier shall be a basic health benefit plan, and one plan shall be a standard health benefit plan. A small employer carrier shall be considered to be actively marketing a health benefit plan if it offers that plan to any small employer not currently receiving a health benefit plan by such small employer carrier. This subdivision shall not require a small employer carrier to offer to small employers a health benefit plan marketed only through a bona fide association.

(b)(i) Subject to subdivision (2)(a) of this section, a small employer carrier shall issue any health benefit plan to any eligible small employer that applies for the plan and agrees to make the required premium payments and to satisfy the other reasonable provisions of the health benefit plan not inconsistent with the Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act. However, no small employer carrier shall be required to issue a health benefit plan to a self-employed individual who is covered by, or is eligible for coverage under, a health benefit plan offered by an employer.

(ii) In the case of a small employer carrier that establishes more than one class of business, the small employer carrier shall maintain and issue to eligible small employers at least one basic health benefit plan and at least one standard health benefit plan in each class of business so established. A small employer carrier may apply reasonable criteria in determining whether to accept a small employer into a class of business if:

(A) The criteria are not intended to discourage or prevent acceptance of small employers applying for a basic health benefit plan or a standard health benefit plan;

(B) The criteria are not related to the health status or claim experience of employees or dependents of the small employer;

(C) The criteria are applied consistently to all small employers applying for coverage in the class of business; and

(D) The small employer carrier provides for the acceptance of all eligible small employers into one or more classes of business.

The provisions of subdivision (2)(b)(ii) of this section shall not apply to a class of business into which the small employer carrier is no longer enrolling new small businesses.

(3)(a) A small employer carrier shall file with the director, in a format and manner prescribed by the director, the basic health benefit plans and the standard health benefit plans to be used by the carrier. A health benefit plan filed pursuant to this subsection may be used by a small employer carrier beginning thirty days after it is filed unless the director disapproves its use.

(b) The director at any time may, after providing notice and an opportunity for a hearing to the small employer carrier, disapprove the continued use by a small employer carrier of a basic health benefit plan or standard health benefit plan on the grounds that the plan does not meet the requirements of the act.

(4) Health benefit plans covering small employers shall comply with the following provisions:

(a) A health benefit plan shall not deny, exclude, or limit benefits for a covered individual for losses incurred more than twelve months, or eighteen months in the case of a late enrollee, following the enrollment date of the individual's coverage due to a preexisting condition or the first date of the waiting period for enrollment if that date is earlier than the enrollment date. A health benefit plan shall not define a preexisting condition more restrictively than as defined in section 44-5246.02. A health benefit plan shall not impose any preexisting condition exclusion relating to pregnancy as a preexisting condition;

(b) A health benefit plan shall not impose any preexisting condition exclusion:

(i) To an individual who, as of the last day of the thirty-day period beginning with the date of birth, is covered under creditable coverage, and the individual had creditable coverage that was continuous to a date not more than sixty-three days prior to the enrollment date of new coverage; or

(ii) To a child less than eighteen years of age who is adopted or placed for adoption and who, as of the last day of the thirty-day period beginning on the date of the adoption or placement for adoption, is covered under creditable coverage, and the child had creditable coverage that was continuous to a date not more than sixty-three days prior to the enrollment date of new coverage;

(c)(i) A small employer carrier shall waive any time period applicable to a preexisting condition exclusion or limitation period with respect to particular services in a health benefit plan for the aggregate period of time an individual was previously covered by creditable coverage that provided benefits with respect to such services if the creditable coverage was continuous to a date not more than sixty-three days prior to the enrollment date of new coverage. The period of continuous coverage shall not include any waiting period or affiliation period for the effective date of the new coverage applied by the employer or the carrier. This subdivision shall not preclude application of any waiting period applicable to all new enrollees under the health benefit plan.

(ii) A small employer carrier that does not use preexisting condition limitations in any of its health benefit plans may impose an affiliation period:

(A) That does not exceed sixty days for new entrants and does not exceed ninety days for late enrollees;

(B) During which the carrier charges no premiums and the coverage issued is not effective; and

(C) That is applied uniformly, without regard to any health-status-related factor.

(iii) This subdivision does not preclude application of any waiting period applicable to all enrollees under the health benefit plan if any carrier waiting period is no longer than sixty days.

(iv)(A) In lieu of the requirements of subdivision (4)(c)(i) of this section, a small employer carrier may elect to reduce the period of any preexisting condition exclusion based on coverage of benefits within each of several classes or categories of benefits specified in federal regulations.

(B) A small employer electing to reduce the period of any preexisting condition exclusion using the alternative method described in subdivision (4)(c)(iv)(A) of this section shall make the election on a uniform basis for all enrollees and count a period of creditable coverage with respect to any class or category of benefits if any level of benefits is covered within the class or category.

(C) A small employer carrier electing to reduce the period of any preexisting condition exclusion using the alternative method described in subdivision (4)(c)(iv)(A) of this section shall prominently state that the election has been made in any disclosure statements concerning coverage under the health benefit plan to each enrollee at the time of enrollment under the plan and to each small employer at the time of the offer or sale of the coverage and include in the disclosure statements the effect of the election;

(d)(i) A small employer carrier shall permit an eligible employee or dependent, who requests enrollment following the open enrollment opportunity, to enroll, and the eligible employee or dependent shall not be considered a late enrollee if the eligible employee or dependent:

(A) Was covered under another health benefit plan at the time the eligible employee or dependent was eligible to enroll;

(B) Stated in writing at the time of the open enrollment period that coverage under another health benefit plan was the reason for declining enrollment but only if the health benefit plan or health carrier required such a written statement and provided a notice of the consequences of such written statement;

(C) Has lost coverage under another health benefit plan as a result of the termination of employment, the termination of the other health benefit plan's coverage, death of a spouse, legal separation, or divorce or was under a continuation-of-coverage policy or contract available under federal law and the coverage was exhausted; and

(D) Requests enrollment within thirty days after the termination of coverage under the other health benefit plan.

(ii)(A) If a small employer carrier issues a health benefit plan and makes coverage available to a dependent of an eligible employee and such dependent becomes a dependent of the eligible employee through marriage, birth, adoption, or placement for adoption, then such health benefit plan shall provide for a dependent special enrollment period during which the dependent may be enrolled under the health benefit plan and, in the case of the birth or adoption of a child, the spouse of an eligible employee may be enrolled if otherwise eligible for coverage.

(B) A dependent special enrollment period shall be a period of not less than thirty days and shall begin on the later of (I) the date such dependent coverage is available or (II) the date of the marriage, birth, adoption, or placement for adoption.

(C) If an eligible employee seeks to enroll a dependent during the first thirty days of such a dependent special enrollment period, the coverage of the dependent shall become effective:

(I) In the case of marriage, not later than the first day of the first month beginning after the date the completed request for enrollment is received;

(II) In the case of the birth of a dependent, as of the date of birth; and

(III) In the case of a dependent's adoption or placement for adoption, the date of such adoption or placement for adoption;

(e)(i) Except as provided in subdivision (4)(e)(iv) of this section, requirements used by a small employer carrier in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer, including requirements for minimum participation of eligible employees and minimum employer contributions, shall be applied uniformly among all small employers with the same number of eligible employees applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the small employer carrier.

(ii) A small employer carrier may vary application of minimum participation requirements and minimum employer contribution requirements only by the size of the small employer group.

(iii)(A) Except as provided in subdivision (4)(e)(iii)(B) of this section, in applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer carrier shall not consider employees or dependents who have creditable coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(B) With respect to a small employer with ten or fewer eligible employees, a small employer carrier may consider employees or dependents who have coverage under another health benefit plan sponsored by such small employer in applying minimum participation requirements.

(iv) A small employer carrier shall not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage; and individuals in a small employer group or to only part of the group except in the case of late enrollees as provided in subdivision (4)(a) of this section.

(ii) Except as permitted under subdivisions (a) and (d) of this subsection, a small employer carrier shall not modify a health benefit plan with respect to a small employer or any eligible employee or dependent, through riders, endorsements, or otherwise, to restrict or exclude coverage or benefits for specific diseases, medical conditions, or services otherwise covered by the plan.

(iii) A small employer carrier shall not place any restriction in regard to any health-status-related factor on an eligible employee or dependent with respect to enrollment or plan participation.

(5) A small employer carrier shall not be required to offer coverage or accept applications pursuant to subsection (2) of this section in the case of the following:

(a) To an employee if previous basic health benefit plans or standard health benefit plans have, in the aggregate, paid one million dollars in benefits on behalf of the employee. Benefits paid on behalf of the employee in the immediately preceding two calendar years by prior small employer carriers under basic and standard plans shall be included when calculating the lifetime maximum benefits payable under the succeeding basic or standard plans. In any situation in which a determination of the total amount of benefits paid by prior small employer carriers is required by the succeeding carrier, prior carriers shall furnish a statement of the total benefits paid under basic and standard plans at the succeeding carrier's request; or

(b) Within an area where the small employer carrier reasonably anticipates, and demonstrates to the satisfaction of the director, that it will not have the capacity within its established geographic service area to deliver service adequately to the members of such groups because of its obligations to existing group policyholders and enrollees.

(6)(a) A small employer carrier offering coverage through a network plan shall not be required to offer coverage or accept applications pursuant to subsection (2) of this section to or from a small employer as defined in subsection (1) of this section:

(i) If the small employer does not have eligible employees who live, work, or reside in the service area for such network plan; or

(ii) If the small employer does have eligible employees who live, work, or reside in the service area for such network plan, the carrier has demonstrated, if required, to the director that it will not have the capacity to deliver services adequately to enrollees of any additional groups because of its obligations to existing group contract holders and enrollees and that it is applying subdivision (6)(a)(ii) of this section uniformly to all employers without regard to the claims experience of those employers and their employees and their dependents or any health-status-related factor relating to such employees and dependents.

(b) A small employer carrier, upon denying health insurance coverage in any service area in accordance with subdivision (6)(a)(ii) of this section, shall not offer coverage in the small employer market within such service area for a period of one hundred eighty days after the date such coverage is denied.

(7) A small employer carrier shall not be required to provide coverage to small employers pursuant to subsection (2) of this section for any period of time for which the director determines that requiring the acceptance of small employers in accordance with the provisions of such subsection would place the small employer carrier in a financially impaired condition.

44-5260.01 Certification of creditable coverage.

(1) Small employer carriers shall provide written certification of creditable coverage to individuals in accordance with subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The certification of creditable coverage shall be provided:

(a) At the time an individual ceases to be covered under the health benefit plan or otherwise becomes covered under a COBRA continuation provision;

(b) In the case of an individual who becomes covered under a COBRA continuation provision, at the time the individual ceases to be covered under that provision; and

(c) At the time a request is made on behalf of an individual if the request is made not later than twenty-four months after the date of cessation of coverage described in subdivision (2)(a) or (b) of this section, whichever is later.

(3) Small employer carriers may provide the certification of creditable coverage required under subdivision (2)(a) of this section at a time consistent with notices required under any applicable COBRA continuation provision.

(4) The certificate of creditable coverage required to be provided pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall contain:

(a) Written certification of the period of creditable coverage of the individual under the health benefit plan and the coverage, if any, under the applicable COBRA continuation provision; and

(b) The waiting period, if any, and, if applicable, affiliation period imposed with respect to the individual for any coverage under the health benefit plan.

(5) To the extent medical care under a group health plan consists of group health insurance coverage, the plan is deemed to have satisfied the certification requirement under subsection (1) of this section if the small employer carrier offering the coverage provides for certification in accordance with subsection (2) of this section.

(6)(a) If an individual enrolls in a group health plan that uses the alternative method of counting creditable coverage pursuant to subdivision (4)(c)(iv) of section 44-5260 and the individual provides a certificate of coverage that was provided to the individual pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, on request of the group health plan, the entity that issued the certification to the individual promptly shall disclose to the group health plan information on the classes and categories of health benefits available under the entity's health benefit plan.

(b) The entity providing the information pursuant to subdivision (6)(a) of this section may charge the requesting group health plan the reasonable cost of disclosing the information.

Except for specified childhood immunizations of children from birth to six years of age, a statute requiring coverage of a health care service or benefit or requiring the reimbursement, utilization, or inclusion of a specific category of licensed health care practitioner shall not apply to a basic health benefit plan delivered or issued for delivery to small employers in this state pursuant to the Small Employer Health Insurance Availability Act.

44-5266 Small employer carrier; market health benefit plan coverage; carrier, agent, or broker; prohibited activities; compensation to agent or broker; denial of application; rules and regulations; unfair trade practice; when; third-party administrator.

(1) Each small employer carrier shall actively market health benefit plan coverage, including the basic health benefit plans and standard health benefit plans, to eligible small employers in the state. If a small employer carrier denies coverage to a small employer on the basis of the health status or claims experience of the small employer or its employees or dependents, the small employer carrier shall offer the small employer the opportunity to purchase a basic health benefit plan and a standard health benefit plan.

(2)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (b) of this subsection, no small employer carrier, agent, or broker shall, directly or indirectly, engage in the following activities:

(i) Encouraging or directing small employers to refrain from filing an application for coverage with the small employer carrier because of the health status, claims experience, industry, occupation, or geographic location of the small employer; or

(ii) Encouraging or directing small employers to seek coverage from another carrier because of the health status, claims experience, industry, occupation, or geographic location of the small employer.

(b) The provisions of subdivision (a) of this subsection shall not apply with respect to information provided by a small employer carrier, an agent, or a broker to a small employer regarding the established geographic service area or a restricted network provision of a small employer carrier.

(3)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (b) of this subsection, no small employer carrier shall, directly or indirectly, enter into any contract, agreement, or arrangement with an agent or broker that provides for or results in the compensation paid to an agent or broker for the sale of a health benefit plan to be varied because of the health status, claims experience, industry, occupation, or geographic location of the small employer.

(b) The provisions of subdivision (a) of this subsection shall not apply with respect to a compensation arrangement that provides compensation to an agent or broker on the basis of percentage of premium except that the percentage shall not vary because of the health status, claims experience, industry, occupation, or geographic area of the small employer.

(4) A small employer carrier shall provide reasonable compensation to an agent or broker, if any, for the sale of a basic health benefit plan or a standard health benefit plan.

(5) No small employer carrier, agent, or broker may induce or otherwise encourage a small employer to separate or otherwise exclude an employee from health coverage or benefits provided in connection with the employee's employment.

(6) Denial by a small employer carrier of an application for coverage from a small employer shall be in writing and shall state the reason or reasons for the denial.

(7) The director may establish rules and regulations setting forth additional standards to provide for the fair marketing and broad availability of health benefit plans to small employers in this state.

(8)(a) A violation of this section by a small employer carrier, an agent, or a broker shall be an unfair trade practice in the business of insurance under the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act.

(b) If a small employer carrier enters into a contract, agreement, or other arrangement with a third-party administrator to provide administrative, marketing, or other services related to the offering of health benefit plans to small employers in this state, the third-party administrator shall be subject to this section as if it were a small employer carrier.

44-5267 Reissuance of health benefit plan; when; director; powers.

The director may adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to require small employer carriers, as a condition of transacting business with small employers in this state after January 1, 1995, to reissue a health benefit plan to any small employer whose health benefit plan has been terminated or not renewed by the carrier after six months prior to January 1, 1995. The director may prescribe such terms for the reissuance of coverage as the director finds are reasonable and necessary to provide continuity of coverage to small employers.

44-5301 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-5301 to 44-5311 shall be known and may be cited as the Health Insurance Access Act.

Source: Laws 1991, LB 419, § 29.

44-5302 Legislative findings and declarations.

The Legislature finds and declares that there is a significant number of Nebraskans who lack health insurance and that these uninsured people include many individuals and families who cannot afford the rising cost of medical care but do not qualify for the various income-based assistance programs. The lack of financial means of uninsured people and families to pay for their medical care leaves health care providers with uncollectible debts which are transferred to other patients and to insurers. It is the purpose and intent of the Legislature to provide a mechanism to allow insurers to provide basic levels of health insurance to those people who are uninsured and are not qualified for income-based assistance programs.

44-5303 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Health Insurance Access Act:

(1) Insurer shall mean any insurance company as defined in section 44-103 authorized to transact health insurance business in the State of Nebraska or a health maintenance organization which has obtained a valid certificate of authority;

(2) Medicare shall mean parts A, B, C, and D of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 1395 et seq., as amended;

(3) Provider shall mean any physician or hospital who is licensed or authorized in this state to furnish medical care or hospitalization to any individual;

(4) Spell of illness shall mean a continuous period as a hospital inpatient or successive periods as a hospital inpatient when the date of discharge and the following date of admission are less than sixty consecutive days apart; and

(5) Uninsured access coverage shall mean a policy of sickness and accident insurance or a contract for health care services covering individuals, with or without their dependents, issued by an insurer subject to the limitations and requirements in the act.

44-5305 Policy or contract; eligibility.

(1) An uninsured access coverage policy or contract shall limit eligibility to individuals or families who are not eligible for medicare or any other medical assistance program, including, but not limited to, the program established pursuant to the Medical Assistance Act.

(2) The uninsured access coverage policy or contract shall allow a transfer to a designated type of individual policy or contract without evidence of insurability and without interruption in coverage subject to payment of premiums. Each uninsured access coverage policy or contract shall specify the type of individual policy or contract to which an insured person may transfer.

44-5306 Policy or contract; eligibility; limitations.

(1) An individual or a family member shall not be eligible for initial or continued coverage under an uninsured access coverage policy or contract if he or she:

(a) Is eligible as an employee or dependent for group insurance coverage sponsored or maintained by an employer; or

(b) Is covered by any other type of hospital, surgical, or medical expense-incurred policy or health maintenance organization contract.

(2) An uninsured access coverage policy or contract may require evidence of insurability but shall not use underwriting guidelines that are more strict than those normally used by the insurer for its regular individual health insurance contracts.

44-5418 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Utilization Review Act:

(1) Adverse determination means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review agent that an admission, availability of care, continued stay, or other health care service has been reviewed and, based upon the information provided, does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care, or effectiveness, and the requested health care service is therefor denied, reduced, or terminated;

(2) Ambulatory review means utilization review of health care services performed or provided in an outpatient setting;

(3) Case management means a coordinated set of activities conducted for individual patient management of serious, complicated, protracted, or other health conditions;

(4) Certification means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review agent that an admission, availability of care, continued stay, or other health care service has been reviewed and, based on the information provided, satisfies the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care, and effectiveness;

(5) Clinical review criteria means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocols, and practice guidelines used by the health carrier to determine the necessity and appropriateness of health care services;

(6) Closed plan means a managed care plan that requires covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(7) Concurrent review means utilization review conducted during a patient's hospital stay or course of treatment;

(8) Covered person means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee, or other individual participating in a health benefit plan;

(9) Department means the Department of Insurance;

(10) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(11) Discharge planning means the formal process for determining, prior to discharge from a facility, the coordination and management of the care that a patient receives following discharge from a facility;

(12) Emergency medical condition means a medical or behavioral condition, the onset of which is sudden, that manifests itself by symptoms of sufficient severity, including, but not limited to, severe pain, that a prudent layperson, possessing an average knowledge of medicine and health, could reasonably expect the absence of immediate medical attention to result in (a) placing the health of the person afflicted with such condition in serious jeopardy or, in the case of a behavioral condition, placing the health of such person or others in serious jeopardy, (b) serious impairment to such person's bodily functions, (c) serious impairment of any bodily organ or part of such person, or (d) serious disfigurement of such person;

(13) Emergency services means health care services necessary to screen and stabilize a covered person in connection with an emergency medical condition;

(14) Facility means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including, but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory, and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings. Facility does not include physicians' offices;

(15) Health benefit plan means a policy, contract, certificate, or agreement entered into, offered, or issued by any person to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation insurance coverage;

(16) Health care professional means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, certified, or registered to perform specified health services consistent with state law;

(17) Health care provider or provider means a health care professional or a facility;

(18) Health care services or health services means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure, or relief of a health condition, illness, injury, or disease;

(19) Health carrier means an entity that contracts, offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, a prepaid dental service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services. Health carrier does not include a workers' compensation insurer, risk management pool, or self-insured employer who contracts for services to be provided through a managed care plan certified pursuant to section 48-120.02;

(20) Managed care plan means a health benefit plan, including closed plans and open plans, that either requires a covered person to use or creates financial incentives by providing a more favorable deductible, coinsurance, or copayment level for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with, or employed by the health carrier;

(21) Network means the group of participating providers providing services to a managed care plan;

(22) Open plan means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(23) Participating provider means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier;

(24) Person means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint-stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing;

(25) Prospective review means utilization review conducted prior to an admission or a course of treatment;

(26) Retrospective review means utilization review of medical necessity that is conducted after health services have been provided to a patient, but does not include the review of a claim that is limited to an evaluation of reimbursement levels, veracity of documentation, accuracy of coding, or adjudication for payment;

(27) Second opinion means an opportunity or requirement to obtain a clinical evaluation by a provider other than the one originally making a recommendation for a proposed health service to assess the clinical necessity and appropriateness of the initial proposed health service;

(28) Significant beneficial interest means the ownership of any financial interest that is greater than the lesser of (a) five percent of the whole or (b) five thousand dollars;

(29) Stabilize means when, with respect to transfer to another facility, the examining physician at a hospital emergency department where an individual has sought treatment for an emergency medical condition has determined, within reasonable medical probability:

(a) With respect to an emergency medical condition, that no material deterioration of the condition is likely to result from or occur during a transfer of the individual from the facility; and

(b) The receiving facility has available space and qualified personnel for the treatment of the individual and has agreed to accept transfer of the individual and provide appropriate medical treatment;

(30) Utilization review means a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of, or evaluate the clinical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of, health care services, procedures, or facilities. Techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning, or retrospective review. Utilization review does not include elective requests for clarification of coverage; and

(31) Utilization review agent means any person, company, health carrier, organization, or other entity performing utilization review. The following shall not be considered utilization review agents:

(a) An agency of the federal government;

(b) An agent acting on behalf of the federal government or a federally qualified peer review organization or the State of Nebraska but only to the extent that the agent is providing services to the federal government or the State of Nebraska;

(c) An agency of the State of Nebraska;

(d) Internal quality assurance programs conducted by hospitals, home health agencies, preferred provider organizations, health maintenance organizations, other managed care entities, clinics, or private offices for purposes other than for allowing, denying, or making a recommendation on allowing or denying a covered person's claim for payment;

(e) Nebraska licensed pharmacists, pharmacies, or organizations thereof while engaged in the practice of pharmacy, including the dispensing of drugs, participating in drug utilization reviews, and monitoring of patient drug therapy;

(f) Any person performing utilization review of workers' compensation benefits but only to the extent that the person is providing utilization review of workers' compensation benefits;

(g) Any individual or group employed or used by a utilization review agent certified under the Utilization Review Act when performing utilization review for or on behalf of such agent, including nurses and physicians; and

(h) An employee benefit plan or any person on behalf of an employee benefit plan to the extent that the activities of such plan or person are exempt from state regulation of the business of insurance pursuant to the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended.

44-5420 Certificate; application; fee.

(1) An applicant for a certificate as a utilization review agent shall submit an application to the department upon a form which may be obtained from the department. The application shall be signed and verified by the applicant.

Along with the application, the applicant shall pay the application fee of three hundred dollars.

(2) As a part of the application, the applicant shall submit the following:

(a) Documentation that the applicant has received approval or accreditation by the American Accreditation HealthCare Commission/URAC, or a similar organization which has standards for utilization review agents that are substantially similar to the standards of the American Accreditation HealthCare Commission/URAC, and which has been approved by the director;

(b) A statement of the street and mailing address of the entity, telephone number of the entity, and a list of the principal officers of the entity responsible for its operation, management, and control; and

(c) Such other reasonable information or documentation as the department requires for enforcement of the Utilization Review Act.

44-5422 Utilization review agents; procedures applicable; exceptions.

(1) Utilization review agents operating in this state shall comply with the following provisions:

(a) A utilization review agent, employees of a utilization review agent, or persons acting on behalf of a utilization review agent may not refer a patient who has undergone utilization review by that utilization review agent, employee, or person to:

(i) A health care facility or other provider in which the utilization review agent owns a significant beneficial interest; or

(ii) The utilization review agent's own health care practice;

(b) A utilization review agent, employees of a utilization review agent, or persons acting on behalf of a utilization review agent shall not accept or agree to accept any sum from any person for bringing or referring a patient to a health care provider;

(c) A utilization review agent shall not compensate employees or persons acting on behalf of the utilization review agent based directly on the number of adverse determinations;

(d) A utilization review agent shall allow a minimum of twenty-four hours following an emergency admission, service, or procedure for a covered person or his or her representative to notify the utilization review agent and request certification or continuing treatment for the condition;

(e) A covered person or an attending physician on behalf of a covered person may request an appeal of a decision not to approve or certify for clinical reasons. For such appeal, a covered person or attending physician on behalf of a covered person shall, upon request, have timely access to the clinical basis for the decision, including any criteria, standards, or clinical indicators used as a basis for such recommendation or decision;

(f) During a final appeal of a decision not to certify or approve for clinical reasons, a utilization review agent shall assure that a physician is reasonably available to review the case, except that if the health care services were provided or authorized by a provider other than a physician, such appeal may be reviewed by a nonphysician provider whose scope of practice includes the treatment or services. Hospitals, health care providers, or representatives of the covered person may assist in an appeal; and

(g) A utilization review agent shall comply with the standards adopted by the organization that has granted the agent approval or accreditation and upon which the certificate was granted by the director, whether or not action is taken by such organization to enforce the standards.

(2) Subdivisions (1)(a) and (b) of this section shall not apply to a utilization review agent, employees of the utilization review agent, or other persons acting on behalf of such utilization review agent who refer a patient to:

(a) The health care provider or facility that participates in a health maintenance organization in which the patient is enrolled; or

(b) A preferred provider network of participating providers or facilities to which the patient would otherwise be referred as part of the patient's insurance contract or policy.

44-5429 Violation; penalty.

If, after the hearing, the director finds a utilization review agent has violated the Utilization Review Act, the director shall reduce his or her findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the utilization review agent charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the utilization review agent to cease and desist from engaging in the violation and the director may order any one or more of the following:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of thirty thousand dollars, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of the Utilization Review Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than fifteen thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the utilization review agent's license to do business in this state if the utilization review agent knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of the act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 14.

44-5430 Violation of cease and desist order; penalty.

Any utilization review agent who violates a cease and desist order of the director under section 44-5429 may after notice and hearing and upon order of the director be subject to:

(1) A monetary penalty of not more than thirty thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the utilization review agent's license to do business in this state.

SURPLUS LINES INSURANCE

Section

44-5501 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-5501 to 44-5515 shall be known and may be cited as the Surplus Lines Insurance Act.

Source: Laws 1992, LB 1006, § 1; Laws 2007, LB117, § 21; Laws 2019, LB469, § 1.

44-5502 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Surplus Lines Insurance Act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Affiliated group means a group of entities in which each entity, with respect to an insured, controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the insured;

(2) Control means:

(a) To own, control, or have the power of an entity directly, indirectly, or acting through one or more other persons to vote twenty-five percent or more of any class of voting securities of another entity; or

(b) To direct, by an entity, in any manner, the election of a majority of the directors or trustees of another entity;

(3) Department means the Department of Insurance;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(5) Domestic surplus lines insurer means a nonadmitted insurer domiciled in this state that has a certificate of authority to operate as a domestic surplus lines insurer in the State of Nebraska issued as provided in section 44-5506.01;

(6)(a) Exempt commercial purchaser means any person purchasing commercial insurance that, at the time of placement, meets the following requirements:

(i) The person employs or retains a qualified risk manager to negotiate insurance coverage;

(ii) The person has paid aggregate nationwide commercial property and casualty insurance premiums in excess of one hundred thousand dollars in the immediately preceding twelve months; and

(iii) The person meets at least one of the following criteria:

(A) The person possesses a net worth in excess of twenty million dollars, as such amount is adjusted pursuant to subdivision (6)(b) of this section;

(B) The person generates annual revenue in excess of fifty million dollars, as such amount is adjusted pursuant to subdivision (6)(b) of this section;

(C) The person employs more than five hundred full-time or full-time equivalent employees per individual insured or is a member of an affiliated group employing more than one thousand employees in the aggregate;

(D) The person is a not-for-profit organization or public entity generating annual budgeted expenditures of at least thirty million dollars, as such amount is adjusted pursuant to subdivision (6)(b) of this section; or

(E) The person is a municipality with a population in excess of fifty thousand inhabitants as determined by the most recent federal decennial census or the most recent revised certified count by the United States Bureau of the Census.

(b) Beginning on the fifth occurrence of January 1 after July 21, 2011, and each fifth occurrence of January 1 thereafter, the amounts in subdivisions (6)(a)(iii)(A), (B), and (D) of this section shall be adjusted to reflect the percentage change for such five-year period in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers published by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics;

(7) Foreign, alien, admitted, and nonadmitted, when referring to insurers, have the same meanings as in section 44-103 but do not include a risk retention group as defined in 15 U.S.C. 3901(a)(4);

(8)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (8)(b) of this section, home state means, with respect to an insured, (i) the state in which an insured maintains its principal place of business or, in the case of an individual, the individual's principal residence or (ii) if one hundred percent of the insured risk is located out of the state referred to in subdivision (8)(a)(i) of this section, the state to which the greatest percentage of the insured's taxable premium for that insurance contract is allocated.

(b) If more than one insured from an affiliated group are named insureds on a single nonadmitted insurance contract, home state means the home state, as determined pursuant to subdivision (8)(a) of this section, of the member of the affiliated group that has the largest percentage of premium attributed to it under such insurance contract.

(c) When determining the home state of the insured, the principal place of business is the state in which the insured maintains its headquarters and where the insured's high-level officers direct, control, and coordinate the business activities of the insured;

(9) Insurer has the same meaning as in section 44-103;

(10) Nonadmitted insurance means any property and casualty insurance permitted to be placed directly or through surplus lines licensees with a nonadmitted insurer eligible to accept such insurance; and

(11) Qualified risk manager means, with respect to a policyholder of commercial insurance, a person who meets the definition in section 527 of the Nonadmitted and Reinsurance Reform Act of 2010, which is Subtitle B of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, Public Law 111-203, as such section existed on January 1, 2011.

Insurance companies and agents are forbidden to procure or effect fire insurance in companies not licensed to write it. Naeve v. Shea, 128 Neb. 374, 258 N.W. 666 (1935).

44-5504 Nonadmitted insurer; surplus lines license; application; fee; expiration; renewal.

(1) No person, other than an exempt commercial purchaser, shall place, procure, or effect insurance for or on behalf of an insured whose home state is the State of Nebraska in any nonadmitted insurer until such person has first been issued a surplus lines license from the department as provided in section 44-5503.

(2) Application for a surplus lines license shall be made to the department on forms designated and furnished by the department and shall be accompanied by a license fee as established by the director not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars for each individual and corporate surplus lines license.

(3)(a) All corporate surplus lines licenses shall expire on April 30 of each year, and all individual surplus lines licenses shall expire on the licensee's birthday in the first year after issuance in which his or her age is divisible by two, and all individual surplus lines licenses may be renewed within the ninety-day period before their expiration dates and all individual surplus lines licenses also may be renewed within the thirty-day period after their expiration dates upon payment of a late renewal fee as established by the director not to exceed two hundred dollars in addition to the applicable fee otherwise required for renewal of individual surplus lines licenses as established by the director pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. All individual surplus lines licenses renewed within the thirty-day period after their expiration dates pursuant to this subdivision shall be deemed to have been renewed before their expiration dates. The department shall establish procedures for the renewal of surplus lines licenses.

(b) Every licensee shall notify the department within thirty days of any changes in the licensee's residential or business address.

44-5506 Surplus lines licensee; quarterly statement; tax payment.

(1) Every surplus lines licensee transacting business under the Surplus Lines Insurance Act shall, on or before March 1 for the quarter ending the preceding December 31, June 1 for the quarter ending the preceding March 31, September 1 for the quarter ending the preceding June 30, and December 1 for the quarter ending the preceding September 30 of each year, make and file with the department a verified statement upon a form prescribed by the department or a designee of the director which shall exhibit the true amount of all such business transacted during that period.

(2)(a) Every surplus lines licensee transacting business under the Surplus Lines Insurance Act shall collect and pay to the director or the director's designee, at the time the statement required under subsection (1) of this section is filed, a sum based on the total gross premiums charged, less any return premiums, for surplus lines insurance provided by the licensee pursuant to the license on behalf of an insured whose home state is the State of Nebraska. In no event shall such taxes be determined on a retaliatory basis pursuant to section 44-150.

(b) The sum payable shall be computed based on an amount equal to three percent of the premiums for insurance that covers properties, risks, or exposures located or to be performed in the United States, to be remitted to the State Treasurer in accordance with section 77-912.

(c) The surplus lines licensee is prohibited from rebating, for any reason, any portion of the tax.

44-5506.01 Nonadmitted insurer; certificate of authority; director; powers; provisions applicable.

(1) The director may provide written authority in the form of a certificate of authority to operate as a domestic surplus lines insurer in the State of Nebraska to a nonadmitted insurer domiciled in this state if the director determines that such nonadmitted insurer:

(a) Possesses policyholder surplus of at least fifteen million dollars;

(b) Is an eligible surplus lines insurer in at least one state jurisdiction other than this state; and

(c) Is acting pursuant to a resolution passed by its board of directors seeking to be a domestic surplus lines insurer in this state.

(2) All financial and solvency requirements imposed by Chapter 44 upon a domestic admitted insurer shall apply to a domestic surplus lines insurer unless domestic surplus lines insurers are otherwise specifically exempted.

(3) Policies issued by a domestic surplus lines insurer are not subject to the protections or other requirements of the Nebraska Property and Liability Insurance Guaranty Association Act or the Nebraska Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Association Act.

44-5508 Surplus lines licensee; requirements; duties of licensee; violations; penalty; nonadmitted insurer; requirements.

(1) A surplus lines licensee shall not place coverage with a nonadmitted insurer unless, at the time of placement, the surplus lines licensee has determined that the nonadmitted insurer is a domestic surplus lines insurer or meets the following criteria:

(a) Is authorized to write such insurance in its domiciliary jurisdiction;

(b) Has established satisfactory evidence of good repute and financial integrity; and

(c)(i) Possesses capital and surplus or its equivalent under the laws of its domiciliary jurisdiction that equals the greater of the minimum capital and surplus requirements under the laws of this state or fifteen million dollars; or

(ii) If minimum capital and surplus does not meet the requirements of subdivision (1)(c)(i) of this section, then upon an affirmative finding of acceptability by the director. The finding shall be based upon such factors as quality of management, capital and surplus of any parent company, company underwriting profit and investment income trends, market availability, and company record and reputation within the industry. The director shall not make an affirmative finding of acceptability if the nonadmitted insurer's capital and surplus is less than four million five hundred thousand dollars.

(2) No surplus lines licensee shall place nonadmitted insurance with or procure nonadmitted insurance from a nonadmitted insurer domiciled outside the United States unless the insurer is listed on the Quarterly Listing of Alien Insurers maintained by the International Insurers Department of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

(3) Any surplus lines licensee violating this section shall be guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.

(4)(a) No nonadmitted foreign or alien insurer shall accept business under the Surplus Lines Insurance Act if it does not comply with the surplus and capital requirements of subsection (1) of this section.

(b) In addition to the requirements of subdivision (a) of this subsection, no nonadmitted alien insurer shall accept business under the act if it does not comply with the requirements of subsection (2) of this section.

44-5510 Insurance; procurement from nonadmitted insurer; when; terms and conditions; surplus lines licensee; exempt from due diligence search; conditions.

(1) If an applicant for insurance is unable to procure such insurance as he or she deems reasonably necessary to insure a risk or exposure from an admitted insurer, such insurance may be procured from a nonadmitted insurer upon the following terms and conditions:

(a) The insurance shall be procured from a surplus lines licensee;

(b) The insurance procured shall not include any insurance described in subdivisions (1) through (4) of section 44-201, except that this subdivision shall not prohibit the procurement of disability insurance that has a benefit limit in excess of any benefit limit available from an admitted insurer;

(c) Not later than thirty days after the effective date of such insurance, the insured shall provide, in writing, his or her permission for such insurance to be written in a nonadmitted insurer and his or her acknowledgment that, in the event of the insolvency of such insurer, the policy will not be covered by the Nebraska Property and Liability Insurance Guaranty Association; and

(d) Compliance with section 44-5511.

(2) A surplus lines licensee seeking to procure or place nonadmitted insurance for an exempt commercial purchaser whose home state is the State of Nebraska shall not be required to make a due diligence search to determine whether the full amount or type of insurance sought by such exempt commercial purchaser can be obtained from admitted insurers if:

(a) The surplus lines licensee procuring or placing the insurance has disclosed to the exempt commercial purchaser that such insurance may or may not be available from the admitted market that may provide greater protection with more regulatory oversight; and

(b) The exempt commercial purchaser has subsequently requested in writing the surplus lines licensee to procure or place such insurance for a nonadmitted insurer.

44-5512 Violations; director; hearing; orders; penalty; appeal.

(1) Whenever the director has reason to believe that any person has engaged in any activities in violation of the Surplus Lines Insurance Act, the director may:

(a) Issue an order and notice of hearing directing such person to cease and desist from engaging in such activities; or

(b) Issue a statement of the charges of violation and a notice of hearing to be held within thirty days to determine whether or not such violation occurred.

(2) Any hearing held pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, and any appeal therefrom, shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(3) If, after any hearing held pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the director finds that the person charged has committed a violation as alleged, he or she shall reduce his or her findings to writing and serve a copy of the findings on the person charged and, in addition, the director may order any one or more of the following:

(a) That such person cease and desist from engaging in such activities;

(b) Payment of a fine of not more than five thousand dollars; and

(c) Suspension or revocation of any surplus lines license held by such person for such period of time as the director determines.

(4) Any person who violates a cease and desist order may, after notice and hearing and upon order of the director, be subject to:

(a) Payment of a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars; and

(b) Suspension or revocation of each insurance license held by such person for such period of time as the director determines.

(5) For purposes of this section, person shall include a nonadmitted insurer.

44-5603 Reinsurance intermediary-broker; reinsurance intermediary-manager; license; requirements; issuance; director; duties; fee; renewal; exemption.

(1) No person, firm, association, or corporation shall act as a reinsurance intermediary-broker in this state if the reinsurance intermediary-broker maintains an office directly, as a member or employee of a firm or association, or as an officer, director, or employee of a corporation:

(a) In this state unless such reinsurance intermediary-broker is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state; or

(b) In another state unless such reinsurance intermediary-broker is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state or another state having a law substantially similar to the Reinsurance Intermediary Act or such reinsurance intermediary-broker is licensed in this state as a nonresident reinsurance intermediary.

(2) No person, firm, association, or corporation shall act as a reinsurance intermediary-manager:

(a) For a reinsurer domiciled in this state unless such reinsurance intermediary-manager is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state; or

(b) In this state if the reinsurance intermediary-manager maintains an office directly, as a member or employee of a firm or association, or as an officer, director, or employee of a corporation in this state unless such reinsurance intermediary-manager is a licensed producer or reinsurance intermediary in this state.

(3) The director may require a resident reinsurance intermediary-manager subject to subsection (2) of this section to:

(a) File a bond in an amount from an insurer acceptable to the director for the protection of the reinsurer; and

(b) Maintain an errors and omissions policy in an amount acceptable to the director.

(4) The director may issue a reinsurance intermediary license to any person, firm, association, or corporation which has complied with the requirements of the Reinsurance Intermediary Act. Any such license issued to a firm or association shall authorize all the members of such firm or association and any designated employees to act as reinsurance intermediaries under the license, and all such persons shall be named in the application and any supplements thereto. Any such license issued to a corporation shall authorize all of the officers and any designated employees and directors to act as reinsurance intermediaries on behalf of such corporation, and all such persons shall be named in the application and any supplements thereto.

(5) The director may refuse to issue a reinsurance intermediary license if in his or her judgment he or she determines that the applicant, any person named on the application, or any member, principal, officer, or director of the applicant is not trustworthy, that any controlling person of such applicant is not trustworthy to act as a reinsurance intermediary, or that any of the foregoing have given cause for revocation or suspension of such license or have failed to comply with any prerequisite for the issuance of such license. Upon written request by the applicant, the director shall furnish to the applicant a summary of the basis for refusal to issue a license, which summary shall be privileged and not subject to public disclosure.

(6)(a) Applications for resident reinsurance intermediary licenses shall be made to the director on forms designated and furnished by the director and shall be accompanied by a license fee established by the director not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars. If the applicant is an individual, the application for the license shall also include the applicant's social security number.

(b) The director shall issue a nonresident reinsurance intermediary license if:

(i) The person is currently licensed as a resident reinsurance intermediary or insurance producer and is in good standing in his or her home state;

(ii) The person has submitted or transmitted to the director the application for licensure that the person submitted to his or her home state, or in lieu of that application, a completed application deemed appropriate by the director, accompanied by a license fee established by the director not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars; and

(iii) The person's home state awards nonresident licenses to residents of this state on the same basis.

(c) All reinsurance intermediary licenses shall expire on April 30 of each year. Reinsurance intermediary licenses may be renewed within the ninety-day period before their expiration dates. The director shall establish procedures for the renewal of reinsurance intermediary licenses. Every licensee shall notify the director within thirty days of any change in the licensee's business or residential address.

(7) Attorneys of this state acting in their professional capacity shall be exempt from this section.

44-5603.01 Nonresident reinsurance intermediary license; reciprocal licensure; continuing education.

(1) The director shall waive any requirements for a nonresident reinsurance intermediary license applicant with a valid license from the applicant's home state, except the requirements imposed by section 44-5603, if the applicant's home state awards nonresident licenses to residents of this state on the same basis.

(2) A nonresident reinsurance intermediary's satisfaction of any applicable home-state continuing education requirements, if any, for licensed insurance producers or reinsurance intermediaries shall constitute satisfaction of the continuing education requirements of this state if the home state of the reinsurance intermediary recognizes the satisfaction of its continuing education requirements imposed upon insurance producers or reinsurance intermediaries from this state on the same basis.

44-5603.02 Licensed reinsurance intermediary; consent to jurisdiction.

A reinsurance intermediary, by accepting licensure in this state, is deemed to have consented to the jurisdiction of the director and of the courts of this state with respect to all activities conducted under the license and to have designated the director as its agent for service of process. Each licensed reinsurance intermediary shall furnish the director with the name and address of a designated contact resident of this state to whom notices or orders of the director or process affecting the reinsurance intermediary may be forwarded. The licensee shall promptly notify the director in writing of every change in its designated contact for service of process, and such changes shall not become effective until acknowledged by the director.

44-5604 Reinsurance; written authorization required; contents.

Transactions between a reinsurance intermediary-broker and the insurer it represents in such capacity shall only be entered into pursuant to a written authorization specifying the responsibilities of each party. The authorization shall at a minimum provide that:

(1) The insurer may terminate the reinsurance intermediary-broker's authority at any time;

(2) The reinsurance intermediary-broker will render accounts to the insurer accurately detailing all material transactions, including information necessary to support all commissions, charges, and other fees received by or owing to the reinsurance intermediary-broker, and will remit all funds due to the insurer within thirty days of receipt;

(3) All funds collected for the insurer's account will be held by the reinsurance intermediary-broker in a fiduciary capacity in a bank which is a qualified United States financial institution;

(4) The reinsurance intermediary-broker will comply with section 44-5605;

(5) The reinsurance intermediary-broker will comply with the written standards established by the insurer for the cession or retrocession of all risks; and

(6) The reinsurance intermediary-broker will disclose to the insurer any relationship with any reinsurer to which business will be ceded or retroceded.

Source: Laws 1992, LB 1006, § 58.

44-5605 Reinsurance intermediary-broker; records; requirements.

For at least ten years after expiration of each contract of reinsurance transacted by a reinsurance intermediary-broker, the reinsurance intermediary-broker shall keep a complete record for each transaction showing:

(1) Type of contract, limits, underwriting restrictions, classes or risks, and territory;

(2) Period of coverage, including effective and expiration dates, cancellation provisions, and notice required of cancellation;

(3) Reporting and settlement requirements of balances;

(4) Rate used to compute the reinsurance premium;

(5) Names and addresses of assuming reinsurers;

(6) Rates of all reinsurance commissions, including the commissions on any retrocessions handled by the reinsurance intermediary-broker;

(7) Related correspondence and memoranda;

(8) Proof of placement;

(9) Details regarding retrocessions handled by the reinsurance intermediary-broker, including the identity of retrocessionaires and percentage of each contract assumed or ceded;

(10) Financial records, including premium and loss accounts; and

(11) When the reinsurance intermediary-broker procures a reinsurance contract on behalf of a ceding insurer:

(a) Directly from any assuming reinsurer, written evidence that the assuming reinsurer has agreed to assume the risk; or

(b) If placed through a representative of the assuming reinsurer other than an employee, written evidence that the assuming reinsurer has delegated binding authority to the representative.

The insurer shall have access to and the right to copy and audit all accounts and records maintained by the reinsurance intermediary-broker related to its business in a form usable by the insurer.

44-5606 Insurer; prohibited acts; copy of statement of financial condition; obtain.

(1) An insurer shall not engage the services of any person, firm, association, or corporation to act as a reinsurance intermediary-broker on its behalf unless such person, firm, association, or corporation is licensed as required by subsection (1) of section 44-5603.

(2) An insurer may not employ a person who is employed by a reinsurance intermediary-broker with which it transacts business unless such reinsurance intermediary-broker is under common control with the insurer and subject to the Insurance Holding Company System Act.

(3) An insurer shall annually obtain a copy of statements of the financial condition of each reinsurance intermediary-broker with which it transacts business.

44-5607 Reinsurance intermediary-manager; contracts; requirements; records required.

Transactions between a reinsurance intermediary-manager and the reinsurer it represents in such capacity shall only be entered into pursuant to a written contract specifying the responsibilities of each party, which contract shall be approved by the reinsurer's board of directors. At least thirty days before such reinsurer assumes or cedes business through the reinsurance intermediary-manager, a true copy of the approved contract shall be filed with the director for approval. The contract shall at a minimum provide that:

(1) The reinsurer may terminate the contract for cause upon written notice to the reinsurance intermediary-manager. The reinsurer may immediately suspend the authority of the reinsurance intermediary-manager to assume or cede business during the pendency of any dispute regarding the cause for termination;

(2) The reinsurance intermediary-manager will render accounts to the reinsurer accurately detailing all material transactions, including information necessary to support all commissions, charges, and other fees received by or owing to the reinsurance intermediary-manager, and will remit all funds due under the contract to the reinsurer on not less than a monthly basis;

(3) All funds collected for the reinsurer's account will be held by the reinsurance intermediary-manager in a fiduciary capacity in a bank which is a qualified United States financial institution. The reinsurance intermediary-manager may retain no more than three months estimated claims payments and allocated loss adjustment expenses. The reinsurance intermediary-manager shall maintain a separate bank account for each reinsurer that it represents;

(4) For at least ten years after expiration of each contract of reinsurance transacted by the reinsurance intermediary-manager, the reinsurance intermediary-manager will keep a complete record for each transaction showing:

(a) Type of contract, limits, underwriting restrictions, classes or risks, and territory;

(b) Period of coverage, including effective and expiration dates, cancellation provisions, notice required of cancellation, and disposition of outstanding reserves on covered risks;

(c) Reporting and settlement requirements of balances;

(d) Rate used to compute the reinsurance premium;

(e) Names and addresses of assuming reinsurers;

(f) Rates of all reinsurance commissions, including the commissions on any retrocessions handled by the reinsurance intermediary-manager;

(g) Related correspondence and memoranda;

(h) Proof of placement;

(i) Details regarding retrocessions handled by the reinsurance intermediary-manager as permitted by subsection (4) of section 44-5609, including the identity of retrocessionaires and percentage of each contract assumed or ceded;

(j) Financial records, including premium and loss accounts; and

(k) When the reinsurance intermediary-manager places a reinsurance contract on behalf of a ceding insurer:

(i) Directly from any assuming reinsurer, written evidence that the assuming reinsurer has agreed to assume the risk; or

(ii) If placed through a representative of the assuming reinsurer other than an employee, written evidence that the assuming reinsurer has delegated binding authority to the representative;

(5) The reinsurer will have access to and the right to copy all accounts and records maintained by the reinsurance intermediary-manager related to its business in a form usable by the reinsurer;

(6) The contract cannot be assigned in whole or in part by the reinsurance intermediary-manager;

(7) The reinsurance intermediary-manager will comply with the written underwriting and rating standards established by the insurer for the acceptance, rejection, or cession of all risks;

(8) The rates, terms, and purposes of commissions, charges, and other fees which the reinsurance intermediary-manager may levy against the reinsurer will be set forth;

(9) If the contract permits the reinsurance intermediary-manager to settle claims on behalf of the reinsurer:

(a) All claims will be reported to the reinsurer in a timely manner;

(b) A copy of the claim file will be sent to the reinsurer at its request or as soon as it becomes known that the claim:

(i) Has the potential to exceed the lesser of an amount determined by the director or the limit set by the reinsurer;

(ii) Involves a coverage dispute;

(iii) May exceed the reinsurance intermediary-manager's claims-settlement authority;

(iv) Is open for more than six months; or

(v) Is closed by payment of the lesser of an amount set by the director or an amount set by the reinsurer;

(c) All claim files will be the joint property of the reinsurer and reinsurance intermediary-manager. Upon an order of liquidation of the reinsurer, such files shall become the sole property of the reinsurer or its estate, except that the reinsurance intermediary-manager shall have reasonable access to and the right to copy the files on a timely basis; and

(d) Any settlement authority granted to the reinsurance intermediary-manager may be terminated for cause upon the reinsurer's written notice to the reinsurance intermediary-manager or upon the termination of the contract. The reinsurer may suspend the settlement authority during the pendency of the dispute regarding the cause of termination;

(10) If the contract provides for a sharing of interim profits by the reinsurance intermediary-manager, such interim profits will not be paid until one year after the end of each underwriting period for property business and five years after the end of each underwriting period for casualty business or a later period set by the director for specified lines of insurance and not until the adequacy of reserves on remaining claims has been attested to pursuant to subsection (3) of section 44-5609;

(11) The reinsurance intermediary-manager will annually provide the reinsurer with a statement of its financial condition prepared by an independent certified public accountant;

(12) The reinsurer will at least semiannually conduct an onsite review of the underwriting and claims processing operations of the reinsurance intermediary-manager, will prepare a written report on such review, and will file such written report with the director;

(13) The reinsurance intermediary-manager will disclose to the reinsurer any relationship it has with any insurer prior to ceding or assuming any business with such insurer pursuant to the contract; and

(14) Within the scope of its actual or apparent authority, the acts of the reinsurance intermediary-manager will be deemed to be the acts of the reinsurer on behalf of which it is acting.

44-5608 Reinsurance intermediary-manager; prohibited acts.

A reinsurance intermediary-manager shall not:

(1) Cede retrocessions on behalf of the reinsurer, except that the reinsurance intermediary-manager may cede facultative retrocessions pursuant to obligatory facultative agreements if the contract with the reinsurer contains reinsurance underwriting guidelines for such retrocessions. Such guidelines shall include a list of reinsurers with which such automatic agreements are in effect and, for each such reinsurer, the coverages and amounts or percentages that may be reinsured and commission schedules;

(2) Commit the reinsurer to participate in reinsurance syndicates;

(3) Appoint any producer without assuring that the producer is lawfully licensed to transact the type of reinsurance for which he or she is appointed;

(4) Without prior approval of the reinsurer, pay or commit the reinsurer to pay a claim, net of retrocessions, that exceeds the lesser of an amount specified by the reinsurer or one percent of the reinsurer's policyholders surplus as of December 31 of the last complete calendar year;

(5) Collect any payment from a retrocessionaire or commit the reinsurer to any claim settlement with a retrocessionaire, without prior approval of the reinsurer. If prior approval is given, a report shall be promptly forwarded to the reinsurer;

(6) Jointly employ an individual who is employed by the reinsurer unless such reinsurance intermediary-manager is under common control with the reinsurer subject to the Insurance Holding Company System Act; or

(7) Appoint a sub-reinsurance-intermediary-manager.

44-5609 Reinsurer; prohibited acts; requirements.

(1) A reinsurer shall not engage the services of any person, firm, association, or corporation to act as a reinsurance intermediary-manager on its behalf unless such person, firm, association, or corporation is licensed as required by subsection (2) of section 44-5603.

(2) The reinsurer shall annually obtain a copy of statements of the financial condition of each reinsurance intermediary-manager which such reinsurer has engaged prepared by an independent certified public accountant in a form acceptable to the director.

(3) If a reinsurance intermediary-manager establishes loss reserves, the reinsurer shall annually obtain the opinion of an independent actuary attesting to the adequacy of loss reserves established for losses incurred and outstanding on business produced by the reinsurance intermediary-manager. The opinion shall be in addition to any other required loss reserve certification.

(4) Binding authority for all retrocessional contracts or participation in reinsurance syndicates shall rest with an officer of the reinsurer who is not affiliated with the reinsurance intermediary-manager.

(5) Within thirty days of termination of a contract with a reinsurance intermediary-manager, the reinsurer shall provide written notification of such termination to the director.

(6) A reinsurer shall not appoint to its board of directors, any officer, director, employee, controlling shareholder, or subproducer of its reinsurance intermediary-manager. This subsection shall not apply to relationships governed by the Insurance Holding Company System Act or the Producer-Controlled Property and Casualty Insurer Act.

44-5610 Reinsurance intermediary; examination by director.

A reinsurance intermediary shall be subject to examination by the director. The director shall have access to all books, bank accounts, and records of the reinsurance intermediary in a form usable to the director. The cost of examination shall be paid by the reinsurance intermediary in the manner provided in Chapter 44 for insurance companies.

44-5611 Violations; penalties; action for damages; act, how construed.

(1) If the director determines that the reinsurance intermediary or any other person has not materially complied with the Reinsurance Intermediary Act, any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated thereunder, or any order issued thereunder, after notice and opportunity to be heard in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, the director may:

(a) For each separate violation, order a penalty in an amount not exceeding five thousand dollars;

(b) Order revocation or suspension of the reinsurance intermediary's license; and

(c) If it was found that because of such material noncompliance that the insurer or reinsurer has suffered any loss or damage, maintain a civil action brought by or on behalf of the reinsurer or insurer and its policyholders and creditors for recovery of damages for the benefit of the reinsurer or insurer and its policyholders and creditors and other appropriate relief.

(2) If an order of rehabilitation or liquidation of the insurer has been entered pursuant to the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, and the receiver appointed under the order determines that the reinsurance intermediary or any other person has not materially complied with the Reinsurance Intermediary Act, any rule and regulation adopted and promulgated thereunder, or any order issued thereunder, and the insurer suffered any loss or damage therefrom, the receiver may maintain a civil action for recovery of damages and other appropriate relief for the benefit of the insurer.

(3) This section shall not affect the right of the director to impose any other penalties provided for in Chapter 44.

(4) The Reinsurance Intermediary Act is not intended to and shall not in any manner limit or restrict the rights of policyholders, claimants, creditors, and other third parties.

PRODUCER-CONTROLLED PROPERTY AND CASUALTY INSURERS

Section

44-5701 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-5701 to 44-5708 shall be known and may be cited as the Producer-Controlled Property and Casualty Insurer Act.

Source: Laws 1992, LB 1006, § 68.

44-5702 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Producer-Controlled Property and Casualty Insurer Act:

(1) Accredited state shall mean a state in which the insurance department or regulatory agency has qualified as meeting the minimum financial regulatory standards established and promulgated from time to time by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners;

(2) Captive insurers shall mean insurance companies owned by another organization the exclusive purpose of which is to insure risks of the parent organization and affiliated companies or, in the case of groups and associations, insurance organizations owned by the insureds the exclusive purpose of which is to insure risks to member organizations or group members and their affiliates;

(3) Control or controlled shall have the same meaning as in section 44-2121;

(4) Controlled insurer shall mean an insurer which is controlled, directly or indirectly, by a producer;

(5) Controlling producer shall mean a producer which, directly or indirectly, controls an insurer;

(6) Director shall mean the Director of Insurance;

(7) Insurer shall mean any person, firm, association, or corporation holding a certificate of authority to transact property and casualty insurance business in this state. Insurer shall not include:

(a) Residual market pools and joint underwriting authorities or associations; and

(b) Captive insurers other than risk retention groups as defined in 15 U.S.C. 3901 et seq. and 42 U.S.C. 9671, as such sections existed on January 1, 2014; and

(8) Producer shall mean an insurance broker or any other person, firm, association, or corporation when, for any compensation, commission, or other thing of value, such person, firm, association, or corporation acts or aids in any manner in soliciting, negotiating, or procuring the making of any insurance contract on behalf of an insured other than the person, firm, association, or corporation.

44-5704 Applicability of section; exception; controlled insurer; controlling producer; requirements; audit committee; filings required; report.

(1) The provisions of this section shall apply if, in any calendar year, the aggregate amount of gross written premium on business placed with a controlled insurer by a controlling producer is equal to or greater than five percent of the admitted assets of the controlled insurer, as reported in the controlled insurer's annual statement as of December 31 of the prior year, except that the provisions of this section shall not apply if:

(a) The controlling producer:

(i) Places insurance only with the controlled insurer or only with the controlled insurer and a member or members of the controlled insurer's holding company system or the controlled insurer's parent, affiliate, or subsidiary and receives no compensation based upon the amount of premiums written in connection with such insurance; and

(ii) Accepts insurance placements only from nonaffiliated subproducers and not directly from insureds; and

(b) The controlled insurer, except for insurance business written through a residual market facility, accepts insurance business only from a controlling producer, a producer controlled by the controlled insurer, or a producer that is a subsidiary of the controlled insurer.

(2) A controlled insurer shall not accept business from a controlling producer and a controlling producer shall not place business with a controlled insurer unless there is a written contract between the controlling producer and the controlled insurer specifying the responsibilities of each party, which contract has been approved by the board of directors of the controlled insurer and contains the following minimum provisions:

(a) The controlled insurer may terminate the contract for cause upon written notice to the controlling producer. The controlled insurer shall suspend the authority of the controlling producer to write business during the pendency of any dispute regarding the cause for the termination;

(b) The controlling producer shall render accounts to the controlled insurer detailing all material transactions, including information necessary to support all commissions, charges, and other fees received by or owing to the controlling producer;

(c) The controlling producer shall remit all funds due under the terms of the contract to the controlled insurer on at least a monthly basis. The due date shall be fixed so that premiums or installments thereof collected shall be remitted not later than ninety days after the effective date of any policy placed with the controlled insurer under the contract;

(d) All funds collected for the controlled insurer's account shall be held by the controlling producer in a fiduciary capacity, in one or more appropriately identified bank accounts in banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System, in accordance with Chapter 44, except that funds of a controlling producer not required to be licensed in this state shall be maintained in compliance with the requirements of the controlling producer's domiciliary jurisdiction;

(e) The controlling producer shall maintain separately identifiable records of business written for the controlled insurer;

(f) The contract shall not be assigned in whole or in part by the controlling producer;

(g) The controlled insurer shall provide the controlling producer with its underwriting standards, rules, procedures, manuals setting forth the rates to be charged, and conditions for the acceptance or rejection of risks. The controlling producer shall adhere to the standards, rules, procedures, rates, and conditions. The standards, rules, procedures, rates, and conditions shall be the same as those applicable to comparable business placed with the controlled insurer by a producer other than the controlling producer;

(h) The rates and terms of the controlling producer's commissions, charges, or other fees and the purposes for those commissions, charges, or fees. The rates of the commissions, charges, and other fees shall be no greater than those applicable to comparable business placed with the controlled insurer by a producer other than the controlling producer;

(i) If the contract provides that the controlling producer, on insurance business placed with the controlled insurer, is to be compensated contingent upon the controlled insurer's profits on that business, such compensation shall not be determined and paid until at least five years after the premiums on liability insurance are earned and at least one year after the premiums are earned on any other insurance. In no event shall the commissions be paid until the adequacy of the controlled insurer's reserves on remaining claims has been independently verified pursuant to subsection (4) of this section;

(j) A limit on the controlling producer's writings in relation to the controlled insurer's surplus and total writings. The controlled insurer may establish a different limit for each line or subline of business. The controlled insurer shall notify the controlling producer when the applicable limit is approached and shall not accept business from the controlling producer if the limit is reached. The controlling producer shall not place business with the controlled insurer if it has been notified by the controlled insurer that the limit has been reached; and

(k) The controlling producer may negotiate but shall not bind reinsurance on behalf of the controlled insurer on business the controlling producer places with the controlled insurer, except that the controlling producer may bind facultative reinsurance contracts pursuant to obligatory facultative agreements if the contract with the controlled insurer contains underwriting guidelines, including, for both reinsurance assumed and ceded, a list of reinsurers with which such automatic agreements are in effect, the coverages and amounts or percentages that may be reinsured, and commission schedules.

For purposes of this subsection, examples of comparable business include the same lines of insurance, same kinds of insurance, same kinds of risks, similar policy limits, and similar quality of business.

(3) Every controlled insurer shall have an audit committee of the board of directors composed of independent directors. The audit committee shall annually meet with management, the controlled insurer's independent certified public accountants, and an independent casualty actuary or other independent loss reserve specialist acceptable to the director to review the adequacy of the controlled insurer's loss reserves.

(4) In addition to any other required loss reserve certification, the controlled insurer shall annually, on April 1 of each year, file with the director an opinion of an independent casualty actuary or such other independent loss reserve specialist acceptable to the director reporting loss ratios for each line of business written and attesting to the adequacy of loss reserves established for losses incurred and outstanding as of year end, including losses incurred but not reported and loss adjustment expenses, on business placed by the controlling producer. The controlled insurer shall annually report to the director the amount of commissions paid to the controlling producer, the percentage such amount represents of the net premiums written, and comparable amounts and percentages paid to noncontrolling producers for placements of the same kinds of insurance.

44-5705 Notice to prospective insured; exception.

The controlling producer, prior to the effective date of the policy, shall deliver written notice to the prospective insured disclosing the relationship between the controlling producer and the controlled insurer, except that if the business is placed through a subproducer who is not a controlling producer, the controlling producer shall retain in his or her records a signed commitment from the subproducer that the subproducer is aware of the relationship between the controlled insurer and the controlling producer and that the subproducer has or will notify the insured.

(1) If the director believes that the controlling producer or any other person has not materially complied with the Producer-Controlled Property and Casualty Insurer Act or any rule or regulation or order after notice and opportunity to be heard, the director may order the controlling producer to cease placing business with the controlled insurer. If it is found that because of such material noncompliance that the controlled insurer or any policyholder has suffered any loss or damage, the director may maintain a civil action or intervene in an action brought by or on behalf of the controlled insurer or policyholder for recovery of compensatory damages for the benefit of the controlled insurer or policyholder or other appropriate relief.

(2) If an order for liquidation or rehabilitation of the controlled insurer has been entered pursuant to the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act and the receiver appointed under the order believes that the controlling producer or any other person has not materially complied with the Producer-Controlled Property and Casualty Insurer Act or any rule or regulation or order and the controlled insurer suffered any loss or damage therefrom, the receiver may maintain a civil action for recovery of damages or other appropriate sanctions for the benefit of the controlled insurer.

(3) This section shall not affect the right of the director to impose any other penalties provided for in Chapter 44.

(4) This section is not intended to and shall not in any manner alter or affect the rights of policyholders, claimants, creditors, or other third parties.

THIRD-PARTY ADMINISTRATORS

Section

44-5801 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-5801 to 44-5816 shall be known and may be cited as the Third-Party Administrator Act.

Source: Laws 1992, LB 1006, § 76.

44-5802 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Third-Party Administrator Act:

(1) Affiliate or affiliated shall mean any entity or person who, directly or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with a specified entity or person;

(2) Control shall have the same meaning as in section 44-2121;

(3) Director shall mean the Director of Insurance;

(4) Insurance or insurance coverage shall mean any coverage offered or provided by an insurer;

(5) Insurer shall mean any person undertaking to provide life insurance, sickness and accident insurance, workers' compensation insurance coverage, or annuities in this state. Insurer shall include an authorized insurance company, a prepaid hospital or medical care plan, a health maintenance organization, or any other person providing a plan of insurance subject to state insurance regulation. Insurer shall include an employer who is approved by the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court as a self-insurer. Insurer shall not include a bona fide employee benefit plan established by an employer or an employee organization, or both, for which the insurance laws of this state are preempted pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as the act existed on September 1, 2001;

(6) Third-party administrator shall mean a person who directly or indirectly solicits or effects coverage of, underwrites, collects charges or premiums from, or adjusts or settles claims on residents of this state or residents of another state from offices in this state, in connection with life insurance, sickness and accident insurance, workers' compensation insurance coverage, or annuities, except any of the following:

(a) An employer on behalf of its employees or the employees of one or more subsidiaries or affiliated corporations of such employer;

(b) A union on behalf of its members;

(c) An insurer which is authorized to transact the business of insurance in this state with respect to a policy lawfully issued and delivered in and pursuant to the laws of this state or another state;

(d) An insurance producer licensed to sell life insurance, sickness and accident insurance, workers' compensation insurance coverage, or annuities in this state whose activities are limited exclusively to the sale of insurance;

(e) A creditor on behalf of its debtors with respect to insurance covering a debt between the creditor and its debtors;

(f) A trust and its trustees, agents, and employees acting pursuant to such trust established in conformity with 29 U.S.C. 186, as such section existed on September 1, 2001;

(g) A trust exempt from taxation under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code as defined in section 49-801.01, its trustees and employees acting pursuant to such trust, or a custodian and the custodian's agents or employees acting pursuant to a custodian account which meets the requirements of section 401(f) of the Internal Revenue Code as defined in section 49-801.01;

(h) A credit union or a financial institution which is subject to supervision or examination by federal or state banking authorities or a mortgage lender, to the extent it collects and remits premiums to licensed insurance agents or authorized insurers in connection with loan payments;

(i) A credit card issuing company which advances for and collects premiums or charges from its credit card holders who have authorized collection if the company does not adjust or settle claims;

(j) A person who adjusts or settles claims in the normal course of that person's practice or employment as an attorney at law and who does not collect charges or premiums in connection with life insurance, sickness and accident insurance, workers' compensation insurance coverage, or annuities;

(k) A person who acts solely as a third-party administrator of one or more bona fide employee benefit plans established by an employer or an employee organization, or both, for which the insurance laws of this state are preempted pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as the act existed on September 1, 2001; or

(l) A person licensed as a managing general agent in this state whose activities are limited exclusively to the scope of activities allowed under such license; and

(7) Underwrite or underwriting shall include, but not be limited to, the acceptance of employer or individual applications for insurance coverage of individuals in accordance with the written rules of the insurer, the overall planning and coordinating of an insurance program, and the ability to procure bonds and excess insurance.

44-5803 Third-party administrator; written agreement; requirements; suspension during dispute.

(1) No third-party administrator shall act as such without a written agreement between the third-party administrator and the insurer, and such written agreement shall be retained as part of the official records of both the insurer and the third-party administrator for the duration of the agreement and for five years thereafter. The agreement shall contain all provisions required by the Third-Party Administrator Act except insofar as those provisions do not apply to the functions performed by the third-party administrator.

(2) The written agreement shall include a statement of duties which the third-party administrator is expected to perform on behalf of the insurer and the lines, classes, or types of insurance for which the third-party administrator is to be authorized to administer. The written agreement shall make provision with respect to underwriting or other standards pertaining to the insurance business underwritten by such insurer.

(3) The insurer or third-party administrator may, with written notice, terminate the written agreement for cause as provided in the written agreement. The insurer may suspend the underwriting authority of the third-party administrator during the pendency of any dispute regarding the cause for termination of the written agreement. The insurer shall fulfill any lawful obligations with respect to policies affected by the written agreement, regardless of any dispute between the insurer and the third-party administrator.

44-5804 Payments to third-party administrator; how construed.

If an insurer utilizes the services of a third-party administrator, the payment to the third-party administrator of any charges and premiums by or on behalf of any policyholder, contract holder, certificate holder, or subscriber shall be deemed to have been received by the insurer, and the payment of return of premiums or claim payments forwarded by the insurer to the third-party administrator shall not be deemed to have been paid to the policyholder, contract holder, certificate holder, subscriber, or claimant until the payment is received by the policyholder, contract holder, certificate holder, subscriber, or claimant. Nothing in this section shall limit any right of the insurer against the third-party administrator resulting from the failure of the third-party administrator to make payments to the insurer, policyholders, contract holders, certificate holders, subscribers, or claimants.

44-5805 Transaction records; requirements; access by director; ownership.

(1) Every third-party administrator shall maintain and make available to the insurer complete records of all transactions performed on behalf of the insurer. The records shall be maintained in accordance with prudent standards of insurance record keeping and shall be maintained for a period of not less than five years from the date of their creation. In the event the insurer and the third-party administrator cancel their written agreement, the third-party administrator may, by written agreement with the insurer, transfer all records to a new third-party administrator rather than retain them for five years. In such cases, the new third-party administrator shall acknowledge, in writing, that it is responsible for retaining the records of the prior third-party administrator as required in this subsection.

(2)(a) The director shall have access to records maintained by a third-party administrator for the purposes of examination, audit, and inspection. Any trade secrets contained in such records, including the identity and addresses of policyholders, contract holders, certificate holders, and subscribers, shall be kept confidential, except that the director may use such information in any proceeding instituted against the third-party administrator and as set forth in subdivisions (2)(b) and (c) of this section.

(b) Records relating to a third-party administrator maintained by the director may be provided to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the records.

(c) The director may receive records maintained by a third-party administrator from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged records received pursuant to this subdivision with notice or the understanding that they are confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subdivision, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subdivision as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

(3) The insurer shall own the records generated by the third-party administrator pertaining to the insurer; however, the third-party administrator shall retain the right to continuing access to records to permit the third-party administrator to fulfill all of its contractual obligations to policyholders, contract holders, certificate holders, subscribers, claimants, and the insurer.

44-5806 Approved advertising.

A third-party administrator shall use only such advertising pertaining to the insurance business underwritten by an insurer as has been approved in writing by the insurer in advance of its use.

Source: Laws 1992, LB 1006, § 81.

44-5807 Insurer; third-party administrator; responsibilities.

(1) If an insurer utilizes the services of a third-party administrator, the insurer shall be responsible for determining the benefits, premium rates, underwriting criteria, and claims-payment procedures and for securing reinsurance, if any. The rules pertaining to these matters shall be provided, in writing, by the insurer to the third-party administrator. The responsibilities of the third-party administrator as to any of these matters shall be set forth in the written agreement between the third-party administrator and the insurer.

(2) It shall be the sole responsibility of the insurer to provide for competent administration of its programs.

(3) In cases when a third-party administrator administers benefits for more than one hundred certificate holders or subscribers on behalf of an insurer, the insurer shall, at least semiannually, conduct a review of the operations of the third-party administrator. At least one such review shall be an onsite audit of the operations of the third-party administrator.

44-5808 Funds collected; held in fiduciary capacity; accounting.

(1) All charges and premiums collected by a third-party administrator on behalf of or for an insurer or insurers and the return of premiums received from that insurer or insurers shall be held by the third-party administrator in a fiduciary capacity. Such funds shall be immediately remitted to the person or persons entitled to them or shall be deposited promptly in a fiduciary account established and maintained by the third-party administrator in a federally insured or state-insured financial institution. The written agreement between the third-party administrator and the insurer shall provide for the third-party administrator to periodically render an accounting to the insurer detailing all transactions performed by the third-party administrator pertaining to the insurance business underwritten by the insurer.

(2) If charges and premiums deposited in a fiduciary account have been collected on behalf of or for one or more insurers, the third-party administrator shall keep records clearly recording the deposits in and withdrawals from the fiduciary account on behalf of each insurer. The third-party administrator shall keep copies of all the records pertaining to such deposits and withdrawals and, upon request of an insurer, shall furnish the insurer with copies of the records.

(3) The third-party administrator shall not pay any claim by withdrawals from a fiduciary account in which charges and premiums are deposited. Withdrawals from such account shall be made as provided in the written agreement between the third-party administrator and the insurer. The written agreement shall address, but not be limited to, the following:

(a) Remittance to an insurer entitled to remittance;

(b) Deposit in an account maintained in the name of the insurer;

(c) Transfer to and deposit in a claims-paying account, with claims to be paid as provided for in subsection (4) of this section;

(d) Payment to a group policyholder or group contract holder for remittance to the insurer entitled to such remittance;

(e) Payment to the third-party administrator of its commissions, fees, or charges; and

(f) Remittance of return of premium to the person or persons entitled to such return of premium.

(4) All claims paid by the third-party administrator from funds collected on behalf of or for an insurer shall be paid only on drafts or checks of and as authorized by the insurer.

44-5809 Certain contingency agreements prohibited; exceptions.

A third-party administrator shall not enter into any agreement or understanding with an insurer in which the effect is to make the amount of the third-party administrator's commissions, fees, or charges contingent upon savings effected in the adjustment, settlement, and payment of losses covered by the insurer's obligations. This section shall not prohibit a third-party administrator from receiving performance-based compensation for providing hospital or other auditing services. This section shall not prohibit a third-party administrator from receiving compensation based on premiums or charges collected or the number of claims paid or processed.

44-5810 Notice to certificate holder or subscribers; identification and disclosure of collections.

(1) If an insurer utilizes the services of a third-party administrator, the third-party administrator shall provide a written notice approved by the insurer to certificate holders or subscribers advising them of the identity of and relationship among the third-party administrator, the policyholder or contract holder, and the insurer.

(2) When a third-party administrator collects charges, the reason for collection of each item shall be identified to the policyholder or contract holder and each item shall be shown separately from any premium. Additional charges shall not be made for services to the extent the services have been paid for by the insurer.

(3) The third-party administrator shall disclose to the insurer all charges, fees, and commissions received in connection with the providing of administrative services for the insurer, including any fees or commissions paid by insurers providing reinsurance.

44-5812 Certificate of authority; required; application; contents; fee; issuance; director; powers; term; exceptions.

(1) No person shall act as, offer to act as, or hold himself or herself out to be a third-party administrator in this state without a valid certificate of authority as a third-party administrator issued by the director.

(2) An applicant for a certificate of authority as a third-party administrator shall make application to the director upon a form to be furnished by the director. The application shall include or be accompanied by an application fee of two hundred dollars and by the following information and documents:

(a) All basic organizational documents of the applicant, including any articles of incorporation, articles of association, articles of organization, partnership agreement, trade name certificate, trust agreement, shareholder agreement, and other applicable documents and all amendments to such documents;

(b) The bylaws, rules, regulations, or similar documents regulating the internal affairs of the applicant;

(c) The names, addresses, official positions, and professional qualifications of the individuals who are responsible for the conduct of affairs of the applicant, including all members of the board of directors, board of trustees, executive committee, or other governing board or committee, the principal officers in the case of a corporation or the partners or members in the case of a partnership, limited liability company, or association, shareholders holding directly or indirectly ten percent or more of the voting securities of the applicant, and any other person who exercises control or influence over the affairs of the applicant;

(d) Annual financial statements or reports for the two most recent years which prove that the applicant is solvent and such information as the director may require in order to review the current financial condition of the applicant;

(e) A statement describing the business plan including information on staffing levels and activities proposed in this state and nationwide. The business plan shall provide details setting forth the applicant's capability for providing a sufficient number of experienced and qualified personnel in the areas of claims processing, record keeping, and underwriting;

(f) If the applicant will be managing the solicitation of new or renewal business, proof that it employs or has contracted with an agent licensed in this state for solicitation and taking of applications. Any applicant which intends to directly solicit insurance contracts or to otherwise act as an insurance agent shall provide proof that it has a license as an insurance agent in this state; and

(g) Such other pertinent information as may be required by the director.

(3) The applicant shall make available for inspection by the director copies of all written agreements with insurers and contracts with other persons utilizing the services of the applicant.

(4) The director may refuse to issue a certificate of authority as a third-party administrator if the director determines that the applicant or any individual responsible for the conduct of affairs of the applicant as described in subdivision (2)(c) of this section is not competent, trustworthy, financially responsible, or of good personal and business reputation or has had an insurance license or certificate of authority or a third-party administrator license or certificate of authority denied or revoked for cause by any state.

(5) A certificate of authority as a third-party administrator issued under this section shall remain valid, unless surrendered to or suspended or revoked by the director, for so long as the third-party administrator continues in business in this state and remains in compliance with the Third-Party Administrator Act.

(6) A third-party administrator shall not be required to hold a certificate of authority as a third-party administrator in this state if all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The third-party administrator has its principal place of business in another state;

(b) The third-party administrator is not soliciting business as a third-party administrator in this state; and

(c) In the case of any group policy, group contract, or plan of insurance serviced by the third-party administrator, the lesser of five percent or one hundred certificate holders or subscribers reside in this state.

(7) A person shall not be required to hold a certificate of authority as a third-party administrator in this state if the person exclusively provides services to one or more bona fide employee benefit plans each of which is established by an employer or an employee organization, or both, and for which the insurance laws of this state are preempted pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. Such person shall register with the director annually and verify his or her status as described in this section.

(8) A third-party administrator shall immediately notify the director of any material change in its ownership or control or other fact or circumstance affecting its qualification for a certificate of authority as a third-party administrator in this state.

44-5813 Application requirements; waiver; when.

Upon request from a third-party administrator, the director may waive the application requirements of subsection (2) of section 44-5812 if the third-party administrator has a valid certificate of authority as a third-party administrator issued in a state which has requirements for third-party administrators that are at least as stringent as those contained in the Third-Party Administrator Act.

Source: Laws 1992, LB 1006, § 88.

44-5814 Annual report; filing; contents; fee; failure to file; effect.

(1) Each third-party administrator shall file an annual report for the preceding calendar year with the director on or before March 1 of each year or within such extension of time therefor as the director for good cause may grant. The annual report shall be in the form and contain such matters as the director prescribes and shall be verified by at least two officers of the third-party administrator.

(2) The annual report shall include the complete names and addresses of all insurers with which the third-party administrator had a written agreement during the preceding fiscal year.

(3) At the time of filing its annual report, the third-party administrator shall pay to the director a filing fee of two hundred dollars.

(4)(a) Within seven business days after the failure of a third-party administrator to comply with the requirements of this section, the director shall notify the third-party administrator of such failure.

(b) Subject to subdivision (4)(c) of this section, if a third-party administrator fails to comply with the requirements of this section and any rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under this section and any orders issued under this section:

(i) Such third-party administrator shall pay a fine of fifty dollars for each day thereafter such failure continues and the third-party administrator continues to transact any business of insurance; and

(ii) In addition to the fine required under subdivision (4)(b)(i) of this section, the director may suspend the certificate of authority of the third-party administrator until it has complied with the requirements of this section, any rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under this section, and any orders issued under this section. The director shall remit all such fines to the State Treasurer for distribution in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

(c) For good and sufficient cause shown, the director may grant a reasonable extension of time not to exceed thirty days within which the annual report may be filed as required under this section without the fine required under subdivision (4)(b)(i) of this section and without any suspension authorized under subdivision (4)(b)(ii) of this section.

Effective date August 28, 2021.

44-5815 Certificate of authority; suspension or revocation; grounds; administrative penalty; authorized.

(1) The director shall suspend or revoke the certificate of authority as a third-party administrator if the director finds that the third-party administrator:

(a) Is in an unsound financial condition;

(b) Is using such methods or practices in the conduct of its business so as to render its further transaction of business in this state hazardous or injurious to certificate holders, subscribers, or the public; or

(c) Has failed to pay any judgment rendered against it in this state within sixty days after the judgment has become final.

(2) The director may, in his or her discretion, suspend or revoke the certificate of authority as a third-party administrator if the director finds that the third-party administrator:

(a) Has violated any lawful rule or regulation or order of the director or any provision of the insurance laws of this state;

(b) Has refused to be examined or to produce its accounts, records, and files for examination or if any of its officers has refused to give information with respect to its affairs or has refused to perform any other legal obligation as to such examination, when required by the director;

(c) Has, without just cause, refused to pay proper claims or perform services arising under its contracts or has, without just cause, caused certificate holders, subscribers, or claimants to accept less than the amount due them or caused certificate holders, subscribers, or claimants to retain attorneys or bring actions against the third-party administrator to secure full payment or settlement of such claims;

(d) Is affiliated with or under the same general management or interlocking directorate or ownership as another third-party administrator or insurer which unlawfully transacts business in this state without having a certificate of authority as a third-party administrator;

(e) At any time fails to meet any qualification for which issuance of the certificate of authority as a third-party administrator could have been refused had such failure then existed and been known to the director;

(f) Has been convicted of or has entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to a felony without regard to whether adjudication was withheld; or

(g) Is under suspension or revocation in another state.

(3) The director may, in his or her discretion and without advance notice or hearing thereon, immediately suspend the certificate of authority as a third-party administrator if the director finds that one or more of the following circumstances exist:

(a) The third-party administrator is insolvent or impaired;

(b) A proceeding for supervision, rehabilitation, conservation, receivership, or other delinquency proceeding regarding the third-party administrator has been commenced in any state; or

(c) The financial condition or business practices of the third-party administrator otherwise pose an imminent threat to the public health, safety, or welfare of the residents of this state.

(4) Except as provided in subsection (4) of section 44-5814, if the director finds that one or more grounds exist for the suspension or revocation of a certificate of authority as a third-party administrator, the director may, in lieu of such suspension or revocation and after notice and hearing, impose an administrative penalty upon the third-party administrator in an amount not less than one thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars.

ARTICLE 59
INSURERS EXAMINATION

Section
44-5901. Act, how cited.

Section

44-5901 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-5901 to 44-5910 shall be known and may be cited as the Insurers Examination Act.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 1.

44-5902 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Insurers Examination Act is to provide an effective and efficient system for examining the activities, operations, financial condition, and affairs of all persons transacting the business of insurance in this state and all persons otherwise subject to the jurisdiction of the director. The provisions of the act are intended to enable the director to adopt a flexible system of examinations which directs resources as may be deemed appropriate and necessary for the administration of the insurance and insurance-related laws of this state.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 2.

44-5903 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Insurers Examination Act:

(1) Company shall mean any person engaging in or proposing or attempting to engage in any transaction or kind of insurance or surety business and any person or group of persons who may otherwise be subject to the administrative, regulatory, or taxing authority of the director;

(2) Department shall mean the Department of Insurance;

(3) Director shall mean the Director of Insurance;

(4) Examiner shall mean any individual having been appointed by the director to conduct an examination under the act;

(5) Insurer shall mean any person authorized to transact the business of insurance, including any fraternal benefit society, reciprocal exchange, advisory organization, assessment association, unincorporated mutual association, hospital or physicians mutual insurance association, and professional association mutual insurance company; and

(6) Person shall mean any individual, aggregation of individuals, trust, association, partnership, limited liability company, or corporation or any affiliate thereof.

44-5904 Authority, scope, and scheduling of examinations.

(1) The director or any of his or her examiners may conduct an examination under the Insurers Examination Act of any company incorporated in this state or in any other state or country admitted to or applying for admission to transact business in this state as often as the director in his or her sole discretion deems appropriate but shall at a minimum conduct an examination of every domestic insurer not less frequently than once every five years. In scheduling and determining the nature, scope, and frequency of the examination of a company, the director shall consider such matters as the results of financial statement analyses and ratios, changes in the company's management or ownership, actuarial opinions, reports of independent certified public accountants, the company's ability to meet and fulfill its obligations, the company's compliance with provisions of law, other facts relating to the company's business methods, the company's management and its dealings with its policyholders, and other criteria as set forth in the Examiners' Handbook adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and in effect when the director conducts an examination under this section.

(2) For purposes of completing an examination of any company under the act, the director may examine or investigate any person, or the business of any person, insofar as such examination or investigation is, in the sole discretion of the director, necessary or material to the examination of the company.

44-5905 Conduct of examinations; record retention requirements.

(1) Upon determining that an examination should be conducted, the director or his or her designee shall appoint one or more examiners to conduct the examination and instruct them as to the scope of the examination. In conducting the examination, the examiner shall observe those guidelines and procedures set forth in the Examiners' Handbook adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. The director may also employ such other guidelines or procedures as the director may deem appropriate.

(2)(a) Every company or person from whom information is sought and its officers, directors, employees, and agents shall provide to the examiners appointed under subsection (1) of this section timely, convenient, and free access to all books, records, accounts, papers, documents, and computer or other recordings relating to the property, assets, business, and affairs of the company being examined.

(b)(i)(A) Every company or person subject to the Insurers Examination Act shall retain all books, records, accounts, papers, documents, and computer or other recordings relating to the property, assets, financial accounts, and business of such company or person in a manner that permits examination of such books, records, accounts, papers, documents, and computer or other recordings for five years, or until the period of time in which the transaction took place has undergone a financial examination by the director, whichever is later, following the completion of a transaction relating to the property, assets, financial accounts, and business of such company or person.

(B) Every company or person subject to the act shall retain market conduct records for five years following the completion of a transaction relating to the insurance business and affairs of such company or person. For purposes of this subdivision, market conduct records means all books, records, accounts, papers, documents, and computer or other recordings relating to transactions with insureds, certificate holders, claimants, insurance producers, other insurers, subrogees, and subrogors and recordings related to its trade practices, underwriting, rate and form practices, advertising, regulatory matters, and other affairs of such company or person.

(ii) The books, records, accounts, papers, documents, and computer or other recordings described in subdivisions (2)(b)(i)(A) and (B) of this section and maintained in electronic, computer, micrographic, or other form shall be maintained in a form capable of accurate duplication on paper.

(c) The officers, directors, employees, and agents of the company or person shall facilitate the examination and aid in the examination so far as it is in their power to do so. The refusal of any company, by its officers, directors, employees, or agents, to submit to examination or to comply with any reasonable written request of the examiners shall be grounds for suspension or refusal of or nonrenewal of any license or authority held by the company to engage in an insurance or other business subject to the director's jurisdiction. Any such proceedings for suspension, revocation, or refusal of any license or authority shall be conducted pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act.

(d) For purposes of this subsection, officers, directors, employees, and agents shall include general agents, managing agents, attorneys in fact, organizers, promoters, loss adjusters, and any persons having a contract, written or oral, pertaining to the management or control of a company or any function thereof.

(3) The director or any of his or her examiners shall have the power to issue subpoenas, to administer oaths, and to examine under oath any person as to any matter pertinent to the examination. Upon the failure or refusal of any person to obey a subpoena, the director may petition a court of competent jurisdiction, and upon proper showing, the court may enter an order compelling the witness to appear and testify or produce documentary evidence. Failure to obey the court order shall be punishable as contempt of court. Every person shall be obliged to attend as a witness at the place specified in the subpoena, when subpoenaed, anywhere within the state. He or she shall be entitled to the same fees and mileage, if claimed, as a witness in the district court with mileage to be computed at the rate provided in section 81-1176, which fees, mileage, and actual expense, if any, necessarily incurred in securing the attendance of witnesses, and their testimony, shall be itemized and charged against, and be paid by, the company being examined.

(4) When conducting an examination under the Insurers Examination Act, the director may retain attorneys, appraisers, independent actuaries, independent certified public accountants, loss-reserve specialists, or other professionals and specialists, the cost of which shall be borne by the company which is the subject of the examination.

(5) Nothing in the act shall be construed to limit the director's authority to terminate or suspend any examination in order to pursue other legal or regulatory action pursuant to the insurance laws of this state. Findings of fact and conclusions made pursuant to any examination shall be prima facie evidence in any legal or regulatory action.

(6) Nothing contained in the act shall be construed to limit the director's authority to use and, if appropriate, to make public any final or preliminary examination report, any examiner or company workpapers or other documents, or any other information discovered or developed during the course of any examination in the furtherance of any legal or regulatory action which the director may, in his or her sole discretion, deem appropriate.

44-5906 Examination reports.

(1) All examination reports shall be comprised of only facts appearing upon the books, records, or other documents of the company and its agents or other persons examined or as ascertained from the testimony of its officers or agents or other persons examined concerning its affairs and such conclusions and recommendations as the examiners find reasonably warranted from the facts.

(2) No later than forty-five days following completion of the examination, the examiner in charge shall submit to the department a verified written report of examination under oath. Upon receipt of the verified report, the department shall transmit the report to the company examined, together with a notice which shall afford the company examined a reasonable opportunity of not more than thirty days to make a written submission or rebuttal with respect to any matters contained in the examination report.

(3) Within thirty days of the end of the period allowed for the receipt of written submissions or rebuttals, the director shall fully consider and review the report, together with any written submissions or rebuttals and any relevant portions of the examiner's workpapers, and shall:

(a) Adopt the examination report as submitted or with modification or corrections. If the examination report reveals that the company is operating in violation of any law, rule, regulation, or prior order of the director, the director may order the company to take any action the director considers necessary and appropriate to cure such violation; or

(b) Reject the examination report with directions to the examiners to reopen the examination for purposes of obtaining additional data, documentation, or information and to resubmit a report pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.

(4) Any company aggrieved by any action of the director pursuant to subsection (3) of this section may, within ten days of such action, make written request to the director for a hearing. Upon receipt of the company's request for a hearing, the director shall provide notice of the hearing no less than ten nor more than thirty days after the date of the company's request. The notice shall identify the subject of the hearing and the specific issues.

(5) Any hearing on an examination report shall be held at such time and place as designated in the notice. A hearing may be adjourned from time to time without other or further notice than the announcement thereof at such hearing. The director shall not appoint an examiner to conduct the hearing. The hearing officer shall have power to administer oaths, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and receive documentary evidence. A full stenographic record may be made at the hearing of all testimony of witnesses and rulings by the hearing officer. Upon written request, a copy of the transcript of such record, if any, shall be furnished to the company at its expense. Any witness or party affected by the hearing shall be permitted to review a transcript of the record at the office of the department. Every person affected shall be allowed to be present and represented by counsel during the giving of all the testimony and shall be allowed a reasonable opportunity to inspect all adverse documentary proof, to examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to present proof in support of his or her interest. Nothing contained in this section shall require the observance at any such hearing of formal rules of pleading or evidence. Within twenty days of the conclusion of the hearing, the director shall enter an order, which may be appealed. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(6) The examination report, with any modifications and corrections thereof, shall be accepted by the director and filed for public inspection immediately after the expiration of the times specified in subsection (4) of this section in the event that the company has not requested a hearing. Within thirty days of the filing of such report for public inspection, the company shall file affidavits executed by each of its directors stating under oath that they have received a copy of the report and related orders.

(7) Nothing in the Insurers Examination Act shall prevent or be construed as prohibiting the director from disclosing the contents of an examination report, a preliminary examination report, or any results, or any matter relating thereto, to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries and to state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information.

(8)(a) Except as set forth in subsection (7) of this section and in this subsection, workpapers, recorded information, documents, and copies of workpapers, recorded information, and documents produced by, obtained by, or disclosed to the director or any other person, including the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, in the course of an examination conducted under the act shall be given confidential treatment and shall not be subject to subpoena and may not be made public by the director or any other person, except to the extent provided in subsection (7) of this section, and shall not be public records subject to disclosure pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09. Such workpapers, recorded information, documents, and copies may be provided to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies, and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the workpapers, recorded information, documents, and copies.

(b) The director may receive such workpapers, recorded information, documents, and copies from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged information received pursuant to this subdivision if received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subdivision, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subdivision as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

44-5907 Conflict of interest.

(1) No examiner may be appointed by the director if such examiner, either directly or indirectly, has a conflict of interest or is affiliated with the management of or owns a pecuniary interest in any company subject to examination under the Insurers Examination Act. This section shall not be construed to automatically preclude an examiner from being:

(a) A policyholder or claimant under an insurance policy;

(b) A grantor of a mortgage or similar instrument on the examiner's residence to a regulated entity if done under customary terms and in the ordinary course of business;

(c) An investment owner in shares of regulated diversified investment companies; or

(d) A settlor or beneficiary of a blind trust into which any otherwise impermissible holdings have been placed.

(2) Notwithstanding the requirements of this section, the director may retain from time to time, on an individual basis, qualified actuaries, certified public accountants, or other similar individuals who are independently practicing their professions even though the individuals may from time to time be similarly employed or retained by persons subject to examination under the act.

44-5909 Immunity from liability.

(1) No cause of action shall arise nor shall any liability be imposed against the director, his or her authorized representatives, or any examiner appointed by the director for any statements made or conduct performed in good faith while carrying out the provisions of the Insurers Examination Act.

(2) No cause of action shall arise, nor shall any liability be imposed against any person, for the act of communicating or delivering information or data to the director or his or her authorized representative or examiner pursuant to an examination made under the Insurers Examination Act if such act of communication or delivery was performed in good faith and without fraudulent intent or the intent to deceive.

(3) This section does not abrogate or modify in any way any common-law or statutory privilege or immunity otherwise enjoyed by any person identified in subsection (1) of this section.

(4) A person identified in subsection (1) of this section shall be entitled to an award of attorney's fees and costs if he or she is the prevailing party in a civil cause of action for libel, slander, or any other relevant tort arising out of activities in carrying out the provisions of the act and the party bringing the action was not substantially justified in doing so. For purposes of this section, a proceeding shall be substantially justified if it had a reasonable basis in law or fact at the time that it was initiated.

44-6012 Risk-based capital plan, defined.

Risk-based capital plan means a comprehensive financial plan containing the elements specified in subsection (2) of section 44-6016. If the director rejects a plan and it is revised by the insurer or health organization, with or without the director's recommendation, the plan shall be called the revised risk-based capital plan.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 24; Laws 1999, LB 258, § 17.

44-6013 Risk-based capital report, defined.

Risk-based capital report means the report required in section 44-6015.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 25; Laws 1999, LB 258, § 18.

44-6014 Total adjusted capital, defined.

Total adjusted capital means the sum of:

(1) An insurer's or a health organization's statutory capital and surplus as determined in accordance with the statutory accounting applicable to the annual financial statements required to be filed under sections 44-322, 44-32,134, 44-3823, and 44-4720; and

(2) Such other items, if any, as the risk-based capital instructions may provide.

44-6015 Risk-based capital reports.

(1) Every domestic insurer or domestic health organization shall annually, on or prior to March 1, referred to in this section as the filing date, prepare and submit to the director a risk-based capital report of its risk-based capital levels as of the end of the calendar year just ended, in a form and containing such information as is required by the risk-based capital instructions. In addition, every domestic insurer or domestic health organization shall file its risk-based capital report:

(a) With the National Association of Insurance Commissioners in accordance with the risk-based capital instructions; and

(b) With the insurance commissioner in any state in which the insurer or health organization is authorized to do business if such insurance commissioner has notified the insurer or health organization of its request in writing, in which case the insurer or health organization shall file its risk-based capital report not later than the later of:

(i) Fifteen days after the receipt of notice to file its risk-based capital report with such state; or

(ii) The filing date.

(2) A life and health insurer's or a fraternal benefit society's risk-based capital shall be determined in accordance with the formula set forth in the risk-based capital instructions. The formula shall take into account and may adjust for the covariance between:

(a) The risk with respect to the insurer's assets;

(b) The risk of adverse insurance experience with respect to the insurer's liabilities and obligations;

(c) The interest rate risk with respect to the insurer's business; and

(d) All other business risks and such other relevant risks as are set forth in the risk-based capital instructions.

Such risks shall be determined in each case by applying the factors in the manner set forth in the risk-based capital instructions.

(3) A property and casualty insurer's risk-based capital shall be determined in accordance with the formula set forth in the risk-based capital instructions. The formula shall take into account and may adjust for the covariance between:

(a) Asset risk;

(b) Credit risk;

(c) Underwriting risk; and

(d) All other business risks and such other relevant risks as are set forth in the risk-based capital instructions.

Such risks shall be determined in each case by applying the factors in the manner set forth in the risk-based capital instructions.

(4) A health organization's risk-based capital shall be determined in accordance with the formula set forth in the risk-based capital instructions. The formula shall take into account and may adjust for the covariance between:

(a) Asset risk;

(b) Credit risk;

(c) Underwriting risk; and

(d) All other business risks and such other relevant risks as are set forth in the risk-based capital instructions.

Such risks shall be determined in each case by applying the factors in the manner set forth in the risk-based capital instructions.

(5) An excess of capital over the amount produced by the risk-based capital requirements contained in the Insurers and Health Organizations Risk-Based Capital Act and the formulas, schedules, and instructions referenced in the act is desirable in the business of insurance. Accordingly, insurers and health organizations should seek to maintain capital above the risk-based capital levels required by the act. Additional capital is used and useful in the insurance business and helps to secure an insurer or a health organization against various risks inherent in, or affecting, the business of insurance and not accounted for or only partially measured by the risk-based capital requirements contained in the act.

(6) If a domestic insurer or a domestic health organization files a risk-based capital report which in the judgment of the director is inaccurate, the director shall adjust the risk-based capital report to correct the inaccuracy and shall notify the insurer or health organization of the adjustment. The notice shall contain a statement of the reason for the adjustment.

44-6016 Company action level event.

(1) Company action level event means any of the following events:

(a) The filing of a risk-based capital report by an insurer or a health organization which indicates that:

(i) The insurer's or health organization's total adjusted capital is greater than or equal to its regulatory action level risk-based capital but less than its company action level risk-based capital;

(ii) If a life and health insurer or a fraternal benefit society, the insurer or society has total adjusted capital which is greater than or equal to its company action level risk-based capital but less than the product of its authorized control level risk-based capital and 3.0 and has a negative trend;

(iii) If a property and casualty insurer, the insurer has total adjusted capital which is greater than or equal to its company action level risk-based capital but less than the product of its authorized control level risk-based capital and 3.0 and triggers the trend test determined in accordance with the trend test calculation included in the property and casualty risk-based capital instructions; or

(iv) If a health organization has total adjusted capital which is greater than or equal to its company action level risk-based capital but less than the product of its authorized control level risk-based capital and 3.0 and triggers the trend test determined in accordance with the trend test calculation included in the health risk-based capital instructions;

(b) The notification by the director to the insurer or health organization of an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates an event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section unless the insurer or health organization challenges the adjusted risk-based capital report under section 44-6020; or

(c) If, pursuant to section 44-6020, the insurer or health organization challenges an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates an event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section, the notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge.

(2) In the event of a company action level event, the insurer or health organization shall prepare and submit to the director a risk-based capital plan which shall:

(a) Identify the conditions which contribute to the company action level event;

(b) Contain proposals of corrective actions which the insurer or health organization intends to take and would be expected to result in the elimination of the company action level event;

(c) Provide projections of the insurer's or health organization's financial results in the current year and at least the four succeeding years in the case of an insurer or at least the two succeeding years in the case of a health organization, both in the absence of proposed corrective actions and giving effect to the proposed corrective actions, including projections of statutory balance sheets, operating income, net income, capital and surplus, and risk-based capital levels. The projections for both new and renewal business may include separate projections for each major line of business and separately identify each significant income, expense, and benefit component;

(d) Identify the key assumptions impacting the insurer's or health organization's projections and the sensitivity of the projections to the assumptions; and

(e) Identify the quality of, and problems associated with, the insurer's or health organization's business, including, but not limited to, its assets, anticipated business growth and associated surplus strain, extraordinary exposure to risk, and mix of business and use of reinsurance, if any, in each case.

(3) The risk-based capital plan shall be submitted:

(a) Within forty-five days after the occurrence of the company action level event; or

(b) If the insurer or health organization challenges an adjusted risk-based capital report pursuant to section 44-6020, within forty-five days after the notification to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge.

(4) Within sixty days after the submission by an insurer or a health organization of a risk-based capital plan to the director, the director shall notify the insurer or health organization whether the risk-based capital plan shall be implemented or is, in the judgment of the director, unsatisfactory. If the director determines that the risk-based capital plan is unsatisfactory, the notification to the insurer or health organization shall set forth the reasons for the determination and may set forth proposed revisions which will render the risk-based capital plan satisfactory in the judgment of the director. Upon notification from the director, the insurer or health organization shall prepare a revised risk-based capital plan which may incorporate by reference any revisions proposed by the director. The insurer or health organization shall submit the revised risk-based capital plan to the director:

(a) Within forty-five days after the notification from the director; or

(b) If the insurer or health organization challenges the notification from the director under section 44-6020, within forty-five days after a notification to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge.

(5) In the event of a notification by the director to an insurer or a health organization that the insurer's or health organization's risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan is unsatisfactory, the director may, at the director's discretion and subject to the insurer's or health organization's right to a hearing under section 44-6020, specify in the notification that the notification constitutes a regulatory action level event.

(6) Every domestic insurer or domestic health organization that files a risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan with the director shall file a copy of the risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan with the insurance commissioner of any state in which the insurer or health organization is authorized to do business if:

(a) Such state has a law substantially similar to subsection (1) of section 44-6021; and

(b) The insurance commissioner of such state has notified the insurer or health organization of its request for the filing in writing, in which case the insurer or health organization shall file a copy of the risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan in such state no later than the later of:

(i) Fifteen days after the receipt of notice to file a copy of its risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan with the state; or

(ii) The date on which the risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan is filed under subsection (3) or (4) of this section.

44-6017 Regulatory action level event.

(1) Regulatory action level event means any of the following events:

(a) The filing of a risk-based capital report by the insurer or health organization which indicates that the insurer's or health organization's total adjusted capital is greater than or equal to its authorized control level risk-based capital but less than its regulatory action level risk-based capital;

(b) The notification by the director to an insurer or a health organization of an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates the event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section unless the insurer or health organization challenges the adjusted risk-based capital report under section 44-6020;

(c) If, pursuant to section 44-6020, the insurer or health organization challenges an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates the event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section, the notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge;

(d) The failure of the insurer or health organization to file a risk-based capital report by the filing date prescribed in section 44-6015 unless the insurer or health organization has provided an explanation for such failure which is satisfactory to the director and has cured the failure within ten days after the filing date;

(e) The failure of the insurer or health organization to submit a risk-based capital plan to the director within the time period set forth in subsection (3) of section 44-6016;

(f) Notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that:

(i) The risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan submitted by the insurer or health organization is, in the judgment of the director, unsatisfactory; and

(ii) Such notification constitutes a regulatory action level event with respect to the insurer or health organization unless the insurer or health organization has challenged the determination under section 44-6020;

(g) If, pursuant to section 44-6020, the insurer or health organization challenges a determination by the director under subdivision (1)(f) of this section, the notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected such challenge;

(h) Notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that the insurer or health organization has failed to adhere to its risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan, but only if such failure has a substantial adverse effect on the ability of the insurer or health organization to eliminate the company action level event in accordance with its risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan and the director has so stated in the notification unless the insurer or health organization has challenged the determination under section 44-6020; or

(i) If, pursuant to section 44-6020, the insurer or health organization challenges a determination by the director under subdivision (1)(h) of this section, the notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the challenge.

(2) In the event of a regulatory action level event, the director shall:

(a) Require the insurer or health organization to prepare and submit a risk-based capital plan or, if applicable, a revised risk-based capital plan;

(b) Perform such examination or analysis as the director deems necessary of the assets, liabilities, and operations of the insurer or health organization including a review of its risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan; and

(c) Subsequent to the examination or analysis, issue a corrective order.

(3) In determining corrective actions, the director may take into account such factors as are deemed relevant with respect to the insurer or health organization based upon the director's examination or analysis of the assets, liabilities, and operations of the insurer or health organization, including, but not limited to, the results of any sensitivity tests undertaken pursuant to the risk-based capital instructions. The risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan shall be submitted:

(a) Within forty-five days after the occurrence of the regulatory action level event;

(b) If the insurer or health organization challenges an adjusted risk-based capital report pursuant to section 44-6020 and the challenge is not frivolous in the judgment of the director, within forty-five days after the notification to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge; or

(c) If the insurer or health organization challenges a revised risk-based capital plan pursuant to section 44-6020 and the challenge is not frivolous in the judgment of the director, within forty-five days after the notification to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge.

(4) The director may retain actuaries and investment experts and other consultants as may be necessary in the judgment of the director to review the insurer's or health organization's risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan, to examine or analyze the assets, liabilities, and operations, including contractual relationships in the case of a health organization, of the insurer or health organization, and to formulate the corrective order with respect to the insurer or health organization. The fees, costs, and expenses relating to consultants shall be borne by the affected insurer or health organization or such other party as directed by the director.

44-6018 Authorized control level event.

(1) Authorized control level event means any of the following events:

(a) The filing of a risk-based capital report by the insurer or health organization which indicates that the insurer's or health organization's total adjusted capital is greater than or equal to its mandatory control level risk-based capital but less than its authorized control level risk-based capital;

(b) The notification by the director to the insurer or health organization of an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates the event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section unless the insurer or health organization challenges the adjusted risk-based capital report under section 44-6020;

(c) If, pursuant to section 44-6020, the insurer or health organization challenges an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates the event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section, the notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge;

(d) The failure of the insurer or health organization to respond, in a manner satisfactory to the director, to a corrective order unless the insurer or health organization has challenged the corrective order under section 44-6020; or

(e) If the insurer or health organization has challenged a corrective order under section 44-6020 and the director has, after a hearing, rejected the challenge or modified the corrective order, the failure of the insurer or health organization to respond, in a manner satisfactory to the director, to the corrective order subsequent to rejection or modification by the director.

(2) In the event of an authorized control level event the director shall:

(a) Take such actions as are required under section 44-6017 regarding an insurer or a health organization with respect to which a regulatory action level event has occurred; or

(b) If the director deems it to be in the best interests of the policyholders and creditors of the insurer or health organization and of the public, take such actions as are necessary to cause the insurer or health organization to be placed under regulatory control under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act. In the event the director takes such actions, the authorized control level event shall be deemed sufficient grounds for the director to take action under the act, and the director shall have the rights, powers, and duties with respect to the insurer or health organization as are set forth in the act. In the event the director takes actions under this subdivision pursuant to an adjusted risk-based capital report, the insurer or health organization shall be entitled to such protections as are afforded to insurers or health organizations under the provisions of the act pertaining to summary proceedings.

44-6019 Mandatory control level event.

(1) Mandatory control level event means any of the following events:

(a) The filing of a risk-based capital report which indicates that the insurer's or health organization's total adjusted capital is less than its mandatory control level risk-based capital;

(b) The notification by the director to the insurer or health organization of an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates the event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section unless the insurer or health organization challenges the adjusted risk-based capital report under section 44-6020; or

(c) If, pursuant to section 44-6020, the insurer or health organization challenges an adjusted risk-based capital report that indicates the event described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section, the notification by the director to the insurer or health organization that the director has, after a hearing, rejected the insurer's or health organization's challenge.

(2) In the event of a mandatory control level event, the director shall take such actions as are necessary to place the insurer or health organization under regulatory control under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act or, in the case of a property and casualty insurer which is writing no business and which is running off its existing business, may allow the insurer to continue its run-off under the supervision of the director. In the event the director takes such actions, the mandatory control level event shall be deemed sufficient grounds for the director to take action under the act, and the director shall have the rights, powers, and duties with respect to the insurer or health organization as are set forth in the act. In the event the director takes actions under this subsection pursuant to an adjusted risk-based capital report, the insurer or health organization shall be entitled to such protections as are afforded to insurers or health organizations under the provisions of the act pertaining to summary proceedings. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, the director may forego action for up to ninety days after the mandatory control level event if he or she finds there is a reasonable expectation that the mandatory control level event may be eliminated within the ninety-day period.

44-6020 Hearings.

Upon any of the following notifications, the insurer or health organization shall have the right to a hearing pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act at which the insurer or health organization may challenge any determination or action by the director:

(1) Notification to an insurer or a health organization by the director of an adjusted risk-based capital report;

(2) Notification to an insurer or a health organization by the director that:

(a) The insurer's or health organization's risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan is unsatisfactory; and

(b) Such notification constitutes a regulatory action level event with respect to such insurer or health organization;

(3) Notification to an insurer or a health organization by the director that the insurer or health organization has failed to adhere to its risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan and that such failure has a substantial adverse effect on the ability of the insurer or health organization to eliminate the company action level event with respect to the insurer or health organization in accordance with its risk-based capital plan or revised risk-based capital plan; or

(4) Notification to an insurer or a health organization by the director of a corrective order with respect to the insurer or health organization.

The insurer or health organization shall notify the director of its request for a hearing within five days after the notification by the director. Upon receipt of the insurer's or health organization's request for a hearing, the director shall set a date for the hearing, which date shall be no less than ten nor more than thirty days after the date of the insurer's or health organization's request.

44-6021 Confidentiality and prohibition on announcements; prohibited uses.

(1)(a) All risk-based capital reports, to the extent the information in the reports is not required to be set forth in a publicly available annual statement schedule and risk-based capital plans, including the results or reports of any examination or analysis of an insurer or a health organization performed pursuant to the Insurers and Health Organizations Risk-Based Capital Act and any corrective order issued by the director pursuant to examination or analysis, with respect to any domestic insurer or domestic health organization or foreign insurer or foreign health organization which are filed with the director shall constitute information that might be damaging to the insurer or health organization if made available to its competitors and therefor shall be kept confidential by the director and shall not be public records subject to disclosure pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09. This information shall not be made public or be subject to subpoena other than by the director and then only for the purpose of enforcement actions taken by the director pursuant to the act or any other provision of the insurance laws of this state.

(b) Such risk-based capital reports, risk-based capital plans, and corrective orders may be provided to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information.

(c) The director may receive such risk-based capital reports, risk-based capital plans, and corrective orders from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged information received pursuant to this subdivision if received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subdivision, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subdivision as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

(2) It is the judgment of the Legislature that the comparison of an insurer's or a health organization's total adjusted capital to any of its risk-based capital levels is a regulatory tool which may indicate the need for possible corrective action with respect to the insurer or health organization and is not intended as a means to rank insurers or health organizations generally. Therefor, except as otherwise required under the Insurers and Health Organizations Risk-Based Capital Act, the making, publishing, disseminating, circulating, or placing before the public or the causing, directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, or placed before the public, in a newspaper, magazine, or other publication, or in the form of a notice, circular, pamphlet, letter, or poster, or over any radio or television station, or in any other way, an advertisement, announcement, or statement containing an assertion, representation, or statement with regard to the risk-based capital levels of any insurer or health organization or of any component derived in the calculation, by any insurer or health organization, agent, broker, or other person engaged in any manner in the insurance business would be misleading and is therefor prohibited. If any materially false statement with respect to the comparison regarding an insurer's or a health organization's total adjusted capital to any of its risk-based capital levels, or any of them, or an inappropriate comparison of any other amount to the insurers' or health organizations' risk-based capital levels is published in any written publication and the insurer or health organization is able to demonstrate to the director with substantial proof the falsity of such statement or the inappropriateness, as the case may be, the insurer or health organization may publish an announcement in a written publication if the sole purpose of the announcement is to rebut the materially false statement.

(3) It is the further judgment of the Legislature that the risk-based capital instructions, risk-based capital reports, adjusted risk-based capital reports, risk-based capital plans, and revised risk-based capital plans are intended solely for use by the director in monitoring the solvency of insurers and health organizations and the need for possible corrective action with respect to insurers and health organizations and shall not be used by the director for ratemaking nor considered or introduced as evidence in any rate proceeding nor used by the director to calculate or derive any elements of an appropriate premium level or rate of return for any line of insurance which an insurer or a health organization or any affiliate is authorized to write.

44-6022 Supplemental provisions.

(1) The provisions of the Insurers and Health Organizations Risk-Based Capital Act are supplemental to any other provisions of the laws of this state and shall not preclude or limit any other powers or duties of the director under such laws, including, but not limited to, the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act.

(2) The director may exempt from the application of the Insurers and Health Organizations Risk-Based Capital Act a domestic health organization which:

(a)(i) Writes direct business only in this state;

(ii) Assumes no reinsurance in excess of five percent of direct premium written; and

(iii) Writes direct annual premiums for comprehensive medical business of two million dollars or less; or

(b) Is a limited health service organization that covers fewer than two thousand lives.

44-6023 Foreign insurers or foreign health organization.

(1) Any foreign insurer or foreign health organization shall, upon the written request of the director, submit to the director a risk-based capital report as of the end of the calendar year just ended not later than the later of:

(a) The date a risk-based capital report would be required to be filed by a domestic insurer or domestic health organization under section 44-6015; or

(b) Fifteen days after the request is received by the foreign insurer or foreign health organization.

Any foreign insurer or foreign health organization shall, at the written request of the director, promptly submit to the director a copy of any risk-based capital plan that is filed with the insurance commissioner of any other state.

(2) In the event of a company action level event, a regulatory action level event, or an authorized control level event with respect to any foreign insurer or foreign health organization as determined under the risk-based capital law applicable in the state of domicile of the insurer or health organization or, if no risk-based capital law is in force in that state, under the Insurers and Health Organizations Risk-Based Capital Act, if the insurance commissioner of the state of domicile of the foreign insurer or foreign health organization fails to require the foreign insurer or foreign health organization to file a risk-based capital plan in the manner specified under the risk-based capital law applicable in the state of domicile of the insurer or health organization or, if no risk-based capital law is in force in the state of domicile of the insurer or health organization, under section 44-6016, the director may require the foreign insurer or foreign health organization to file a risk-based capital plan with the director. In such event, the failure of the foreign insurer or foreign health organization to file a risk-based capital plan with the director shall be grounds to order the insurer or health organization to cease and desist from writing new insurance business in this state.

(3) In the event of a mandatory control level event with respect to any foreign insurer or foreign health organization, if no domiciliary receiver has been appointed with respect to the foreign insurer or foreign health organization under the rehabilitation and liquidation law applicable in the state of domicile of the foreign insurer or foreign health organization, the director may make application to the district court of Lancaster County under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act with respect to the liquidation of property of foreign insurers or foreign health organizations found in this state, and the occurrence of the mandatory control level event shall be considered adequate grounds for the application.

44-6025 Phase-in provision.

For risk-based capital reports required to be filed by health organizations with respect to 1999 only, the following requirements shall apply in lieu of the provisions of sections 44-6016 to 44-6019:

(1) In the event of a company action level event with respect to a domestic health organization, the director shall take no regulatory action under the Insurers and Health Organizations Risk-Based Capital Act;

(2) In the event of a regulatory action level event under subdivisions (1)(a) through (c) of section 44-6017, the director shall take the actions required under section 44-6016;

(3) In the event of a regulatory action level event under subdivisions (1)(d) through (i) of section 44-6017 or an authorized control level event, the director shall take the actions required under section 44-6017 with respect to the health organization; and

(4) In the event of a mandatory control level event with respect to a health organization, the director shall take the actions required under section 44-6018 with respect to the health organization.

ARTICLE 61

DEMUTUALIZATION AND REORGANIZATION OF MUTUAL COMPANIES

(a) INSURERS DEMUTUALIZATION ACT

Section

(a) INSURERS DEMUTUALIZATION ACT

44-6101 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-6101 to 44-6121 shall be known and may be cited as the Insurers Demutualization Act.

44-6102 Legislative findings and declarations.

The Legislature finds and declares that it is in the public interest that a domestic mutual insurer be permitted to convert to a stock insurer on terms and conditions that are fair and equitable to such mutual insurer's policyholders. The Legislature further finds that because it is not possible to anticipate all of the circumstances and considerations which may arise incident to a conversion from a mutual insurer to a stock insurer, the Director of Insurance should have broad authority in reviewing such conversion, and the procedures and criteria to be applied by the director should be flexible within the parameters of the Insurers Demutualization Act. The act shall be liberally construed to effect the legislative intent set forth in this section and shall not be interpreted to limit the powers granted to the director by other provisions of the law.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 42.

44-6103 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Insurers Demutualization Act, the terms defined in section 44-103 shall have the same meanings as set forth in such section and:

(1) Final order shall mean the final written order of the director approving or disapproving the conversion of a mutual insurer to a stock insurer; and

(2) Policyholders shall mean the policyholders of the mutual insurer on the day the plan of conversion is initially approved by the board of directors of the mutual insurer.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 43.

44-6104 Authority to convert.

A domestic mutual insurer may amend its articles of incorporation pursuant to the Insurers Demutualization Act to become a stock insurer under a fair and equitable plan of conversion approved by the director.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 44.

44-6105 Application; fee.

A domestic mutual insurer may convert to a stock insurer by meeting the requirements of the Insurers Demutualization Act. The mutual insurer shall file an application to convert to a stock insurer with the director. The application shall be accompanied by a nonrefundable application fee of one thousand dollars. The application shall include the following at a minimum:

(1) A plan of conversion containing a description of the structure and form of the proposed consideration to the policyholders, the projected range of the number of shares of capital stock to be issued by the new stock insurer or the holding company of such insurer, whether to policyholders, to be sold or reserved for sale to investors by the new stock insurer or the holding company of such insurer, or to a trust established for the exclusive benefit of policyholders for the purpose of effecting the conversion into which shares of the capital stock of the new stock insurer or the holding company of such insurer are placed pending distribution to the policyholders, and such other proposed conditions and provisions as determined by the mutual insurer not to be inconsistent with the act;

(2) A certification that the plan of conversion has been duly adopted by a vote of not less than two-thirds of the members of the board of directors of the mutual insurer;

(3) A certification adopted by not less than two-thirds of the members of the board of directors of the mutual insurer that the plan of conversion is fair and equitable to the policyholders;

(4) Certified copies of the proposed amendments to the articles of incorporation and bylaws to effectuate the conversion;

(5) A form of the proposed notice to be mailed by the mutual insurer to its policyholders as required in section 44-6109; and

(6) Any other additional information as the director may reasonably request.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 45; Laws 1999, LB 326, § 6.

44-6106 Consideration.

The plan of conversion required by section 44-6105 shall specify the consideration to the policyholders entitled thereto, which consideration may be in cash, stock, a combination thereof, or such other valuable consideration as the director may approve. The plan of conversion may, subject to the approval of the director, provide that all or any portion of the consideration distributable to policyholders may be held in a trust, the terms of which are subject to the approval of the director, established by the mutual insurer for a period not greater than three years, which period may be extended beyond three years for additional annual periods not to exceed five years in the aggregate, with the approval of the director, pursuant to and subject to limitations set forth in the plan of conversion. Unless otherwise ordered by the director and notwithstanding any provisions of law to the contrary, policyholders are not required to be given preemptive rights.

44-6107 Public hearing.

The director shall conduct a public hearing within one hundred and twenty days after the date the application is filed pursuant to section 44-6105 unless extended by the director for good cause. Any interested person may appear or otherwise be heard at the public hearing. The director may in his or her discretion continue the public hearing for a reasonable period of time not to exceed sixty days. The mutual insurer applying to convert to a stock insurer shall give such reasonable notice of the public hearing as the director in his or her discretion shall require.

44-6108 Initial determination; application disapproval.

(1) The director shall issue an order making an initial determination to approve or disapprove the application within thirty days after the close of the public hearing as required by section 44-6107.

(2)(a) The director shall not approve the application unless he or she finds that:

(i) The plan of conversion is fair and equitable to the policyholders;

(ii) The plan of conversion does not deprive the policyholders of their property rights or due process of law; and

(iii) The new stock insurer would meet the minimum requirements to be issued a certificate of authority by the director to transact business in this state and the continued operations of the new stock insurer would not be hazardous to future policyholders and the public.

(b) For purposes of this subsection, the director may consider any relevant factor, including, but not limited to:

(i) The capital requirements of the new stock insurer;

(ii) Whether a portion of the statutory surplus has been contributed by persons or entities whose policies or contracts are not in force on the date the plan of conversion is initially approved by the board of directors of the mutual insurer and, in such event, the consideration to policyholders may be less than the statutory surplus;

(iii) Whether the plan of conversion includes preemptive rights for policyholders to purchase securities offered in the initial sale of securities by the new stock insurer;

(iv) Whether the plan of conversion includes establishment of a preference account from which the payment of any shareholder dividends, including a regular, special, or liquidation dividend, would be prohibited for a reasonable period of time as the director may require;

(v) The suitability of the trustees of any trust created pursuant to the provisions of section 44-6106; and

(vi) Whether the utilization of a trust, if included in the plan of conversion, has a material adverse effect on policyholders, other than delaying receipt of shares of capital stock.

(3) If the director makes a determination to disapprove the application, the director shall issue a final order setting forth specific findings for the disapproval.

44-6109 Policyholders' vote.

Within forty-five days after the date of the director's initial determination of approval pursuant to section 44-6108, unless extended by the director for good cause, the mutual insurer shall hold a meeting of its policyholders at a reasonable time and place to vote upon the plan of conversion. The mutual insurer shall give notice at least thirty days before the time fixed for the meeting, by first-class mail to the last-known address of each policyholder, that the plan of conversion will be voted upon at a regular or special meeting of the policyholders, which notice shall include a brief description of the plan of conversion and a statement that the director has initially approved the plan of conversion. The notice mailing to each policyholder shall also include a written proxy permitting the policyholder to vote for or against the plan of conversion. The entity to which any group insurance policy is issued, and not any person covered under the group insurance policy, shall be considered the policyholder for purposes of voting. A plan of conversion shall be approved only if not less than two-thirds of the policyholders voting in person or by proxy at the meeting vote in favor of such plan of conversion. Each policyholder shall be entitled to only one vote regardless of the number of policies owned by the policyholder. The director shall supervise and direct the conduct of the vote on the plan of conversion as necessary to ensure that the vote is fair and consistent with the requirements of this section. The director shall enter a final order approving the application to convert to a stock insurer within ten days after receiving a valid certification from the mutual insurer setting forth the vote and certifying that the plan of conversion was approved by not less than two-thirds of the policyholders voting in person or by proxy on the plan of conversion. In such event, the director shall also publish notification of the issuance of the final order in a legal newspaper in Lancaster County and in the county of domicile of the mutual insurer if different than Lancaster County.

44-6110 Conversion.

The director shall issue a certificate of authority to a new stock insurer when the mutual insurer files a certificate with the director stating that all of the conditions set forth in the plan of conversion have been satisfied so long as the board of directors of the mutual insurer has not abandoned the plan of conversion pursuant to section 44-6114. The conversion shall be effective upon the issuance of a certificate of authority by the director. Upon issuance of the certificate of authority, the insurer's articles of incorporation shall be treated as amended in compliance with section 44-231.

44-6111 Appeal from the final order.

Any person affected by a final order issued pursuant to the Insurers Demutualization Act shall have the right to appeal such order to the district court of Lancaster County. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

44-6112 Continuation of corporate existence.

Corporate existence of a mutual insurer converting to a stock insurer pursuant to the Insurers Demutualization Act shall not terminate, but the new stock insurer shall be deemed to be a continuation of the mutual insurer and to have been organized on the date the mutual insurer was originally organized.

44-6113 Name.

If the name of a mutual insurer converting to a stock insurer pursuant to the Insurers Demutualization Act includes the word mutual, the new stock insurer may continue to use the word mutual in its name if (1) the name includes a word or words that identify the new stock insurer as a stock insurer and (2) the director finds that the continued use of the word mutual in its name is not likely to mislead or deceive the public.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 53.

44-6114 Abandonment.

A mutual insurer may, by not less than a two-thirds vote of the members of its board of directors and with the approval of the director, abandon the plan of conversion at any time before the issuance of the certificate of authority by the director. Upon such abandonment, all rights and obligations arising out of the plan of conversion shall terminate and the mutual insurer shall continue to conduct its business as a domestic mutual insurer as though no plan of conversion had ever been adopted.

44-6115 Anti-takeover provision; procedure.

(1)(a) Except as otherwise specifically provided in the plan of conversion, prior to and for a period of five years following the issuance of a certificate of authority to a new stock insurer under the Insurers Demutualization Act, no person other than the new stock insurer shall directly or indirectly offer to acquire or acquire in any manner the beneficial ownership of five percent or more of any class of a voting security of the new stock insurer or of any institution which owns a majority or all of the voting securities of the new stock insurer without the prior approval by the director of an application for acquisition filed by such person with the director.

(b) The director shall not approve an application for acquisition filed pursuant to subdivision (1)(a) of this section unless he or she finds that:

(i) The acquisition would not frustrate the plan of conversion as approved by the policyholders and the director;

(ii) The board of directors of the new stock insurer has approved the acquisition or extraordinary circumstances not contemplated in the plan of conversion have arisen which would warrant approval of the acquisition; and

(iii) The acquisition would be consistent with the legislative purpose of the Insurers Demutualization Act to permit conversions on terms and conditions that are fair and equitable to the policyholders.

(c) An application for acquisition filed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall describe in sufficient detail the information to be considered under subdivision (1)(b) of this section.

(d) If any material change occurs in the facts set forth in an application for acquisition filed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, an amendment setting forth the change, together with copies of all documents and other material relevant to such change, shall be filed with the director.

(2) The director may hold a public hearing on an application for acquisition filed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section unless the board of directors of the new stock insurer has approved the acquisition. The public hearing shall be held within thirty days after the person seeking to acquire securities files an application for acquisition with the director pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, with at least twenty days' notice of the hearing given by the director to the person filing the application for acquisition. Not less than seven days' notice of the hearing shall be given by the person filing the application for acquisition to the new stock insurer and to such other persons as may be designated by the director. At the hearing the person filing the application for acquisition, the new stock insurer, any person to whom notice of the hearing was sent, and any other person whose interest may be affected may present evidence, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and offer oral and written arguments, and in connection therewith, may conduct discovery proceedings in the same manner as is presently allowed in the district court. All discovery proceedings shall be concluded not later than three days prior to the commencement of the hearing. If any offer or acquisition referred to in the application for acquisition is proposed by means of a registration statement under the federal Securities Act of 1933, in circumstances requiring the disclosure of similar information under the federal Securities Exchange Act of 1934, or under a state law requiring similar registration or disclosure, the person required to file the statement may utilize such documents in furnishing the information called for by the application for acquisition. The person filing the application shall serve the new stock insurer and any institution which owns a majority or all of the voting securities of the new stock insurer with a copy of the application for acquisition and any amendments thereto on the day such documents are filed with the director.

(3) The new stock insurer and any institution which owns a majority or all of the voting securities of the new stock insurer shall be permitted to become a party upon their request.

(4) The director shall make a determination within thirty days after the conclusion of the hearing or, if no hearing is held, within thirty days after the date the application for acquisition is filed with the director pursuant to subsection (1) of this section. Approval or disapproval of an application for acquisition shall be by written order. The order may be appealed to the district court of Lancaster County, and the appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(5) The director may retain, at the expense of the person filing an application for acquisition pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, any attorneys, actuaries, accountants, and other experts who are not employees of the Department of Insurance as may be reasonably necessary to assist the director in reviewing the application.

44-6115.01 Anti-takeover provision; voting of securities; limitations; enforcement.

No security which is the subject of any agreement or arrangement regarding acquisition, or which is acquired or to be acquired, in contravention of section 44-6115 or of any rule, regulation, or order of the director may be voted at any shareholders' meeting or may be counted for quorum purposes, and any action of shareholders requiring the affirmative vote of a percentage of shares may be taken as though such securities were not issued and outstanding, but no action taken at any such meeting shall be invalidated by the voting of such securities unless the action would materially affect control of the new stock insurer or an institution which owns a majority or all of the voting securities of the new stock insurer or unless the courts of this state have so ordered. If a new stock insurer or the director has reason to believe that any security of the new stock insurer or an institution which owns a majority or all of the voting securities of the new stock insurer has been or is about to be acquired in contravention of the Insurers Demutualization Act or of any rule, regulation, or order of the director, the new stock insurer or the director may apply to the district court of Lancaster County for an order to enjoin any offer or acquisition made in contravention of section 44-6115 or any rule, regulation, or order of the director to enjoin the voting of any security so acquired, to void any vote of such security already cast at any shareholders' meeting, and for such other equitable relief as the nature of the case and the interest of the new stock insurer's policyholders, creditors, and shareholders or the public may require.

44-6117 Compensation.

(1)(a) No director, officer, employee, or agent of the mutual insurer and no other person shall receive any fee, commission, or other valuable consideration whatsoever, other than his or her usual regular salary and compensation, for in any manner aiding, promoting, or assisting in a plan of conversion except as set forth in the plan of conversion approved by the director.

(b) Subdivision (1)(a) of this section shall not prohibit a management-incentive compensation program which is contained in the plan of conversion and approved by the director to be adopted upon conversion to the new stock insurer or prohibit such a program to be later adopted by the new stock insurer.

(c) All fees, commissions, compensation, and valuable consideration described in this subsection shall be subject to the restrictions on salary, compensation, and emoluments in section 44-213.

(2) Subdivision (1)(a) of this section shall not be deemed to prohibit the payment of reasonable fees and compensation to attorneys, accountants, actuaries, and investment bankers for services performed in the independent practice of their professions even though any such person is also a member of the board of directors of the mutual insurer.

44-6118 Insolvent mutual insurers.

Notwithstanding the requirements of section 44-6105, in the event of insolvency of the mutual insurer, its board of directors by a vote of not less than two-thirds of its members may, in its application, request that the director waive the requirements imposing notice to policyholders and policyowner approval for the plan of conversion. The application shall specify both of the following:

(1) The method and basis for the issuance of the new stock insurer's shares of its capital stock to an independent party in connection with an investment by such independent party in an amount sufficient to restore the insurer to a sound financial condition; and

(2) That the conversion shall be accomplished without distribution to the past, present, or future policyholders, if the director finds that the value of the insurer, due to insolvency, is insufficient to warrant any such distribution.

If the director determines that the mutual insurer is insolvent as defined in section 44-4803, he or she shall grant the request to waive the requirements imposing notice to policyholders and policyowner approval for the plan of conversion.

44-6119 Experts; costs.

For the purpose of determining whether a plan of conversion meets the requirements of the Insurers Demutualization Act or in connection with any other matters relating to development of a plan of conversion, the director may engage the services of experts. All reasonable costs related to the review of a plan of conversion or such other matters, including those costs attributable to the use of experts, shall be paid by the mutual insurer making the filing or initiating discussions with the director about such matters.

44-6119.01 Information and documents; confidentiality.

(1) All information, documents, and copies of such information and documents obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in the course of preparing, filing, and processing an application to convert to a stock insurer pursuant to section 44-6105, other than information or documents distributed to policyholders in connection with the meeting of policyholders under section 44-6109 or filed or submitted as evidence in connection with the public hearing under section 44-6107, shall be given confidential treatment.

(2) The information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section shall not be subject to subpoena.

(3) The information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section shall not be made public by the director, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or its subsidiaries or affiliates, or any other person without the prior written consent of the insurer to which it pertains except that:

(a) If the director, after giving the insurer and its affiliates who would be affected thereby notice and opportunity to be heard, determines that the interests of policyholders, shareholders, or the public will be served by the publication of such information, documents, and copies, the director may publish all or any part of such information, documents, and copies; and

(b) The director may provide the information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section to state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies, and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information, documents, and copies.

(4) The director may receive information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged information received pursuant to this subsection if received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subsection, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subsection as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

44-6123 Legislative findings and declarations.

The Legislature finds and declares that it is in the public interest that a domestic mutual insurer be permitted to reorganize in a manner that preserves attributes of its mutuality while facilitating capital raising abilities and corporate affiliations on terms and conditions that are fair and equitable to the mutual insurer's policyholders. The Legislature further finds that because policyholders of a mutual insurer have membership interests in the mutual insurer, the director should have broad authority in reviewing a reorganization and the procedures and criteria to be applied by the director should be flexible within the parameters of the Mutual Insurance Holding Company Act. The act shall be liberally construed to effect the legislative intent set forth in this section and shall not be interpreted to limit the powers granted to the director by other provisions of the law.

44-6124 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Mutual Insurance Holding Company Act:

(1) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(2) Intermediate stock holding company means a holding company of which at least a majority of the voting securities are owned by a mutual insurance holding company and which, directly or indirectly, owns all of the voting securities of a reorganized stock insurer;

(3) Mutual insurance holding company means a holding company based on a mutual plan which at all times owns, directly or indirectly, a majority of the voting securities of one or more intermediate stock holding companies or, if no such intermediate stock holding company exists, which owns a majority of the voting securities of a reorganized stock insurer;

(4) Reorganized stock insurer means a stock insurer subsidiary which results from a reorganization of a domestic mutual insurer pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of section 44-6125 and in compliance with the act; and

(5) Voting securities means securities of any class or any ownership interest having voting power for the election of directors, trustees, or management, other than securities having voting power only because of the occurrence of a contingency.

Source: Laws 1997, LB 740, § 3; Laws 2004, LB 1047, § 19.

44-6125 Domestic mutual insurer; foreign insurer; transfer domicile; reorganization authorized; effect; holding company; treatment.

(1) A domestic mutual insurer, upon approval of the director, may reorganize (a) by forming a mutual insurance holding company, (b) by merging its policyholders' membership interests into the mutual insurance holding company, and (c) by continuing the mutual insurer's corporate existence as a stock insurer subsidiary of the mutual insurance holding company.

(2) A domestic mutual insurer, upon the approval of the director, may reorganize by merging its policyholders' membership interests into an existing mutual insurance holding company formed under subsection (1) of this section and by continuing the mutual insurer's corporate existence as a stock insurer subsidiary of the mutual insurance holding company.

(3) All of the initial shares of the capital stock of a reorganized stock insurer which has reorganized as described in subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall be issued to the mutual insurance holding company or to one or more intermediate stock holding companies.

(4) Policyholders of a domestic mutual insurer which has reorganized as described in subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall be members of the mutual insurance holding company and their voting rights shall be determined in accordance with the articles of incorporation and bylaws of the mutual insurance holding company. The mutual insurance holding company shall provide its members with the same membership rights as were provided to policyholders of the mutual insurer immediately prior to reorganization. The reorganization shall not reduce, limit, or affect the number or identity of the policyholders who may become members of the mutual insurance holding company or secure for individuals comprising management any unfair advantage through or connected with the reorganization.

(5) If an insurer which is organized under the laws of another state transfers its domicile to this state in accordance with section 44-161 and is a direct or indirect subsidiary of a mutual insurance holding company organized under the laws of such other state, then, in connection with the transfer of the domicile of such insurer, upon approval of the director of a plan of merger and transfer, the foreign mutual insurance holding company may form a mutual insurance holding company under this section, and the foreign mutual insurance holding company may merge into such domestic mutual insurance holding company simultaneously with the transfer of domicile of the insurer to this state. Until the merger takes effect, the foreign mutual insurance holding company shall be the sole member of the domestic mutual insurance holding company. When the merger takes effect, the separate existence of the foreign mutual insurance holding company shall cease, the domestic mutual insurance holding company shall survive and have all the assets and liabilities formerly held by the foreign mutual insurance holding company, all of the members of the foreign mutual insurance holding company shall become members of the domestic mutual insurance holding company, policyholders of the insurer shall be members of the domestic mutual insurance holding company, and their voting rights shall be determined in accordance with the articles of incorporation and bylaws of the domestic mutual insurance holding company. After the transfer and merger take effect, for purposes of the Mutual Insurance Holding Company Act, the insurer shall be deemed to be a reorganized stock insurer. If the foreign mutual insurance holding company owns a majority of the voting stock of a stock holding company organized under the laws of another state that in turn owns all of the voting stock of the insurer, then the plan of merger and transfer may provide that the stock holding company shall continue as a corporation organized under the laws of the other state.

(6)(a) A mutual insurance holding company or any intermediate stock holding company formed under the Mutual Insurance Holding Company Act shall not be authorized to transact the business of insurance.

(b) A mutual insurance holding company formed under the act shall not issue stock.

(c) The director shall have jurisdiction over a mutual insurance holding company and any intermediate stock holding company to ensure that policyholder interests are protected.

(d) A mutual insurance holding company and any intermediate stock holding company shall be treated as domestic insurers subject to the Insurers Demutualization Act, the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, Chapter 44, article 2, and section 44-301, except that a foreign intermediate stock holding company shall not be subject to Chapter 44, article 2, and section 44-301.

(e) Except with the approval of the director, the aggregate pledges and encumbrances of a mutual insurance holding company's assets shall not affect more than forty-nine percent of the mutual insurance holding company's stock in an intermediate stock holding company or a reorganized stock insurer.

(f) At least fifty percent of the net worth of a mutual insurance holding company, as determined by generally accepted accounting practices, shall be invested in insurers or any other subsidiaries or investments authorized by the Insurance Holding Company System Act.

(g) If any proceeding under the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act is brought against a reorganized stock insurer, the mutual insurance holding company and intermediate stock holding company shall become parties to the proceedings. All of the assets of the mutual insurance holding company are deemed assets of the estate of the reorganized stock insurer to the extent necessary to satisfy policy claims against the reorganized stock insurer.

(h) No distribution to members of a mutual insurance holding company may occur without prior written approval of the director and only upon the director's satisfaction that such distribution is fair and equitable to policyholders as members of the mutual insurance holding company.

(i) No solicitation for the sale of the stock of an intermediate stock holding company or a reorganized stock insurer may be made without the director's prior written approval.

(j) A mutual insurance holding company or an intermediate stock holding company shall not voluntarily dissolve without the approval of the director.

44-6126 Plan of reorganization; contents.

A domestic mutual insurer shall file a proposed plan of reorganization approved by a vote of not less than two-thirds of the members of its board of directors for review and approval with the director. The proposed plan of reorganization shall be accompanied by a nonrefundable fee of one thousand dollars. A plan of reorganization shall include the following at a minimum:

(1) An analysis of the benefits and risks attendant to the proposed reorganization, including the rationale and comparative benefits and risks of a demutualization;

(2) A statement of how the plan is fair and equitable to the policyholders;

(3) Information sufficient to demonstrate that the financial condition of the mutual insurer will not be diminished upon reorganization;

(4) Provisions to ensure immediate membership in the mutual insurance holding company for all existing policyholders of the mutual insurer;

(5) Provisions for membership interests for future policyholders of the reorganized stock insurer;

(6) Provisions to ensure that, in the event of proceedings for rehabilitation or liquidation involving a stock insurer subsidiary of the mutual insurance holding company, the assets of the mutual insurance holding company will be available to satisfy the policyholder obligations of the stock insurer subsidiary;

(7) Provisions for periodic distribution of accumulated mutual insurance holding company earnings;

(8) Certified copies of the proposed articles of incorporation and bylaws of the mutual insurance holding company, intermediate stock holding company, and reorganized stock insurer or proposed amendments thereto as necessary to effectuate reorganization;

(9) A certification that the plan of reorganization has been duly adopted by a vote of not less than two-thirds of the members of the board of directors of the mutual insurer;

(10) A certification adopted by not less than two-thirds of the members of the board of directors of the mutual insurer that the plan of reorganization is fair and equitable to the policyholders;

(11) The names, addresses, and occupational information of all corporate officers and all members of the board of directors of the proposed mutual insurance holding company in the case of a reorganization described in subsection (1) of section 44-6125;

(12) A description of the nature and content of the annual report and financial statement to be sent by the mutual insurance holding company to each member;

(13) A description of the number of members of the board of directors of the mutual insurance holding company required to be policyholders;

(14) A description of any plans for the initial sale of stock of the intermediate stock holding company or reorganized stock insurer;

(15) A form of the proposed notice to be mailed by the mutual insurer to its policyholders as required in section 44-6129; and

(16) Any other information requested by the director.

44-6127 Plan of reorganization; public hearing; notice.

The director shall conduct a public hearing regarding a proposed plan of reorganization within one hundred twenty days after the date the completed proposed plan of reorganization is filed pursuant to section 44-6126 unless extended by the director for good cause. Any interested person may appear or otherwise be heard at the public hearing. The director may in his or her discretion continue the public hearing for a reasonable period of time not to exceed sixty days. The mutual insurer shall give such reasonable notice of the public hearing as the director in his or her discretion may require.

44-6128 Plan of reorganization; approval; director; order.

(1) The director shall issue an order approving or disapproving a proposed plan of reorganization within thirty days after the close of the public hearing as required by section 44-6127.

(2) The director shall not approve a proposed plan of reorganization unless he or she finds that:

(a) The plan of reorganization is fair and equitable to the policyholders;

(b) The plan of reorganization does not deprive the policyholders of their property rights or due process of law; and

(c) The reorganized stock insurer would meet the minimum requirements to be issued a certificate of authority by the director to transact the business of insurance in this state and the continued operations of the reorganized stock insurer would not be hazardous to future policyholders and the public.

(3) If the director approves a plan of reorganization, the director shall also publish notification of the issuance of the order in a legal newspaper in Lancaster County and in the county of domicile of the mutual insurer if different than Lancaster County.

(4) If the director approves a plan of reorganization, the approval shall expire if the reorganization is not completed within one hundred eighty days after the date of approval unless extended by the director for good cause.

(5) If the director disapproves a plan of reorganization, the director shall issue an order setting forth specific findings for the disapproval.

Source: Laws 1997, LB 740, § 7.

44-6129 Plan of reorganization; policyholders vote.

(1) Within forty-five days after the date of the director's approval of a plan of reorganization pursuant to section 44-6128, unless extended by the director for good cause, the mutual insurer shall hold a meeting of its policyholders at a reasonable time and place to vote upon the plan of reorganization. The mutual insurer shall give notice at least thirty days before the time fixed for the meeting, by first-class mail to the last-known address of each policyholder, that the plan of reorganization will be voted upon at a regular or special meeting of the policyholders. The notice shall include a brief description of the plan of reorganization and a statement that the director has approved the plan of reorganization. The notice to each policyholder shall also include a written proxy permitting the policyholder to vote for or against the plan of reorganization. The entity to which any group insurance policy is issued, and not any person covered under the group insurance policy, shall be considered the policyholder for purposes of voting. A plan of reorganization shall be approved only if not less than two-thirds of the policyholders voting in person or by proxy at the meeting vote in favor of such plan of reorganization. Each policyholder shall be entitled to only one vote regardless of the number of policies owned by the policyholder. The director shall supervise and direct the conduct of the vote on the plan of reorganization as necessary to ensure that the vote is fair and consistent with the requirements of this section.

(2) If a mutual insurer complies substantially and in good faith with the notice requirements of this section, the mutual insurer's failure to give any policyholder any required notice does not impair the validity of any action taken under this section.

(3) If the meeting of policyholders to vote upon the plan of reorganization is held coincident with the mutual insurer's annual meeting of the policyholders, only one combined notice of meeting is required.

(4) The form of any proxy shall be filed with and approved by the director.

(5) For purposes of voting, policyholders means the policyholders of the mutual insurer on the day the plan of reorganization is initially approved by the board of directors of the mutual insurer.

Source: Laws 1997, LB 740, § 8.

44-6130 Certificate of authority; issuance.

The director shall issue a certificate of authority to a reorganized stock insurer when the mutual insurer files with the director (1) a certificate stating that all of the conditions set forth in the plan of reorganization have been satisfied so long as the board of directors of the mutual insurer has not abandoned the plan of reorganization pursuant to section 44-6133 and (2) a certificate from the mutual insurer setting forth the vote and certifying that the plan of reorganization was approved by not less than two-thirds of the policyholders voting in person or by proxy on the plan of reorganization. The reorganization shall be effective upon the issuance of a certificate of authority by the director. Upon issuance of the certificate of authority, the insurer's articles of incorporation shall be treated as amended in compliance with section 44-231.

44-6133 Plan of reorganization; abandonment.

A mutual insurer may, by not less than a two-thirds vote of the members of its board of directors and with the approval of the director, abandon a plan of reorganization at any time before the issuance of the certificate of authority by the director. Upon such abandonment, all rights and obligations arising out of the plan of reorganization shall terminate and the mutual insurer shall continue to conduct its business as a domestic mutual insurer as though no plan of reorganization had ever been adopted.

44-6138 Fee, commission, or consideration; restrictions.

(1)(a) No director, officer, employee, or agent of the mutual insurer and no other person shall receive any fee, commission, or other valuable consideration whatsoever, other than his or her usual regular salary and compensation, for in any manner aiding, promoting, or assisting in a plan of reorganization except as set forth in the plan of reorganization approved by the director.

(b) Subdivision (1)(a) of this section shall not prohibit a management-incentive compensation program which is contained in the plan of reorganization and approved by the director to be adopted upon reorganization to the reorganized stock insurer or prohibit such a program to be later adopted by the reorganized stock insurer.

(c) All fees, commissions, compensation, and valuable consideration described in this subsection shall be subject to the restrictions on salary, compensation, and emoluments in section 44-213.

(2) Subdivision (1)(a) of this section shall not be deemed to prohibit the payment of reasonable fees and compensation to attorneys, accountants, actuaries, and investment bankers for services performed in the independent practice of their professions even though any such person is also a member of the board of directors of the mutual insurer.

44-6140 Confidentiality.

(1) All information, documents, and copies of such information and documents obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in the course of preparing, filing, and processing an application to reorganize pursuant to section 44-6126, other than information or documents distributed to policyholders in connection with the meeting of policyholders under section 44-6129 or filed or submitted as evidence in connection with the public hearing under section 44-6127, shall be given confidential treatment.

(2) The information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section shall not be subject to subpoena.

(3) The information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section shall not be made public by the director, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or its subsidiaries or affiliates, or any other person without the prior written consent of the insurer to which it pertains, except that:

(a) If the director, after giving the insurer and its affiliates who would be affected thereby notice and opportunity to be heard, determines that the interests of policyholders, shareholders, or the public will be served by the publication of such information, documents, and copies, the director may publish all or any part of such information, documents, and copies; and

(b) The director may provide the information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information, documents, and copies.

(4) The director may receive information, documents, and copies described in subsection (1) of this section from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged information received pursuant to this subsection if received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subsection, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. 44-6143 Expansion of business; activities authorized; requirements.

(1) A mutual insurance holding company or an intermediate stock holding company may engage in actions and activities related to expanding the business of any company into other insurance, insurance-related, and financial services businesses. Any such expansion may be accomplished through acquisition, merger, consolidation, strategic alliance, joint venture, or other business combination. A mutual insurance holding company may:

(a) Merge or consolidate with, or acquire the assets of, a mutual insurance holding company formed under the laws of the State of Nebraska or any similar entity or organization formed under the laws of any other state;

(b) Either alone or together with one or more intermediate stock holding companies, or other subsidiaries, directly or indirectly acquire the stock of a stock insurance company or a mutual insurance company that reorganizes as a mutual insurance holding company under the laws of the State of Nebraska or the laws of its state of organization;

(c) Together with one or more of its stock insurance company subsidiaries, acquire the assets of a stock insurance company or a mutual insurance company;

(d) Acquire a stock insurance company through the merger of such stock insurance subsidiary with a stock insurance company or intermediate stock insurance company subsidiary of the mutual insurance holding company; or

(e) Acquire the stock or assets of any other person to the same extent as would be permitted for a mutual insurance company.

(2) A plan and agreement for merger or consolidation in accordance with subsection (1) of this section shall be submitted to and approved by two-thirds of the members of each domestic mutual insurance holding company or mutual insurance company involved in the merger or consolidation who vote either in person or by proxy thereon at meetings called for such purposes pursuant to such reasonable notice and procedure as has been approved by the director.

(3) No such merger or consolidation shall be effectuated unless in advance thereof the plan and agreement therefor have been filed with the director and approved by the director.

(4) All of the initial shares of the capital stock of the reorganized stock insurer shall be issued either to the mutual insurance holding company or to an intermediate stock holding company that is a subsidiary of the mutual insurance holding company. The membership interests of the policyholders of the reorganized stock insurer shall become membership interests in the mutual insurance holding company in accordance with the plan and agreement of merger or consolidation. Policyholders of the reorganized stock insurer shall be members of the mutual insurance holding company in accordance with the plan and agreement of merger or consolidation and the articles of incorporation and bylaws of the mutual insurance holding company. The mutual insurance holding company shall at all times directly or indirectly own a majority of the voting shares of the capital stock of any reorganized stock insurer.

44-6201 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-6201 to 44-6211 shall be known and may be cited as the Assumption Reinsurance Act.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 62.

44-6202 Purpose of act.

It is the purpose of the Assumption Reinsurance Act to provide for the regulation of the transfer and novation of contracts of insurance by way of assumption reinsurance. The act describes assumption reinsurance and establishes notice and disclosure requirements which protect and define the rights and obligations of policyholders, regulators, and the parties to assumption reinsurance agreements.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 63.

44-6203 Applicability of act.

(1) The Assumption Reinsurance Act shall apply to any insurer authorized to transact business in this state which either assumes or transfers the obligations or risks on contracts of insurance owned by policyholders residing in this state pursuant to an assumption reinsurance agreement. The act shall not relieve any insurer of any other requirements of the insurance laws of this state.

(2) The act shall not apply to:

(a) Any reinsurance agreement or transaction in which the ceding insurer continues to remain directly liable for its insurance obligations or risks under the contracts of insurance subject to the reinsurance agreement;

(b) The substitution of one insurer for another upon the expiration of insurance coverage pursuant to statutory or contractual requirements and the issuance of a new contract of insurance by another insurer;

(c) The transfer of contracts of insurance pursuant to mergers or consolidations of two or more insurers to the extent that those transactions are regulated by law;

(d) Any insurer subject to a judicial order of rehabilitation or liquidation; or

(e) Any reinsurance agreement or transaction to which a state insurance guaranty association is a party.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 64.

44-6204 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Assumption Reinsurance Act:

(1) Assuming insurer shall mean the insurer which acquires an insurance obligation or risk from the transferring insurer pursuant to an assumption reinsurance agreement;

(2) Assumption reinsurance agreement shall mean any contract which both:

(a) Transfers insurance obligations or risks of existing contracts of insurance or contracts of insurance which are in force from a transferring insurer to an assuming insurer; and

(b) Is intended to effect a novation of the transferred contract of insurance with the result that the assuming insurer becomes directly liable to the policyholders of the transferring insurer and the transferring insurer's insurance obligations or risks under such contract of insurance are extinguished;

(3) Contract of insurance shall mean any written agreement between an insurer and policyholder pursuant to which the insurer, in exchange for premium or other consideration, agrees to assume an obligation or risk of the policyholder or to make payments on behalf of or to the policyholder or its beneficiaries. The term shall include all lines of insurance specified in section 44-201;

(4) Director shall mean the Director of Insurance;

(5) Notice of transfer shall mean the written notice to the policyholders required by section 44-6205;

(6) Policyholder shall mean any individual or entity which has the right to terminate or otherwise alter the terms of a contract of insurance. The term shall include any certificate holder whose certificate is in force on the proposed effective date of the assumption if the certificate holder has the right to keep the certificate in force without change in benefit following termination of the group policy. Such rights to keep the certificate in force shall not include the right to elect individual coverage under sections 44-1640 to 44-1645 or the federal Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act, section 601 et seq., of the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. 1161 et seq.; and

(7) Transferring insurer shall mean the insurer which transfers an insurance obligation or risk to an assuming insurer pursuant to an assumption reinsurance agreement.

44-6205 Notice requirements.

(1) The transferring insurer shall provide or cause to be provided to each policyholder a notice of transfer by first-class mail addressed to the policyholder's last-known address or to the address to which premium notices or other policy documents are sent or, with respect to home-service business, by personal delivery with acknowledged receipt. A notice of transfer shall also be sent to the transferring insurer's agents or brokers of record on the affected policies.

(2) The notice of transfer shall state or provide:

(a) The date the transfer and novation of the policyholder's contract of insurance is proposed to take place;

(b) The names, addresses, and telephone numbers of the assuming insurer and transferring insurer;

(c) That the policyholder has the right to either accept or reject the transfer and novation;

(d) The procedures and time limit for accepting or rejecting the transfer and novation;

(e) A summary of any effect that accepting or rejecting the transfer and novation will have on the policyholder's rights;

(f) A statement that the assuming insurer is authorized to write the type of business being assumed in the state where the policyholder resides or is otherwise authorized, as provided in the Assumption Reinsurance Act, to assume such business;

(g) The name and address of the person at the transferring insurer to whom the policyholder should send its written statement of acceptance or rejection of the transfer and novation;

(h) The address and telephone number of the insurance department of the state where the policyholder resides so that the policyholder may write or call such insurance department for further information regarding the financial condition of the assuming insurer;

(i) The following information regarding both insurers:

(i) Ratings for the last five years if available, or for such lesser period as is available, from two nationally recognized insurance rating services acceptable to the director, including the rating service's explanation of the rating's meaning. If ratings are unavailable for any year of the five-year period, this shall also be disclosed;

(ii) The annual statement balance sheet as of December 31 for the previous two years if available, or for such lesser period as is available, and as of the date of the most recent quarterly statement; and

(iii) An explanation of the reason for the transfer; and

(j) Such other information as the director may by rule and regulation require.

(3) A notice of transfer in a form identical or substantially similar to a form prescribed by the director shall be deemed to comply with the requirements of subsection (2) of this section.

(4) The notice of transfer shall include a preaddressed, postage-paid response card which a policyholder may return as its written statement of acceptance or rejection of the transfer and novation.

(5) The notice of transfer proposed to be used shall be filed with the director as part of the prior approval requirement set forth in subsection (1) of section 44-6206.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 66.

44-6206 Prior approval requirements.

(1) Prior approval by the director shall be required for any transaction by which an insurer domiciled in this state assumes or transfers obligations or risks on contracts of insurance under an assumption reinsurance agreement. An insurer authorized to transact business in this state shall not transfer obligations or risks on contracts of insurance owned by policyholders residing in this state to any insurer that is not authorized to transact business in this state. An insurer domiciled in this state shall not assume obligations or risks on contracts of insurance owned by policyholders residing in any other state unless it is authorized to transact business in the other state or the insurance department of that state has approved such assumption.

(2) A foreign or alien insurer authorized to transact business in this state that enters into an assumption reinsurance agreement which transfers the obligations or risks on contracts of insurance owned by policyholders residing in this state shall file or cause to be filed the assumption certificate with the director, a copy of the notice of transfer and an affidavit that the transaction is subject to assumption reinsurance requirements adopted by statute or regulation in the state of domicile or port-of-entry state of both the transferring insurer and assuming insurer which are substantially similar to those contained in the Assumption Reinsurance Act.

(3) A foreign or alien insurer authorized to transact business in this state that enters into an assumption reinsurance agreement which transfers the obligations or risks on contracts of insurance owned by policyholders residing in this state shall obtain prior approval of the director and be subject to all other requirements of the act unless the transferring insurer and assuming insurer are subject to assumption reinsurance requirements adopted by statute or regulation in the state of their domicile or port-of-entry state which are substantially similar to those contained in the act.

(4) An insurer required to receive approval of assumption reinsurance transactions under this section shall not enter into an assumption reinsurance transaction until:

(a) Thirty days after the director has received a request for approval and has not within such period disapproved such transaction; or

(b) The director has approved the transaction within the thirty-day period.

(5) The following factors, along with such other factors as the director deems appropriate under the circumstances, shall be considered by the director in reviewing a request for approval:

(a) The financial condition of the transferring insurer and assuming insurer and the effect the transaction will have on the financial condition of each insurer;

(b) The competence, experience, and integrity of those persons who control the operation of the assuming insurer;

(c) The plans or proposals the assuming insurer has with respect to the administration of the policies subject to the proposed transfer;

(d) Whether the transfer is fair and reasonable to the policyholders of both insurers; and

(e) Whether the notice of transfer to be provided by the insurer is fair, adequate, and not misleading.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 67.

44-6207 Policyholder rights.

(1) Every policyholder shall have the right to reject the transfer and novation of his or her contracts of insurance. Policyholders electing to reject the assumption transaction shall return to the transferring insurer the preaddressed, postage-paid response card or other written notice and indicate thereon that the assumption is rejected.

(2) Payment of the next premium after notice is received to the assuming insurer shall be deemed to indicate the policyholder's acceptance of the transfer to the assuming insurer and a novation shall be deemed to have been effected if the premium notice clearly states that payment of the premium to the assuming insurer shall constitute acceptance of the transfer. Such a premium notice shall also provide a method for the policyholder to pay the premium while reserving the right to reject the transfer.

(3) After no fewer than twelve months after the mailing of the initial notice of transfer required under section 44-6205, if positive acceptance to the transfer and assumption has not been received or acceptance has not been deemed to have occurred under subsection (2) of this section, the transferring insurer shall send to the policyholder a second and final notice of transfer. If the policyholder does not reject the transfer during the two-month period immediately following the date on which the transferring insurer mails the second and final notice of transfer, the policyholder's acceptance will be deemed to have occurred and novation of the contract of insurance will be effected.

(4) The transferring insurer will be deemed to have received the response card on the date it is postmarked. A policyholder may also send a response card by facsimile or other electronic transmission or by registered mail, express delivery, or courier service, in which case the response card shall be deemed to have been received by the assuming insurer on the date of actual receipt by the transferring insurer.

44-6208 Effect of consent.

If a policyholder accepts the transfer pursuant to section 44-6207 or if the transfer is effected under section 44-6209, there shall be a novation of the contract of insurance subject to the assumption reinsurance agreement with the result that the transferring insurer shall thereby be relieved of all insurance obligations or risks transferred under the assumption reinsurance agreement and the assuming insurer shall become directly and solely liable to the policyholder for those insurance obligations or risks.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 583, § 69.

44-6209 Director's discretion.

If an insurer domiciled in this state or in a state which does not have assumption reinsurance requirements adopted by statute or regulation substantially similar to those contained in the Assumption Reinsurance Act is deemed by the director to be in hazardous financial condition or an administrative or judicial proceeding has been instituted against it for the purpose of liquidating, reorganizing, or conserving such insurer, and the transfer of the contracts of insurance is in the best interest of the policyholders, as determined by the director, a transfer and novation may be effected notwithstanding the provisions of the act. This may include use of a form of implied acceptance and adequate notification to the policyholder of the circumstances requiring the transfer and novation as approved by the director.

DISCLOSURE OF MATERIAL INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS

Section
44-6301. Act, how cited.
44-6302. Terms, defined.
44-6303. Report required; contents; filing; confidentiality.
44-6304. Disclosure; when required; nonconsolidated basis.
44-6305. Ceded reinsurance agreements; reporting requirements.
44-6306. Rules and regulations.

44-6301 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-6301 to 44-6306 shall be known and may be cited as the Disclosure of Material Insurance Transactions Act.

Source: Laws 1994, LB 978, § 1.

44-6302 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Disclosure of Material Insurance Transactions Act:

(1) Director shall mean the Director of Insurance; and

(2) Insurer shall mean an insurer as defined in section 44-103 authorized to transact the business of insurance in this state, except that insurer shall include health maintenance organizations and insurer shall not include unincorporated mutual associations and assessment associations.

Source: Laws 1994, LB 978, § 2.

44-6303 Report required; contents; filing; confidentiality.

(1) Every insurer domiciled in this state shall file a report with the director disclosing any of the following transactions: Material acquisitions and dispositions of assets or material nonrenewals, cancellations, or revisions of ceded reinsurance agreements, unless such acquisitions and dispositions of assets or material nonrenewals, cancellations, or revisions of ceded reinsurance agreements have been submitted to the director for review, approval, or information purposes pursuant to other provisions of the insurance laws of this state, rules and regulations adopted and promulgated thereunder, or other requirements.

(2) The report shall be filed within fifteen days after the end of the calendar month in which any of the transactions occur.

(3) One complete copy of the report, including any exhibits or other attachments filed as part thereof, shall also be filed with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

(4) All reports obtained by or disclosed to the director pursuant to the Disclosure of Material Insurance Transactions Act shall be given confidential treatment and shall not be subject to subpoena and shall not be made public by the director, the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or its affiliates and subsidiaries, or any other person, except to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information, without the prior written consent of the insurer to which it pertains unless the director, after giving the insurer who would be affected thereby, notice and an opportunity to be heard, determines that the interest of policyholders, shareholders, or the public will be served by the publication thereof, in which event the director may publish all or any part thereof in such manner as he or she deems appropriate.

(5) The director may receive reports described in subsection (1) of this section for foreign or alien insurers from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged information received pursuant to this subsection if received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subsection, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subsection as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

44-6304 Disclosure; when required; nonconsolidated basis.

(1) No acquisitions or dispositions of assets need be reported pursuant to section 44-6303 if the acquisitions or dispositions are not material. A material acquisition, or the aggregate of any series of related acquisitions during any thirty-day period, or material disposition, or the aggregate of any series of related dispositions during any thirty-day period, shall mean one that is nonrecurring and not in the ordinary course of business and involves more than five percent of the reporting insurer's total admitted assets as reported in its most recent financial statement filed with the director pursuant to section 44-322.

(2) Asset acquisitions subject to the Disclosure of Material Insurance Transactions Act shall include every purchase, lease, exchange, merger, consolidation, succession, or other acquisition other than the construction or development of real property by or for the reporting insurer or the acquisition of materials for such purpose. Asset dispositions subject to the act shall include every sale, lease, exchange, merger, consolidation, mortgage, hypothecation, assignment, whether for the benefit of creditors or otherwise, abandonment, destruction, or other disposition.

(3) The following information shall be disclosed in any report of a material acquisition or disposition of assets:

(a) Date of the transaction;

(b) Manner of acquisition or disposition;

(c) Description of the assets involved;

(d) Nature and amount of the consideration given or received;

(e) Purpose of or reason for the transaction;

(f) Manner by which the amount of consideration was determined;

(g) Gain or loss recognized or realized as a result of the transaction; and

(h) Name of the person from whom the assets were acquired or to whom they were disposed.

(4) Insurers shall report material acquisitions and dispositions on a nonconsolidated basis unless the insurer is part of a consolidated group of insurers which utilizes a pooling arrangement or one-hundred-percent reinsurance agreement that affects the solvency and integrity of the insurer's reserves and such insurer ceded substantially all of its direct and assumed business to the pool. An insurer is deemed to have ceded substantially all of its direct and assumed business to a pool if the insurer has less than one million dollars total direct plus assumed written premiums during a calendar year that are not subject to a pooling arrangement and the net income of the business not subject to the pooling arrangement represents less than five percent of the insurer's capital and surplus.

44-6305 Ceded reinsurance agreements; reporting requirements.

(1) No nonrenewals, cancellations, or revisions of ceded reinsurance agreements need be reported pursuant to section 44-6303 if the nonrenewals, cancellations, or revisions are not material. A material nonrenewal, cancellation, or revision shall mean one that affects for property and casualty business, including sickness and accident business when written as such, more than fifty percent of an insurer's ceded written premium, or for life, annuity, and sickness and accident business, more than fifty percent of the total reserve credit taken for business ceded, on an annualized basis as indicated in the insurer's most recent financial statement filed with the director pursuant to section 44-322. No filing shall be required if the insurer's ceded written premium or the total reserve credit taken for business ceded represents, on an annualized basis, less than ten percent of direct plus assumed written premium or ten percent of the statutory reserve requirement prior to any cession, respectively.

(2) Subject to the criteria in subsection (1) of this section, a report shall be filed without regard to which party has initiated the nonrenewal, cancellation, or revision of ceded reinsurance whenever one or more of the following conditions exist:

(a) The entire cession has been canceled, nonrenewed, or revised and ceded indemnity and loss adjustment expense reserves after any nonrenewal, cancellation, or revision represent less than fifty percent of the comparable reserves that would have been ceded had the nonrenewal, cancellation, or revision not occurred;

(b) An authorized reinsurer has been replaced on an existing cession by an unauthorized reinsurer; or

(c) Collateral requirements previously established for unauthorized reinsurers have been reduced.

Subject to the materiality criteria, for purposes of subdivisions (2)(b) and (c) of this section, a report shall be filed if the result of the revision affects more than ten percent of the cession.

(3) The following information shall be disclosed in any report of a material nonrenewal, cancellation, or revision of ceded reinsurance agreements:

(a) The effective date of the nonrenewal, cancellation, or revision;

(b) The description of the transaction with an identification of the initiator thereof;

(c) The purpose of or reason for the transaction; and

(d) If applicable, the identity of the replacement reinsurers.

(4) Insurers shall report all material nonrenewals, cancellations, or revisions of ceded reinsurance agreements on a nonconsolidated basis unless the insurer is part of a consolidated group of insurers which utilizes a pooling arrangement or one-hundred-percent reinsurance agreement that affects the solvency and integrity of the insurer's reserves and the insurer ceded substantially all of its direct and assumed business to the pool. An insurer is deemed to have ceded substantially all of its direct and assumed business to a pool if the insurer has less than one million dollars total direct plus assumed written premiums during a calendar year that are not subject to a pooling arrangement and the net income of the business not subject to the pooling arrangement represents less than five percent of the insurer's capital and surplus.

44-6405 Uninsured motor vehicle, defined.

Uninsured motor vehicle shall mean a motor vehicle with respect to the ownership, operation, maintenance, or use of which:

(1) There is no bodily injury liability insurance or bond applicable at the time of the accident;

(2) There is bodily injury liability insurance or a bond applicable at the time of the accident but the insurer writing such insurance or bond (a) denies coverage or (b) is or becomes insolvent as described in section 44-2403 within four years after the time of the accident which occurred while the named insured's uninsured motorist coverage was in effect;

(3) The owner or operator is unknown and bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of an insured results from actual physical contact between such motor vehicle and the insured or a motor vehicle occupied by the insured; or

(4) The owner or operator is unknown and bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of an insured is caused by such motor vehicle without actual physical contact between such motor vehicle and the insured or a motor vehicle occupied by the insured if (a) the accident has been reported, as required by law, to the proper law enforcement authorities and (b) the facts of the accident can be corroborated by competent evidence provided by an independent and disinterested person and not by the insured or any person occupying the insured motor vehicle.

44-6406 Underinsured motor vehicle, defined.

Underinsured motor vehicle shall mean a motor vehicle with respect to the ownership, operation, maintenance, or use of which there is bodily injury liability insurance or a bond applicable at the time of the accident and the amount of the insurance or bond is less than or has been reduced by payments to persons, other than an insured, injured in the accident to less than the damages for bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death sustained by the insured. Underinsured motor vehicle shall not include an uninsured motor vehicle.

44-6407 Uninsured or underinsured motor vehicle; exclusions.

An uninsured or underinsured motor vehicle shall not include a motor vehicle:

(1) Insured under the liability coverage of the same policy of which the uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage is a part;

(2) Owned by, furnished, or available for the regular use of the named insured or any resident of the insured's household;

(3) Which is self-insured under sections 60-562 to 60-564 or is self-insured within the meaning of the motor vehicle financial responsibility law of any other state in which the motor vehicle is registered or any federal law which requires maintenance of financial responsibility;

(4) Which is owned by any government, political subdivision, or agency thereof; or

(5) Which is located and used as a residence or premises and not as a vehicle.

A ''regular use'' exclusion in an automobile insurance policy, which mirrors the statutory exclusion, reflects the public policy of this state and is not void as against public policy. Alsidez v. American Family Mut. Ins. Co., 282 Neb. 890, 807 N.W.2d 184 (2011).

Nebraska's Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act specifically excludes government-owned vehicles from the definition of ''underinsured motor vehicle'' and thus permits exclusion of government-owned vehicles from the definition of ''underinsured motor vehicle'' in an automobile insurance policy. Continental Western Ins. Co. v. Conn, 262 Neb. 147, 629 N.W.2d 494 (2001).

44-6408 Motor vehicle liability policy; uninsured and underinsured motor vehicle insurance coverages; when required.

(1) No policy insuring against liability imposed by law for bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death suffered by a natural person arising out of the ownership, operation, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle within the United States, its territories or possessions, or Canada shall be delivered, issued for delivery, or renewed with respect to any motor vehicle principally garaged in this state unless coverage is provided for the protection of persons insured who are legally entitled to recover compensatory damages for bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death from (a) the owner or operator of an uninsured motor vehicle in limits of twenty-five thousand dollars because of bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of one person in any one accident and, subject to such limit for one person, fifty thousand dollars because of bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of two or more persons in any one accident, and (b) the owner or operator of an underinsured motor vehicle in limits of twenty-five thousand dollars because of bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of one person in any one accident and, subject to such limit for one person, fifty thousand dollars because of bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of two or more persons in any one accident.

(2) At the written request of the named insured, the insurer shall provide higher limits of uninsured and underinsured motorist coverages in accordance with its rating plan and rules, except that in no event shall the insurer be required to provide limits higher than one hundred thousand dollars per person and three hundred thousand dollars per accident.

(3) After purchase of uninsured and underinsured motorist coverages, no insurer or any affiliated insurer shall be required to notify any policyholder in any renewal, reinstatement, substitute, amended, altered, modified, transfer, or replacement policy as to the availability of optional limits of such coverages. The named insured may, subject to the limitations of this section, make a written request for additional coverage or coverage more extensive than that provided in a prior policy.

An insurer that provides higher underinsured motorist coverage limits than are required by subsection (2) of this section does not thereby escape the minimum requirements of the Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act. Likewise, an insured who pays for higher coverage does not forfeit the protections of the act. Kline v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 277 Neb. 874, 766 N.W.2d 118 (2009).

This section does not prevent insurers from entering into agreements with insureds providing more underinsured motorist coverage limits than those required by subsection (2) of this section. Kline v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 277 Neb. 874, 766 N.W.2d 118 (2009).

An insurance company's decision to limit both its liability and uninsured coverage for a person ''using'' a vehicle with the consent of the insured to those circumstances in which the use involves the operation and maintenance of the vehicle does not violate public policy. Jones v. Shelter Mut. Ins. Cos., 274 Neb. 186, 738 N.W.2d 840 (2007).

The minimum limit of uninsured benefits for non-named insureds is $25,000. Jones v. Shelter Mut. Ins. Cos., 274 Neb. 186, 738 N.W.2d 840 (2007).

Under this section, when an insurer delivers, issues for delivery, or renews an automobile liability policy, the policy must provide underinsured motorist coverage if Nebraska is the state where the insured intends to keep the vehicle most often compared to any other state during the policy period. Blair v. State Farm Ins. Co., 269 Neb. 874, 697 N.W.2d 266 (2005).

A named driver exclusion will not be applied in a manner that will deny an insured party uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage when the subject of the exclusion is not responsible for the injury and is not seeking coverage. Hood v. AAA Motor Club Ins. Assn., 259 Neb. 63, 607 N.W.2d 814 (2000).

''Persons insured'' are those persons insured under the liability provisions of a motor vehicle policy. Allied Mut. Ins. Co. v. Action Elec. Co., Inc., 256 Neb. 691, 593 N.W.2d 275 (1999).

44-6409 Maximum liability; limits of liability; how construed.

(1) The maximum liability of the insurer under the uninsured motorist coverage or the underinsured motorist coverage shall be the amount of damages for bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death sustained by the insured less the amount paid to the insured by or for any person or organization which may be held legally liable for the bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death, but in no event shall the maximum liability of the insurer under either such coverage be more than the limits of the coverage provided.

(2) The limits of liability of uninsured motorist coverage and underinsured motorist coverage shall not be reduced by the amount of benefits paid under any first party medical payments coverage portion of the policy. The uninsured motorist coverage and underinsured motorist coverage shall be excess over, and shall not pay again, any medical expenses already paid under the first party medical payments coverage portion of the policy.

Pursuant to a 1990 amendment to this section (transferred from section 60-578), an insured's own carrier must compensate the insured to the limit of the carrier's underinsured motorist coverage if, after payments by any other legally liable person or organization, the insured still has not been fully compensated for his or her injuries. This provision does not apply to claims that accrued before the effective date of the amendment. Shkolnick v. American Family Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Neb. App. 61, 506 N.W.2d 356 (1993).

44-6410 Stacking of coverage; prohibited; exception.

Regardless of the number of vehicles involved, persons covered, claims made, vehicles or premiums shown on the policy, or premiums paid, the limits of liability for uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage for two or more motor vehicles insured under the same policy or separate policies shall not be added together, combined, or stacked to determine the limit of insurance coverage available to an injured person for any one accident except as provided in section 44-6411.

44-6411 Maximum amount of recovery; multiple policies; priority of payment.

(1) In the event an insured is entitled to uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage under more than one policy of motor vehicle liability insurance, the maximum amount an insured may recover shall not exceed the highest limit of any one such policy.

(2) In the event of bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of an insured while occupying a motor vehicle not owned by the insured, payment shall be made in the following order of priority, subject to the limitations in subsection (1) of this section: (a) The uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage on the occupied motor vehicle is primary; and (b) if such primary coverage is exhausted, other uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage available to the insured is excess.

(3) When multiple policies apply, payment shall be made in the following order of priority, subject to the limit of liability for each applicable policy:

(a) A policy covering a motor vehicle occupied by the injured person at the time of the accident;

(b) A policy covering a motor vehicle which causes bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of the insured while a pedestrian; and

(c) A policy covering a motor vehicle not involved in the accident with respect to which the injured person is an insured.

Priority-of-payment provisions are not applicable in a case where the passenger in a motor vehicle collision was not an insured under the insurance policy of the vehicle in which he was an occupant at the time of his injury. Accordingly, the passenger is not entitled to benefits under more than one policy. Jones v. Shelter Mut. Ins. Cos., 274 Neb. 186, 738 N.W.2d 840 (2007).

This section establishes the maximum recovery of an insured in the specific circumstances where he or she is entitled to coverage under more than one underinsured motorist policy and, further, establishes the priority by which payments under such policies are to be made. Nicholson v. General Cas. Co. of Wis., 255 Neb. 937, 587 N.W.2d 867 (1999).

Stacking of uninsured motorist coverages is prohibited, and an insured's maximum recovery of uninsured motorist benefits is limited to the highest limit of any one applicable policy. Weston v. Continental Western Ins. Co., 14 Neb. App. 956, 720 N.W.2d 904 (2006).

This section provides for the amount of recovery and the priority of payment when there are multiple policies. American States Ins. Co. v. Farm Bureau Ins. Co., 7 Neb. App. 507, 583 N.W.2d 358 (1998).

44-6412 Insurer; payment; rights of insurer; agreement to settle; notice; subrogation.

(1) In the event of payment under the uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage, the insurer making such payment shall, to the extent of such payment, be entitled to the proceeds of any settlement or judgment to the extent such settlement or judgment exceeds the amount paid under any applicable bodily injury liability policy or bond.

(2) If a tentative agreement to settle for liability limits has been reached with the owner or operator of an underinsured motor vehicle, written notice shall be given by certified or registered mail to the underinsured motorist coverage insurer by its insured. Such notice shall include written documentation of lost wages, medical bills, and written authorization to obtain reports from all employers and medical providers. Within thirty days of receipt of such notice, the underinsured motorist coverage insurer may substitute its payment to the insured for the tentative settlement amount. The underinsured motorist coverage insurer shall then be subrogated to the insured's right of recovery to the extent of such payment and any settlement under the underinsured motorist coverage. If the underinsured motorist coverage insurer fails to pay the insured the amount of the tentative settlement within thirty days of receipt of such notice, the underinsured motorist coverage insurer shall have no right of subrogation for any amount paid under the underinsured motorist coverage.

(3) Whenever an insurer makes payment under uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage because of an insurer insolvency, as described in section 44-2403, the paying insurer's right of recovery or reimbursement shall not include any rights either against the insured of such insolvent insurer, except for the amount which is in excess of the limits of liability of the policy of the insolvent insurer, or against a guaranty account established pursuant to the Nebraska Property and Liability Insurance Guaranty Association Act.

44-6413 Uninsured and underinsured motorist coverages; exceptions; exclusions; requirements; rules and regulations.

(1) The uninsured and underinsured motorist coverages provided in the Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act shall not apply to:

(a) Bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of the insured with respect to which the insured or his or her representative makes, without the written consent of the insurer, any settlement with or obtains any judgment against any person who may be legally liable for any injuries if such settlement adversely affects the rights of the insurer, except that this subdivision shall not apply to underinsured motorist coverage when the insured has given notice to the insurer, in compliance with subsection (2) of section 44-6412, and the insurer has failed to make the required payment to protect its right of subrogation;

(b) Bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of an insured while occupying a vehicle owned by, but not insured by, the named insured or a spouse or relative residing with the named insured;

(c) Bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of an insured while occupying an owned vehicle which is used as a public or livery conveyance and which is not insured as such;

(d) Bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of an insured through being struck by a vehicle owned by the named insured or a spouse or relative residing with the named insured; and

(e) Bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death of the insured with respect to which the applicable statute of limitations has expired on the insured's claim against the uninsured or underinsured motorist.

(2) Insurers providing motor vehicle liability insurance coverage on an excess or umbrella basis or incidental to some other basic coverage shall not be required to offer, provide, or make available coverage conforming to the Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act.

(3) An insurer may make underinsured motorist coverage a part of uninsured motorist coverage.

(4) Nothing in the Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act shall be construed to prevent an insurer from offering, making available, or providing coverage under terms and conditions more favorable to its insured or in limits higher than are required by the act.

(5) No policy subject to the Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act shall define insured, for purposes of the uninsured and underinsured coverages provided in the act, so as to exclude any person occupying the insured motor vehicle with the express or implied permission of an insured.

(6) The Director of Insurance shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations as are necessary to provide that the language relating to coverages described in the Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act is not unfair, inequitable, misleading, or deceptive and does not encourage misrepresentation of the coverage.

1. Statute of limitations
2. Miscellaneous

1. Statute of limitations

An insured must, within the statute of limitations and utilizing the procedures set forth in section 44-6412, file suit against or settle with all underinsured or uninsured tort-feasors involved in an automobile accident. Steffen v. Progressive Northern Ins. Co., 276 Neb. 378, 754 N.W.2d 730 (2008).

Subdivision (1)(e) of this section does not apply if an insured timely files a claim against an uninsured or underinsured motorist, because the statute of limitations on the insured's claim against the uninsured or underinsured motorist never expired. Reimers-Hild v. State, 274 Neb. 438, 741 N.W.2d 155 (2007).

Subsection (1)(e) of this section does not apply when an insured has settled his or her claim against an uninsured or underinsured motorist before the statute of limitations applicable to that claim would have expired. Reimers-Hild v. State, 274 Neb. 438, 741 N.W.2d 155 (2007).

An insured fails to comply with subdivision (1)(e) when the statute of limitations on her claim against the uninsured or underinsured motorist expires prior to the filing of the suit against her insurer. Dworak v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 269 Neb. 386, 693 N.W.2d 522 (2005).

Subdivision (1)(e) of this section applies in the situation where the insured's suit against the uninsured or underinsured motorist is dismissed without prejudice and the suit against the insurer is not filed within the applicable 4-year statute of limitations for actions in tort. Dworak v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 269 Neb. 386, 693 N.W.2d 522 (2005).

Subdivision (1)(e) of this section does not apply in situations where the insured files suit against the tort-feasor within the applicable 4-year statute of limitations for actions in tort. In such a situation, the insured's suit for uninsured or underinsured motorist benefits is analyzed under the auspices of the 5-year statute of limitations for actions upon written contracts. Dworak v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 269 Neb. 386, 693 N.W.2d 522 (2005).

Subdivision (1)(e) of this section serves to bar certain claims for uninsured and underinsured motorist coverage. Dworak v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 269 Neb. 386, 693 N.W.2d 522 (2005).

Subdivision (1)(e) serves as a prerequisite to an insured's suit against the insurer for uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage. Dworak v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 269 Neb. 386, 693 N.W.2d 522 (2005).

The dismissal of the insured's suit against the uninsured or underinsured motorist without prejudice does not toll the underlying 4-year statute of limitations for the purposes of subdivision (1)(e) of this section. Dworak v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 269 Neb. 386, 693 N.W.2d 522 (2005).

The purpose of subdivision (1)(e) is to protect the insurer under circumstances where it may have to pay uninsured or underinsured motorist benefits by making it the responsibility of the insured to preserve the cause of action against the tort-feasor in order to protect the insurer's rights against the tort-feasor. Dworak v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 269 Neb. 386, 693 N.W.2d 522 (2005).

Subsection (1)(e) of this section operates as a bar to an action for uninsured motorist benefits where the insured claimant does not commence an action against the tort-feasor within the applicable limitations period. Where the injured party claiming underinsured motorist benefits commences a timely claim against the tort-feasor, the 5-year statute of limitations for actions on written contracts set forth in section 25-205 applies, not subsection (1)(e) of this section. Snyder v. Case and EMCASCO Ins. Co., 259 Neb. 621, 611 N.W.2d 409 (2000).

This section is a specific statute addressing the time period within which an uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage claim must be brought against the uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage insurer, and it controls over section 25-205 (5-year statute of limitations) in situations where the applicable statute of limitations has expired on the insured's underlying claim against the uninsured or underinsured motorist. When the statute of limitations has not expired on the insured's underlying claim, section 25-205, which provides for a 5-year statute of limitations on written contracts, is the governing statute of limitations and this section is inapplicable. Schrader v. Farmers Mut. Ins. Co., 259 Neb. 87, 608 N.W.2d 194 (2000).

Subsection (1)(e) of this section operates as a statute of limitations by creating a specific limitation period for actions against insurers for uninsured motorist benefits. Subsection (1)(e) of this section limits liability of insurer to period of time during which insured still has viable claim against uninsured motorist. Kratochvil v. Motor Club Ins. Assn., 255 Neb. 977, 588 N.W.2d 565 (1999).

2. Miscellaneous

Unless one of the exclusions set forth in this section applies, an insured is entitled to recover for injuries sustained in any accident, so long as the injuries were caused by an uninsured or underinsured motor vehicle. In other words, the exclusions provided by the Uninsured and Underinsured Motorist Insurance Coverage Act in this section are the only exceptions permitted to the coverage mandated by the act. Kline v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 277 Neb. 874, 766 N.W.2d 118 (2009).

An uninsured or underinsured motorist policy that excluded coverage for vehicles owned by the insured, but not covered under ''this policy'' did not violate this section or public policy. Van Ert v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 276 Neb. 908, 758 N.W.2d 36 (2008).

If the insured is injured in a ''motor vehicle'' that the insured or a family member residing with the insured could have insured, but did not, then uninsured/underinsured motorist coverage will not be mandated for injuries arising out of that accident. Steffen v. Progressive Northern Ins. Co., 276 Neb. 378, 754 N.W.2d 730 (2008).

Subsection (1)(e) of this section does not require that the insured file an action against or settle with all motorists tangentially involved in an accident, and uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage is not barred where the person alleged to have been ''the uninsured or underinsured motorist'' was not, in fact a tort-feasor against whom the motorist had any ''claim.'' Steffen v. Progressive Northern Ins. Co., 276 Neb. 378, 754 N.W.2d 730 (2008).

Unless one of the exclusions set forth in this section applies, an insured is entitled to recover for injuries sustained in any accident, so long as the injuries were caused by an ''underinsured motor vehicle'' or an ''uninsured motor vehicle.'' Steffen v. Progressive Northern Ins. Co., 276 Neb. 378, 754 N.W.2d 730 (2008).

The purpose of subsection (1)(e) of this section is the protection of the insurer when it may have to pay uninsured or underinsured motorist benefits. This section makes it the responsibility of the insured to preserve the claim against the tort-feasor in order to protect the insurer's rights against the tort-feasor. Reimers-Hild v. State, 274 Neb. 438, 741 N.W.2d 155 (2007).

This section is irrelevant when the party seeking coverage under an uninsured motorist policy provision is not a named insured of that policy. Hillabrand v. American Fam. Mut. Ins. Co., 271 Neb. 585, 713 N.W.2d 494 (2006).

The term ''settlement'' as used in subsection (1)(a) of this section means that the parties to a controversy must come to an agreement that is a final resolution of the controversy. Horace Mann Cos. v. Pinaire, 248 Neb. 640, 538 N.W.2d 168 (1995).

Insurers providing excess or umbrella coverage need not provide uninsured motorist coverage, and insurers may make underinsured motorist coverage part of uninsured motorist coverage. American States Ins. Co. v. Farm Bureau Ins. Co., 7 Neb. App. 507, 583 N.W.2d 358 (1998).

Sections 44-6601 to 44-6608 shall be known and may be cited as the Insurance Fraud Act.

44-6602 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Insurance Fraud Act is to confront the problem of insurance fraud in Nebraska by facilitating the detection of insurance fraud, eliminating the occurrence of insurance fraud through the development of fraud prevention programs, authorizing imposition of civil penalties, authorizing restitution of fraudulently obtained insurance benefits, and reducing the amount of premium dollars used to pay fraudulent claims.

Source: Laws 1995, LB 385, § 2.

44-6603 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Insurance Fraud Act:

(1) Department means the Department of Insurance;

(2) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(3) Insurer means any person or entity transacting insurance as defined in section 44-102 with or without a certificate of authority issued by the director. Insurer also means health maintenance organizations, legal service insurance corporations, prepaid limited health service organizations, dental and other similar health service plans, discount medical plan organizations, and entities licensed pursuant to the Intergovernmental Risk Management Act and the Comprehensive Health Insurance Pool Act. Insurer also means an employer who is approved by the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court as a self-insurer; and

(4) Statement includes, but is not limited to, any notice, statement, proof of loss, bill of lading, receipt for payment, invoice, account, estimate of property damages, bill for services, diagnosis, prescription, hospital or medical records, X-rays, test result, or other evidence of loss, injury, or expense, whether oral, written, or computer-generated.

44-6604 Fraudulent insurance acts; enumerated.

For purposes of the Insurance Fraud Act, a person or entity commits a fraudulent insurance act if he or she:

(1) Knowingly and with intent to defraud or deceive presents, causes to be presented, or prepares with knowledge or belief that it will be presented to or by an insurer, or any agent of an insurer, any statement as part of, in support of, or in denial of a claim for payment or other benefit from an insurer or pursuant to an insurance policy knowing that the statement contains any false, incomplete, or misleading information concerning any fact or thing material to a claim;

(2) Assists, abets, solicits, or conspires with another to prepare or make any statement that is intended to be presented to or by an insurer or person in connection with or in support of any claim for payment or other benefit from an insurer or pursuant to an insurance policy knowing that the statement contains any false, incomplete, or misleading information concerning any fact or thing material to the claim;

(3) Makes any false or fraudulent representations as to the death or disability of a policy or certificate holder or a covered person in any statement or certificate for the purpose of fraudulently obtaining money or benefit from an insurer;

(4) Knowingly and willfully transacts any contract, agreement, or instrument which violates this section;

(5) Receives money for the purpose of purchasing insurance and converts the money to the person's own benefit;

(6) Willfully embezzles, abstracts, purloins, misappropriates, or converts money, funds, premiums, credits, or other property of an insurer or person engaged in the business of insurance;

(7) Knowingly and with intent to defraud or deceive issues or possesses fake or counterfeit insurance policies, certificates of insurance, insurance identification cards, or insurance binders;

(8) Knowingly and with intent to defraud or deceive makes any false entry of a material fact in or pertaining to any document or statement filed with or required by the department;

(9) Knowingly and with intent to defraud or deceive removes, conceals, alters, diverts, or destroys assets or records of an insurer or person engaged in the business of insurance or attempts to remove, conceal, alter, divert, or destroy assets or records of an insurer or person engaged in the business of insurance;

(10) Knowingly and with the intent to defraud or deceive provides false, incomplete, or misleading information to an insurer concerning the number, location, or classification of employees for the purpose of lessening or reducing the premium otherwise chargeable for workers' compensation insurance coverage;

(11) Willfully operates as or aids and abets another operating as a discount medical plan organization in violation of subsection (1) of section 44-8306; or

(12) Willfully collects fees for purported membership in a discount medical plan but purposefully fails to provide the promised benefits.

44-6605 Immunity from civil liability.

(1) Any person or entity, including the department, an insurer, or a person employed by or authorized by an insurer whose activities include the investigation of or reporting of suspected insurance fraud, acting without malice, fraudulent intent, or bad faith shall be immune from civil liability for furnishing any information relating to suspected fraudulent insurance acts to:

(a) The director or his or her agents or employees;

(b) Law enforcement officials or their agents or employees;

(c) The Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court or its agents or employees;

(d) Persons or entities subject to Chapter 44 or their agents or employees; or

(e) The National Association of Insurance Commissioners or any organization established to detect and prevent fraudulent insurance acts or its agents, employees, or designees.

(2) This section does not abrogate or modify in any way any common-law or statutory privilege or immunity.

44-6606 Insurance Fraud Prevention Division; powers and duties; public inspection; limitations; fee.

(1) In order to investigate activities involving insurance fraud, the director shall appoint a sufficient staff to be known as the Insurance Fraud Prevention Division.

(2)(a) As specified by the director, division investigators who are certified law enforcement officers of the State of Nebraska shall be vested with the authority and power of a peace officer to carry out the laws of this state administered by the director. The general laws of this state applicable to peace officers shall be applicable to such investigators. Such investigators shall be empowered, among other powers, to search and arrest with or without a warrant, file and serve any lien, seize property, serve and return a summons, warrant, or subpoena issued by a court of law or the director, and bring an offender before any court with jurisdiction in this state, except that such investigators shall not be authorized to enforce any laws other than laws administered by the director.

(b) Subdivision (a) of this subsection shall not be construed to restrict any other law enforcement officer of this state from enforcing any state law, insurance or otherwise.

(3) The division shall:

(a) Initiate independent inquiries and conduct independent investigations when the division has cause to believe that an act of insurance fraud has been or is currently being committed;

(b) Review reports or complaints of alleged insurance fraud to determine whether such reports require further investigation and to conduct such investigation;

(c) Conduct independent examinations of alleged fraudulent insurance acts and undertake independent studies to determine the extent of fraudulent insurance acts; and

(d) Cooperate with federal, state, and local law enforcement, prosecuting attorneys, and the Attorney General in the investigation and prosecution of insurance fraud violations. At the request of the division, through the director, the Attorney General shall prosecute fraudulent insurance acts through criminal or civil proceedings as authorized by the Insurance Fraud Act if, after investigation, the Attorney General is convinced that there is sufficient legal merit to justify the proceeding. The Attorney General, after consultation with the director, may refer cases of fraudulent insurance acts to a special assistant attorney general or county attorney for prosecution. Any costs directly associated with the prosecution and attorney's fees for any special assistant attorney general shall be paid by the division.

(4)(a) The director or his or her designee may: Administer oaths and affirmations; subpoena witnesses; compel attendance of witnesses; take evidence; and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, agreements, documents, records, and other tangible things which constitute or contain evidence that is deemed relevant or material to an investigation or enforcement of the Insurance Fraud Act, when it shall appear that such action is necessary and proper. The attendance of witnesses and the production of records shall be required from any place within the State of Nebraska. Witnesses summoned by the director or by his or her designee shall be paid the same fees that are paid witnesses in the courts of the State of Nebraska and mileage at the rate provided in section 81-1176.

(b) A subpoena of the director or of his or her designee may be served by any person designated in the subpoena to serve it. Service upon a natural person may be made by certified mail or personal delivery of the subpoena to him or her. Service may be made upon a domestic or foreign insurer, corporation, or partnership, upon a domestic or foreign limited liability company, or upon any other unincorporated association which is subject to suit under a common name, or any other entity by delivering the subpoena to an officer, a managing or general agent, a member, or any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process. The affidavit of the person serving the subpoena entered on a true copy thereof by the person serving it shall be proof of service.

(c) If any person refuses to obey a subpoena issued by the director or by his or her designee, the director or his or her designee may invoke the aid of any court of the State of Nebraska within the jurisdiction of which the investigation is carried on or of which the subpoenaed person is an inhabitant, carries on business, or may otherwise be found, to compel compliance with such subpoena.

(d) The court may issue an order requiring the subpoenaed person to appear before the director or his or her designee to produce records, if so ordered, or to give testimony concerning the matter under investigation. Nothing in this section shall be construed to suspend or otherwise interfere with the operation of the Free Flow of Information Act.

(e) Any failure to obey the order of the court may be punished by the court as contempt. All process in any such case may be served in the judicial district in which the subpoenaed person is an inhabitant, carries on business, or may otherwise be found.

(5) If the division seeks evidence, documentation, or related materials located outside this state pertinent to an investigation or examination, it may designate representatives or deputies, including officials of the state where the matter is located, to secure and inspect the evidence, documentation, or materials on its behalf.

(6) The papers, documents, reports, and evidence of the department regarding the subject of an investigation of insurance fraud shall not be subject to public inspection for so long as the director deems reasonably necessary to complete the investigation or to protect the person investigated from unwarranted injury or so long as the director deems it to be in the public interest. Such papers, documents, reports, and evidence regarding the subject of an investigation of insurance fraud shall not be subject to subpoena until they are opened for public inspection by the department, unless the director consents, or until after notice to the department and a hearing, the court determines the department would not be unnecessarily hindered by such subpoena. Department investigators shall not be subject to subpoena in civil actions by any court of this state to testify concerning any matter of which they have knowledge regarding a pending insurance fraud investigation by the department.

(7)(a) The director may provide the papers, documents, reports, and evidence described in subsection (6) of this section to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information.

(b) The director may receive papers, documents, reports, and evidence described in subsection (6) of this section from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain as confidential or privileged information received pursuant to this subdivision if received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subdivision, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subdivision as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

(8)(a) On or before March 1 each year, each insurer as defined in section 44-103 holding a certificate of authority to transact the business of insurance in this state shall pay a fee as established by the director not to exceed two hundred dollars to the director to be remitted to the State Treasurer for credit to the Department of Insurance Cash Fund, which fees may be appropriated only to carry out the purposes of the Insurance Fraud Act. Assessment associations and unincorporated mutual associations shall not be subject to this subsection.

(b) On or before March 1 each year, each employer who is approved by the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court as a self-insurer shall pay a fee as established by the director not to exceed one thousand dollars to the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court to be remitted to the State Treasurer for credit to the Department of Insurance Cash Fund, which fees may be appropriated only to carry out the purposes of the Insurance Fraud Act. Willful refusal by any such self-insurer to pay the fee required under this subdivision shall be grounds for the compensation court to suspend or revoke the approval of such self-insurer to provide self-insurance coverage of workers' compensation liability pursuant to section 48-145.

44-6607 Civil penalty; costs; section, how construed.

(1) A person or entity who is found by a court of competent jurisdiction, pursuant to an action initiated by the Director of Insurance, to have committed a fraudulent insurance act set forth in section 44-6604 is subject to a civil penalty not to exceed five thousand dollars for the first violation, ten thousand dollars for the second violation, and fifteen thousand dollars for each subsequent violation. An action under this section shall be in lieu of a prosecution under section 28-631.

(2) Costs and expenses incurred in any investigation or other action arising out of a violation under the Insurance Fraud Act may be sought in any judgment, court decree, or other final result. Any recovered costs, except civil or criminal penalties, shall be deposited by the director in the fund from which the costs were expended. The court may make such additional orders or judgments as may be necessary to restore to any person in interest any compensation which may have been acquired by means of any act prohibited in section 44-6604.

(3) This section shall not be construed to prohibit the director and the alleged violator from entering into a written agreement upon commencement of a civil action in which the alleged violator does not admit or deny the charges but consents to payment of the civil penalty. A consent agreement may not be used in a subsequent civil or criminal proceeding relating to any violation of the act.

44-6608 Act, how construed.

The Insurance Fraud Act does not:

(1) Preempt the authority or relieve the duty of any other law enforcement agency to investigate, examine, and prosecute suspected violations of law;

(2) Prevent or prohibit a person from voluntarily disclosing any information concerning insurance fraud to any law enforcement agency;

(3) Limit any of the powers granted elsewhere by the laws of this state to the Director of Insurance or the Department of Insurance to investigate and examine possible violations of law and to take appropriate action; or

(4) Limit any of the powers granted elsewhere by the laws of this state to the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Court to investigate and examine possible violations of law and to take appropriate action.

44-6702 Legislative intent.

The Legislature recognizes that a pooling mechanism offers the potential to purchase health care at more affordable prices. The Legislature further recognizes that health care purchasing pools do not require that all groups have the same type of health care coverage or benefits and that many options are available.

It is the intent of the Legislature to establish a process to determine whether there should be a coordinated purchasing process for some or all publicly sponsored health care coverage in order to reduce costs and to promote the most efficient methods of financing and coordinating health care services. It is also the intent of the Legislature that the process established also determine whether a health care purchasing pool if established should be made available to individuals, small employer groups, and other associations.

44-6825 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-6825 to 44-6833 shall be known and may be cited as the Managed Care Emergency Services Act.

Source: Laws 1997, LB 279, § 1; R.S.Supp.,1997, § 44-6801; Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 17.

44-6826 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Managed Care Emergency Services Act is to establish standards for health carriers that offer managed care plans to provide for access by covered persons to and delivery of emergency services.

Source: Laws 1997, LB 279, § 2; R.S.Supp.,1997, § 44-6802; Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 18.

44-6827 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Managed Care Emergency Services Act:

(1) Closed plan means a managed care plan that requires covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(2) Covered benefits means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan;

(3) Covered person means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee, or other individual participating in a health benefit plan;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(5) Emergency medical condition means a medical or behavioral condition, the onset of which is sudden, that manifests itself by symptoms of sufficient severity, including, but not limited to, severe pain, that a prudent layperson, possessing an average knowledge of medicine and health, could reasonably expect the absence of immediate medical attention to result in (a) placing the health of the person afflicted with such condition in serious jeopardy or, in the case of a behavioral condition, placing the health of such persons or others in serious jeopardy, (b) serious impairment to such person's bodily functions, (c) serious impairment of any bodily organ or part of such person, or (d) serious disfigurement of such person;

(6) Emergency services means health care services necessary to screen and stabilize a covered person in connection with an emergency medical condition;

(7) Facility means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including, but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory, and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings. Facilities does not include physicians' offices;

(8) Health benefit plan means a policy, contract, certificate, or agreement entered into, offered, or issued by any person to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation insurance coverage;

(9) Health care professional means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, certified, or registered to perform specified health care services consistent with state law;

(10) Health care provider means a health care professional or a facility;

(11) Health care services means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure, or relief of a health condition, illness, injury, or disease;

(12) Health carrier means an entity that contracts, offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, a prepaid dental service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services. Health carrier does not include a workers' compensation insurer, risk management pool, or self-insured employer who contracts for services to be provided through a managed care plan certified pursuant to section 48-120.02;

(13) Managed care plan means a health benefit plan, including closed plans and open plans, that either requires a covered person to use or creates financial incentives by providing a more favorable deductible, coinsurance, or copayment level for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with, or employed by the health carrier;

(14) Network means the group of participating providers providing services to a managed care plan;

(15) Open plan means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(16) Participating provider means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier;

(17) Person means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, joint-stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing; and

(18) Stabilize means when, with respect to transfer to another facility, the examining physician at a hospital emergency department where an individual has sought treatment for an emergency medical condition has determined, within reasonable medical probability:

(a) With respect to an emergency medical condition, that no material deterioration of the condition is likely to result from or occur during a transfer of the individual from the facility; and

(b) The receiving facility has available space and qualified personnel for the treatment of the individual and has agreed to accept transfer of the individual and provide appropriate medical treatment.

44-6828 Applicability of act.

The Managed Care Emergency Services Act applies to all health carriers that offer managed care plans.

44-6829 Health carrier; emergency services; how treated.

(1) A health carrier which provides a covered benefit for emergency services is, subject to the terms and conditions of the health benefit plan, responsible for charges for medically necessary emergency services provided to a covered person, including services furnished outside the network and services deemed approved under subsection (2) of this section.

(2) If a treating physician or other emergency department personnel who have provided emergency services to a covered person determine that additional medically necessary services are promptly needed by the covered person and they have requested health carrier approval for such services, the health carrier is deemed to have approved the request if the treating physician or other emergency department personnel involved:

(a) Has made a reasonable effort to contact the individual at the health carrier authorized to approve such requests and the health carrier has not provided access to that individual; or

(b) Has requested authorization from the individual at the health carrier authorized to approve such requests and the individual has not denied authorization within thirty minutes after the time the request was made, unless the health carrier can document that it had made a good faith effort but was unable to reach the emergency physician within thirty minutes after receiving a request for authorization.

A request which is deemed approved under this subsection shall be treated as approval for any medically necessary covered benefits that are required to treat the medical condition identified by the treating physician or other emergency department personnel.

(3) A health carrier may impose a reasonable copayment for emergency services to deter inappropriate use of services of hospital emergency departments if the copayment is the same without regard to whether the health care provider has a contractual or other arrangement with the health carrier.

44-6830 Health carrier violation; notice; hearing.

If the director finds that any health carrier doing business in this state is engaging in any violation of the Managed Care Emergency Services Act and that a proceeding in respect thereto would be in the public interest, the director shall issue and serve upon such health carrier a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of hearing thereon, which notice shall set a hearing date not less than ten days after the date of the notice.

44-6831 Violation; penalty.

If, after the hearing, the director finds a health carrier has violated the Managed Care Emergency Services Act, the director shall reduce his or her findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the health carrier charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the health carrier to cease and desist from engaging in the violation and the director may order any one or more of the following:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of thirty thousand dollars, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of the Managed Care Emergency Services Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than fifteen thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority if the health carrier knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of the act.

44-6832 Violation of cease and desist order; penalty.

Any health carrier who violates a cease and desist order of the director under section 44-6831 may after notice and hearing and upon order of the director be subject to:

(1) A monetary penalty of not more than thirty thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority.

44-6833 Rules and regulations.

44-6847 Emergency services; facility, bill; limitation.

If a covered person receives emergency services at any health care facility, the facility shall not bill the covered person in excess of any deductible, copayment, or coinsurance amount applicable to in-network services pursuant to the covered person's health benefits plan.

Source: Laws 2020, LB997, § 14.

44-6848 Emergency services; health care provider, bill; limitation.

If a covered person receives emergency services at an in-network or out-of-network health care facility, the health care provider performing those services shall not bill the covered person in excess of any deductible, copayment, or coinsurance amount applicable to in-network services pursuant to the covered person's health benefits plan.

Source: Laws 2020, LB997, § 15.

44-6849 Emergency services; insurer; duties; payment; presumed reasonable; dispute resolution procedure.

(1) If a covered person receives emergency services at an in-network or out-of-network health care facility, the insurer shall ensure that the covered person incurs no greater out-of-pocket costs than the covered person would have incurred with an in-network health care provider for covered services.

(2) With respect to emergency services at an in-network or out-of-network health care facility, if the out-of-network health care provider bills an insurer directly, any reimbursement paid by the insurer shall be paid directly to the out-of-network health care provider. The insurer shall provide the out-of-network health care provider with a written remittance of payment that specifies the proposed reimbursement and the applicable deductible, copayment, or coinsurance amounts owed by the covered person.

(3) If emergency services provided at an in-network or out-of-network health care facility are performed, the out-of-network health care provider may bill the insurer for the services rendered. The insurer may pay the billed amount. A claim or a payment shall be presumed reasonable if it is based on the higher of (a) the contracted rate under any then-existing in-network contractual relationship between the insurer and the out-of-network health care provider for the same or similar services or (b) one hundred seventy-five percent of the payment rate for medicare services received from the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services for the same or similar services in the same geographic area. If the out-of-network health care provider deems the payment made by the insurer unreasonable, the out-of-network health care provider shall return payment to the insurer and utilize the dispute resolution procedure under section 44-6850.

44-6850 Settlement, negotiation; mediation, when.

(1) If an insurer or an out-of-network health care provider provides notification that it considers a claim or payment to be not reasonable, the insurer and the health care provider shall have thirty days after the date of such notification to negotiate a settlement. If a settlement has not been reached after such thirty-day period, the insurer and the health care provider shall engage in mediation in accordance with the Uniform Mediation Act. The insurer may attempt to negotiate a final reimbursement amount with the out-of-network health care provider which differs from the amount paid by the insurer pursuant to this section.

(2) Following completion of the mediation process, the cost of mediation shall be split evenly and paid by the insurer and the health care provider.

(3) Mediation shall not be used when the insurer and the health care provider agree to a separate payment arrangement.

(2) Health benefit plan does not include one or more, or any combination, of the following:

(a) Coverage only for accident or disability income insurance, or any combination thereof;

(b) Coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance;

(c) Liability insurance, including general liability insurance and automobile liability insurance;

(d) Workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(e) Automobile medical payment insurance;

(f) Credit-only insurance;

(g) Coverage for onsite medical clinics; and

(h) Other similar insurance coverage, specified in federal regulations, under which benefits for medical care are secondary or incidental to other insurance benefits.

(3) Health benefit plan does not include the following benefits if they are provided under a separate policy, certificate, or contract of insurance or are otherwise not an integral part of the plan:

(a) Limited-scope dental or vision benefits;

(b) Benefits for long-term care, nursing home care, home health care, community-based care, or any combination thereof; and

(c) Such other similar, limited benefits as are specified in federal regulations.

(4) Health benefit plan does not include the following benefits if the benefits are provided under a separate policy, certificate, or contract of insurance, there is no coordination between the provision of the benefits and any exclusion of benefits under any group health benefit plan maintained by the same plan sponsor, and such benefits are paid with respect to an event without regard to whether benefits are provided with respect to such an event under any group health plan maintained by the same plan sponsor:

(a) Coverage only for a specified disease or illness; and

(b) Hospital indemnity or other fixed indemnity insurance.

(5) Health benefit plan does not include the following if it is offered as a separate policy, certificate, or contract of insurance:

(a) Medicare supplemental health insurance as defined under section 1882(g)(1) of the Social Security Act;

(b) Coverage supplemental to the coverage provided under 10 U.S.C. chapter 55, as such chapter existed on January 1, 2003; and

44-6911 Late enrollee, defined.

Late enrollee means an eligible employee or dependent who requests enrollment in a health benefit plan following the initial enrollment period during which the individual is entitled to enroll under the terms of the health benefit plan if the initial enrollment period is a period of at least thirty days. An eligible employee or dependent shall not be considered a late enrollee if:

(1) The individual meets each of the following:

(a) The individual was covered under creditable coverage at the time of the initial enrollment;

(b) The individual lost coverage under creditable coverage as a result of termination of employment or eligibility, reduction in the number of hours of employment, the involuntary termination of the creditable coverage, death of a spouse, divorce, or legal separation; and

(c) The individual requests enrollment within thirty days after termination of the creditable coverage;

(2) The individual is employed by an employer which offers multiple health benefit plans and the individual elects a different plan during an open enrollment period;

(3) A court has ordered coverage be provided for a spouse or minor or dependent child under a covered employee's health benefit plan and request for enrollment is made within thirty days after issuance of the court order; or

(4) The individual had coverage under a COBRA continuation provision and the coverage under that provision was exhausted.

44-6915 Preexisting condition, defined.

Preexisting condition means a condition whether physical or mental, regardless of the cause of the condition, for which medical advice, diagnosis, care, or treatment was recommended or received within the six-month period ending on the enrollment date. Genetic information shall not be treated as a condition for which a preexisting condition exclusion may be imposed in the absence of a diagnosis of the condition related to such information.

Source: Laws 1997, LB 862, § 15; Laws 2000, LB 1253, § 40.

44-6915.01 Waiting period, defined.

Waiting period means the period that must pass with respect to an individual before the individual is eligible to be covered for benefits under the terms of the health benefit plan. If an individual enrolls as a late enrollee or on a special enrollment date, any period before such late or special enrollment is not a waiting period.

Source: Laws 2000, LB 1253, § 41.

44-6916 Health carrier; health benefit plan; restrictions; duties; preexisting condition exclusion; late enrollee; when.

(1) A health carrier shall not:

(a) Offer coverage to only certain individuals in an employer group or to only a part of the group except in the case of late enrollees;

(b) Require any individual to pay a premium which is greater than such premium for a similarly situated individual enrolled in the health benefit plan on the basis of any health-status-related factor in relation to the individual or a dependent; or

(c) Establish rules for eligibility and continued eligibility of any individual to enroll under the terms of the health benefit plan based on a health-status-related factor of the individual or a dependent.

(2) A health benefit plan shall not deny, exclude, or limit benefits for a covered individual for losses incurred more than twelve months, or eighteen months in the case of a late enrollee, following the enrollment date of the individual's coverage due to a preexisting condition or the first date of the waiting period for enrollment if that date is earlier than the enrollment date. Genetic information shall not be treated as a preexisting condition unless there is a diagnosis of the condition related to such information. A health benefit plan shall not define a preexisting condition more restrictively than as defined in section 44-6915. A health benefit plan shall not impose any preexisting condition exclusion relating to pregnancy as a preexisting condition.

(3) A health benefit plan shall not impose any preexisting condition exclusion:

(a) To an individual who, as of the last day of the thirty-day period beginning with the date of birth, is covered under creditable coverage, and the individual had creditable coverage that was continuous to a date not more than sixty-three days prior to the enrollment date of new coverage; or

(b) To a child less than eighteen years of age who is adopted or placed for adoption and who, as of the last day of the thirty-day period beginning on the date of the adoption or placement for adoption, is covered under creditable coverage, and the child had creditable coverage that was continuous to a date not more than sixty-three days prior to the enrollment date of new coverage.

(4) A health carrier shall waive any time period applicable to a preexisting condition exclusion or limitation period with respect to particular services in a health benefit plan for the aggregate period of time an individual was previously covered by creditable coverage that provided benefits with respect to such services if the creditable coverage was continuous to a date not more than sixty-three days prior to the enrollment date of new coverage. The period of continuous coverage shall not include any waiting period or affiliation period for the effective date of the new coverage applied by the plan sponsor or the health carrier. This subsection shall not preclude application of any waiting period applicable to all new enrollees under the health benefit plan.

(5)(a) A health carrier shall permit an eligible employee or dependent, who requests enrollment following the open enrollment opportunity, to enroll, and the eligible employee or dependent shall not be considered a late enrollee if the eligible employee or dependent:

(i) Was covered under another health benefit plan at the time the eligible employee or dependent was eligible to enroll;

(ii) Stated in writing at the time of the open enrollment period that coverage under another health benefit plan was the reason for declining enrollment but only if the health benefit plan or health carrier required such a written statement and provided a notice of the consequences of such written statement;

(iii) Has lost coverage under another health benefit plan as a result of the termination of employment, the termination of the other health benefit plan's coverage, death of a spouse, legal separation, or divorce or was under a continuation-of-coverage policy or contract available under federal law and the coverage was exhausted; and

(iv) Requests enrollment within thirty days after the termination of coverage under the other health benefit plan.

(b)(i) If a health carrier issues a health benefit plan and makes coverage available to a dependent of an eligible employee and such dependent becomes a dependent of the eligible employee through marriage, birth, adoption, or placement for adoption, then such health benefit plan shall provide for a dependent special enrollment period during which the dependent may be enrolled under the health benefit plan and, in the case of the birth or adoption of a child, the spouse of an eligible employee may be enrolled if otherwise eligible for coverage.

(ii) A dependent special enrollment period shall be a period of not less than thirty days and shall begin on the later of (A) the date such dependent coverage is available or (B) the date of the marriage, birth, adoption, or placement for adoption.

(iii) If an eligible employee seeks to enroll a dependent during the first thirty days of such a dependent special enrollment period, the coverage of the dependent shall become effective:

(A) In the case of marriage, not later than the first day of the first month beginning after the date the completed request for enrollment is received;

(B) In the case of the birth of a dependent, as of the date of birth; and

(C) In the case of a dependent's adoption or placement for adoption, the date of such adoption or placement for adoption.

(6)(a) A health maintenance organization which offers health insurance coverage in connection with a group health plan and which does not impose any preexisting condition exclusion with respect to any particular coverage option may impose an affiliation period for such coverage option but only if:

(i) Such period is applied uniformly without regard to any health-status-related factors; and

(ii) Such period does not exceed two months or, in the case of a late enrollee, three months.

(b) An affiliation period under a group health plan shall run concurrently with any waiting period under the group health plan.

(c) A health maintenance organization may use alternative methods, from those described in subdivision (6)(a) of this section, to address adverse selection, as approved by the director.

44-6917 Health benefit plan; renewable; exceptions.

(1) A health benefit plan shall be renewable with respect to all eligible employees or dependents, at the option of the plan sponsor, except in any of the following cases:

(a) The plan sponsor has failed to pay premiums or contributions in accordance with the terms of the health benefit plan or the health carrier has not received timely premium payments;

(b) The plan sponsor has performed an act or practice that constitutes fraud or made an intentional misrepresentation of material fact under the terms of the coverage;

(c) Noncompliance with the health carrier's minimum participation requirements;

(d) Noncompliance with the health carrier's employer contribution requirements;

(e) A health carrier decides to discontinue offering a particular type of group health benefit plan in this state. A health carrier discontinuing such plan shall:

(i) Provide advance notice of its decision to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which it is licensed;

(ii) Provide notice of the decision not to renew coverage to all affected plan sponsors, participants, and beneficiaries, and to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which an affected insured individual is known to reside, at least ninety days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans by the health carrier. Notice to the director shall be provided at least three working days prior to the notice to the affected plan sponsors, participants, and beneficiaries;

(iii) Offer to each plan sponsor provided the type of group health benefit plan the option to purchase all other health benefit plans currently being offered by the health carrier to plan sponsors in this state; and

(iv) In exercising the option to discontinue the particular type of group health benefit plan and in offering the option of coverage under subdivision (1)(e)(iii) of this section, act uniformly without regard to the claims experience of those plan sponsors or any health-status-related factor relating to any participants or beneficiaries covered or new participants or beneficiaries who may become eligible for such coverage;

(f) A health carrier decides to discontinue offering and nonrenews all its health benefit plans delivered or issued for delivery to plan sponsors in this state. A health carrier that discontinues such plans shall:

(i) Provide advance notice of its decision to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which it is licensed;

(ii) Provide notice of the decision not to renew coverage to all affected plan sponsors, participants, and beneficiaries, and to the commissioner of insurance in each state in which an affected insured individual is known to reside, at least one hundred eighty days prior to the nonrenewal of any health benefit plans by the health carrier. Notice to the director shall be provided at least three working days prior to the notice to the affected plan sponsors, participants, and beneficiaries; and

(iii) Discontinue all health insurance issued or delivered for issuance in the state's employer market and not renew coverage under any health benefit plan issued to an employer; and

(g) The director finds that the continuation of the coverage would:

(i) Not be in the best interests of the policyholders or certificate holders; or

(ii) Impair the health carrier's ability to meet its contractual obligations.

(2) A health carrier that elects not to renew all of its health benefit plans in the state under subdivision (1)(f) of this section shall be prohibited from writing new business in the large employer market in this state for a period of five years after the date of notice to the director.

(3) A health carrier offering coverage through a network plan shall not be required to offer coverage or accept applications pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of this section in the case of the following:

(a) To an eligible person who no longer resides, lives, or works in the service area of the health carrier or in an area for which the health carrier is authorized to do business, but only if coverage is terminated under this section uniformly without regard to any health-status-related factor of covered individuals; or

(b) To a plan sponsor that no longer has any enrollee in connection with such plan who lives, resides, or works in the service area of the health carrier or in an area for which the health carrier is authorized to do business.

44-6917.01 Certification of creditable coverage.

(1) Health carriers shall provide written certification of creditable coverage to individuals in accordance with subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The certification of creditable coverage shall be provided:

(a) At the time an individual ceases to be covered under the health benefit plan or otherwise becomes covered under a COBRA continuation provision;

(b) In the case of an individual who becomes covered under a COBRA continuation provision, at the time the individual ceases to be covered under that provision; and

(c) At the time a request is made on behalf of an individual if the request is made not later than twenty-four months after the date of cessation of coverage described in subdivision (2)(a) or (b) of this section, whichever is later.

(3) Health carriers may provide the certification of creditable coverage required under subdivision (2)(a) of this section at a time consistent with notices required under any applicable COBRA continuation provision.

(4) The certificate of creditable coverage required to be provided pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall contain:

(a) Written certification of the period of creditable coverage of the individual under the health benefit plan and the coverage, if any, under the applicable COBRA continuation provision; and

(b) The waiting period, if any, and, if applicable, affiliation period imposed with respect to the individual for any coverage under the health benefit plan.

(5) To the extent medical care under a group health plan consists of group health insurance coverage, the plan is deemed to have satisfied the certification requirement under subsection (1) of this section if the health carrier offering the coverage provides for certification in accordance with subsection (2) of this section.

(6)(a) If an individual enrolls in a group health plan that uses the alternative method of counting creditable coverage pursuant to subdivision (6)(c) of section 44-6916 and the individual provides a certificate of coverage that was provided to the individual pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, on request of the group health plan, the entity that issued the certification to the individual promptly shall disclose to the group health plan information on the classes and categories of health benefits available under the entity's health benefit plan.

(b) The entity providing the information pursuant to subdivision (6)(a) of this section may charge the requesting group health plan the reasonable cost of disclosing the information.

HEALTH CARE PROFESSIONAL CREDENTIALING VERIFICATION ACT

Section

44-7001 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7001 to 44-7013 shall be known and may be cited as the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 26.

44-7002 Purpose and intent.

The Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act requires a health carrier to establish a comprehensive health care professional credentialing verification program to ensure that its participating health care professionals meet specific minimum standards of professional qualification. The standards set out in the act address the initial credentialing verification and subsequent recredentialing process.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 27.

44-7003 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act:

(1) Closed plan means a managed care plan that requires a covered person to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(2) Covered person means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee, or other individual participating in a health benefit plan;

(3) Credentialing verification means the process of obtaining and verifying information about a health care professional, and evaluating that health care professional, when that health care professional applies to become a participating provider in a managed care plan offered by a health carrier;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(5) Facility means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including, but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory, and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings. Facility does not include physicians' offices;

(6) Health benefit plan means a policy, contract, certificate, or agreement entered into, offered, or issued by any person to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation insurance coverage;

(7) Health care professional means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, certified, or registered to perform specified health services consistent with state law;

(8) Health care provider or provider means a health care professional or a facility;

(9) Health care services or health services means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure, or relief of a health condition, illness, injury, or disease;

(10) Health carrier means an entity that contracts, offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, a prepaid dental service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services. Health carrier does not include a workers' compensation insurer, risk management pool, or self-insured employer who contracts for services to be provided through a managed care plan certified pursuant to section 48-120.02;

(11) Managed care plan means a health benefit plan, including closed plans and open plans, that either requires a covered person to use or creates financial incentives by providing a more favorable deductible, coinsurance, or copayment level for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with, or employed by the health carrier;

(12) Open plan means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(13) Participating provider means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier;

(14) Person means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint-stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing;

(15) Primary verification means verification by the health carrier of a health care professional's credentials based upon evidence obtained from the issuing source of the credential; and

(16) Secondary verification means verification by the health carrier of a health care professional's credentials based upon evidence obtained by means other than direct contact with the issuing source of the credential, such as copies of certificates provided by the applying health care professional.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 28.

44-7004 Applicability of act.

The Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act applies to health carriers that offer closed plans or combination plans having a closed component.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 29.

44-7005 Use of nationally recognized private accrediting entities; authorized.

The director may recognize accreditation by one or more nationally recognized private accrediting entities, with established and maintained standards, as evidence of meeting some or all of the requirements of the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act. A recognized accrediting entity shall make available to the director its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed this state's requirements. The health carrier may provide the director with documentation that a managed care plan has been accredited by the entity.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 30.

44-7006 Health carrier; credentialing verification duties.

(1) A health carrier shall:

(a) Establish written policies and procedures for credentialing verification of all health care professionals with whom the health carrier contracts and apply these standards consistently;

(b) Verify the credentials of a health care professional before entering into a contract with that health care professional. The medical director of the health carrier or other designated health care professional shall have responsibility for, and shall participate in, credentialing verification;

(c) Establish a credentialing verification committee consisting of licensed physicians and other health care professionals to review credentialing verification information and supporting documents and make decisions regarding credentialing verification;

(d) Make available for review by the applying health care professional upon written request all application and credentialing verification policies and procedures;

(e) Retain all records and documents relating to a health care professional's credentialing verification process for at least five years; and

(f) Keep confidential all information obtained in the credentialing verification process except as otherwise provided by law.

(2) Nothing in the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act shall be construed to require a health carrier to select a provider as a participating provider solely because the provider meets the health carrier's credentialing verification standards or to prevent a health carrier from utilizing separate or additional criteria in selecting the health care professionals with whom it contracts.

(3) The policies and procedures for credentialing verification shall be available for review by the director, and, in the case of a health maintenance organization, shall also be available for review by the chief medical officer, if one is appointed pursuant to section 81-3115, and if not, then the Director of Public Health.

44-7007 Health carrier; primary verification; secondary verification; duties.

A health carrier shall:

(1) Obtain primary verification of at least the following information about the applicant:

(a) Current license, certificate, or registration to practice a health care profession in this state and history of licensure, certification, or registration;

(b) Current level of professional liability coverage, if applicable;

(c) Status of hospital privileges, if applicable;

(d) Specialty board certification status, if applicable;

(e) Current federal Drug Enforcement Agency registration certificate, if applicable;

(f) Graduation from a health care professional school; and

(g) Completion of postgraduate training, if applicable;

(2) Obtain, subject to either primary or secondary verification at the health carrier's discretion:

(a) The health care professional's licensure, certification, or registration history in this and all other states;

(b) The health care professional's malpractice history; and

(c) The health care professional's practice history;

(3) At least every three years obtain primary verification of a participating health care professional's:

(a) Current license, certificate, or registration to practice a health care profession in this state;

(b) Current level of professional liability coverage, if applicable;

(c) Status of hospital privileges, if applicable;

(d) Current federal Drug Enforcement Agency registration certificate, if applicable; and

(e) Specialty board certification status, if applicable; and

(4) Require all participating providers to notify the health carrier of changes in the status of any of the items listed in this section at any time and identify for participating providers the individual to whom they should report changes in the status of an item listed in this section.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 32.

44-7008 Health care professional's right to review credentialing verification information.

(1) A health carrier shall provide a health care professional the opportunity to review and correct information submitted in support of that health care professional's credentialing verification application as set forth below.

(2)(a) Each health care professional who is subject to the credentialing verification process shall have the right to review all information, including the source of that information, obtained by the health carrier to satisfy the requirements of the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act during the health carrier's credentialing process.

(b) A health carrier shall notify a health care professional of any information obtained during the health carrier's credentialing verification process that does not meet the health carrier's credentialing verification standards or that varies substantially from the information provided to the health carrier by the health care professional, except that the health carrier shall not be required to reveal the source of information if the information is not obtained to meet the requirements of the act or if disclosure is prohibited by law.

(c) A health care professional shall have the right to correct any erroneous information. A health carrier shall have a formal process by which a health care professional may submit supplemental or corrected information to the health carrier's credentialing verification committee and request a reconsideration of the health care professional's credentialing verification application if the health care professional feels that the health carrier's credentialing verification committee has received information that is incorrect or misleading. Supplemental information shall be subject to confirmation by the health carrier.

44-7011 Violation; penalty.

If, after the hearing, the director finds a health carrier has violated the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act, the director shall reduce his or her findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the health carrier charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the health carrier to cease and desist from engaging in the violation and the director may order any one or more of the following:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of thirty thousand dollars, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of the Health Care Professional Credentialing Verification Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than fifteen thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority if the health carrier knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of the act.

44-7012 Violation of cease and desist order; penalty.

Any health carrier who violates a cease and desist order of the director under section 44-7011 may after notice and hearing and upon order of the director be subject to:

(1) A monetary penalty of not more than thirty thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority.

ARTICLE 71

MANAGED CARE PLAN NETWORK ADEQUACY ACT

Section

44-7101 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7101 to 44-7112 shall be known and may be cited as the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 39.

44-7102 Purpose and intent.

The purpose and intent of the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act are to establish standards for the creation and maintenance of networks by health carriers and to assure the adequacy, accessibility, and quality of health care services offered under a managed care plan by establishing requirements for written agreements between health carriers offering managed care plans and participating providers regarding the standards, terms, and provisions under which the participating provider will provide services to covered persons.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 40.

44-7103 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act:

(1) Closed plan means a managed care plan that requires a covered person to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(2) Covered benefits or benefits means those health care services to which a covered person is entitled under the terms of a health benefit plan;

(3) Covered person means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee, or other individual participating in a health benefit plan;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(5) Emergency medical condition means a medical or behavioral condition, the onset of which is sudden, that manifests itself by symptoms of sufficient severity, including, but not limited to, severe pain, that a prudent layperson, possessing an average knowledge of medicine and health, could reasonably expect the absence of immediate medical attention to result in (a) placing the health of the person afflicted with such condition in serious jeopardy or, in the case of a behavioral condition, placing the health of such persons or others in serious jeopardy, (b) serious impairment to such person's bodily functions, (c) serious impairment of any bodily organ or part of such person, or (d) serious disfigurement of such person;

(6) Emergency services means health care services necessary to screen and stabilize a covered person in connection with an emergency medical condition;

(7) Facility means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including, but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory, and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings. Facility does not include physicians' offices;

(8) Health benefit plan means a policy, contract, certificate, or agreement entered into, offered, or issued by any person to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation insurance coverage;

(9) Health care professional means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, certified, or registered to perform specified health services consistent with state law;

(10) Health care provider or provider means a health care professional or a facility;

(11) Health care services or health services means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure, or relief of a health condition, illness, injury, or disease;

(12) Health carrier means an entity that contracts, offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, a prepaid dental service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services. Health carrier does not include a workers' compensation insurer, risk management pool, or self-insured employer who contracts for services to be provided through a managed care plan certified pursuant to section 48-120.02;

(13) Intermediary means a person authorized to negotiate and execute provider contracts with health carriers on behalf of health care providers or on behalf of a network;

(14) Managed care plan means a health benefit plan, including closed plans and open plans, that either requires a covered person to use or creates financial incentives by providing a more favorable deductible, coinsurance, or copayment level for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with, or employed by the health carrier;

(15) Network means the group of participating providers providing services to a managed care plan;

(16) Open plan means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(17) Participating provider means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier;

(18) Person means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint-stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing;

(19) Primary care professional means a participating health care professional designated by the health carrier to supervise, coordinate, or provide initial care or continuing care to a covered person and who may be required by the health carrier to initiate a referral for specialty care and maintain supervision of health care services rendered to the covered person; and

(20) Stabilize means when, with respect to transfer to another facility, the examining physician at a hospital emergency department where an individual has sought treatment for an emergency medical condition has determined, within reasonable medical probability:

(a) With respect to an emergency medical condition, that no material deterioration of the condition is likely to result from or occur during a transfer of the individual from the facility; and

(b) The receiving facility has available space and qualified personnel for the treatment of the individual and has agreed to accept transfer of the individual and provide appropriate medical treatment.

44-7104 Applicability of act.

The Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act applies to all health carriers that offer managed care plans.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 42.

44-7105 Network adequacy.

(1) A health carrier providing a managed care plan shall maintain a network that is sufficient in numbers and types of providers to assure that all health care services to covered persons will be accessible without unreasonable delay. In the case of emergency services, covered persons shall have access twenty-four hours per day, seven days per week. Sufficiency shall be determined in accordance with the requirements of this section and may be established by reference to any reasonable criteria used by the health carrier, including, but not limited to: Provider-covered person ratios by specialty; primary care provider-covered person ratios; geographic accessibility; waiting times for appointments with participating providers; hours of operation; and the volume of technological and specialty services available to serve the needs of covered persons requiring technologically advanced or specialty care.

(a) In any case in which the health carrier has an insufficient number or type of participating provider to provide a covered benefit, the health carrier shall ensure that the covered person obtains the covered benefit and the health carrier shall reimburse the nonparticipating provider at the health carrier's usual and customary rate or at an agreed-upon rate.

(b) The health carrier shall establish and maintain adequate arrangements to ensure reasonable proximity of participating providers to the business or personal residence of covered persons. In determining whether a health carrier has complied with this provision, the director shall give due consideration to the relative availability of health care providers in the service area under consideration.

(2) A health carrier shall maintain an access plan meeting the requirements of the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act for each of the managed care plans that the health carrier offers in this state. The health carrier may request the director to deem sections of the access plan as proprietary or competitive information that shall not be made public. For the purposes of this section, information is proprietary or competitive if revealing the information would cause the health carrier's competitors to obtain valuable business information. The health carrier shall make the access plans, absent proprietary information, available on its business premises and shall provide them to the director or any interested party upon request. The health carrier shall prepare an access plan prior to offering a new managed care plan and shall update an existing access plan whenever it makes any material change to an existing managed care plan. The access plan shall describe or contain at least the following:

(a) The health carrier's network;

(b) The health carrier's procedures for making referrals within and outside its network;

(c) The health carrier's process for monitoring and assuring on an ongoing basis the sufficiency of the network to meet the health care needs of populations that enroll in managed care plans;

(d) The health carrier's efforts to address the needs of covered persons with limited English proficiency and illiteracy, with diverse cultural and ethnic backgrounds, and with physical and mental disabilities;

(e) The health carrier's methods for assessing the health care needs of covered persons and their satisfaction with health care services;

(f) The health carrier's method of informing covered persons of the managed care plan's services and features, including, but not limited to, the managed care plan's grievance procedures, its process for choosing and changing providers, and its procedures for providing and approving emergency and specialty care;

(g) The health carrier's system for ensuring the coordination and continuity of care for covered persons referred to specialty physicians, for covered persons using ancillary services, including social services and other community resources, and for ensuring appropriate discharge planning;

(h) The health carrier's process for enabling covered persons to change primary care professionals;

(i) The health carrier's proposed plan for providing continuity of care in the event of contract termination between the health carrier and any of its participating providers or in the event of the health carrier's insolvency or other inability to continue operations. The description shall explain how covered persons will be notified of the contract termination or the health carrier's insolvency or other cessation of operations and transferred to other providers in a timely manner; and

(j) Any other information required by the director to determine compliance with the provisions of the act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 43.

44-7106 Requirements for health carriers and participating providers.

(1) A health carrier offering a managed care plan shall satisfy all the requirements contained in this section.

(2)(a) A health carrier shall establish a mechanism by which the participating provider will be notified on an ongoing basis of the specific covered health services for which the provider will be responsible, including any limitations or conditions on health care services.

(b) Every contract between a health carrier that offers closed plans or combination plans having a closed component and a participating provider shall set forth in writing a hold harmless provision specifying protection for covered persons. This requirement shall be met by including a provision substantially similar to the following:

''Provider agrees that in no event, including, but not limited to, nonpayment by the health carrier or intermediary, insolvency of the health carrier or intermediary, or breach of this agreement, shall the provider bill, charge, collect a deposit from, seek compensation, remuneration, or reimbursement from, or have any recourse against a covered person or a person, other than the health carrier or intermediary, acting on behalf of the covered person for health care services provided pursuant to this agreement. This agreement does not prohibit the provider from collecting coinsurance, deductibles, or copayments, as specifically provided in the evidence of coverage, or fees for uncovered health care services delivered on a fee-for-service basis to covered persons. Nor does this agreement prohibit a provider, except for a health care professional who is employed full time on the staff of a health carrier and has agreed to provide health care services exclusively to that health carrier's covered persons and no others, and a covered person from agreeing to continue health care services solely at the expense of the covered person, as long as the provider has clearly informed the covered person that the health carrier may not cover or continue to cover a specific health care service or health care services. Except as provided herein, this agreement does not prohibit the provider from pursuing any available legal remedy.''

(c) Every contract between a health carrier that offers closed plans or combination plans having a closed component and a participating provider shall set forth that in the event of a health carrier or intermediary insolvency or other cessation of operations, covered benefits to covered persons will continue through the period for which a premium has been paid to the health carrier on behalf of the covered person or until the covered person's discharge from an inpatient facility, whichever time is greater. Covered benefits to covered persons confined in an inpatient facility on the date of insolvency or other cessation of operations will continue until their continued confinement in an inpatient facility is no longer medically necessary.

(d) The contract provisions that satisfy the requirements of subdivisions (2)(b) and (c) of this section shall be construed in favor of the covered person, shall survive the termination of the contract regardless of the reason for termination, including the insolvency of the health carrier, and shall supersede any oral or written contrary agreement between a provider and a covered person or the representative of a covered person if the contrary agreement is inconsistent with the hold harmless and continuation of covered benefits provisions required by such subdivisions.

(e) In no event shall a participating provider collect or attempt to collect from a covered person any money owed to the provider by the health carrier.

(f) A health carrier shall make its selection standards for participating providers available for review by the director.

(g) At the time the participating providers execute contracts with the health carrier, a health carrier shall notify participating providers of the providers' responsibilities with respect to the health carrier's applicable administrative policies and programs, including, but not limited to, payment terms, utilization review, quality assessment and improvement programs, credentialing, grievance procedures, data reporting requirements, confidentiality requirements, and any applicable federal or state programs.

(h) A health carrier shall not offer an inducement under the managed care plan to a provider to provide less than medically necessary health care services to a covered person.

(i) A health carrier shall not prohibit a participating provider from discussing treatment options with covered persons irrespective of the health carrier's position on the treatment options or from advocating on behalf of covered persons within the utilization review or grievance processes established by the health carrier or a person contracting with the health carrier.

(j) A health carrier shall require a provider to make health records available to appropriate state and federal authorities involved in assessing the quality of care or investigating the grievances or complaints of covered persons, and to comply with the applicable state and federal laws related to the confidentiality of medical or health records.

(k) A health carrier and participating provider shall provide at least sixty days' written notice to each other before terminating the contract without cause. The health carrier shall make a good faith effort to provide written notice of a termination within fifteen working days of receipt or issuance of a notice of termination to all covered persons who are patients seen on a regular basis by the provider whose contract is terminating, irrespective of whether the termination was for cause or without cause. Where a contract termination involves a primary care professional, all covered persons who are patients of that primary care professional shall also be notified.

(l) The rights and responsibilities under a contract between a health carrier and a participating provider shall not be assigned or delegated by the provider without the prior written consent of the health carrier.

(m) A health carrier is responsible for ensuring that a participating provider furnishes covered benefits to all covered persons without regard to the covered person's enrollment in the managed care plan as a private purchaser of the managed care plan or as a participant in publicly financed programs of health care services. This requirement does not apply to circumstances when the provider should not render health care services due to limitations arising from lack of training, experience, skill, or licensing restrictions.

(n) A health carrier shall notify the participating providers of their obligations, if any, to collect applicable coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles from covered persons pursuant to the evidence of coverage, or of the providers' obligations, if any, to notify covered persons of their personal financial obligations for noncovered health care services.

(o) A health carrier shall not penalize a provider because the provider, in good faith, reports to state or federal authorities any act or practice by the health carrier that jeopardizes patient health or welfare.

(p) A health carrier shall establish a mechanism by which the participating providers may determine in a timely manner whether or not a person is covered by the health carrier.

(q) A health carrier shall establish procedures for resolution of administrative, payment, or other disputes between providers and the health carrier.

(r) A contract between a health carrier and a provider shall not contain definitions or other provisions that conflict with the definitions or provisions contained in the managed care plan or the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act.

(3) Subdivisions (2)(a) through (g) and (j) through (r) of this section become operative on July 1, 1999.

44-7107 Intermediaries.

(1) A contract between a health carrier and an intermediary shall satisfy all the requirements contained in this section.

(2)(a) Intermediaries and participating providers with whom they contract shall comply with all the applicable requirements of section 44-7106.

(b) A health carrier's statutory responsibility to monitor the offering of covered benefits to covered persons shall not be delegated or assigned to the intermediary.

(c) A health carrier shall have the right to approve or disapprove participation status of a subcontracted provider in its own or a contracted network for the purpose of delivering covered benefits to the health carrier's covered persons.

(d) A health carrier shall maintain copies of all intermediary health care subcontracts at its principal place of business in the state, or ensure that it has access to all intermediary subcontracts, including the right to make copies to facilitate regulatory review, upon twenty days' prior written notice from the health carrier. A health carrier may meet the requirements of this subdivision by maintaining a copy of the intermediary health care subcontract forms used by its intermediaries, and if the health carrier does so, the health carrier shall also maintain a copy of any portion of an intermediary health care subcontract which substantially differs from the intermediary health care subcontract form in subject areas other than reimbursement.

(e) If applicable, an intermediary shall transmit utilization documentation and claims paid documentation to the health carrier. The health carrier shall monitor the timeliness and appropriateness of payments made to providers and health care services received by covered persons.

(f) If applicable, an intermediary shall maintain the books, records, financial information, and documentation of health care services provided to covered persons at its principal place of business in the state and preserve them for five years in a manner that facilitates regulatory review.

(g) An intermediary shall allow the director and a health maintenance organization shall allow the director and the Department of Health and Human Services access to the intermediary's books, records, financial information, and any documentation of health care services provided to covered persons, as necessary to determine compliance with the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act.

(h) A health carrier shall have the right, in the event of the intermediary's insolvency, to require the assignment to the health carrier of the provisions of a provider's contract addressing the provider's obligation to furnish covered services.

44-7108 Filing requirements.

(1) A health carrier that offers closed plans or combination plans having a closed component shall file with the director sample contract forms proposed for use with its participating providers and intermediaries.

(2) A health carrier that offers closed plans or combination plans having a closed component shall submit material changes to a contract that would affect a provision required by the Managed Care Plan Network Adequacy Act or applicable rules and regulations to the director for approval. Changes in provider payment rates, coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles, or other plan benefit modifications are not considered material changes for the purpose of this subsection.

(3) If the director takes no action within thirty days after submission of a material change to a contract by a health carrier, the change is deemed approved.

(4) The health carrier shall maintain provider and intermediary contracts at its principal place of business in the state, or the health carrier shall have access to all contracts and provide copies to facilitate regulatory review upon twenty days' prior written notice from the director.

44-7109 Health carrier violation; notice; hearing.

If the director finds that any health carrier doing business in this state is engaging in any violation of the Managed Care Network Adequacy Act and that a proceeding in respect thereto would be in the public interest, the director shall issue and serve upon such health carrier a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of hearing thereon, which notice shall set a hearing date not less than ten days after the date of the notice.

44-7110 Violation; penalty.

If, after the hearing, the director finds a health carrier has violated the Managed Care Network Adequacy Act, the director shall reduce his or her findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the health carrier charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the health carrier to cease and desist from engaging in the violation and the director may order any one or more of the following:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of thirty thousand dollars, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of the Managed Care Network Adequacy Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than fifteen thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority if the health carrier knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of the act.

44-7111 Violation of cease and desist order; penalty.

Any health carrier who violates a cease and desist order of the director under section 44-7110 may after notice and hearing and upon order of the director be subject to:

(1) A monetary penalty of not more than thirty thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority.

ARTICLE 72

QUALITY ASSESSMENT AND IMPROVEMENT ACT

Section

44-7201 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7201 to 44-7215 shall be known and may be cited as the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 51.

44-7202 Purpose and intent.

The Quality Assessment and Improvement Act establishes criteria for the quality assessment activities of all health carriers that offer managed care plans and for the quality improvement activities of health carriers issuing closed plans or combination plans having a closed component. The purpose of the criteria is to enable health carriers to evaluate, maintain, and improve the quality of health care services provided to covered persons.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 52.

44-7203 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act:

(1) Closed plan means a managed care plan that requires a covered person to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(2) Consumer means someone in the general public who may or may not be a covered person or a purchaser of health care, including employers;

(3) Covered person means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee, or other individual participating in a health benefit plan;

(4) Department means the Department of Insurance;

(5) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(6) Facility means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including, but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory, and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings. Facility does not include physicians' offices;

(7) Health benefit plan means a policy, contract, certificate, or agreement entered into, offered, or issued by any person to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation insurance coverage;

(8) Health care professional means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, certified, or registered to perform specified health services consistent with state law;

(9) Health care provider or provider means a health care professional or a facility;

(10) Health care services or health services means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure, or relief of a health condition, illness, injury, or disease;

(11) Health carrier means an entity that contracts, offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, a prepaid dental service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services. Health carrier does not include a workers' compensation insurer, risk management pool, or self-insured employer who contracts for services to be provided through a managed care plan certified pursuant to section 48-120.02;

(12) Managed care plan means a health benefit plan, including closed plans and open plans, that either requires a covered person to use or creates financial incentives by providing a more favorable deductible, coinsurance, or copayment level for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with, or employed by the health carrier;

(13) Open plan means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(14) Participating provider means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier;

(15) Person means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint-stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing;

(16) Quality assessment means the measurement and evaluation of the quality and outcomes of medical care provided to individuals, groups, or populations; and

(17) Quality improvement means the effort to improve the processes and outcomes related to the provision of care within the health benefit plan.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 53.

44-7204 Applicability of act.

The Quality Assessment and Improvement Act applies to all health carriers that offer closed plans or combination plans having a closed component on and after July 15, 1998. The act, except sections 44-7207 to 44-7209, applies to all health carriers that offer open plans on and after July 1, 1999.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 54.

44-7205 Use of nationally recognized private accrediting entities; authorized.

The director may recognize accreditation by one or more nationally recognized private accrediting entities, with established and maintained standards, as evidence of meeting some or all of the requirements of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act. A recognized accrediting entity shall make available to the director its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed this state's requirements. The health carrier may provide the director with documentation that a managed care plan has been accredited by the entity.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 55.

44-7206 Quality assessment; infrastructure and disclosure systems.

A health carrier that provides managed care plans shall develop and maintain the infrastructure and disclosure systems necessary to measure the quality of health care services provided to covered persons on a regular basis and appropriate to the types of managed care plans offered by the health carrier. A health carrier shall:

(1) Establish a system designed to assess the quality of health care provided to covered persons and appropriate to the types of managed care plans offered by the health carrier. The system shall include systematic collection, analysis, and reporting of relevant data in accordance with statutory and regulatory requirements;

(2) Communicate findings in a timely manner to applicable regulatory agencies, providers, and consumers as provided in section 44-7209;

(3) Report to the appropriate licensing authority any persistent pattern of problematic care provided by a provider that is sufficient to cause the health carrier to terminate or suspend contractual arrangements with the provider. A health carrier acting in good faith shall be granted immunity from any cause of action under state law in making the report; and

(4) Develop a written description of the quality assessment program available for review by the director, which shall include a signed certification by a corporate officer of the health carrier that the filing meets the requirements of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act. The written description of the quality assessment program of a health maintenance organization shall also be available for review by the Department of Health and Human Services.

44-7207 Quality improvement; internal structures and activities.

A health carrier that issues a closed plan or a combination plan having a closed component shall, in addition to complying with the requirements of section 44-7206, develop and maintain the internal structures and activities necessary to improve quality as required by this section. A health carrier subject to the requirements of this section shall:

(1) Establish an internal system capable of identifying opportunities to improve care. This system shall be structured to identify practices that result in improved health care outcomes, identify problematic utilization patterns, identify those providers that may be responsible for either exemplary or problematic patterns, and foster an environment of continuous quality improvement;

(2) Use the findings generated by the system to work, on a continuing basis, with participating providers and other staff within the closed plan or closed component to improve the health care services delivered to covered persons;

(3) Develop and maintain an organizational program for designing, measuring, assessing, and improving the processes and outcomes of health care as identified in the health carrier's quality improvement program filed with the director and consistent with the provisions of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act. This program shall be under the direction of the chief medical officer or clinical director of the health carrier. The organizational program shall include:

(a) A written statement of the objectives, lines of authority and accountability, evaluation tools, including data collection responsibilities, performance improvement activities, and an annual effectiveness review of the quality improvement program;

(b) A written quality improvement plan that describes how the health carrier intends to:

(i) Analyze both processes and outcomes of care, including focused review of individual cases as appropriate, to discern the causes of variation;

(ii) Identify the targeted diagnoses and treatments to be reviewed by the quality improvement program each year. In determining which diagnoses and treatments to target for review, the health carrier shall consider practices and diagnoses that affect a substantial number of the managed care plan's covered persons or that could place covered persons at serious risk. This section shall not be construed to require a health carrier to review every disease, illness, and condition that may affect a covered person under a managed care plan offered by the health carrier;

(iii) Use a range of appropriate methods to analyze quality, including:

(A) Collection and analysis of information on over-utilization and under-utilization of health care services;

(B) Evaluation of courses of treatment and outcomes of health care services, including health status measures, consistent with reference databases such as current medical research, knowledge, standards, and practice guidelines; and

(C) Collection and analysis of information specific to a covered person or persons or provider or providers, gathered from multiple sources such as utilization management, claims processing, and documentation of both the satisfaction and grievances of covered persons;

(iv) Compare program findings with past performance, as appropriate, and with internal goals and external standards, when available, adopted by the health carrier;

(v) Measure the performance of participating providers and conduct peer review activities, such as:

(A) Identifying practices that do not meet the health carrier's standards;

(B) Taking appropriate action to correct deficiencies;

(C) Monitoring participating providers to determine whether they have implemented corrective action; and

(D) Taking appropriate action when the participating provider has not implemented corrective action;

(vi) Utilize treatment protocols and practice parameters developed with appropriate clinical input and using the evaluations described in subdivisions (3)(b)(i) and (ii) of this section, or utilize acquired treatment protocols developed with appropriate clinical input; and provide participating providers with sufficient information about the protocols to enable participating providers to meet the standards established by these protocols;

(vii) Evaluate access to care for covered persons according to standards established by the insurance laws of this state. The quality improvement plan shall describe the health carrier's strategy for integrating public health goals with health services offered to covered persons under the managed care plans of the health carrier, including a description of the health carrier's good faith efforts to initiate or maintain communication with public health agencies;

(viii) Implement improvement strategies related to program findings; and

(ix) Evaluate periodically, but not less than annually, the effectiveness of the strategies implemented in subdivision (3)(b)(viii) of this section; and

(4) Assure that participating providers have the opportunity to participate in developing, implementing, and evaluating the quality improvement system.

44-7208 Quality assessment and quality improvement activities; oversight.

The chief medical officer or clinical director of the health carrier shall have primary responsibility for the quality assessment and quality improvement activities carried out by, or on behalf of, the health carrier and for ensuring that all requirements of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act are met. The chief medical officer or clinical director shall approve the written quality assessment and quality improvement programs, as applicable, implemented in compliance with the act, and shall periodically review and revise the program document and act to assure ongoing appropriateness. Not less than semiannually, the chief medical officer or clinical director shall review reports of quality assessment and quality improvement activities. The director shall hold the health carrier responsible for the actions of the chief medical officer or clinical director carried out on behalf of the health carrier and shall hold the health carrier responsible for ensuring that all requirements of the act are met.

44-7209 Reporting and disclosure requirements.

(1) A health carrier shall document and communicate information, as provided in this section, about its quality assessment program and its quality improvement program, if it has one, and shall include a description of its quality assessment and quality improvement programs and a statement of patient rights and responsibilities with respect to those programs in the certificate of coverage or handbook provided to newly enrolled covered persons.

(2)(a) A health carrier shall certify to the director annually that its quality assessment program and its quality improvement program, if it has one, along with the materials provided to providers and consumers in accordance with subsection (1) of this section, meet the requirements of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act.

(b) A health carrier shall make available for review by the public upon request, subject to a reasonable fee, the materials certified pursuant to subdivision (2)(a) of this section, except for the materials subject to the confidentiality requirements of section 44-7210 and materials that are proprietary to the health benefit plan. A health carrier shall retain all certified materials for at least three years from the date the material has been used or until the material has been examined as part of a market conduct examination, whichever is longer.

44-7210 Confidentiality; immunity.

(1) Data or information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment, or health of a covered person obtained from the person or from a provider by a health carrier is confidential and shall not be disclosed to any person except to the extent that it may be necessary to carry out the purposes of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act and as allowed by state law; or upon the express consent of the covered person; or pursuant to statute or court order for the production of evidence or the discovery thereof; or in the event of a claim or litigation between the covered person and the health carrier in which the data or information is pertinent, regardless of whether the information is in the form of paper, is preserved on microfilm, or is stored in computer retrievable form. If any data or information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment, or health of any covered person or applicant is disclosed pursuant to the provisions of this subsection, the health carrier making this required disclosure shall not be liable for the disclosure or any subsequent use or misuse of the data. A health carrier shall be entitled to claim any statutory privileges against disclosure that the provider who furnished the information to the health carrier is entitled to claim.

(2) A person who, in good faith and without malice, takes an action or makes a decision or recommendation as a member, agent, or employee of a health carrier's quality committee in furtherance of and consistent with the quality assessment or quality improvement activities of the health carrier, or who furnishes any records, information, or assistance to a quality committee in furtherance of and consistent with the quality assessment or quality improvement activities of the health carrier, shall not be subject to liability for civil damages or any legal action in consequence of his or her action, nor shall the health carrier that established the quality committee or the officers, directors, employees, or agents of the health carrier be liable for the activities of the person. This section shall not be construed to relieve any person of liability arising from treatment of a patient.

(3)(a) The information considered by a quality committee and the records of its actions and proceedings shall be confidential and not subject to subpoena or order to produce except in proceedings before the appropriate state licensing agency, or in an appeal, if permitted, from the quality committee's findings or recommendations. No member of a quality committee, or officer, director, or other member of a health carrier or its staff engaged in assisting the quality committee, or engaged in the health carrier's quality assessment or quality improvement activities, or any person assisting or furnishing information to the quality committee may be subpoenaed to testify in any judicial or quasi-judicial proceeding if the subpoena is based solely on these activities.

(b) Information considered by a quality committee and the records of its actions and proceedings that are used pursuant to subdivision (3)(a) of this section by a state licensing or certifying agency or in an appeal shall be kept confidential and shall be subject to the same provisions concerning discovery and use in legal actions as are the original information and records in the possession and control of a quality committee.

(4) To fulfill its obligations under this section, the health carrier shall have access to treatment records and other information pertaining to the diagnosis, treatment, or health status of any covered person.

44-7213 Violation; penalty.

If, after the hearing, the director finds a health carrier has violated the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act, the director shall reduce his or her findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the health carrier charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the health carrier to cease and desist from engaging in the violation and the director may order any one or more of the following:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of thirty thousand dollars, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of the Quality Assessment and Improvement Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than fifteen thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority if the health carrier knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of the act.

44-7214 Violation of cease and desist order; penalty.

Any health carrier who violates a cease and desist order of the director under section 44-7213 may after notice and hearing and upon order of the director be subject to:

(1) A monetary penalty of not more than thirty thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority.

Sections 44-7301 to 44-7315 shall be known and may be cited as the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 66.

44-7302 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act is to provide standards for the establishment and maintenance of procedures by health carriers to assure that covered persons have the opportunity for the appropriate resolution of their grievances as defined in the act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 67.

44-7303 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act:

(1) Adverse determination means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review agent that an admission, availability of care, continued stay, or other health care service has been reviewed and, based upon the information provided, does not meet the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care, or effectiveness, and the requested health care service is therefor denied, reduced, or terminated;

(2) Ambulatory review means utilization review of health care services performed or provided in an outpatient setting;

(3) Case management means a coordinated set of activities conducted for individual patient management of serious, complicated, protracted, or other health conditions;

(4) Certification means a determination by a health carrier or its designee utilization review agent that an admission, availability of care, continued stay, or other health care service has been reviewed and, based on the information provided, satisfies the health carrier's requirements for medical necessity, appropriateness, health care setting, level of care, and effectiveness;

(5) Clinical peer means a physician or other health care professional who holds a nonrestricted license in a state of the United States and in the same or similar specialty as typically manages the medical condition, procedure, or treatment under review;

(6) Clinical review criteria means the written screening procedures, decision abstracts, clinical protocols, and practice guidelines used by the health carrier to determine the necessity and appropriateness of health care services;

(7) Closed plan means a managed care plan that requires a covered person to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(8) Concurrent review means utilization review conducted during a patient's hospital stay or course of treatment;

(9) Covered person means a policyholder, subscriber, enrollee, or other individual participating in a health benefit plan;

(10) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(11) Discharge planning means the formal process for determining, prior to discharge from a facility, the coordination and management of the care that a patient receives following discharge from a facility;

(12) Emergency medical condition means a medical or behavioral condition, the onset of which is sudden, that manifests itself by symptoms of sufficient severity, including, but not limited to, severe pain, that a prudent layperson, possessing an average knowledge of medicine and health, could reasonably expect the absence of immediate medical attention to result in (a) placing the health of the person afflicted with such condition in serious jeopardy or, in the case of a behavioral condition, placing the health of such persons or others in serious jeopardy, (b) serious impairment to such person's bodily functions, (c) serious impairment of any bodily organ or part of such person, or (d) serious disfigurement of such person;

(13) Emergency services means health care services necessary to screen and stabilize a covered person in connection with an emergency medical condition;

(14) Facility means an institution providing health care services or a health care setting, including, but not limited to, hospitals and other licensed inpatient centers, ambulatory surgical or treatment centers, skilled nursing centers, residential treatment centers, diagnostic, laboratory, and imaging centers, and rehabilitation and other therapeutic health settings. Facility does not include physicians' offices;

(15) Grievance means a written complaint submitted in accordance with the health carrier's formal grievance procedure by or on behalf of a covered person regarding any aspect of the managed care plan, relative to the covered person, such as:

(a) Availability, delivery, or quality of health care services, including a complaint regarding an adverse determination made pursuant to utilization review;

(b) Claims payment, handling, or reimbursement for health care services; or

(c) Matters pertaining to the contractual relationship between a covered person and a health carrier;

(16) Health benefit plan means a policy, contract, certificate, or agreement entered into, offered, or issued by any person to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation insurance coverage;

(17) Health care professional means a physician or other health care practitioner licensed, certified, or registered to perform specified health services consistent with state law;

(18) Health care provider or provider means a health care professional or a facility;

(19) Health care services or health services means services for the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure, or relief of a health condition, illness, injury, or disease;

(20) Health carrier means an entity that contracts, offers to contract, or enters into an agreement to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, a prepaid dental service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services. Health carrier does not include a workers' compensation insurer, risk management pool, or self-insured employer who contracts for services to be provided through a managed care plan certified pursuant to section 48-120.02;

(21) Managed care plan means a health benefit plan, including closed plans and open plans, that either requires a covered person to use or creates financial incentives by providing a more favorable deductible, coinsurance, or copayment level for a covered person to use health care providers managed, owned, under contract with, or employed by the health carrier;

(22) Network means the group of participating providers providing services to a managed care plan;

(23) Open plan means a managed care plan other than a closed plan that provides incentives, including financial incentives, for covered persons to use participating providers under the terms of the managed care plan;

(24) Participating provider means a provider who, under a contract with the health carrier or with its contractor or subcontractor, has agreed to provide health care services to covered persons with an expectation of receiving payment, other than coinsurance, copayments, or deductibles, directly or indirectly from the health carrier;

(25) Person means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint-stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any similar entity, or any combination of the foregoing;

(26) Prospective review means utilization review conducted prior to an admission or a course of treatment;

(27) Retrospective review means a review of medical necessity conducted after services have been provided to a patient, but does not include the review of a claim that is limited to an evaluation of reimbursement levels, veracity of documentation, accuracy of coding, or adjudication for payment;

(28) Second opinion means an opportunity or requirement to obtain a clinical evaluation by a provider other than the one originally making a recommendation for a proposed health service to assess the clinical necessity and appropriateness of the initial proposed health service;

(29) Stabilize means when, with respect to transfer to another facility, the examining physician at a hospital emergency department where an individual has sought treatment for an emergency medical condition has determined, within reasonable medical probability:

(a) With respect to an emergency medical condition, that no material deterioration of the condition is likely to result from or occur during a transfer of the individual from the facility; and

(b) The receiving facility has available space and qualified personnel for the treatment of the individual and has agreed to accept transfer of the individual and provide appropriate medical treatment;

(30) Utilization review means a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of, or evaluate the clinical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of health care services, procedures, providers, or facilities. Techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning, or retrospective review. Utilization review does not include elective requests for clarification of coverage; and

(31) Written means transmission of correspondence by mail, facsimile, or electronic medium.

44-7305 Use of nationally recognized private accrediting entities; authorized.

The director may recognize accreditation by one or more nationally recognized private accrediting entities, with established and maintained standards, as evidence of meeting some or all of the requirements of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act. A recognized accrediting entity shall make available to the director its current standards to demonstrate that the entity's standards meet or exceed this state's requirements. The health carrier may provide the director with documentation that a managed care plan has been accredited by the entity.

44-7306 Grievance register.

(1) A health carrier shall maintain in a grievance register written records to document all grievances received during a calendar year. A request for a review of an adverse determination shall be processed in compliance with section 44-7308 but not considered a grievance for purposes of the grievance register unless such request includes a written grievance. For each grievance required to be recorded in the grievance register, the grievance register shall contain, at a minimum, the following information:

(a) A general description of the reason for the grievance;

(b) Date received;

(c) Date of each review or hearing;

(d) Resolution of the grievance;

(e) Date of resolution; and

(f) Name of the covered person for whom the grievance was filed.

(2) The grievance register shall be maintained in a manner that is reasonably clear and accessible to the director. A grievance register maintained by a health maintenance organization shall also be accessible to the Department of Health and Human Services.

(3) A health carrier shall retain the grievance register compiled for a calendar year for the longer of three years or until the director has adopted a final report of an examination that contains a review of the grievance register for that calendar year.

44-7307 Grievance procedures.

(1) Except as specified in section 44-7311, a health carrier shall use written procedures for receiving and resolving grievances from covered persons.

(2)(a) A copy of the grievance procedures, including all forms used to process a grievance, shall be made available to the director upon request. A health carrier shall file annually with the director a certificate of compliance stating that the health carrier has established and maintains grievance procedures that fully comply with the provisions of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act.

(b) A description of the grievance procedure shall be set forth in or attached to the policy, certificate, membership booklet, outline of coverage, or other evidence of coverage provided to covered persons.

(c) The grievance procedure documents shall include a statement of a covered person's right to contact the director's office for assistance at any time. The statement shall include the telephone number and address of the director.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1162, § 72.

44-7308 Grievance review.

(1) If a covered person makes a request to a health carrier for a health care service and the request is denied, the health carrier shall provide the covered person with an explanation of the reasons for the denial, a written notice of how to submit a grievance, and the telephone number to call for information and assistance. The health carrier, at the time of a determination not to certify an admission, a continued stay, or other health care service, shall inform the attending or ordering provider of the right to submit a grievance or a request for an expedited review and, upon request, shall explain the procedures established by the health carrier for initiating a review. A grievance involving an adverse determination may be submitted by the covered person, the covered person's representative, or a provider acting on behalf of a covered person, except that a provider may not submit a grievance involving an adverse determination on behalf of a covered person in a situation in which federal or other state law prohibits a provider from taking that action. A health carrier shall ensure that a majority of the persons reviewing a grievance involving an adverse determination have appropriate expertise. A health carrier shall issue a copy of the written decision to a provider who submits a grievance on behalf of a covered person. A health carrier shall conduct a review of a grievance involving an adverse determination in accordance with subsection (3) of this section and section 44-7310, but such a grievance is not subject to the grievance register reporting requirements of section 44-7306 unless it is a written grievance.

(2)(a) A grievance concerning any matter except an adverse determination may be submitted by a covered person or a covered person's representative. A health carrier shall issue a written decision to the covered person or the covered person's representative within fifteen working days after receiving a grievance. The person or persons reviewing the grievance shall not be the same person or persons who made the initial determination denying a claim or handling the matter that is the subject of the grievance. If the health carrier cannot make a decision within fifteen working days due to circumstances beyond the health carrier's control, the health carrier may take up to an additional fifteen working days to issue a written decision, if the health carrier provides written notice to the covered person of the extension and the reasons for the delay on or before the fifteenth working day after receiving a grievance.

(b) A covered person does not have the right to attend, or to have a representative in attendance, at the grievance review. A covered person is entitled to submit written material. The health carrier shall provide the covered person the name, address, and telephone number of a person designated to coordinate the grievance review on behalf of the health carrier. The health carrier shall make these rights known to the covered person within three working days after receiving a grievance.

(3) The written decision issued pursuant to the procedures described in subsections (1) and (2) of this section and section 44-7310 shall contain:

(a) The names, titles, and qualifying credentials of the person or persons acting as the reviewer or reviewers participating in the grievance review process;

(b) A statement of the reviewers' understanding of the covered person's grievance;

(c) The reviewers' decision in clear terms and the contract basis or medical rationale in sufficient detail for the covered person to respond further to the health carrier's position;

(d) A reference to the evidence or documentation used as the basis for the decision;

(e) In cases involving an adverse determination, the instructions for requesting a written statement of the clinical rationale, including the clinical review criteria used to make the determination; and

(f) Notice of the covered person's right to contact the director's office. The notice shall contain the telephone number and address of the director's office.

44-7309 Repealed. Laws 2013, LB 147, § 24.

44-7310 Standard review of adverse determinations.

(1) A health carrier shall establish written procedures for a standard review of an adverse determination. Review procedures shall be available to a covered person and to the provider acting on behalf of a covered person. For purposes of this section, covered person includes the representative of a covered person.

(2) When reasonably necessary or when requested by the provider acting on behalf of a covered person, standard reviews shall be evaluated by an appropriate clinical peer or peers in the same or similar specialty as would typically manage the case being reviewed. The clinical peer shall not have been involved in the initial adverse determination.

(3) For standard reviews the health carrier shall notify in writing both the covered person and the attending or ordering provider of the decision within fifteen working days after the request for a review. The written decision shall contain the provisions required in subsection (3) of section 44-7308.

(4) In any case in which the standard review process does not resolve a difference of opinion between the health carrier and the covered person or the provider acting on behalf of the covered person, the covered person or the provider acting on behalf of the covered person may submit a written grievance, unless the provider is prohibited from filing a grievance by federal or other state law.

44-7311 Expedited reviews.

(1) A health carrier shall establish written procedures for the expedited review of a grievance involving a situation in which the timeframe of the standard grievance procedures set forth in sections 44-7308 to 44-7310 would seriously jeopardize the life or health of a covered person or would jeopardize the covered person's ability to regain maximum function. A request for an expedited review may be submitted orally or in writing. A request for an expedited review of an adverse determination may be submitted orally or in writing and shall be subject to the review procedures of this section, if it meets the criteria of this section. However, for purposes of the grievance register requirements of section 44-7306, a request for an expedited review shall not be included in the grievance register unless the request is submitted in writing. Expedited review procedures shall be available to a covered person and to the provider acting on behalf of a covered person. For purposes of this section, covered person includes the representative of a covered person.

(2) Expedited reviews which result in an adverse determination shall be evaluated by an appropriate clinical peer or peers in the same or similar specialty as would typically manage the case being reviewed. The clinical peer or peers shall not have been involved in the initial adverse determination.

(3) A health carrier shall provide expedited review to all requests concerning an admission, availability of care, continued stay, or health care service for a covered person who has received emergency services but has not been discharged from a facility.

(4) An expedited review may be initiated by a covered person or a provider acting on behalf of a covered person.

(5) In an expedited review, all necessary information, including the health carrier's decision, shall be transmitted between the health carrier and the covered person or the provider acting on behalf of a covered person by telephone, facsimile, or the most expeditious method available.

(6) In an expedited review, a health carrier shall make a decision and notify the covered person or the provider acting on behalf of the covered person as expeditiously as the covered person's medical condition requires, but in no event more than seventy-two hours after the review is commenced. If the expedited review is a concurrent review determination, the health care service shall be continued without liability to the covered person until the covered person has been notified of the determination.

(7) A health carrier shall provide written confirmation of its decision concerning an expedited review within two working days after providing notification of that decision, if the initial notification was not in writing. The written decision shall contain the provisions required in subsection (3) of section 44-7308.

(8) A health carrier shall provide reasonable access, not to exceed one business day after receiving a request for an expedited review, to a clinical peer who can perform the expedited review.

(9) In any case in which the expedited review process does not resolve a difference of opinion between the health carrier and the covered person or the provider acting on behalf of the covered person, the covered person or the provider acting on behalf of the covered person may submit a written grievance, unless the provider is prohibited from filing a grievance by federal or other state law. Except as expressly provided in this section, in conducting the review, the health carrier shall adhere to timeframes that are reasonable under the circumstances.

(10) A health carrier shall not be required to provide an expedited review for retrospective adverse determinations.

44-7312 Health carrier violations; notice; hearing.

If the director finds that any health carrier doing business in this state is engaging in any violation of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act and that a proceeding in respect thereto would be in the public interest, the director shall issue and serve upon such health carrier a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of hearing thereon, which notice shall set a hearing date not less than ten days from the date of the notice.

44-7313 Violation; penalty.

If, after the hearing, the director finds a health carrier has violated the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act, the director shall reduce his or her findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the health carrier charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the health carrier to cease and desist from engaging in the violation and the director may order any one or more of the following:

(1) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of thirty thousand dollars, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of the Health Carrier Grievance Procedure Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than fifteen thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority if the health carrier knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of the act.

44-7314 Violation of cease and desist order; penalty.

Any health carrier who violates a cease and desist order of the director under section 44-7313 may after notice and hearing and upon order of the director be subject to:

(1) A monetary penalty of not more than thirty thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(2) Suspension or revocation of the health carrier's certificate of authority.

44-7401 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7401 to 44-7410 shall be known and may be cited as the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1035, § 14.

44-7402 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act:

(1) Abuse means the occurrence of one or more of the following acts by a current or former family member or household member:

(a)(i) Attempting to cause or intentionally or knowingly causing another person, including a minor child, bodily injury, physical harm, rape, sexual assault, or involuntary sexual intercourse, or (ii) attempting to cause or recklessly causing another person, including a minor child, bodily injury, physical harm, severe emotional distress, or psychological trauma so as to intimidate or attempt to control the behavior of another person, including a minor child;

(b) Knowingly engaging in a course of conduct or repeatedly committing acts toward another person, including a minor child, including following the person or minor child without proper authority, under circumstances that place the person or minor child in reasonable fear of bodily injury or physical harm;

(c) Subjecting another person, including a minor child, to false imprisonment; or

(d) Attempting to cause or intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly causing damage to property so as to intimidate or attempt to control the behavior of another person, including a minor child;

(2) Abuse-related claim means a claim under a policy for a loss resulting from an act of abuse;

(3) Abuse-related medical condition means a medical condition sustained by a subject of abuse which arises in whole or in part out of an act or pattern of abuse;

(4) Abuse status means the fact or the perception on the part of the insurer that a person is, has been, or may be a subject of abuse, irrespective of whether the person has sustained abuse-related medical conditions or incurred abuse-related claims;

(5) Confidential abuse information means information about acts of abuse or abuse status of a subject of abuse, the address and home and work telephone number of a subject of abuse or the status of an applicant or insured as a family member, employer, or associate of, or a person in a relationship with, a subject of abuse;

(6) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(7) Health benefit plan or plan means a policy, contract, certificate, or agreement offered by a health carrier to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services. Health benefit plan includes accident-only, credit accident and health, dental, vision, Medicare supplement, or long-term care insurance, coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance, short-term and catastrophic health insurance policies, and a policy that pays on a cost-incurred basis. Health benefit plan does not include workers' compensation or similar insurance;

(8) Health carrier means an entity subject to the insurance laws and insurance rules and regulations of this state, or subject to the jurisdiction of the director, that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health services;

(9) Insured means a party named on a policy as the person with legal rights to benefits provided by such policy, except that for life insurance, insured means the person whose life is covered under the policy. For group plans and group insurance, insured includes a covered person;

(10) Insurer means a person or other legal entity engaged in the business of insurance in this state, including agents, brokers, adjusters, and third-party administrators. Insurer includes a health carrier;

(11) Policy means a contract or certificate of insurance, annuity, or indemnity, including endorsements, riders, and binders, issued, proposed for issuance, or intended for issuance in this state by an insurer. Policy includes a health benefit plan; and

(12) Subject of abuse means a person against whom an act of abuse has been directed (a) who has current or prior injuries, illnesses, or disorders that resulted from abuse or (b) who seeks, may have sought, or had reason to seek (i) medical or psychological treatment for abuse, or (ii) protection, court-ordered protection, or shelter from abuse.

44-7403 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act is to prohibit unfair discrimination by insurers on the basis of abuse.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1035, § 16.

44-7404 Applicability of act.

The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act applies to all insurers issuing, providing, delivering, arranging for, or renewing in this state any policy of insurance.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1035, § 17.

44-7405 Subject of abuse; prohibited acts.

An insurer shall not engage in an unfairly discriminatory act or practice against a subject of abuse.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1035, § 18.

44-7406 Prohibited acts and practices; enumerated; immunity.

(1) The following acts or practices by an insurer are prohibited as unfairly discriminatory:

(a) Denying, refusing to issue, renew, or reissue, canceling, or otherwise terminating, restricting, or excluding coverage on or adding a premium differential to any policy on the basis of the applicant's or insured's abuse status;

(b) Excluding or limiting coverage for losses, denying benefits, or denying a claim incurred by an insured as a result of abuse on the basis of the insured's abuse status except as otherwise permitted or required by the laws of this state relating to acts of abuse committed by a life insurance beneficiary;

(c) Terminating group health coverage for a subject of abuse because coverage was originally issued in the name of the abuser and the abuser has divorced, separated from, or lost custody of the subject of abuse, or the abuser's coverage has terminated voluntarily or involuntarily;

(d) In the case of a property and casualty insurer, (i) denying or limiting payment for a covered loss or denying a covered claim incurred as a result of abuse by a person other than a coinsured or (ii) failing to pay losses arising out of abuse to an innocent first-party claimant to the extent of such claimant's legal interest in the covered property if the loss is caused by the intentional act of an insured or using other exclusions or limitations on coverage which the director has determined unreasonably restrict the ability of subjects of abuse to be indemnified for such losses. Subdivision (1)(d) of this section does not require payment in excess of the loss or policy limits. Nothing in subdivision (1)(d) of this section shall be construed to prohibit an insurer from applying reasonable standards of proof to claims under such subdivision;

(e) When the insurer has information in its possession that clearly indicates that the applicant, insured, or claimant is a subject of abuse, disclosing or transferring by a person employed by or contracting with the insurer of confidential abuse information for any purpose or to any person, except:

(i) To a subject of abuse or a person specifically designated in writing by the subject of abuse;

(ii) To a health care provider for the direct provision of health care services;

(iii) To a licensed physician identified and designated by the subject of abuse;

(iv) When ordered by the director or a court of competent jurisdiction or otherwise required by law;

(v) When necessary for a valid business purpose to transfer information that includes confidential abuse information, confidential abuse information may be disclosed only to the following persons:

(A) A reinsurer that seeks to indemnify or indemnifies all or any part of a policy covering a subject of abuse and that cannot underwrite or satisfy its obligations under the reinsurance agreement without such disclosure;

(B) A party to a proposed or consummated sale, transfer, merger, or consolidation of all or part of the business of the insurer;

(C) Medical or claims personnel contracting with the insurer, including parent or affiliate companies of the insurer that have service agreements with the insurer, only when necessary to process an application or perform the insurer's duties under the policy or to protect the safety or privacy of a subject of abuse; and

(D) With respect to address and telephone number, an entity with whom the insurer transacts business when the business cannot be transacted without the address and telephone number;

(vi) To an attorney who needs the information to represent the insurer effectively, if the insurer notifies the attorney of its obligations under the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act and requests that the attorney exercise due diligence to protect the confidential abuse information consistent with the attorney's obligation to represent the insurer;

(vii) To the policy owner or assignee, in the course of delivery of the policy, if the policy contains information about the abuse status; and

(viii) To any other entity deemed appropriate by the director; and

(f) Requesting information about acts of abuse or abuse status, or making use of such information, however obtained, except:

(i) For the limited purpose of complying with legal obligations;

(ii) When verifying a person's claim to be a subject of abuse or to have sustained an abuse-related medical condition or incurred an abuse-related claim; or

(iii) When cooperating with a subject of abuse in seeking protection from abuse or facilitating the treatment of an abuse-related medical condition.

(2) Nothing in subdivision (1)(c) of this section prohibits the health carrier from requiring the subject of abuse to provide satisfactory evidence that he or she is a subject of abuse, from requiring the subject of abuse to pay the full premium for coverage under the health benefit plan from the date of termination of the group coverage forward, or from requiring as a condition of coverage that the subject of abuse reside or work within its service area, if the requirements are applied to all insureds of the health carrier. The subject of abuse shall make application for the continuation coverage required by subdivision (1)(c) of this section within sixty days after termination of the group coverage. Any continuation coverage required by subdivision (1)(c) of this section shall cease upon termination of the underlying group coverage. The health carrier may terminate the continuation coverage required by subdivision (1)(c) of this section after it has been in force for eighteen months, if the health carrier offers conversion to an equivalent individual plan. The continuation coverage required by subdivision (1)(c) of this section shall be satisfied by coverage required under 29 U.S.C. 1161 et seq. provided to a subject of abuse and is not intended to be in addition to coverage provided under 29 U.S.C. 1161 et seq.

(3) Subdivision (1)(e) of this section does not preclude a subject of abuse from obtaining his or her insurance records.

(4) A subject of abuse may provide evidence of abuse to a health carrier for the limited purpose of facilitating treatment of an abuse-related medical condition or demonstrating that a medical condition is abuse-related, and this section does not authorize the health carrier to disregard that information.

(5) This section does not prohibit a life insurer from declining to issue a life insurance policy if the applicant or prospective owner of the policy is or would be designated as a beneficiary of the policy, and if:

(a) The applicant or prospective owner of the policy lacks an insurable interest in the prospective insured;

(b) The applicant or prospective owner of the policy is known, on the basis of medical, police, or court records, to have committed an act of abuse against the prospective insured; or

(c) The insured or prospective insured is a subject of abuse, and that person, or a person who has assumed the care of that person if a minor or incapacitated, has objected to the issuance of the policy on the ground that the policy would be issued to or for the direct or indirect benefit of the abuser.

(6) This section does not prohibit a property and casualty insurer from denying a property claim when the damage or loss is the result of intentional conduct by a named insured who commits an act of abuse, except that the property and casualty insurer shall make payment on such a claim to an innocent coinsured subject of abuse to the extent of the innocent coinsured's interest in the property and within the limits of coverage when the damage or loss was proximately related to and in furtherance of abuse. A property and casualty insurer paying such a claim shall be subrogated to the rights of the innocent coinsured subject of abuse to recover for any damages paid by the insurance.

(7) This section does not prohibit an insurer from asking an applicant or insured about a medical condition or a claim or from using information thereby obtained to underwrite or to evaluate and carry out its rights and duties under the policy, even if the information is related to a medical condition or claim that the insurer knows or has reason to know is abuse-related, to the extent otherwise permitted under the act and other applicable law.

(8) An insurer shall not be held civilly or criminally liable for the death of or injury to an insured resulting from any action taken in a good faith effort to comply with the requirements of the act. However, this subsection does not prevent an action by the director to investigate or enforce a violation of the act or to assert any other claims authorized by law.

(9) An insurer shall not be liable for a violation of the act by a person who is a contractor with the insurer unless the insurer directed the act, practice, or omission that constitutes the violation.

Source: Laws 1998, LB 1035, § 19.

44-7407 Adverse effect on subject of abuse; explanation required.

An insurer that takes an action that adversely affects a subject of abuse on the basis of a medical condition or on the basis of claims history or other underwriting information that the insurer knows or has reason to know is abuse-related shall explain the reason for its action to the applicant or insured in writing and shall be able to demonstrate that its action, and any applicable policy provision:

(1) Does not treat abuse status as a medical condition or underwriting criterion;

(2) Is otherwise permissible by law and applies in the same manner and to the same extent to all applicants and insureds with a similar medical condition or a similar claim or claims history without regard to whether the condition is or the claims are abuse-related; and

(3) Except for claims actions, is based on a determination, made in conformance with sound actuarial principles or otherwise supported by actual or reasonably anticipated experience, that there is a correlation between the medical condition and a material increase in insurance risk.

44-7408 Violation of act; unfair trade practice.

In addition to any other remedies available under the laws of this state, each violation of the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act and any rules and regulations adopted and promulgated thereunder shall be an unfair trade practice in the business of insurance subject to the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act.

44-7410 Applicability to actions on or after July 15, 1998.

The Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act applies to all actions taken on or after July 15, 1998, except as otherwise explicitly stated. Nothing in the act shall require an insurer to conduct a comprehensive search of its contract files existing on July 15, 1998, solely to determine which applicants or insureds are subjects of abuse.

ARTICLE 75

PROPERTY AND CASUALTY INSURANCE RATE AND FORM ACT

Section

44-7501 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7501 to 44-7535 shall be known and may be cited as the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act.

Source: Laws 2000, LB 1119, § 1; Laws 2001, LB 444, § 1; Laws 2003, LB 216, § 18.

44-7502 Purposes of act.

The purposes of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act are:

(1) To prohibit price-fixing agreements and other anticompetitive behavior by insurers;

(2) To protect policyholders and the public against excessive rates and the adverse effects of inadequate or unfairly discriminatory rates;

(3) To regulate insurance contracts so they: (a) Are not unjust, unfair, ambiguous, inconsistent, inequitable, misleading, deceptive, or contrary to public policy; (b) are not written so as to encourage the misrepresentation of coverage; (c) reasonably provide the general coverage for policies of that type; (d) comply with the provisions and the intent of the laws of this state; and (e) do not provide coverage contrary to the public interest;

(4) To promote rates that reflect the benefits of competition;

(5) To provide appropriate data reporting systems;

(6) To provide regulatory oversight in the absence of competition;

(7) To authorize essential cooperative action among insurers in the development of policy forms, prospective loss costs, and other information and to regulate such activity to prevent practices that tend to substantially lessen competition or create a monopoly; and

(8) To promote the dissemination of price and other information to enable consumers to purchase insurance suitable for their needs and to foster competitive insurance markets.

44-7503 Competition and uniformity; construction of act.

Nothing in the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act shall prohibit or discourage reasonable competition or prohibit or discourage uniformity in policy forms, rating systems, or underwriting practices except to the extent necessary to accomplish the purposes of the act. The act shall be liberally interpreted to carry into effect the purposes of the act.

Source: Laws 2000, LB 1119, § 3.

44-7504 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act:

(1) Advisory organization means any entity, including its affiliates or subsidiaries, which (a) has majority ownership or control by two or more insurers and assists two or more insurers in activities related to ratemaking, the promulgation of policy forms, or related matters or (b) makes the same prospective loss cost or policy form filings on behalf of or to be available for two or more insurers. For purposes of this subdivision, a group of insurers under common ownership or control shall be considered a single insurer. Advisory organization does not include joint reinsurance pools, joint underwriting pools, or insurers engaged in joint underwriting;

(2) Classification means the process of grouping insureds with similar loss or expense characteristics so that differences in losses and expenses may be recognized;

(3) Client means client as defined in section 48-2702;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(5) Exempt commercial policyholder means an entity to which specific aspects of rate or policy form regulation do not apply or have been relaxed in accordance with rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to section 44-7515;

(6) Expense means that portion of a rate attributable to acquisition, field supervision, collection expense, general expense, taxes, licenses, and fees. Expense does not include loss adjustment expense;

(7) Experience rating plan means a rating formula and related procedures that use past loss experience of an individual policyholder to forecast future losses by measuring the policyholder's loss experience against the expected losses for policyholders in that classification to produce a prospective premium credit, debit, or unity modification;

(8) Joint reinsurance pool means an ongoing voluntary arrangement pursuant to which two or more insurers participate in the reinsurance of risks written by one or more member insurers and reinsured by one or more other member insurers. For purposes of this subdivision, a group of insurers under common ownership or control shall be considered a single insurer. A joint reinsurance pool may operate through an association, syndicate, or other arrangement;

(9) Joint underwriting means a voluntary arrangement established on an individual risk basis by which two or more insurers jointly contract to provide coverage for an insured. For purposes of this subdivision, a group of insurers under common ownership or control shall be considered a single insurer. Joint underwriting does not include any arrangement by which the participants are reinsuring the direct obligation of another risk-assuming entity;

(10) Joint underwriting pool means an ongoing voluntary arrangement pursuant to which two or more insurers participate in the sharing of risks written as their direct obligations according to a predetermined basis and the insurance remains the direct obligation of the pool participants. For purposes of this subdivision, a group of insurers under common ownership or control shall be considered a single insurer. A joint underwriting pool may operate through an association, syndicate, or other arrangement;

(11) Loss adjustment expense means the expense incurred by an insurer in the course of settling claims;

(12) Master policy means master policy as defined in section 48-2702;

(13) Multiple coordinated policy means multiple coordinated policy as defined in section 48-2702;

(14) Policy form means all policies, certificates, or other contracts providing insurance coverage. Policy form includes bonds and includes riders, endorsements, or other amendments to the policy form;

(15) Premium means the cost of insurance to the policyholder after all audit adjustments have been made and any dividends payable have been subtracted;

(16) Professional employer organization means professional employer organization as defined in section 48-2702;

(17) Prospective loss cost means that portion of a rate intended to provide for expected losses and loss adjustment expenses. Prospective loss costs may provide for anticipated special assessments. Prospective loss costs do not include provisions for profits, dividends, or expenses other than loss adjustment expenses;

(18) Rating system means the information needed to determine the applicable rate or premium including rates, any manual or plan of rates, classifications, rating schedules, minimum premiums, policy fees, payment plans, rating plans or rules, anniversary rating date rules, and other similar information. Rating system does not include dividend rating plans or other provisions for the possible payment of dividends if such dividends are declared by the insurer's board of directors and are not guaranteed;

(19) Special assessments means guaranty fund assessments made pursuant to section 44-2407, Workers' Compensation Trust Fund assessments made pursuant to section 48-162.02, residual market assessments made pursuant to section 44-3,158 or 44-7528, and similar assessments. Special assessments are not expenses or losses;

(20) Statistical agent means an entity that, for the purpose of fulfilling the statistical reporting obligations of two or more insurers under the act, collects or compiles statistics from two or more insurers or provides reports developed from these statistics to the director. For purposes of this subdivision, a group of insurers under common ownership or control shall be considered a single insurer; and

(21) Supporting information means the experience and judgment of the filer and the experience or data of other insurers or advisory organizations relied upon by the filer, the interpretation of any other data relied upon by the filer, descriptions of methods used in developing a rating system, and any other information required by the director to be filed.

44-7505 Applicability of act.

(1) The Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act applies to any insurer holding a certificate of authority issued by the director to transact insurance business in this state for the lines of insurance specified in subdivisions (5) through (14) and (16) through (20) of section 44-201 and to any combination of any of the foregoing on risks or operations in this state.

(2) The act does not apply to:

(a) Reinsurance, except as provided in section 44-7525 for joint reinsurance pools;

(b) Ocean marine insurance;

(c) Rating systems for insurance against loss or damage to aircraft or against liability, other than workers' compensation and employers liability, arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of aircraft;

(d) Rating systems or policy forms used by insurers to provide warranties or service contracts, or rating systems or policy forms used by insurers to provide coverage for the risk assumed by businesses that provide warranties or service contracts for their customers;

(e) Rating systems or policy forms for financial guaranty insurance as defined in subdivision (19) of section 44-201, except that the act applies to financial guaranty coverage for loss of value for motor vehicles leased or sold on credit to private parties;

(f) Rating systems for the lines of insurance specified in subdivisions (5), (7), and (18) of section 44-201 for insurance written by domestic assessment associations doing business under Chapter 44, article 8; and

(g) Policy forms or rates for contracts of suretyship, except that policy forms and prospective loss costs developed or filed by advisory organizations are subject to the act.

Source: Laws 2000, LB 1119, § 5; Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 49.

44-7506 Rating systems and prospective loss costs; filing required.

(1) All rating systems and prospective loss costs shall be filed with the director in accordance with section 44-7508, except that filings for the following shall be filed in accordance with sections 44-7510 and 44-7511:

(a) Filings made by advisory organizations;

(b) Medical professional liability insurance;

(c) Insurance in noncompetitive markets as determined pursuant to section 44-7507;

(d) Liability and physical damage coverages relating to the rental of private passenger automobiles on a nonfleet basis;

(e) Insurance written by joint underwriting pools or joint reinsurance pools;

(f) Insurance written in an assigned risk plan; and

(g) Insurance covering risks of a personal nature written for business entities if the costs for the insurance are charged to individuals. This does not include coverage provided without a separate charge by business entities for their customers.

(2)(a) If the director, after notice and hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, finds that an insurer has made filings pursuant to section 44-7508 that have failed to meet the filing standards contained in that section with such frequency as to indicate a general business practice that disregards the requirements of that section, the director shall order that the insurer's filings be made subject to the requirements of sections 44-7510 and 44-7511.

(b) Upon application by an insurer affected by an order issued pursuant to subdivision (2)(a) of this section, demonstrating that its filings made subsequent to the order have been in compliance with section 44-7508 without the need for the director to request that the original filings be amended, the director shall vacate such order. The director shall consider any such application within thirty days after its receipt for any order that has been in effect for more than nine months since its inception or since it was last reviewed by the director pursuant to an application by the insurer.

(c) For insurers whose rating system filings that would otherwise be subject to this section have been made subject to the prior approval requirements of section 44-7511 through the application of this subsection, the percentage rating flexibilities provided in section 44-7509 shall apply to such rating system filings made by such insurers once the rating system filing has been approved pursuant to section 44-7511.

Administrative Procedure Act, see section 84-920.

44-7507 Monitoring competition; determining competitive markets; hearing.

(1) The director shall monitor competition and the availability of insurance in commercial insurance markets. Such monitoring may include requests for information from insurers regarding the lines, types, and classes of insurance that the insurer is seeking and able to write. When requested by an insurer with its response, the director shall keep such responses confidential except as they may be compiled in summaries.

(2) If the director finds that a commercial insurance coverage is contributing to problems in the insurance marketplace due to excessive rates or lack of availability, the director shall submit electronically a report of this finding to the Legislature. Such report may be a separate report or a supplement to the annual report required by section 44-113.

(3) A competitive market is presumed to exist unless the director, after notice and hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, determines by order that a degree of competition sufficient to warrant reliance upon competition as a regulator of rating systems, policy forms, or both does not exist in the market. In determining whether a sufficient degree of competition exists, the director may consider:

(a) Relevant tests of workable competition pertaining to market structure, market performance, and market conduct;

(b) The practical opportunities available to consumers in the market to acquire pricing and other consumer information and to compare and obtain insurance from competing insurers;

(c) Whether long-term and short-term profitability provides evidence of excessive rates;

(d) Whether rating systems filed under section 44-7508 would frequently require amendment or disapproval if filed under sections 44-7510 and 44-7511;

(e) Whether additional competition would appear likely to significantly lower rates or improve the policy forms offered to insureds;

(f) Whether rates would be lowered or policy forms would be improved by the imposition of a system of prior approval regulation;

(g) Whether policy forms filed under section 44-7508.02 would frequently require amendment or disapproval if filed under section 44-7513; and

(h) Any other relevant factors.

(4) If a market for a particular type of insurance is found to lack sufficient competition to warrant reliance upon competition as a regulator of rating systems or policy forms, the director shall identify factors that appear to be the cause and the extent to which remediation can be achieved on a short-term or long-term basis. To the extent that significant remediation can be achieved consistent with the other goals of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act, the director shall take such action as may be within the director's authority to accomplish such remediation or to promote the accomplishment of such remediation.

(5) If the director finds pursuant to a hearing held in accordance with subsection (3) of this section that the lack of sufficient competition warrants the application of sections 44-7510 and 44-7511 to the rates charged for a type of insurance, an order shall be issued pursuant to this section that applies sections 44-7510 and 44-7511 to the type of insurance. If the director finds pursuant to a hearing held in accordance with subsection (3) of this section that the lack of sufficient competition warrants the application of section 44-7513 to regulate the forms offered for a type of insurance, an order shall be issued pursuant to this section that applies section 44-7513 to the type of insurance. An order issued under this subsection shall expire no later than one year after its original issue unless the director renews the order after a hearing and a finding of a continued lack of sufficient competition. Any order that is renewed after its first year shall not exceed three years after reissue unless the director renews the order after a hearing and a finding of a continued lack of sufficient competition.

(6) The director shall keep on file in one location all complaints from the public and insurance industry sources alleging that a competitive market does not exist. The director shall investigate each complaint to the extent necessary to determine the truth of the allegations. The director shall keep a summary of his or her findings and conclusions with the complaint.

44-7508 Rating systems; filing requirements; hearing.

(1) Each insurer to which this section applies as provided in section 44-7506 shall file with the director every rating system and every modification of such rating system that it chooses to use. No insurer shall issue a contract or policy except in accordance with the filings that are in effect for such insurer as provided in the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act, except:

(a) As provided in subsections (6) and (7) of this section;

(b) As provided by rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to section 44-7515; or

(c) For types of inland marine risks that have, by custom of the industry, not been written according to manual rates or rating plans. For types of inland marine risks for which the custom of the industry has not been established, the director shall consider the similarity of the new insurance to existing types of insurance and classes of risk and whether it would be reasonably practical to create and file rating systems prior to use.

(2) Every filing shall state its effective date, which shall not be prior to the date that the director receives the filing.

(3) Every filing shall provide an objective description of the risks and the coverages to which the rating system will apply. If the insurer has another rating system on file that applies to some or all of these same risks, the filing shall disclose this and shall objectively identify those risks to which each rating system will apply. Filings shall include a list of manual pages and other rating system elements that will be replaced when the approval of a filing will result in the replacement or alteration of previously filed rating systems. In addition, insurers shall maintain listings of manual pages and other rating system elements that have been filed with the director so that such listings can be provided upon request.

(4) Each insurer shall file or incorporate by reference to material filed with the director all supporting information relating to a rating system. If a filing is not accompanied by such information or if additional information is required to complete review of the filing, the director may require such insurer to furnish the information, and in that event the review period in subsection (10) of this section shall commence on the date such information is received by the director. If an insurer fails to furnish the required information within sixty days, the director may disapprove the filing based on the insurer's failure to provide the requested information. Disapproval shall be by written notice sent to the insurer ordering discontinuance of the filing within thirty days after the date of notice.

(5) An insurer may authorize the director to accept rating system filings and prospective loss cost filings made on its behalf by an advisory organization. The insurer shall file additional information as is necessary to complete its rating systems on file with the director.

(6) A rate or premium in excess of that provided by a filing otherwise applicable may be used on any specific risk upon the prior written consent of the insured that describes the insured's unusual or extrahazardous exposures that are not otherwise contemplated by the rates on file for that class of risk. Such signed consent shall be filed with the director no later than thirty days after the effective date of the insurance to which it applies. Insurers may not use the procedure set forth in this subsection as a regular means to gain more rate flexibility than is otherwise allowed by the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act. The director shall monitor such rate applications to assure compliance with this subsection. The director may, after a hearing, require by order that such applications for an insurer that has demonstrated a pattern of using this rating device for risks that do not possess unusual or extrahazardous exposures or that otherwise fails to comply with this subsection shall be subject to prior approval pursuant to subdivision (6)(a) of section 44-7511. Upon application by an insurer affected by such order, demonstrating that its filings made subsequent to the order have been in compliance with this subsection, the director shall vacate such order. The director shall consider any such application within thirty days after its receipt for any order that has been in effect for more than nine months since its inception or since it was last reviewed by the director pursuant to an application by the insurer.

(7) The director may by rules and regulations or by order suspend or modify the filing requirements of this section as to any type of insurance or class of risk for which rating systems cannot practicably be filed before they are used. In making this finding, the director shall ascertain whether a system of rating classifications and exposure bases that would equitably reflect the differences in expense requirements and expected losses between individual risks has been developed or appears reasonably capable of being developed. The director may examine insurers as is necessary to ascertain whether any rating systems affected by such rules and regulations meet the standards contained in this section and in section 44-7510.

(8) No filing or any supporting information provided pursuant to this section shall be open to public inspection pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09 before the date on which the director completes review of the filing unless publicly disclosed in an open court, open administrative proceeding, or open meeting or disclosed by the director pursuant to statute. Correspondence specifically relating to individual risks shall be confidential and may not be made public by the director except as may be compiled in summaries of such activity.

(9) The director shall review filings as soon as reasonably possible after they have been submitted. The director shall disapprove a filing if:

(a) The filing proposes a rating system that would produce inadequate premiums. A premium level is inadequate if it would endanger the solvency of the insurer. A premium level that would not be expected to generate a profit on a direct basis and that would be likely to have the effect of diminishing competition is also inadequate. A premium level that does not endanger the solvency of the insurer and is not likely to have the effect of diminishing competition is not inadequate;

(b) The insurer has more than one rating system applicable to the line or type of insurance and the insurer fails to specify objective differences between risks to determine the risks and the coverages to which the rating system will apply;

(c) The filing proposes to discriminate between risks based on optional commission differences for agents;

(d) The filing proposes to discriminate between risks based on race, creed, national origin, or religion of the insured;

(e) The filing would violate the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act;

(f) The filing discriminates between risks based on subjective factors, except that an experience rating plan may use loss reserves without being considered as subjective; or

(g) The filing proposes to discriminate between risks based solely on the fact that the insured is deployed in the military on Title 10 orders that require the insured to be mobilized outside of the United States, United States territories, and the District of Columbia for a period of six months or greater.

(10) Within thirty days after receipt, the director shall disapprove a filing that requires disapproval pursuant to subsection (9) of this section, except that this review period may be extended for an additional period not to exceed thirty days if the director gives written notice within the original review period to the insurer. A filing shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this section unless disapproved by the director within the review period or any extension thereof.

(11) If, within the review period provided by subsection (10) of this section or any extension thereof, the director finds that a filing does not meet the requirements of subsection (9) of this section, a written disapproval notice shall be sent to the insurer. Such notice shall specify in what respects the filing fails to meet these requirements and order discontinuance of the filing within thirty days after the date of notice.

(12) An insurer whose filing is disapproved may, within thirty days after receipt of a disapproval notice, request a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(13) If, at any time after the expiration of the review period provided by subsection (10) of this section or any extension thereof, the director finds that a rating system or modification thereof does not meet or no longer meets the requirements of subsection (9) of this section, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(14) Any insured aggrieved with respect to any filing may make written application to the director for a hearing on such filing. The hearing application shall specify the grounds to be relied upon by the applicant. If the director finds that the hearing application is made in good faith, that a remedy would be available if the grounds are established, or that such grounds otherwise justify holding a hearing, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(15) If, after a hearing held pursuant to subsection (13) or (14) of this section, the director finds that a filing does not meet the requirements of subsection (9) of this section, the director shall issue an order stating in what respects such filing fails to meet the requirements and when, within a reasonable period thereafter, such rating system or aspect of a rating system shall no longer be used. Copies of the order shall be sent to the applicant, if applicable, and to every affected insurer and advisory organization. The order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in the order.

44-7508.01 Policy forms and related rules of attachment; filing; contents; failure to file; effect.

(1) All policy forms and related rules of attachment shall be filed with the director in accordance with section 44-7508.02, except that an insurer may at its option file policy forms and related rules of attachment in accordance with section 44-7513 and filings for the following shall be filed in accordance with section 44-7513:

(a) Filings made by advisory organizations;

(b) Workers' compensation and employers liability insurance;

(c) Excess workers' compensation and employers liability insurance;

(d) Medical professional liability insurance;

(e) Insurance in noncompetitive markets as determined pursuant to section 44-7507;

(f) Liability and physical damage coverages relating to the rental of private passenger automobiles on a nonfleet basis;

(g) Insurance written by joint underwriting pools or joint reinsurance pools;

(h) Insurance written in an assigned risk plan; and

(i) Insurance covering risks of a personal nature written for business entities if the costs for the insurance are charged to individuals. This does not include coverage provided without a separate charge by business entities for their customers.

(2)(a) If the director, after notice and hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, finds that an insurer has made filings pursuant to section 44-7508.02 that have failed to meet the filing standards contained in such section with such frequency as to indicate a general business practice that disregards the requirements of such section or finds that the insurer committed one or more egregious acts relating to the filing standards, the director shall order that the insurer's filings be made subject to the requirements of section 44-7513.

(b) Upon application by an insurer affected by an order issued pursuant to subdivision (2)(a) of this section demonstrating that its filings made subsequent to the order have been in compliance with section 44-7508.02 without the need for the director to request that the original filings be amended, the director may vacate such order. The director shall consider any such application within thirty days after its receipt for any order that has been in effect for more than nine months since its inception or since it was last reviewed by the director pursuant to an application by the insurer.

44-7508.02 Policy forms; filing; director; powers and duties.

(1) For policy forms to which this section applies as provided in section 44-7508.01, each insurer shall file with the director every policy form and related attachment rule and every modification thereof which it proposes to use. For policy forms to which this section applies, no insurer shall issue a contract or policy except in accordance with the filings that are in effect for such insurer as provided in the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act except as provided in subsection (10) or (11) of this section, section 44-7514, or rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to section 44-7515.

(2) Every filing shall state its effective date, which shall not be prior to the date that the director receives such filing.

(3) Every policy form filing shall explain the intended use of such policy form. Filings shall include a list of policy forms that will be replaced when the approval of a filing will result in the replacement of previously approved policy forms. In addition, insurers shall maintain listings of policy forms that have been filed so that such listings can be provided upon request.

(4) The director shall acknowledge receipt of a policy form filing as soon as practical. A review of the filing by the director is not required to issue this acknowledgment, and acknowledgment shall not constitute an approval by the director.

(5) The director may review a policy form filing at any time after it has been made. The director shall review a policy form filing for insurance covering risks of a personal nature, including insurance for homeowners, tenants, private passenger nonfleet automobiles, mobile homes, and other property and casualty insurance for personal, family, or household needs, within thirty days after the filing has been made. Following such review, the director shall disapprove a filing that contains provisions, exceptions, or conditions that: (a) Are unjust, unfair, ambiguous, inconsistent, inequitable, misleading, deceptive, or contrary to public policy; (b) are written so as to encourage the misrepresentation of coverage; (c) fail to reasonably provide the general coverage for policies of that type; (d) fail to comply with the provisions or the intent of the laws of this state; or (e) would provide coverage contrary to the public interest.

(6) If, within thirty days after its receipt, the director disapproves a filing that requires disapproval pursuant to subsection (5) of this section, then a written disapproval notice shall be sent to the insurer. The disapproval notice shall specify in what respects the filing fails to meet these requirements. Upon receipt of the notice of disapproval, the insurer shall cease use of the filing as soon as practical but may use the form for policies that have already been issued or when pending coverage proposals are outstanding.

(7) If, within thirty days after its receipt, the director requests additional information to complete review of a policy form filing, the thirty-day review period allowed in subsection (6) of this section shall commence on the date such information is received by the director. If a filer fails to furnish the required information within ninety days, the director may disapprove the filing based on the insurer's failure to provide the requested information. Disapproval shall be by written notice sent to the insurer ordering discontinuance of the filing within thirty days after the date of notice.

(8) An insurer whose filing is disapproved pursuant to subsection (6) of this section may, within thirty days after receipt of a disapproval notice, request a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(9) An insurer may authorize the director to accept policy form filings made on its behalf by an advisory organization.

(10)(a) Subject to the requirements of this subsection, policy forms unique in character and designed for and used with regard to an individual risk under common ownership subject to the rate filing provisions of section 44-7508 shall be exempt from subsection (1) of this section.

(b) At the earliest practical opportunity, but no later than thirty days after the effective date of the policy using unfiled provisions, the insurer shall provide the prospective insured with a written listing of the policy forms that have not been filed with the director. This requirement does not apply to renewals using the same unfiled policy forms.

(c) A policy form that has been used in this state or elsewhere by the insurer for another risk shall not be subject to the exemption provided by this subsection, except that an insurer may use a policy form previously developed for a single risk for a second risk if the policy form is filed within sixty days after its second usage.

(d) The exemption provided by this subsection shall not apply to policy forms that, prior to their use by the insurer, had been filed by an advisory organization in this state or had been filed by the insurer in any jurisdiction, regardless of whether approval was received.

(e) The director may by rule and regulation or by order make specific restrictions relating to the exemption provided by this subsection and may require the informational filing of policy forms subject to such exemption within a reasonable time after their use. Any such informational filings specifically relating to individual risks shall be confidential and may not be made public by the director except as may be compiled in summaries of such activity.

(11) The director may by rule and regulation suspend or modify the filing requirements of this section as to any type of insurance or class of risk for which policy forms cannot practicably be filed before they are used. The director may examine insurers as is necessary to ascertain whether any policy forms affected by such rules and regulations meet the standards contained in the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act.

(12) If, at any time after the expiration of the review period provided by subsection (6) of this section or any extension thereof, the director finds that a policy form, attachment rule, or modification thereof does not meet or no longer meets the requirements of subsection (5) of this section, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(13) Any insured aggrieved with respect to any policy form filing subject to this section may make written application to the director for a hearing on such filing. The hearing application shall specify the grounds to be relied upon by the applicant. If the director finds that the hearing application is made in good faith, that a remedy would be available if the grounds are established, or that such grounds otherwise justify holding a hearing, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(14) If, after a hearing held pursuant to subsection (12) or (13) of this section, the director finds that a filing does not meet the requirements of subsection (5) of this section, the director shall issue an order stating in what respects such filing fails to meet the requirements and when, within a reasonable period thereafter, such policy form or attachment rule shall no longer be used. Copies of the order shall be sent to the applicant, if applicable, and to every affected insurer and advisory organization. The order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in the order.

44-7509 Premium adjustments.

(1) For medical professional liability insurance and for insurance subject to section 44-7508, insurers may increase or decrease premiums on an individual risk basis up to forty percent based on any factor except:

(a) The rate adjustment cannot be based upon the race, creed, national origin, or religion of the insured;

(b) The rate adjustment cannot violate the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act;

(c) The rate adjustment cannot apply to (i) insurance covering risks of a personal nature, including insurance for homeowners, tenants, private passenger nonfleet automobiles, mobile homes, and other property and casualty insurance for personal, family, or household needs or (ii) insurance covering farms and ranches, including crop insurance; and

(d) The rate adjustment cannot be based solely upon the fact that the insured is deployed in the military on Title 10 orders that require the insured to be mobilized outside of the United States, United States territories, and the District of Columbia for a period of six months or greater.

(2) If the director finds after a hearing that (a) the utilization of this section by the insurance industry has produced a significant number of rate modifications at or near the upper limit and at the lower limit of the allowable range of modification and (b) the modifiers at and near the upper and lower limits of the allowable range of modification appear to be predominantly correlated with individual risk factors that relate to expected losses and expenses, the director may, by rules and regulations, broaden the range of plus or minus forty percent for any line or type of insurance subject to section 44-7508.

(3) If the director finds after a hearing that modifiers at or near the upper or lower limits of the allowable range of modification are not predominantly correlated with individual risk factors that relate to expected losses and expenses, the director may, by rules and regulations, reduce the range of plus or minus forty percent for any line or type of insurance subject to section 44-7508, but such reduction shall not be to less than plus or minus twenty-five percent.

44-7510 Standards for rating systems and prospective loss costs for lines subject to prior approval.

(1) Rating systems shall not produce premiums that are excessive. A premium level is excessive if it is likely to produce a profit that is unreasonably high for the insurance provided or if expenses are unreasonably high in relation to services rendered. In the evaluation of a premium level, due consideration shall be given to loss experience within and outside this state; reasonably anticipated trends; investment income; special assessments, conflagration, and catastrophe hazards; a reasonable margin for profit; dividends, savings, or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to policyholders, members, or subscribers; expense experience both countrywide and specially applicable to this state; and other relevant factors.

(2) Rating systems shall not produce premiums that are inadequate. A premium level is inadequate only if (a) it would endanger the solvency of the insurer or (b) it would not be expected to generate a profit on a direct basis and would be likely to have the effect of diminishing competition.

(3)(a) Rating systems shall not produce premiums that are unfairly discriminatory. Premiums are unfairly discriminatory if, after allowing for practical limitations, price differentials fail to equitably reflect differences in expense requirements or expected losses.

(b) Risks may be grouped by classification groupings that identify objective risk differences for the establishment of rates and prospective loss costs and for the use of rating systems.

(c) Rates and premiums may be modified for individual risks or groups of risks in accordance with objective standards for measuring differences among risks or groups of risks that can be demonstrated to have a probable effect upon losses or expenses. The fact that experience rating plans use loss reserves shall not be interpreted as making experience rating plans subjective.

(d) Notwithstanding subdivisions (3)(b) and (c) of this section, fire insurance rating plans applying to commercial risks for the sole use by advisory organizations that contain reasonable subjective rating factors, but that otherwise meet the standards contained in the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act, shall be approved.

(e) A rate is not unfairly discriminatory if it is averaged broadly among persons insured under a group, franchise, or blanket policy or a mass marketed plan. Mass marketed plan means a method of selling property liability insurance wherein:

(i) The insurance is offered to employees of particular employers, members of particular associations or organizations, or stockholders of publicly held corporations or to persons grouped in other ways, except groupings formed principally for the purpose of obtaining such insurance; and

(ii) The employer or other organization has agreed to, or otherwise affiliated itself with, the sale of such insurance to its employees or other groupings of persons affiliated with it.

(f) An insurer may have different rate levels for otherwise similar insureds based on expense differences between coverage sold:

(i) Through direct sales using employees of the insurer;

(ii) Through direct sales by the insurer using the Internet; and

(iii) Through agents that are not employees of the insurer.

(g) No risk classification or grouping may be based upon the race, creed, national origin, or religion of the insured.

(h) No rating system may violate the Unfair Discrimination Against Subjects of Abuse in Insurance Act.

(i) No risk classification or grouping may be based solely upon the fact that the insured is deployed in the military on Title 10 orders that require the insured to be mobilized outside of the United States, United States territories, and the District of Columbia for a period of six months or greater.

(4) Prospective loss costs shall be as near as is practical to the expected cost of future losses, including loss adjustment expenses. Anticipated special assessments may be included with prospective loss costs.

44-7511 Rating systems; filing requirements for lines subject to prior approval; hearings.

(1) Each insurer to which this section applies as provided in section 44-7506 shall file with the director every rating system and every modification of such rating system that it proposes to use. No insurer shall issue a contract or policy except in accordance with the filings that are in effect for such insurer as provided in the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act, except:

(a) As provided in subsections (6) and (7) of this section;

(b) As provided by rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to section 44-7515; or

(c) For types of inland marine risks that have, by custom of the industry, not been written according to manual rates or rating plans. For types of inland marine risks for which the custom of the industry has not been established, the director shall consider the similarity of the new insurance to existing types of insurance and classes of risk and whether it would be reasonably practical to create and file rating systems prior to use.

(2) Every filing shall state its proposed effective date, which shall not be prior to the date that the director receives the filing. Instead of a specific date, a filing may indicate that it will be effective a reasonable specified period of time after approval or that the insurer will notify the director of the effective date within ninety days after approval.

(3) Every filing shall provide an objective description of the risks and the coverages to which the rating system will apply. If the insurer has another rating system on file or pending that applies to some or all of these same risks, the filing shall disclose this and shall objectively identify those risks to which each rating system will apply. Filings shall include a list of manual pages and other rating system elements that will be replaced when the approval of a filing will result in the replacement or alteration of previously approved rating systems. In addition, insurers shall maintain listings of manual pages and other rating system elements that have been approved by the director so that such listings can be provided upon request.

(4) Each insurer shall file or incorporate by reference to material filed with the director all supporting information relating to a rating system. If a filing is not accompanied by such information or if additional information is required to complete review of the filing, the director may require the filer to furnish the information, and in that event the review period in subsection (10) of this section shall commence on the date such information is received by the director. If a filer fails to furnish the required information within ninety days, the director may, by written notice sent to the insurer, deem the filing as withdrawn and not available for use.

(5) An insurer may authorize the director to accept rating system filings and prospective loss cost filings made on its behalf by an advisory organization. The insurer shall file additional information as is necessary to complete its rating systems on file with the director.

(6)(a) Except as otherwise provided in subdivision (6)(b) of this section for medical professional liability insurance, a rate or premium in excess of that provided by a filing otherwise applicable may be used on any specific risk upon the prior written application of the insured that describes the insured's unusual or extrahazardous exposures that are not otherwise contemplated by the rates on file for that class of risk, filed with and approved by the director.

(b) For medical professional liability insurance, a rate or premium in excess of that provided by a filing otherwise applicable may be used for any specific medical professional upon the prior written consent of the medical professional that describes its unusual or extrahazardous exposures that are not otherwise contemplated by the rates on file for that medical professional's rate classification. Such signed consent shall be filed with the director no later than thirty days after the effective date of the insurance to which it applies. The director shall monitor such rate applications to assure compliance with this subdivision. The director may, after a hearing, require by order that such applications for an insurer that has demonstrated a pattern of using this rating device for medical professionals that do not possess unusual or extrahazardous exposures, or that otherwise fails to comply with this subdivision, shall be subject to prior approval pursuant to subdivision (6)(a) of this section. Upon application by an insurer affected by such order, demonstrating that its filings made subsequent to the order have been in compliance with this subdivision, the director shall vacate such order. The director shall consider any such application within thirty days after its receipt for any order that has been in effect for more than nine months since its inception or since it was last reviewed by the director pursuant to an application by the insurer.

(7) The director may by rules and regulations or by order suspend or modify the filing requirements of this section as to any type of insurance or class of risk for which rating systems cannot practicably be filed before they are used. In making this finding, the director shall ascertain whether a system of rating classifications and exposure bases that would equitably reflect the differences in expense requirements and expected losses between individual risks has been developed or appears reasonably capable of being developed. The director may examine insurers as is necessary to ascertain whether any rating systems affected by such rules and regulations meet the standards contained in this section.

(8) No filing or any supporting information provided by an insurer pursuant to this section shall be open to public inspection pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09 before the approval or disapproval of the filing unless publicly disclosed in an open court, open administrative proceeding, or open meeting or disclosed by the director pursuant to statute. Correspondence specifically relating to individual risks shall be confidential and may not be made public by the director except as may be compiled in summaries of such activity.

(9) The director shall review filings as soon as reasonably possible after they have been made. The director shall disapprove a filing if:

(a) The filing fails to meet the standards contained in section 44-7510;

(b) The insurer has more than one rating system applicable to the line or type of insurance and the insurer fails to specify objective differences between risks to determine the risks and the coverages to which the rating system will apply;

(c) The filing proposes to discriminate between risks based on optional commission differences for agents; or

(d) The filing discriminates between risks based on subjective factors, except that (i) an experience rating plan may use loss reserves without being considered as subjective and (ii) a fire insurance rating plan applying to commercial risks filed for the sole use by an advisory organization may be approved even though it contains subjective rating factors.

(10) Within thirty days after receipt, the director shall approve a filing that meets the requirements of the act, except that this review period may be extended for an additional period not to exceed thirty days if the director gives written notice within the original review period to the insurer or advisory organization. A filing shall be deemed to meet the requirements of the act unless disapproved by the director within the review period or any extension thereof.

(11) If, within the review period provided by subsection (10) of this section or any extension thereof, the director finds that a filing does not meet the requirements of the act, a written disapproval notice shall be sent to the insurer. Such notice shall specify in what respects the filing fails to meet these requirements and state that such filing shall not become effective.

(12) Filings shall become effective on their proposed effective date if approved or deemed approved on or before that date. Filings approved or deemed approved after their proposed effective dates shall become effective after notification by the insurer of a revised effective date, which shall not be prior to the date that the insurer mails the notification to the director. If an insurer fails to furnish a revised effective date within a reasonable period of time not less than ninety days, the director may, by written notice sent to the insurer, deem the filing as withdrawn and not available for use.

(13) An insurer or advisory organization whose filing is disapproved may, within thirty days after receipt of a disapproval notice, request a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(14) If, at any time after approval, the director finds that a rating system or modification thereof does not meet or no longer meets the requirements of the act, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(15) Any insured aggrieved with respect to any filing may make written application to the director for a hearing on such filing. The hearing application shall specify the grounds to be relied upon by the applicant. If the director finds that the hearing application is made in good faith, that a remedy would be available if the grounds are established, or that such grounds otherwise justify holding a hearing, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(16) If, after a hearing initiated pursuant to subsection (14) or (15) of this section, the director finds that a filing does not meet the requirements of the act, the director shall issue an order stating in what respects such filing fails to meet the requirements and when, within a reasonable period thereafter, such rating system or aspect of a rating system shall no longer be used. Copies of the order shall be sent to the applicant, if applicable, and to every affected insurer and advisory organization. The order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in the order.

44-7513 Policy form filings.

(1) Each insurer to which this section applies as provided in section 44-7508.01 shall file with the director every policy form and related attachment rule and every modification thereof which it proposes to use. No insurer to which this section applies shall issue a contract or policy except in accordance with the filings that are in effect for such insurer as provided in the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act except as provided in subsection (6) or (7) of this section, section 44-7514, or rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to section 44-7515.

(2) Every filing shall state its proposed effective date, which shall not be prior to the date that the director receives the filing. Instead of a specific date, a filing may indicate that it will be effective a reasonable specified period of time after approval or that the insurer will notify the director of the effective date within ninety days after approval.

(3) Every policy form filing shall explain the intended use of such policy forms. Filings shall include a list of policy forms that will be replaced when the approval of a filing will result in the replacement of previously approved policy forms. In addition, insurers shall maintain listings of policy forms that have been filed and approved by the director so that such listings can be provided upon request.

(4) If additional information is needed to complete review of a policy form filing, the director may require the filer to furnish the information and in that event the review period in subsection (10) of this section shall commence on the date such information is received by the director. If a filer fails to furnish the required information within ninety days, the director may, by written notice sent to the insurer, deem the filing as withdrawn and not available for use.

(5) An insurer may authorize the director to accept policy form filings made on its behalf by an advisory organization.

(6)(a) Subject to the following requirements, policy forms unique in character and designed for and used with regard to an individual risk under common ownership subject to the rate filing provisions of section 44-7508 shall be exempt from the approval requirements contained in subsection (1) of this section.

(b) At the earliest practical opportunity, but no later than thirty days after the effective date of the policy using unfiled provisions, the insurer shall provide the prospective insured with a written listing of the policy forms that have not been approved by the director and receive written acknowledgment from prospective insureds for which it ultimately provides coverage. This requirement does not apply to renewals using the same unfiled policy forms.

(c) A policy form that has been used in this state or elsewhere by the insurer for another risk shall not be subject to the exemption provided by this subsection, except that an insurer may use a policy form previously developed for a single risk for a second risk if the policy form is filed for approval within sixty days after its second usage.

(d) The exemption provided by this subsection shall not apply to workers' compensation or excess workers' compensation insurance policy forms or to policy forms that, prior to their use by the insurer, had been filed by an advisory organization in this state or had been filed by the insurer in any jurisdiction, regardless of whether approval was received.

(e) The director may by rules and regulations or by order make specific restrictions relating to the exemption provided by this subsection and may require the informational filing of policy forms subject to such exemption within a reasonable time after their use.

(7) The director may by rules and regulations suspend or modify the filing requirements of this section as to any type of insurance or class of risk for which policy forms cannot practicably be filed before they are used. The director may examine insurers as is necessary to ascertain whether any policy forms affected by such rules and regulations meet the standards contained in the act.

(8) No filing or any supporting information provided by an insurer pursuant to this section shall be open to public inspection pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09 before the approval or disapproval of the filing unless publicly disclosed in an open court, open administrative proceeding, or open meeting or disclosed by the director pursuant to statute. Correspondence specifically relating to individual risks shall be confidential and may not be made public by the director except as may be compiled in summaries of such activity.

(9) The director shall review filings as soon as reasonably possible after they have been made. The director shall disapprove a filing that contains provisions, exceptions, or conditions that: (a) Are unjust, unfair, ambiguous, inconsistent, inequitable, misleading, deceptive, or contrary to public policy; (b) are written so as to encourage the misrepresentation of coverage; (c) fail to reasonably provide the general coverage for policies of that type; (d) fail to comply with the provisions or the intent of the laws of this state; or (e) would provide coverage contrary to the public interest.

(10) Within thirty days after receipt, the director shall approve filings that meet the requirements of the act, except that this review period may be extended for an additional period not to exceed thirty days if the director gives written notice within the original review period to the insurer or advisory organization. A filing shall be deemed to meet the requirements of the act unless disapproved by the director within the review period or any extension thereof.

(11) If, within the review period provided by subsection (10) of this section or any extension thereof, the director finds that a filing does not meet the requirements of the act, a written disapproval notice shall be sent to the insurer. Such notice shall specify in what respects the filing fails to meet these requirements and state that such filing shall not become effective.

(12) Filings shall become effective on their proposed effective date if approved or deemed approved on or before that date. Filings approved or deemed approved after their proposed effective dates shall become effective after notification by the insurer of a revised effective date, which shall not be prior to the date that the insurer mails the notification to the director. If an insurer fails to furnish a revised effective date within a reasonable period of time not less than ninety days, the director may, by written notice sent to the insurer, deem the filing as withdrawn and not available for use.

(13) An insurer or advisory organization whose filing is disapproved may, within thirty days after receipt of a disapproval notice, request a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(14) If, at any time after approval, the director finds that a policy form, attachment rule, or modification thereof does not meet or no longer meets the requirements of the act, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(15) Any insured aggrieved with respect to any filing may make written application to the director for a hearing on such filing. The hearing application shall specify the grounds to be relied upon by the applicant. If the director finds that the hearing application is made in good faith, that a remedy would be available if the grounds are established, or that such grounds otherwise justify holding a hearing, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532.

(16) If, after a hearing initiated pursuant to subsection (14) or (15) of this section, the director finds that a filing does not meet the requirements of the act, the director shall issue an order stating in what respects such filing fails to meet the requirements and when, within a reasonable period thereafter, such policy form or attachment rule shall no longer be used. Copies of the order shall be sent to the applicant, if applicable, and to every affected insurer and advisory organization. The order shall not affect any contract or policy made or issued prior to the expiration of the period set forth in the order.

44-7514 Policy form approval requirements applying to qualifying multistate commercial policyholder; exemption.

(1) The policy form approval requirements set forth in section 44-7513 shall not apply to policies written for individual commercial risks of a qualifying multistate commercial policyholder. For the purposes of this section, a qualifying multistate commercial policyholder is an entity that meets the following qualifications:

(a) The policyholder is commercial in nature;

(b) If the policyholder is comprised of multiple corporations or other entities, there is common or majority ownership of each of the members by the same parent entity. Qualifying multistate commercial policyholder does not include franchise arrangements or other groups where individual members of the group are under different ownership; and

(c) The office with the largest number of the officers and senior management of the policyholder is located outside of Nebraska. If this criteria is not meaningful or is ambiguous for a policyholder, then the total premiums for lines of insurance subject to the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act that are attributable to another jurisdiction must exceed those premiums attributable to Nebraska.

(2) Policy forms for commercial risks exempted by this section may include language that conflicts with sections 44-357, 44-358, and 44-501.02. If a conflict results between a policy form and the requirements of such sections, such sections shall apply.

(3) Policy forms for commercial risks exempted by this section may include language that conflicts with sections 44-349, 44-350, 44-501, 44-514 to 44-518, 44-520 to 44-523, and 44-6408 and the provision of section 44-601 that prohibits policies with a term longer than five years. If a conflict results between a policy form and the requirements of any of these sections, the language in the policy form shall apply to the extent that it is inconsistent with such sections.

(4) Except as set forth in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the policy forms exempted from policy form approval requirements shall not violate any law of this state.

44-7515 Exemption from the requirement for insurers to use filed rates and policy forms for certain commercial policyholders; eligibility for professional employer organizations.

(1) The director shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to modify or eliminate requirements for insurers to use filed rates and policy forms for commercial policyholders under common ownership identified through the application of subsection (4) of this section. Unless set forth by rules and regulations, on and after January 1, 2012, eligibility for a professional employer organization shall be based upon the professional employer organization's total premiums, including premiums for multiple coordinated policies written for the professional employer organization's clients. Unless otherwise set forth in the rules and regulations, the rules and regulations apply to multiple coordinated policies written on behalf of an eligible professional employer organization.

(2) The rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to this section may establish requirements and thresholds that differ by line or type of insurance or that differ for rates and policy forms.

(3) The rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to this section shall require insurers to inform exempt commercial policyholders at the earliest practical date, but no later than thirty days after the inception of coverage, of those policy forms applying to them that have not been approved by the director.

(4) The director shall consider the following factors in determining those commercial policyholders to which the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to this section shall apply:

(a) For modification or elimination of the applicability of filed rates, characteristics of insureds that are likely to avail themselves of regular price comparisons between competing insurers and are likely to study and understand the differences and details of pricing proposals that they receive;

(b) For modification or elimination of the applicability of filed rates, characteristics of insureds for which filed rates and rating plans are less likely to provide the lowest premiums otherwise consistent with the provisions of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act;

(c) Modification or elimination of the applicability of filed rates for commercial insureds that are primarily located in another jurisdiction where they are subject to similar exemptions or waivers in that jurisdiction;

(d) For modification or elimination of the applicability of filed policy forms, characteristics of insureds that are likely to study and understand the details of their business risks and insurance coverages and exclusions;

(e) For modification or elimination of the applicability of filed policy forms, characteristics of insureds that are likely to require individually written policies, as contrasted to insureds that can customarily have their coverage needs met using policy forms that could also be used for other insureds;

(f) For both rates and policy forms, favorable or adverse experiences with the modification or elimination of regulatory requirements, especially the experience in this state; and

(g) Any other relevant factor.

(5) For exempt commercial policyholders to which rating system regulation is made otherwise inapplicable, insurers shall allocate premiums between policies, exposures, and states in proportion to the expected losses and expenses for those policies, exposures, and states.

(6) The following restrictions apply to rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to this section:

(a) The rules and regulations may not allow any reduction of the benefits payable under workers' compensation or excess workers' compensation policies or any alteration of provisions for the handling and settlement of claims under such policies, but the rules and regulations may allow exempt commercial policyholders to negotiate workers' compensation or excess workers' compensation premiums and premium payment provisions;

(b) The rules and regulations may not allow any reduction of automobile insurance coverage limits to less than those required by Nebraska law, but the rules and regulations may allow exempt commercial policyholders to negotiate automobile insurance premiums and premium payment provisions;

(c) The rules and regulations may not allow any limitation of the coverage provisions necessary for health care providers to qualify under the Nebraska Hospital-Medical Liability Act, but the rules and regulations may allow exempt commercial policyholders to negotiate medical professional liability insurance premiums and premium payment provisions;

(d) The rules and regulations may not reduce the rate regulatory requirements applying to insurance written for a professional employer organization on or after January 1, 2012, or to any insurance written for an individual policyholder that is not a client of a professional employer organization with total premiums of less than twenty-five thousand dollars for lines of insurance subject to the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act; and

(e) The rules and regulations may not reduce the form regulatory requirements applying to insurance written for a professional employer organization on or after January 1, 2012, or to any insurance written for an individual policyholder that is not a client of a professional employer organization with total premiums of less than fifty thousand dollars for lines of insurance subject to the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act.

(7) Policy forms for commercial risks exempted by the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to this section may include language that conflicts with section 44-501. If a conflict results between a policy form and the requirements of section 44-501, the language in the policy form shall apply to the extent that it is inconsistent with such section.

44-7516 Use of nonadmitted insurers by exempt commercial policyholders.

(1) The director shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to allow exempt commercial policyholders to be exempt from those provisions of sections 44-5510 and 44-5511 that require, as a condition for the purchase of insurance from a nonadmitted insurer, that applicants demonstrate an inability to obtain insurance from a licensed insurer. Such exemption shall not apply to workers' compensation insurance, excess workers' compensation insurance, or automobile liability insurance, except that such exemption may apply to automobile liability insurance purchased as excess insurance over a policy that provides limits that are at least equal to the minimum limits of liability required by section 60-534.

(2) The rules and regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to this section may establish requirements and thresholds that differ by line or type of insurance or that differ from the requirements and thresholds for exemption from rate and policy form requirements adopted and promulgated pursuant to section 44-7515.

(3) In addition to the factors specified in section 44-7515, the director shall consider the following in making a determination of the requirements and thresholds that will apply:

(a) The relationship of deductibles, self-insured retentions, and limits of liability purchased by insureds versus the protection provided by the Nebraska Property and Liability Insurance Guaranty Association;

(b) The characteristics of insureds likely to be able to evaluate the ability of a nonadmitted insurer to meet its policy obligations; and

(c) The characteristics of insureds likely to be able to resolve policy and claims disputes that they may have with a nonadmitted insurer.

(4) The rules and regulations may not exempt any policyholder with total premiums of less than one hundred thousand dollars for lines of insurance subject to the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act.

44-7516.01 Private passenger automobile liability policy; disclosure; requirements.

(1) On and after July 1, 2002, no private passenger automobile liability policy shall be delivered, issued for delivery, or renewed with respect to any motor vehicle licensed in this state unless accompanied by a disclosure showing the location used to determine the rate charged to the named insured and if any credit-based rating was used to determine the rate charged.

(2) For an insurer determined by the director to be an insurer with a substantial market share of the private passenger automobile insurance premium written in this state:

(a) The private passenger automobile liability insurance rating territories for motor vehicles located in a city of the metropolitan class that are contained in the insurer's qualifying rate filing made on or after January 1, 2002, shall be deemed to expire three years after their effective date unless they are refiled;

(b) Unless the insurer has made a qualifying rate filing with an effective date on or after January 1, 2002, as provided in subdivision (2)(a) of this section, all filings made by the insurer of private passenger automobile insurance that justify the rating relativities of a rating territory for motor vehicles located in a city of the metropolitan class shall expire July 1, 2003;

(c) If necessary for the director to complete his or her study of a rating system filing that is proposed as a qualifying rate filing, the director shall extend the three-year period if the insurer has made a proposed qualifying rate filing prior to the end of the three-year period with a requested effective date no later than three years after the effective date of its last qualifying rate filing;

(d) A filing made by an advisory organization on behalf of an insurer shall be deemed to be a filing by the insurer for purposes of the expiration requirement of this subsection; and

(e) For purposes of this subsection:

(i) Insurer with a substantial market share of the private passenger automobile insurance premium written in this state means:

(A) An insurer that is one of the ten insurers writing the largest amount of private passenger automobile insurance premium in this state; or

(B) An insurer that meets any other standard prescribed by rule and regulation adopted and promulgated by the director; and

(ii) Qualifying rate filing means an approved rating system filing that justifies the rating relativities of the private passenger automobile liability insurance rating territories for motor vehicles located in a city of the metropolitan class made on or after January 1, 2002.

44-7517 Information to be furnished insureds; hearing; appeal.

Within a reasonable time after receiving a written request and after receiving payment of such reasonable charge as it may require, every insurer and advisory organization shall furnish all pertinent information to any insured affected by a rate, premium, or prospective loss cost made by the insurer or advisory organization. Upon written request, every insurer and advisory organization shall provide within this state reasonable means by which the insured aggrieved by the application of the advisory organization's or insurer's rating system may be heard, in person or by an authorized representative, to review the manner in which such rating system has been applied in connection with the insurance afforded the insured. If the insurer or advisory organization fails to act upon such request within thirty days after it is made, the applicant may proceed in the same manner as if the application had been rejected. An insured affected by the action of the insurer or advisory organization on such request may appeal to the director within thirty days after written notice of such action. The director, after a hearing held in accordance with section 44-7532, may affirm the action of the insurer or advisory organization or order remedial action to be undertaken by the insurer or advisory organization.

44-7518 Advisory organizations and statistical agents; certificate of authority required; application; director; powers.

(1) No advisory organization or statistical agent shall provide any service relating to insurance subject to the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act, and no insurer shall use the services of such advisory organization or statistical agent for such purposes, unless the advisory organization or statistical agent has been issued a certificate of authority by the director. Such certificate of authority shall expire on April 30 each year and shall be renewed annually if the advisory organization or statistical agent has continued to comply with the laws of this state and the rules and regulations of the director.

(2) No advisory organization or statistical agent shall refuse to supply any services for which it is licensed in this state to any insurer authorized to do business in this state and offering to pay the fair and usual compensation for the services.

(3) An advisory organization or statistical agent applying to the director for a certificate of authority shall include with its application:

(a) A copy of its constitution, charter, articles of incorporation, organization, agreement, or association, bylaws, plan of operation, and other rules or regulations governing the conduct of its business;

(b) The names of insurers that own or have control over the applicant, and a description of their ownership or control;

(c) The name and address of a resident of this state upon whom notices, process, or orders of the director may be served;

(d) Information showing its qualifications for acting in the capacity for which it seeks a certificate of authority;

(e) Biographical information on its officers; and

(f) Any other relevant information and documents that the director may require.

(4) Every applicant for a certificate of authority shall notify the director of all material changes in the information or documents on which its application was based. Any amendment to a document filed under this section shall be filed at least thirty days before it becomes effective.

(5) The director shall issue a certificate of authority stating the authorized activity of the applicant for those applicants that meet all requirements of the law and are competent, trustworthy, and qualified to provide the services proposed. The authorized activity of an advisory organization or statistical agent may be limited to specified lines or types of insurance.

(6) The director may at any time, after a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532, suspend or revoke the certificate of authority of an advisory organization or statistical agent that does not comply with the requirements of the act.

(7) An applicant requesting a certificate of authority to operate both as an advisory organization and as a statistical agent may be so authorized under a single certificate.

44-7519 Insurers, advisory organizations, and statistical agents; prohibited acts.

(1) No insurer, advisory organization, or statistical agent shall attempt to monopolize or combine or conspire with any other person to monopolize an insurance market or to engage in a boycott, on a concerted basis, of an insurance market.

(2) No insurer shall agree with any other insurer or with any advisory organization or statistical agent to require adherence to or to require use of any aspect of any rating system, form, prospective loss cost, dividend payment practice, underwriting rule or practice, survey, inspection, or similar material except as required by section 44-7524 or as is necessary to develop statistical plans. This subsection shall not apply to agreements between insurers under the same ownership.

(3) No advisory organization or statistical agent shall agree with any insurer or with another advisory organization or statistical agent to require adherence to or to require use of any aspect of any rating system, form, prospective loss cost, dividend payment practice, underwriting rule or practice, survey, inspection, or similar material except as required by section 44-7524 or as is necessary to develop statistical plans.

(4) The fact that two or more insurers, whether or not members or subscribers of an advisory organization, consistently or intermittently use the same rates, rating systems, forms, prospective loss costs, underwriting rules or practices, surveys, inspections, or similar materials shall not be sufficient basis to establish a violation of this section.

(5) No insurer, advisory organization, or statistical agent shall make any arrangement with any other insurer, advisory organization, statistical agent, or other person which has the purpose or effect of unreasonably restraining trade or of substantially lessening competition in the business of insurance.

44-7521 Statistical agents; authorized activities.

A statistical agent may, for the lines of insurance for which it has been licensed:

(1) Develop statistical plans including territorial and class definitions;

(2) Collect and distribute statistical data from insurers or any other source;

(3) Collect, compile, and publish past and current rates charged by individual insurers if such information is also made available to the general public at no more than a reasonable cost;

(4) Collect and compile exposure and loss experience for the purpose of individual risk experience ratings;

(5) Undertake educational activities relating to the collection, compilation, or interpretation of insurance-related data;

(6) Distribute any other information that is filed with the director; and

(7) Furnish any other services, as approved or directed by the director, related to those enumerated in this section.

Source: Laws 2000, LB 1119, § 21.

44-7522 Advisory organizations; authorized activities.

An advisory organization may, for the lines of insurance for which it has been licensed:

(1) Engage in those activities enumerated in section 44-7521;

(2) Prepare, file, and distribute prospective loss costs;

(3) Prepare, file, and distribute manuals of rating rules, rating schedules, experience rating plans and other supplementary rating information that do not include final rates, expense provisions, profit provisions, or minimum premiums;

(4) Prepare and distribute experience rating plan modifiers for individual policyholders;

(5) Prepare, file, and distribute factors, calculations, or formulas pertaining to classification, territory, and other variables;

(6) Prepare, file, and distribute increased limits factors, which may include an incremental profit load, also called a risk load;

(7) Conduct research and inspections in order to prepare classifications of public fire defenses or to evaluate the effectiveness of building codes and their enforcement;

(8) Conduct inspections to determine rating classifications for individual insureds;

(9) Consult with public officials regarding public fire protection as it would affect members, subscribers, and others;

(10) Conduct research in order to discover, identify, and classify information relating to causes or prevention of losses;

(11) Prepare, file, and distribute policy forms and gather information from members, subscribers, and others relative to the application and interpretation of the policy forms;

(12) Conduct research and inspections for the purpose of providing risk information relating to individual structures;

(13) If instructed by the director, file rates instead of prospective loss costs for assigned risk or other residual market mechanisms;

(14) Conduct research to determine the impact of statutory changes upon prospective loss costs;

(15) Undertake educational activities on the use of policy forms, analysis of losses, loss trends, loss reserves, expenses, and other policy form and ratemaking topics;

(16) For workers' compensation insurance, establish a committee that may include insurance company representatives to review the application of the classification system for individual insureds and to suggest modifications to the classification system;

(17) Distribute any other information that is filed with the director; and

(18) Furnish any other services approved or directed by the director related to the services enumerated in this section.

44-7523 Advisory organizations; general filing requirements applicable.

Filings by an advisory organization of prospective loss costs, rating systems or policy forms and related attachment rules shall be subject to the provisions of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act applicable to filings generally. Rating system filings by an advisory organization shall be subject to the provisions of sections 44-7510 and 44-7511.

44-7524 Workers' compensation; uniform classification system required; premiums; how calculated.

(1) Every workers' compensation insurer shall adhere to a uniform classification system and shall report its experience in accordance with statistical plans and other reporting requirements to ensure that data is combined for all insurers for the development of prospective loss costs and the application of experience rating.

(2) Every insurer shall utilize experience rating plan modifiers developed by an advisory organization pursuant to an experience rating plan approved by the director.

(3) A workers' compensation insurer may develop subclassifications of the uniform classification system upon which a rate may be made. Such subclassifications and the filing shall be subject to the provisions of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act applicable to rating system filings generally.

(4) The director shall disapprove subclassifications, rating plans, or other variations from manual rules filed by a workers' compensation insurer or advisory organization if the insurer or advisory organization fails to demonstrate that the data produced can be reported consistently with the uniform classification system and experience rating system and will allow for the application of experience rating.

(5) Workers' compensation premiums shall be calculated on a basis that, as nearly as is practicable, after the effects of experience rating and other applicable rating plans have been considered, the sum of expected losses and expected expenses as a percentage of premium shall be the same for high-wage-paying and low-wage-paying employers in the same job classification.

44-7525 Joint underwriting; joint reinsurance; requirements; director; powers.

(1) Every joint underwriting pool or joint reinsurance pool shall file with the director a copy of its constitution, articles of incorporation, organization, agreement, or association, bylaws, and other rules and regulations governing its activities, a listing of its members, the name and address of a resident of this state upon whom notices, process, or orders of the director may be served, and any amendments or changes thereto.

(2) Notwithstanding section 44-7519, insurers participating in joint underwriting or in joint underwriting pools or joint reinsurance pools may, in connection with such activity, act in cooperation with each other in the development of rates, rating systems, policy forms, underwriting rules, surveys, inspections, and investigations, the furnishing of loss and expense statistics or other information, or the conducting of research.

(3) Except as provided in this section, joint underwriting, joint underwriting pool, and joint reinsurance pool activities shall be subject to the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act.

(4) If, after a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532, the director finds that any activity or practice of an insurer participating in joint underwriting, a joint underwriting pool, or a joint reinsurance pool will tend to lessen competition in any market or is otherwise inconsistent with the provisions or purposes of the act, the director may issue an order requiring the discontinuance of such activity or practice.

44-7526 Examinations.

(1) To ascertain compliance with the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act, the director may, as often as is deemed to be expedient, make or cause to be made an examination of each advisory organization, statistical agent, joint underwriting pool, or joint reinsurance pool doing business in this state. The advisory organization, statistical agent, or pool examined shall pay the reasonable costs of any such examination. The officers, manager, agents, and employees of such advisory organization, statistical agent, or pool may be examined at any time under oath and shall exhibit all books, records, accounts, documents, or agreements governing its method of operation.

(2) In lieu of any such examination, the director may accept (a) the report of an examination made by the insurance supervisory official of another state or (b) the report of an independent certified public accountant in good standing with the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Every such advisory organization, statistical agent, joint underwriting pool, or joint reinsurance pool shall, within thirty days after the receipt of a final examination report of any other state, provide a copy of the report to the director. Every such advisory organization, statistical agent, joint underwriting pool, or joint reinsurance pool shall, within thirty days after the publication or public filing of a report made by an independent certified public accountant, provide a copy of the report to the director.

44-7527 Statistical data; collection and exchange; rules and regulations.

(1) The director shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to assure that the experience of all insurers is provided to the director at least annually in such form and detail as is necessary to aid in effecting the purposes of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act. The director may designate one or more statistical agents to assist in gathering such experience and making compilations thereof. The scope of such rules and regulations may include the data which must be reported by insurers, definitions of data elements, the timing and frequency of statistical reporting by insurers, data quality standards, data edit and audit requirements, data retention requirements, reports to be generated by statistical agents to fulfill the requirements of this section, and the timing of such reports.

(2) Should the director choose to designate more than one statistical agent to assist for a line or type of insurance, the director may adopt and promulgate rules and regulations necessary to ensure that statistical data that the director has required is combined for reports to the director.

(3) The following provisions apply only to the disclosure of data and reports provided to the director pursuant to this section and to the disclosure of reports produced by the director from data and reports provided pursuant to this section:

(a) The director shall not disclose data that identifies individual insurers;

(b) The director shall not disclose data that is likely to identify individual policyholders or claimants or when there is reason to suspect that individual open claim reserves may be identified with individual policyholders or claimants;

(c) The director may agree in advance to withhold data from public disclosure when confidentiality is requested by the statistical agent providing the data to the director, but only if the data include data elements that the director had not required, prior to their writing or occurrence, to be recorded by insurers; and

(d) All other data contained in reports made pursuant to this section shall be subject to public disclosure.

(4) The director may adopt and promulgate rules and regulations for the interchange of data necessary for the application of rating plans.

(5) In order to further uniform administration of rate regulatory laws, the director and every insurer and advisory organization may exchange information and experience data with insurance supervisory officials, insurers, and advisory organizations in other states and may consult with them with respect to the application of rating systems.

44-7528 Applicants unable to procure insurance; apportionment among insurers.

Insurers may agree to the equitable apportionment among them of insurance to be afforded applicants who are in good faith entitled to but who are unable to procure such insurance through ordinary methods. Such insurers may agree on the use of policy forms, rating systems, and reasonable modifications thereof for such insurance. Such agreements may include pooling arrangements or reinsurance. Such agreements, policy forms, rating systems, and modifications thereof shall be subject to the approval of the director.

44-7529 False or misleading information; prohibited acts.

No person shall willfully withhold information that will affect the forms applicable, dividends payable, or rates or premiums chargeable from the director or any statistical agent, advisory organization, or insurer. No person shall knowingly give false or misleading information that will affect the policy forms applicable, dividends payable, or rates or premiums chargeable to the director or any statistical agent, advisory organization, or insurer. A person who violates this section shall be subject to provisions of section 44-7530.

44-7530 Violations; director; hearing; powers and duties.

(1) Whenever the director has reason to believe that any person has violated any provision of the Property and Casualty Insurance Rate and Form Act, the director shall hold a hearing in accordance with section 44-7532. If, after such hearing, the director determines that the person has violated any provision of the act, the director may order any one or more of the following:

(a) Payment of an administrative penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for every act or violation but not to exceed an aggregate penalty of ten thousand dollars in any six-month period unless the person knew or reasonably should have known of the violation of the act, in which case the penalty shall be not more than five thousand dollars for every act or violation not to exceed an aggregate penalty of fifty thousand dollars in any six-month period; and

(b) Suspension or revocation of the person's license or certificate of authority if such person knew or reasonably should have known of the violation.

(2) The powers, remedies, procedures, and penalties provided in the act shall be in addition to any other penalty, remedies, procedures, and penalties provided by law.

44-7531 Hearing; request.

Any insurer, joint underwriting pool, joint reinsurance pool, statistical agent, or advisory organization aggrieved by any order or decision of the director made without a hearing may, within thirty days after notice of the order, make written request to the director for a hearing thereon in accordance with section 44-7532. Pending such hearing and decision, the director may suspend the effective date of his or her action.

44-7532 Hearing; procedure.

If a hearing is held at the request of a party other than the director, unless mutually agreed upon by the director and all interested parties, notice of hearing shall be provided within thirty days after the director's receipt of a written request for a hearing. Notice of hearing shall be given to all interested parties and shall state the time, place, and purpose of the hearing. Unless mutually agreed upon by the director and all interested parties, the hearing shall be held not less than ten days after notice is served. Unless mutually agreed upon by the director and all interested parties or unless the hearing is being held at the request of the director, the hearing shall be held not more than thirty days after notice is served.

The language in this section referring to notice to ''all interested parties'' contemplates notice by the Nebraska Department of Insurance to both the insured and the insurer regarding the adversarial proceeding to come. It would not be a sensible reading of the statutes to require notice to only one of the parties, where both parties are active in the proceeding but seek different outcomes. Travelers Indem. Co. v. ARTICLE 76

MULTIPLE EMPLOYER WELFARE ARRANGEMENT ACT

Section

44-7601 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7601 to 44-7618 shall be known and may be cited as the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 1; Laws 2020, LB1014, § 1.

44-7602 Legislative findings and intent.

(1) The Legislature finds and declares that the United States Congress recognized multiple employer welfare arrangements as vehicles for offering traditional accident and health benefit programs through the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974. Multiple employer welfare arrangements may be subject to state regulatory and fiscal standards not inconsistent with the federal act if the multiple employer welfare arrangement offers health benefit plans that are not fully insured. The provisions of the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act are consistent with and authorized by the federal act, which confers upon the states authority to regulate multiple employer welfare arrangements.

(2) It is the intent of the Legislature:

(a) To promote the legitimacy and the financial integrity of health benefit plans that are not fully insured by requiring multiple employer welfare arrangements offering such plans to obtain a certificate of registration from the director;

(b) That the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act not apply to fully insured health benefit plans offered by multiple employer welfare arrangements;

(c) That the act shall be construed to mean that multiple employer welfare arrangements are not insurers for purposes of the insurance laws of this state; and

(d) That the insurance laws of this state not apply to health benefit plans offered by multiple employer welfare arrangements except as specifically set forth in the act.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 2.

44-7603 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act:

(1) Certificate of registration means a document issued by the director authorizing a multiple employer welfare arrangement to offer a health benefit plan that is not fully insured;

(2) Covered individual means (a) an employee who is covered by a health benefit plan provided through a multiple employer welfare arrangement in which the employer is participating or (b) a self-employed individual who is covered by a health benefit plan provided through a multiple employer welfare arrangement. Covered individual includes a dependent of an employee or self-employed individual as defined under the terms of the health benefit plan;

(3) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(4) Fully insured health benefit plan means a health benefit plan which provides for health benefits, all of which are guaranteed under a contract or policy of insurance issued by an insurance company licensed to transact the business of insurance in this state;

(5) Health benefit plan means an employee welfare benefit plan to the extent that it provides any hospital, surgical, or medical expense benefits to covered individuals directly or through insurance, reimbursement, or otherwise. Health benefit plan does not include (a) accident-only, disability income, hospital confinement indemnity, dental, or credit insurance, (b) coverage issued as a supplement to liability insurance, (c) medicare or insurance provided as a supplement to medicare, (d) insurance arising from workers' compensation provisions, (e) automobile medical payment insurance, (f) any other specific limited coverage, or (g) insurance under which benefits are payable with or without regard to fault and which is statutorily required to be contained in any liability insurance policy;

(6) Multiple employer welfare arrangement means a multiple employer welfare arrangement as defined by 29 U.S.C. 1002, as such section existed on January 1, 2002, if the multiple employer welfare arrangement is sponsored by an association of employers that offers a health benefit plan that is not fully insured. Such association of employers may include self-employed individuals;

(7) Participating employer means an employer or self-employed individual that participates in a multiple employer welfare arrangement; and

(8) Self-employed individual means an individual who:

(a) Has an ownership interest in a trade or business in Nebraska, regardless of whether the trade or business is incorporated or unincorporated;

(b) Earns wages or self-employment income from the trade or business; and

(c) Works at least twenty hours per week or eighty hours per month providing personal services to the trade or business or earns annual income from the trade or business in an amount that is no less than the individual's and any covered dependent's annual cost for health benefit plan coverage under the multiple employer welfare arrangement.

44-7604 Health benefit plan; offer to self-employed individual or employer; restrictions.

No multiple employer welfare arrangement may offer to a self-employed individual or to an employer that is domiciled in this state or that has its principal headquarters or principal administrative offices in this state a health benefit plan unless the health benefit plan is a fully insured health benefit plan or unless the multiple employer welfare arrangement obtains and maintains a certificate of registration pursuant to the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 4; Laws 2020, LB1014, § 3.

44-7605 Certificate of registration; procedure.

(1) A multiple employer welfare arrangement seeking to offer a health benefit plan that is not fully insured shall apply for a certificate of registration in a form prescribed by the director. The application shall be completed and submitted to the director together with a one-thousand-dollar fee and the following:

(a) Copies of all articles, bylaws, agreements, and other documents or instruments describing the organizational structure of the applicant;

(b) Copies of all materials and documents describing the rights and obligations of participating employers and covered individuals with respect to the applicant;

(c) A copy of the trust agreement of the applicant;

(d) A copy of the unaudited financial statement required by section 44-7613;

(e) A statement showing in full detail the plan for offering a health benefit plan by the applicant;

(f) Copies of all contracts and other instruments proposed to be made, offered, or sold by the applicant to its participating employers, together with a copy of its summary plan description and the proposed advertising matter to be used in the solicitation of participating employers;

(g) A copy of the contract with the third-party administrator retained, if any, to administer the health benefit plan;

(h) A copy of the stop-loss insurance policy required by section 44-7609; and

(i) Any other reasonable information requested by the director.

(2) The director shall deny a certificate of registration if the applicant does not meet the requirements of the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act. Notice of denial shall be in writing and shall set forth the basis for the denial. If the applicant submits a written request for reconsideration within thirty days after the notice was sent by the director, the director shall conduct a hearing on the denial pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act.

44-7606 Association of participating employers or covered individuals; requirements.

A multiple employer welfare arrangement may only be established and maintained by an association of participating employers or covered individuals who are self-employed individuals. The association shall not condition membership in the association, the amounts of dues or other payments for membership, or coverage under a health benefit plan on the basis of health-status-related factors with respect to the covered individuals offered coverage under the health benefit plan. The association shall:

(1) Have been in existence and engaged in substantive activity for its members other than sponsorship of a health benefit plan for more than three years prior to application for a certificate of registration;

(2) Be composed of two or more members, all of which are in the same trade or industry; and

(3) Have, before application for a certificate of registration is made, applications for participation (a) from two or more members who are participating employers with an aggregate of two hundred or more covered individuals or (b) from at least two hundred covered individuals who are self-employed individuals.

44-7607 Trust required; when.

(1) A multiple employer welfare arrangement offering a health benefit plan that is not fully insured shall establish a trust pursuant to a written trust agreement to hold all funds pertaining to the health benefit plan. The trust shall be operated by a board of trustees pursuant to the trust agreement.

(2)(a) All members of the board of trustees shall be owners, partners, officers, directors, or employees of one or more participating employers.

(b) No person may be a member of the board of trustees if such person:

(i) Is an owner, officer or employee, or a partner in, or a contract administrator, or other service provider to the health benefit plan or of any third-party administrator of the multiple employer welfare arrangement; or

(ii) Has been convicted of any felony or a Class I, II, or III misdemeanor.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 7.

44-7608 Board of trustees; duties.

The board of trustees of the multiple employer welfare arrangement as required by section 44-7607 shall:

(1) Serve as a fiduciary of the trust;

(2) Be responsible as plan administrator for all operations of the health benefit plan;

(3) Have in effect rules of operation and financial control based on an annual plan of operation, adequate to carry out the terms of the health benefit plan and to meet all requirements of the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act;

(4) Consider applications of association members for participation in the multiple employer welfare arrangement; and

(5) Hold and maintain a stop-loss insurance policy pursuant to the requirements of section 44-7609.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 8.

44-7609 Stop-loss insurance policy; requirements.

(1) A multiple employer welfare arrangement offering a health benefit plan that is not fully insured shall be a named insured under a stop-loss insurance policy that provides coverage in excess of the multiple employer welfare arrangement's retention of one hundred twenty-five percent of the multiple employer welfare arrangement's expected health claims costs as determined on an aggregate basis.

(2) A policy issued to satisfy the requirements of subsection (1) of this section shall:

(a) Be evidenced by a binder or policy by an insurer licensed to transact the business of insurance in this state; and

(b) Contain a provision that the coverage may not be terminated by the insurer unless the multiple employer welfare arrangement and the director receive a written notice of termination from the insurer at least thirty days before the effective date of the termination.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 9.

44-7610 Assessments authorized.

If the assets of, and stop-loss insurance policy issued to, a multiple employer welfare arrangement are at any time insufficient to pay claims made against a health benefit plan, discharge liabilities and obligations relating to health benefit plan claims, and maintain adequate reserves and surpluses, the board of trustees shall be authorized to assess the participating employers in an amount necessary to remedy the deficiency.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 10.

44-7611 Termination; liability.

Any participating employer that voluntarily terminates its participation in the multiple employer welfare arrangement or that is involuntarily terminated by the multiple employer welfare arrangement shall remain liable subsequent to the date of termination for all contractual obligations it has entered into with the multiple employer welfare arrangement on or before the date of termination.

Source: Laws 2002, LB 1139, § 11.

44-7612 Coverage notification; summary plan description; claim or appeal denial notice; statement required.

(1) A multiple employer welfare arrangement shall notify in writing each participating employer and each covered individual applying for coverage by the multiple employer welfare arrangement that a health benefit plan provided by the multiple employer welfare arrangement is not:

(a) Insurance;

(b) Subject to state laws and requirements that apply to health insurance offered by a licensed insurer; and

(c) Covered by the Nebraska Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Association.

(2) The notice required by subsection (1) of this section shall, in ten-point or greater type, disclose that the multiple employer welfare arrangement is authorized under state law to assess participating employers for claims under the health benefit plan in addition to other remedies the multiple employer welfare arrangement may take if the multiple employer welfare arrangement is unable to pay claims.

(3) If the multiple employer welfare arrangement provides coverage to covered individuals who are self-employed individuals, the multiple employer welfare arrangement shall include a statement in the summary plan description and any claim or appeal denial notice that self-employed covered individuals may contact the Director of Insurance. Such statement shall include the mailing address and telephone number for the Department of Insurance.

44-7613 Annual financial statement; fee; actuarial statement; certificate of compliance.

(1) On an annual basis and within ninety days after the last day of the fiscal year of a multiple employer welfare arrangement, each multiple employer welfare arrangement holding a certificate of registration shall file with the director a financial statement, attested to by at least two members of the board of trustees, one of whom shall be the chairperson or president of the board of trustees, and accompanied by a fee of two hundred dollars. The director shall review the financial statement and shall require additional filings as the director finds reasonably necessary to assure the legitimacy and the financial integrity of the multiple employer welfare arrangement.

(2) On an annual basis and within ninety days after the last day of the fiscal year of a multiple employer welfare arrangement, a statement from a qualified actuary that the rates charged and reserves, both (a) incurred and (b) incurred but not reported, regarding sufficiency to pay claims and associated expenses for the health benefit plan shall be obtained and given to the director. The actuarial statement shall include a confirmation that the stop-loss insurance policy required by section 44-7609 is in force. The actuarial statement shall meet the requirements of any rules or regulations which shall be adopted and promulgated by the director.

(3) On an annual basis and within ninety days after the last day of the fiscal year of a multiple employer welfare arrangement, each multiple employer welfare arrangement holding a certificate of registration shall file with the director a certificate of compliance signed by at least two members of the board of trustees, one of whom shall be the chairperson or president of the board of trustees, certifying that the multiple employer welfare arrangement, to the best of their knowledge, information, and belief, has been conducted in accordance with applicable provisions of Nebraska law and rules and regulations relating to multiple employer welfare arrangements.

44-7614 Disciplinary action.

(1) After notice and a hearing conducted pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, the director may suspend or revoke a certificate of registration or may impose an administrative fine not to exceed one thousand dollars per violation, or any combination of actions, if the director finds the multiple employer welfare arrangement:

(a) Fails to maintain the stop-loss insurance policy as required by section 44-7609;

(b) Engages in financial practices that make further transaction of business in this state hazardous or injurious to its participating employers, covered individuals, or the public;

(c) Within fifteen business days, fails to respond or request a reasonable amount of additional time to respond in which time a response is made, to an inquiry of the director;

(d) Fails for an unreasonable period to pay any final judgment rendered against it in this state on any contractual obligation;

(e) Conducts business fraudulently or has not met its contractual obligations in good faith;

(f) Made, published, disseminated, circulated, or placed before the public or caused, directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, or placed before the public in a newspaper, magazine, or other publication or in the form of a notice, circular, pamphlet, letter, or poster or over any radio or television station, or in any other way, an advertisement, announcement, or statement containing any assertion, representation, or statement with respect to the health benefit plan or with respect to any insurer in the conduct of his or her business which is untrue, deceptive, or misleading; or

(g) Violates any provision of the Multiple Employer Welfare Arrangement Act or section 44-106 or 44-114.

(2) Instead of or in addition to the penalties set forth in subsection (1) of this section, the director may issue a cease and desist order to a multiple employer welfare arrangement if such multiple employer welfare arrangement engages in any of the activities set forth in subsection (1) of this section.

44-7701 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7701 to 44-7712 shall be known and may be cited as the Model Act Regarding Use of Credit Information in Personal Insurance.

Source: Laws 2003, LB 487, § 1.

44-7702 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Model Act Regarding Use of Credit Information in Personal Insurance is to regulate the use of credit information for personal insurance, so that consumers are afforded certain protections with respect to the use of such information.

Source: Laws 2003, LB 487, § 2.

44-7703 Act; applicability.

The Model Act Regarding Use of Credit Information in Personal Insurance applies to personal insurance and not to commercial insurance. For purposes of the act, personal insurance means private passenger automobile, homeowners, motorcycle, autocycle, mobile homeowners, noncommercial dwelling fire, and boat, personal watercraft, snowmobile, and recreational vehicle insurance policies. Such policies must be individually underwritten for personal, family, or household use. No other type of insurance shall be included as personal insurance for purposes of the act.

Source: Laws 2003, LB 487, § 3; Laws 2015, LB231, § 1.

44-7704 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Model Act Regarding Use of Credit Information in Personal Insurance:

(1) Adverse action means a denial or cancellation of, an increase in any charge for, or a reduction or other adverse or unfavorable change in the terms of coverage or amount of, any insurance, existing or applied for, in connection with the underwriting of personal insurance;

(2) Affiliate means any company that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with another company;

(3) Applicant means an individual who has applied to be covered by a personal insurance policy with an insurer;

(4) Consumer means an insured whose credit information is used or whose insurance score is calculated in the underwriting or rating of a personal insurance policy or an applicant for such a policy;

(5) Consumer reporting agency means any person which, for monetary fees, for dues, or on a cooperative nonprofit basis, regularly engages in whole or in part in the practice of assembling or evaluating consumer credit information or other information on consumers for the purpose of furnishing consumer reports to third parties;

(6) Credit information means any credit-related information derived from a credit report, found on a credit report itself, or provided on an application for personal insurance. Information that is not credit-related shall not be considered credit information, regardless of whether it is contained in a credit report or in an application or is used to calculate an insurance score;

(7) Credit report means any written, oral, or other communication of information by a consumer reporting agency bearing on a consumer's credit worthiness, credit standing, or credit capacity which is used or expected to be used or collected in whole or in part for the purpose of serving as a factor to determine personal insurance premiums, eligibility for coverage, or tier placement; and

(8) Insurance score means a number or rating that is derived from an algorithm, computer application, model, or other process that is based in whole or in part on credit information for the purposes of predicting the future insurance loss exposure of an individual applicant or insured.

Source: Laws 2003, LB 487, § 4.

44-7705 Insurer; credit information; prohibited acts.

An insurer authorized to do business in Nebraska that uses credit information to underwrite or rate risks shall not:

(1) Use an insurance score that is calculated using income, gender, address, zip code, ethnic group, religion, marital status, or nationality of the consumer as a factor;

(2) Deny, cancel, or nonrenew a policy of personal insurance solely on the basis of credit information, without consideration of any other applicable underwriting factor independent of credit information and not expressly prohibited by subdivision (1) of this section;

(3) Base an insured's renewal rates for personal insurance solely upon credit information, without consideration of any other applicable factor independent of credit information;

(4) Take an adverse action against a consumer solely because he or she does not have a credit card account, without consideration of any other applicable factor independent of credit information;

(5) Consider an absence of credit information or an inability to calculate an insurance score in underwriting or rating personal insurance, unless the insurer does one of the following:

(a) Treat the consumer as otherwise approved by the Director of Insurance, if the insurer presents information that such an absence or inability relates to the risk for the insurer;

(b) Treat the consumer as if the applicant or insured had neutral credit information, as defined by the insurer; or

(c) Exclude the use of credit information as a factor and use only other underwriting criteria;

(6) Take an adverse action against a consumer based on credit information, unless an insurer obtains and uses a credit report issued or an insurance score calculated within ninety days prior to the date the policy is first written or renewal is issued;

(7) Use credit information, unless not later than every thirty-six months following the last time that the insurer obtained current credit information for the insured, the insurer recalculates the insurance score or obtains an updated credit report. Regardless of the requirements of this subdivision:

(a) At annual renewal, upon the request of a consumer or the consumer's agent, the insurer shall reunderwrite and rerate the policy based upon a current credit report or insurance score. An insurer need not recalculate the insurance score or obtain the updated credit report of a consumer more frequently than once in a twelve-month period;

(b) The insurer shall have the discretion to obtain current credit information upon any renewal before the thirty-six months, if consistent with its underwriting guidelines; and

(c) No insurer need obtain current credit information for an insured, despite the requirements of subdivision (7)(a) of this section, if one of the following applies:

(i) The insurer is treating the consumer as otherwise approved by the director;

(ii) The insured is in the most favorably-priced tier of the insurer, within a group of affiliated insurers. However, the insurer shall have the discretion to order such report if consistent with its underwriting guidelines;

(iii) Credit was not used for underwriting or rating such insured when the policy was initially written. However, the insurer shall have the discretion to use credit for underwriting or rating such insured upon renewal if consistent with its underwriting guidelines; or

(iv) The insurer reevaluates the insured beginning no later than thirty-six months after inception and thereafter based upon other underwriting or rating factors, excluding credit information; or

(8) Use the following as a negative factor in any insurance scoring methodology or in reviewing credit information for the purpose of underwriting or rating a policy of personal insurance:

(a) Credit inquiries not initiated by the consumer or inquiries requested by the consumer for his or her own credit information;

(b) Inquiries relating to insurance coverage if so identified on a consumer's credit report;

(c) Collection accounts with a medical industry code if so identified on the consumer's credit report;

(d) Multiple lender inquiries, if coded by the consumer reporting agency on the consumer's credit report as being from the home mortgage industry and made within thirty days of one another, unless only one inquiry is considered; or

(e) Multiple lender inquiries, if coded by the consumer reporting agency on the consumer's credit report as being from the automobile lending industry and made within thirty days of one another, unless only one inquiry is considered.

Source: Laws 2003, LB 487, § 5.

44-7706 Credit information; notice; insurer; duties.

If it is determined through the dispute resolution process set forth in the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, as such act existed on January 1, 2003, 15 U.S.C. 1681i(a)(5), that the credit information of a current insured was incorrect or incomplete and if the insurer receives notice of such determination either from the consumer reporting agency or from the insured, the insurer shall reunderwrite and rerate the consumer within thirty days after receiving the notice. After reunderwriting or rerating the insured, the insurer shall make any adjustments necessary, consistent with its underwriting and rating guidelines. If an insurer determines that the insured has overpaid a premium, the insurer shall refund to the insured the amount of overpayment calculated back to the shorter of either the last twelve months of coverage or the actual policy period.

Source: Laws 2003, LB 487, § 6.

44-7707 Disclosures; required.

(1) If an insurer writing personal insurance uses credit information in underwriting or rating a consumer, the insurer or its agent shall disclose, either on the insurance application or at the time the insurance application is taken, that it may obtain credit information in connection with such application. Such disclosure shall be either written or provided to an applicant in the same medium as the application for insurance. The insurer need not provide the disclosure statement required under this section to any insured on a renewal policy, if such consumer has previously been provided a disclosure statement.

(2) Use of the following example disclosure statement constitutes compliance with this section: ''In connection with this application for insurance, we may review your credit report or obtain or use a credit-based insurance score based on the information contained in that credit report. We may use a third party in connection with the development of your insurance score.''.

Source: Laws 2003, LB 487, § 7.

44-7708 Adverse action; notice requirements.

If an insurer takes an adverse action based upon credit information, the insurer must meet the notice requirements of both subdivisions (1) and (2) of this section. Such insurer shall:

(1) Provide notification to the consumer that an adverse action has been taken, in accordance with the requirements of the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, as such act existed on January 1, 2003, 15 U.S.C. 1681m(a); and

(2) Provide notification to the consumer explaining the reason for the adverse action. The reasons must be provided in sufficiently clear and specific language so that a person can identify the basis for the insurer's decision to take an adverse action. Such notification shall include a description of up to four factors that were the primary influences of the adverse action. The use of generalized terms such as poor credit history, poor credit rating, or poor insurance score does not meet the explanation requirements of this subdivision. Standardized credit explanations provided by consumer reporting agencies or other third-party vendors are deemed to comply with this section.

44-7709 Scoring models or processes; filing.

Insurers that use insurance scores to underwrite and rate risks shall file their scoring models or other scoring processes with the Department of Insurance. A third party may file scoring models on behalf of insurers. A filing that includes insurance scoring may include loss experience justifying the use of credit information. Any filing relating to credit information is considered a trade secret.

44-7710 Indemnification of insurance producers.

An insurer shall indemnify, defend, and hold agents harmless from and against all liability, fees, and costs arising out of or relating to the actions, errors, or omissions of an insurance producer who obtains or uses credit information or insurance scores for an insurer if the insurance producer follows the instructions of or procedures established by the insurer and complies with any applicable law or regulation. Nothing in this section shall be construed to provide a consumer or other insured with a cause of action that does not exist in the absence of this section.

44-7711 Consumer reporting agency; prohibited acts.

(1) No consumer reporting agency shall provide or sell data or lists that include any information that in whole or in part was submitted in conjunction with an insurance inquiry about a consumer's credit information or a request for a credit report or insurance score. Such information includes, but is not limited to, the expiration dates of an insurance policy or any other information that may identify time periods during which a consumer's insurance may expire and the terms and conditions of the consumer's insurance coverage.

(2) The restrictions provided in subsection (1) of this section do not apply to data or lists the consumer reporting agency supplies to the insurance producer from whom information was received, the insurer on whose behalf such insurance producer acted, or such insurer's affiliates or holding companies.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed to restrict any insurer from being able to obtain a claims history report or a motor vehicle report.

ARTICLE 78

INTERSTATE INSURANCE PRODUCT REGULATION COMPACT

Section
44-7801. Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact; ratification.
44-7802. Representative of state.

44-7801 Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact; ratification.

The State of Nebraska ratifies the following Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact:

Article I. PURPOSES

The purposes of this Compact are, through means of joint and cooperative action among the Compacting States:

1. To promote and protect the interest of consumers of individual and group annuity, life insurance, disability income and long-term care insurance products;

2. To develop uniform standards for insurance products covered under the Compact;

3. To establish a central clearinghouse to receive and provide prompt review of insurance products covered under the Compact and, in certain cases, advertisements related thereto, submitted by insurers authorized to do business in one or more Compacting States;

4. To give appropriate regulatory approval to those product filings and advertisements satisfying the applicable uniform standard;

5. To improve coordination of regulatory resources and expertise between state insurance departments regarding the setting of uniform standards and review of insurance products covered under the Compact;

6. To create the Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission; and

7. To perform these and such other related functions as may be consistent with the state regulation of the business of insurance.

Article II. DEFINITIONS

For purposes of this Compact:

1. ''Advertisement'' means any material designed to create public interest in a Product, or induce the public to purchase, increase, modify, reinstate, borrow on, surrender, replace or retain a policy, as more specifically defined in the Rules and Operating Procedures of the Commission.

2. ''Bylaws'' mean those bylaws established by the Commission for its governance, or for directing or controlling the Commission's actions or conduct.

3. ''Compacting State'' means any State which has enacted this Compact legislation and which has not withdrawn pursuant to Article XIV, Section 1, or been terminated pursuant to Article XIV, Section 2.

4. ''Commission'' means the ''Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission'' established by this Compact.

5. ''Commissioner'' means the chief insurance regulatory official of a State including, but not limited to commissioner, superintendent, director or administrator.

6. ''Domiciliary State'' means the state in which an Insurer is incorporated or organized; or, in the case of an alien Insurer, its state of entry.

7. ''Insurer'' means any entity licensed by a State to issue contracts of insurance for any of the lines of insurance covered by this Act.

8. ''Member'' means the person chosen by a Compacting State as its representative to the Commission, or his or her designee.

9. ''Non-compacting State'' means any State which is not at the time a Compacting State.

10. ''Operating Procedures'' mean procedures promulgated by the Commission implementing a Rule, Uniform Standard or a provision of this Compact.

11. ''Product'' means the form of a policy or contract, including any application, endorsement, or related form which is attached to and made a part of the policy or contract, and any evidence of coverage or certificate, for an individual or group annuity, life insurance, disability income or long-term care insurance product that an Insurer is authorized to issue.

12. ''Rule'' means a statement of general or particular applicability and future effect promulgated by the Commission, including a Uniform Standard developed pursuant to Article VII of this Compact, designed to implement, interpret, or prescribe law or policy or describing the organization, procedure, or practice requirements of the Commission, which shall have the force and effect of law in the Compacting States.

13. ''State'' means any state, district or territory of the United States of America.

14. ''Third-Party Filer'' means an entity that submits a Product filing to the Commission on behalf of an Insurer.

15. ''Uniform Standard'' means a standard adopted by the Commission for a Product line, pursuant to Article VII of this Compact, and shall include all of the Product requirements in aggregate; provided, that each Uniform Standard shall be construed, whether express or implied, to prohibit the use of any inconsistent, misleading or ambiguous provisions in a Product and the form of the Product made available to the public shall not be unfair, inequitable or against public policy as determined by the Commission.

Article III. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE COMMISSION AND VENUE

1. The Compacting States hereby create and establish a joint public agency known as the ''Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission.'' Pursuant to Article IV, the Commission will have the power to develop Uniform Standards for Product lines, receive and provide prompt review of Products filed therewith, and give approval to those Product filings satisfying applicable Uniform Standards; provided, it is not intended for the Commission to be the exclusive entity for receipt and review of insurance product filings. Nothing herein shall prohibit any Insurer from filing its product in any State wherein the Insurer is licensed to conduct the business of insurance; and any such filing shall be subject to the laws of the State where filed.

2. The Commission is a body corporate and politic, and an instrumentality of the Compacting States.

3. The Commission is solely responsible for its liabilities except as otherwise specifically provided in this Compact.

4. Venue is proper and judicial proceedings by or against the Commission shall be brought solely and exclusively in a Court of competent jurisdiction where the principal office of the Commission is located.

Article IV. POWERS OF THE COMMISSION

The Commission shall have the following powers:

1. To promulgate Rules, pursuant to Article VII of this Compact, which shall have the force and effect of law and shall be binding in the Compacting States to the extent and in the manner provided in this Compact;

2. To exercise its rule-making authority and establish reasonable Uniform Standards for Products covered under the Compact, and Advertisement related thereto, which shall have the force and effect of law and shall be binding in the Compacting States, but only for those Products filed with the Commission, provided, that a Compacting State shall have the right to opt out of such Uniform Standard pursuant to Article VII, to the extent and in the manner provided in this Compact, and, provided further, that any Uniform Standard established by the Commission for long-term care insurance products may provide the same or greater protections for consumers as, but shall not provide less than, those protections set forth in the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' Long-Term Care Insurance Model Act and Long-Term Care Insurance Model Regulation, respectively, adopted as of 2001. The Commission shall consider whether any subsequent amendments to the NAIC Long-Term Care Insurance Model Act or Long-Term Care Insurance Model Regulation adopted by the NAIC require amending of the Uniform Standards established by the Commission for long-term care insurance products;

3. To receive and review in an expeditious manner Products filed with the Commission, and rate filings for disability income and long-term care insurance Products, and give approval of those Products and rate filings that satisfy the applicable Uniform Standard, where such approval shall have the force and effect of law and be binding on the Compacting States to the extent and in the manner provided in the Compact;

4. To receive and review in an expeditious manner Advertisement relating to long-term care insurance products for which Uniform Standards have been adopted by the Commission, and give approval to all Advertisement that satisfies the applicable Uniform Standard. For any product covered under this Compact, other than long-term care insurance products, the Commission shall have the authority to require an insurer to submit all or any part of its Advertisement with respect to that product for review or approval prior to use, if the Commission determines that the nature of the product is such that an Advertisement of the product could have the capacity or tendency to mislead the public. The actions of Commission as provided in this section shall have the force and effect of law and shall be binding in the Compacting States to the extent and in the manner provided in the Compact;

5. To exercise its rule-making authority and designate Products and Advertisement that may be subject to a self-certification process without the need for prior approval by the Commission;

6. To promulgate Operating Procedures, pursuant to Article VII of this Compact, which shall be binding in the Compacting States to the extent and in the manner provided in this Compact;

7. To bring and prosecute legal proceedings or actions in its name as the Commission; provided, that the standing of any state insurance department to sue or be sued under applicable law shall not be affected;

8. To issue subpoenas requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of evidence;

9. To establish and maintain offices;

10. To purchase and maintain insurance and bonds;

11. To borrow, accept or contract for services of personnel, including, but not limited to, employees of a Compacting State;

12. To hire employees, professionals or specialists, and elect or appoint officers, and to fix their compensation, define their duties and give them appropriate authority to carry out the purposes of the Compact, and determine their qualifications; and to establish the Commission's personnel policies and programs relating to, among other things, conflicts of interest, rates of compensation and qualifications of personnel;

13. To accept any and all appropriate donations and grants of money, equipment, supplies, materials and services, and to receive, utilize and dispose of the same; provided that at all times the Commission shall strive to avoid any appearance of impropriety;

14. To lease, purchase, accept appropriate gifts or donations of, or otherwise to own, hold, improve or use, any property, real, personal or mixed; provided that at all times the Commission shall strive to avoid any appearance of impropriety;

15. To sell, convey, mortgage, pledge, lease, exchange, abandon or otherwise dispose of any property, real, personal or mixed;

16. To remit filing fees to Compacting States as may be set forth in the Bylaws, Rules or Operating Procedures;

17. To enforce compliance by Compacting States with Rules, Uniform Standards, Operating Procedures and Bylaws;

18. To provide for dispute resolution among Compacting States;

19. To advise Compacting States on issues relating to Insurers domiciled or doing business in Non-compacting jurisdictions, consistent with the purposes of this Compact;

20. To provide advice and training to those personnel in state insurance departments responsible for product review, and to be a resource for state insurance departments;

21. To establish a budget and make expenditures;

22. To borrow money;

23. To appoint committees, including advisory committees comprising Members, state insurance regulators, state legislators or their representatives, insurance industry and consumer representatives, and such other interested persons as may be designated in the Bylaws;

24. To provide and receive information from, and to cooperate with law enforcement agencies;

25. To adopt and use a corporate seal; and

26. To perform such other functions as may be necessary or appropriate to achieve the purposes of this Compact consistent with the state regulation of the business of insurance.

Article V. ORGANIZATION OF THE COMMISSION

1. Membership, Voting and Bylaws

a. Each Compacting State shall have and be limited to one Member. Each Member shall be qualified to serve in that capacity pursuant to applicable law of the Compacting State. Any Member may be removed or suspended from office as provided by the law of the State from which he or she shall be appointed. Any vacancy occurring in the Commission shall be filled in accordance with the laws of the Compacting State wherein the vacancy exists. Nothing herein shall be construed to affect the manner in which a Compacting State determines the election or appointment and qualification of its own Commissioner.

b. Each Member shall be entitled to one vote and shall have an opportunity to participate in the governance of the Commission in accordance with the Bylaws. Notwithstanding any provision herein to the contrary, no action of the Commission with respect to the promulgation of a Uniform Standard shall be effective unless two-thirds (2/3) of the Members vote in favor thereof.

c. The Commission shall, by a majority of the Members, prescribe Bylaws to govern its conduct as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes, and exercise the powers, of the Compact, including, but not limited to:

i. Establishing the fiscal year of the Commission;

ii. Providing reasonable procedures for appointing and electing members, as well as holding meetings, of the Management Committee;

iii. Providing reasonable standards and procedures: (i) for the establishment and meetings of other committees, and (ii) governing any general or specific delegation of any authority or function of the Commission;

iv. Providing reasonable procedures for calling and conducting meetings of the Commission that consists of a majority of Commission members, ensuring reasonable advance notice of each such meeting and providing for the right of citizens to attend each such meeting with enumerated exceptions designed to protect the public's interest, the privacy of individuals, and insurers' proprietary information, including trade secrets. The Commission may meet in camera only after a majority of the entire membership votes to close a meeting en toto or in part. As soon as practicable, the Commission must make public (i) a copy of the vote to close the meeting revealing the vote of each Member with no proxy votes allowed, and (ii) votes taken during such meeting;

v. Establishing the titles, duties and authority and reasonable procedures for the election of the officers of the Commission;

vi. Providing reasonable standards and procedures for the establishment of the personnel policies and programs of the Commission. Notwithstanding any civil service or other similar laws of any Compacting State, the Bylaws shall exclusively govern the personnel policies and programs of the Commission;

vii. Promulgating a code of ethics to address permissible and prohibited activities of commission members and employees; and viii. Providing a mechanism for winding up the operations of the Commission and the equitable disposition of any surplus funds that may exist after the termination of the Compact after the payment and/or reserving of all of its debts and obligations.

d. The Commission shall publish its bylaws in a convenient form and file a copy thereof and a copy of any amendment thereto, with the appropriate agency or officer in each of the Compacting States.

2. Management Committee, Officers and Personnel

a. A Management Committee comprising no more than fourteen (14) members shall be established as follows:

i. One (1) member from each of the six (6) Compacting States with the largest premium volume for individual and group annuities, life, disability income and long-term care insurance products, determined from the records of the NAIC for the prior year;

ii. Four (4) members from those Compacting States with at least two percent (2%) of the market based on the premium volume described above, other than the six (6) Compacting States with the largest premium volume, selected on a rotating basis as provided in the Bylaws; and

iii. Four (4) members from those Compacting States with less than two percent (2%) of the market, based on the premium volume described above, with one (1) selected from each of the four (4) zone regions of the NAIC as provided in the Bylaws.

b. The Management Committee shall have such authority and duties as may be set forth in the Bylaws, including but not limited to:

i. Managing the affairs of the Commission in a manner consistent with the Bylaws and purposes of the Commission;

ii. Establishing and overseeing an organizational structure within, and appropriate procedures for, the Commission to provide for the creation of Uniform Standards and other Rules, receipt and review of product filings, administrative and technical support functions, review of decisions regarding the disapproval of a product filing, and the review of elections made by a Compacting State to opt out of a Uniform Standard; provided that a Uniform Standard shall not be submitted to the Compacting States for adoption unless approved by two-thirds (2/3) of the members of the Management Committee;

iii. Overseeing the offices of the Commission; and

iv. Planning, implementing, and coordinating communications and activities with other state, federal and local government organizations in order to advance the goals of the Commission.

c. The Commission shall elect annually officers from the Management Committee, with each having such authority and duties, as may be specified in the Bylaws.

d. The Management Committee may, subject to the approval of the Commission, appoint or retain an executive director for such period, upon such terms and conditions and for such compensation as the Commission may deem appropriate. The executive director shall serve as secretary to the Commission, but shall not be a Member of the Commission. The executive director shall hire and supervise such other staff as may be authorized by the Commission.

3. Legislative and Advisory Committees

a. A legislative committee comprising state legislators or their designees shall be established to monitor the operations of, and make recommendations to, the Commission, including the Management Committee; provided that the manner of selection and term of any legislative committee member shall be as set forth in the Bylaws. Prior to the adoption by the Commission of any Uniform Standard, revision to the Bylaws, annual budget or other significant matter as may be provided in the Bylaws, the Management Committee shall consult with and report to the legislative committee.

b. The Commission shall establish two (2) advisory committees, one of which shall comprise consumer representatives independent of the insurance industry, and the other comprising insurance industry representatives.

c. The Commission may establish additional advisory committees as its Bylaws may provide for the carrying out of its functions.

4. Corporate Records of the Commission

The Commission shall maintain its corporate books and records in accordance with the Bylaws.

5. Qualified Immunity, Defense and Indemnification

a. The Members, officers, executive director, employees and representatives of the Commission shall be immune from suit and liability, either personally or in their official capacity, for any claim for damage to or loss of property or personal injury or other civil liability caused by or arising out of any actual or alleged act, error or omission that occurred, or that the person against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of Commission employment, duties or responsibilities; provided, that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to protect any such person from suit and/or liability for any damage, loss, injury or liability caused by the intentional or willful and wanton misconduct of that person.

b. The Commission shall defend any Member, officer, executive director, employee or representative of the Commission in any civil action seeking to impose liability arising out of any actual or alleged act, error or omission that occurred within the scope of Commission employment, duties or responsibilities, or that the person against whom the claim is made had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of Commission employment, duties or responsibilities; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit that person from retaining his or her own counsel; and provided further, that the actual or alleged act, error or omission did not result from that person's intentional or willful and wanton misconduct.

c. The Commission shall indemnify and hold harmless any Member, officer, executive director, employee or representative of the Commission for the amount of any settlement or judgment obtained against that person arising out of any actual or alleged act, error or omission that occurred within the scope of Commission employment, duties or responsibilities, or that such person had a reasonable basis for believing occurred within the scope of Commission employment, duties or responsibilities, provided, that the actual or alleged act, error or omission did not result from the intentional or willful and wanton misconduct of that person.

Article VI. MEETINGS AND ACTS OF THE COMMISSION

1. The Commission shall meet and take such actions as are consistent with the provisions of this Compact and the Bylaws.

2. Each Member of the Commission shall have the right and power to cast a vote to which that Compacting State is entitled and to participate in the business and affairs of the Commission. A Member shall vote in person or by such other means as provided in the Bylaws. The Bylaws may provide for Members' participation in meetings by telephone or other means of communication.

3. The Commission shall meet at least once during each calendar year. Additional meetings shall be held as set forth in the Bylaws.

Article VII. RULES AND OPERATING PROCEDURES: RULEMAKING FUNCTIONS OF THE COMMISSION AND OPTING OUT OF UNIFORM STANDARDS

1. Rulemaking Authority. The Commission shall promulgate reasonable Rules, including Uniform Standards, and Operating Procedures in order to effectively and efficiently achieve the purposes of this Compact. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event the Commission exercises its rulemaking authority in a manner that is beyond the scope of the purposes of this Act, or the powers granted hereunder, then such an action by the Commission shall be invalid and have no force and effect.

2. Rulemaking Procedure. Rules and Operating Procedures shall be made pursuant to a rulemaking process that conforms to the Model State Administrative Procedure Act of 1981 as amended, as may be appropriate to the operations of the Commission. Before the Commission adopts a Uniform Standard, the Commission shall give written notice to the relevant state legislative committee(s) in each Compacting State responsible for insurance issues of its intention to adopt the Uniform Standard. The Commission in adopting a Uniform Standard shall consider fully all submitted materials and issue a concise explanation of its decision.

3. Effective Date and Opt Out of a Uniform Standard. A Uniform Standard shall become effective ninety (90) days after its promulgation by the Commission or such later date as the Commission may determine; provided, however, that a Compacting State may opt out of a Uniform Standard as provided in this Article. ''Opt out'' shall be defined as any action by a Compacting State to decline to adopt or participate in a promulgated Uniform Standard. All other Rules and Operating Procedures, and amendments thereto, shall become effective as of the date specified in each Rule, Operating Procedure or amendment.

4. Opt Out Procedure. A Compacting State may opt out of a Uniform Standard, either by legislation or regulation duly promulgated by the Insurance Department under the Compacting State's Administrative Procedure Act. If a Compacting State elects to opt out of a Uniform Standard by regulation, it must (a) give written notice to the Commission no later than ten (10) business days after the Uniform Standard is promulgated, or at the time the State becomes a Compacting State and (b) find that the Uniform Standard does not provide reasonable protections to the citizens of the State, given the conditions in the State. The Commissioner shall make specific findings of fact and conclusions of law, based on a preponderance of the evidence, detailing the conditions in the State which warrant a departure from the Uniform Standard and determining that the Uniform Standard would not reasonably protect the citizens of the State. The Commissioner must consider and balance the following factors and find that the conditions in the State and needs of the citizens of the State outweigh: (i) the intent of the legislature to participate in, and the benefits of, an interstate agreement to establish national uniform consumer protections for the Products subject to this Act; and (ii) the presumption that a Uniform Standard adopted by the Commission provides reasonable protections to consumers of the relevant Product.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Compacting State may, at the time of its enactment of this Compact, prospectively opt out of all Uniform Standards involving long-term care insurance products by expressly providing for such opt out in the enacted Compact, and such an opt out shall not be treated as a material variance in the offer or acceptance of any State to participate in this Compact. Such an opt out shall be effective at the time of enactment of this Compact by the Compacting State and shall apply to all existing Uniform Standards involving long-term care insurance products and those subsequently promulgated.

5. Effect of Opt Out. If a Compacting State elects to opt out of a Uniform Standard, the Uniform Standard shall remain applicable in the Compacting State electing to opt out until such time the opt out legislation is enacted into law or the regulation opting out becomes effective.

Once the opt out of a Uniform Standard by a Compacting State becomes effective as provided under the laws of that State, the Uniform Standard shall have no further force and effect in that State unless and until the legislation or regulation implementing the opt out is repealed or otherwise becomes ineffective under the laws of the State. If a Compacting State opts out of a Uniform Standard after the Uniform Standard has been made effective in that State, the opt out shall have the same prospective effect as provided under Article XIV for withdrawals.

6. Stay of Uniform Standard. If a Compacting State has formally initiated the process of opting out of a Uniform Standard by regulation, and while the regulatory opt out is pending, the Compacting State may petition the Commission, at least fifteen (15) days before the effective date of the Uniform Standard, to stay the effectiveness of the Uniform Standard in that State. The Commission may grant a stay if it determines the regulatory opt out is being pursued in a reasonable manner and there is a likelihood of success. If a stay is granted or extended by the Commission, the stay or extension thereof may postpone the effective date by up to ninety (90) days, unless affirmatively extended by the Commission; provided, a stay may not be permitted to remain in effect for more than one (1) year unless the Compacting State can show extraordinary circumstances which warrant a continuance of the stay, including, but not limited to, the existence of a legal challenge which prevents the Compacting State from opting out. A stay may be terminated by the Commission upon notice that the rulemaking process has been terminated.

7. Not later than thirty (30) days after a Rule or Operating Procedure is promulgated, any person may file a petition for judicial review of the Rule or Operating Procedure; provided, that the filing of such a petition shall not stay or otherwise prevent the Rule or Operating Procedure from becoming effective unless the court finds that the petitioner has a substantial likelihood of success. The court shall give deference to the actions of the Commission consistent with applicable law and shall not find the Rule or Operating Procedure to be unlawful if the Rule or Operating Procedure represents a reasonable exercise of the Commission's authority.

Article VIII. COMMISSION RECORDS AND ENFORCEMENT

1. The Commission shall promulgate Rules establishing conditions and procedures for public inspection and copying of its information and official records, except such information and records involving the privacy of individuals and insurers' trade secrets. The Commission may promulgate additional Rules under which it may make available to federal and state agencies, including law enforcement agencies, records and information otherwise exempt from disclosure, and may enter into agreements with such agencies to receive or exchange information or records subject to nondisclosure and confidentiality provisions.

2. Except as to privileged records, data and information, the laws of any Compacting State pertaining to confidentiality or nondisclosure shall not relieve any Compacting State Commissioner of the duty to disclose any relevant records, data or information to the Commission; provided, that disclosure to the Commission shall not be deemed to waive or otherwise affect any confidentiality requirement; and further provided, that, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, the Commission shall not be subject to the Compacting State's laws pertaining to confidentiality and nondisclosure with respect to records, data and information in its possession. Confidential information of the Commission shall remain confidential after such information is provided to any Commissioner.

3. The Commission shall monitor Compacting States for compliance with duly adopted Bylaws, Rules, including Uniform Standards, and Operating Procedures. The Commission shall notify any non-complying Compacting State in writing of its noncompliance with Commission Bylaws, Rules or Operating Procedures. If a non-complying Compacting State fails to remedy its noncompliance within the time specified in the notice of noncompliance, the Compacting State shall be deemed to be in default as set forth in Article XIV.

4. The Commissioner of any State in which an Insurer is authorized to do business, or is conducting the business of insurance, shall continue to exercise his or her authority to oversee the market regulation of the activities of the Insurer in accordance with the provisions of the State's law. The Commissioner's enforcement of compliance with the Compact is governed by the following provisions:

a. With respect to the Commissioner's market regulation of a Product or Advertisement that is approved or certified to the Commission, the content of the Product or Advertisement shall not constitute a violation of the provisions, standards or requirements of the Compact except upon a final order of the Commission, issued at the request of a Commissioner after prior notice to the Insurer and an opportunity for hearing before the Commission.

b. Before a Commissioner may bring an action for violation of any provision, standard or requirement of the Compact relating to the content of an Advertisement not approved or certified to the Commission, the Commission, or an authorized Commission officer or employee, must authorize the action. However, authorization pursuant to this paragraph does not require notice to the Insurer, opportunity for hearing or disclosure of requests for authorization or records of the Commission's action on such requests.

Article IX. DISPUTE RESOLUTION

The Commission shall attempt, upon the request of a Member, to resolve any disputes or other issues that are subject to this Compact and which may arise between two or more Compacting States, or between Compacting States and Non-compacting States, and the Commission shall promulgate an Operating Procedure providing for resolution of such disputes.

Article X. PRODUCT FILING AND APPROVAL

1. Insurers and Third-Party Filers seeking to have a Product approved by the Commission shall file the Product with, and pay applicable filing fees to, the Commission. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to restrict or otherwise prevent an insurer from filing its Product with the insurance department in any State wherein the insurer is licensed to conduct the business of insurance, and such filing shall be subject to the laws of the States where filed.

2. The Commission shall establish appropriate filing and review processes and procedures pursuant to Commission Rules and Operating Procedures. Notwithstanding any provision herein to the contrary, the Commission shall promulgate Rules to establish conditions and procedures under which the Commission will provide public access to Product filing information. In establishing such Rules, the Commission shall consider the interests of the public in having access to such information, as well as protection of personal medical and financial information and trade secrets, that may be contained in a Product filing or supporting information.

3. Any Product approved by the Commission may be sold or otherwise issued in those Compacting States for which the Insurer is legally authorized to do business.

Article XI. REVIEW OF COMMISSION DECISIONS REGARDING FILINGS

1. Not later than thirty (30) days after the Commission has given notice of a disapproved Product or Advertisement filed with the Commission, the Insurer or Third Party Filer whose filing was disapproved may appeal the determination to a review panel appointed by the Commission. The Commission shall promulgate Rules to establish procedures for appointing such review panels and provide for notice and hearing. An allegation that the Commission, in disapproving a Product or Advertisement filed with the Commission, acted arbitrarily, capriciously, or in a manner that is an abuse of discretion or otherwise not in accordance with the law, is subject to judicial review in accordance with Article III, Section 4.

2. The Commission shall have authority to monitor, review and reconsider Products and Advertisement subsequent to their filing or approval upon a finding that the product does not meet the relevant Uniform Standard. Where appropriate, the Commission may withdraw or modify its approval after proper notice and hearing, subject to the appeal process in Section 1 above.

Article XII. FINANCE

1. The Commission shall pay or provide for the payment of the reasonable expenses of its establishment and organization. To fund the cost of its initial operations, the Commission may accept contributions and other forms of funding from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, Compacting States and other sources. Contributions and other forms of funding from other sources shall be of such a nature that the independence of the Commission concerning the performance of its duties shall not be compromised.

2. The Commission shall collect a filing fee from each Insurer and Third Party Filer filing a product with the Commission to cover the cost of the operations and activities of the Commission and its staff in a total amount sufficient to cover the Commission's annual budget.

3. The Commission's budget for a fiscal year shall not be approved until it has been subject to notice and comment as set forth in Article VII of this Compact.

4. The Commission shall be exempt from all taxation in and by the Compacting States.

5. The Commission shall not pledge the credit of any Compacting State, except by and with the appropriate legal authority of that Compacting State.

6. The Commission shall keep complete and accurate accounts of all its internal receipts, including grants and donations, and disbursements of all funds under its control. The internal financial accounts of the Commission shall be subject to the accounting procedures established under its Bylaws. The financial accounts and reports including the system of internal controls and procedures of the Commission shall be audited annually by an independent certified public accountant. Upon the determination of the Commission, but no less frequently than every three (3) years, the review of the independent auditor shall include a management and performance audit of the Commission. The Commission shall make an Annual Report to the Governor and legislature of the Compacting States, which shall include a report of the independent audit. The Commission's internal accounts shall not be confidential and such materials may be shared with the Commissioner of any Compacting State upon request provided, however, that any workpapers related to any internal or independent audit and any information regarding the privacy of individuals and insurers' proprietary information, including trade secrets, shall remain confidential.

7. No Compacting State shall have any claim to or ownership of any property held by or vested in the Commission or to any Commission funds held pursuant to the provisions of this Compact.

Article XIII. COMPACTING STATES, EFFECTIVE DATE AND AMENDMENT

1. Any State is eligible to become a Compacting State.

2. The Compact shall become effective and binding upon legislative enactment of the Compact into law by two Compacting States; provided, the Commission shall become effective for purposes of adopting Uniform Standards for, reviewing, and giving approval or disapproval of, Products filed with the Commission that satisfy applicable Uniform Standards only after twenty-six (26) States are Compacting States or, alternatively, by States representing greater than forty percent (40%) of the premium volume for life insurance, annuity, disability income and long-term care insurance products, based on records of the NAIC for the prior year. Thereafter, it shall become effective and binding as to any other Compacting State upon enactment of the Compact into law by that State.

3. Amendments to the Compact may be proposed by the Commission for enactment by the Compacting States. No amendment shall become effective and binding upon the Commission and the Compacting States unless and until all Compacting States enact the amendment into law.

Article XIV. WITHDRAWAL, DEFAULT AND TERMINATION

1. Withdrawal

a. Once effective, the Compact shall continue in force and remain binding upon each and every Compacting State; provided, that a Compacting State may withdraw from the Compact (''Withdrawing State'') by enacting a statute specifically repealing the statute which enacted the Compact into law.

b. The effective date of withdrawal is the effective date of the repealing statute. However, the withdrawal shall not apply to any product filings approved or self-certified, or any Advertisement of such products, on the date the repealing statute becomes effective, except by mutual agreement of the Commission and the Withdrawing State unless the approval is rescinded by the Withdrawing State as provided in Paragraph e of this section.

c. The Commissioner of the Withdrawing State shall immediately notify the Management Committee in writing upon the introduction of legislation repealing this Compact in the Withdrawing State.

d. The Commission shall notify the other Compacting States of the introduction of such legislation within ten (10) days after its receipt of notice thereof.

e. The Withdrawing State is responsible for all obligations, duties and liabilities incurred through the effective date of withdrawal, including any obligations, the performance of which extend beyond the effective date of withdrawal, except to the extent those obligations may have been released or relinquished by mutual agreement of the Commission and the Withdrawing State. The Commission's approval of Products and Advertisement prior to the effective date of withdrawal shall continue to be effective and be given full force and effect in the Withdrawing State, unless formally rescinded by the Withdrawing State in the same manner as provided by the laws of the Withdrawing State for the prospective disapproval of products or advertisement previously approved under state law.

f. Reinstatement following withdrawal of any Compacting State shall occur upon the effective date of the Withdrawing State reenacting the Compact.

2. Default

a. If the Commission determines that any Compacting State has at any time defaulted (''Defaulting State'') in the performance of any of its obligations or responsibilities under this Compact, the Bylaws or duly promulgated Rules or Operating Procedures, then, after notice and hearing as set forth in the Bylaws, all rights, privileges and benefits conferred by this Compact on the Defaulting State shall be suspended from the effective date of default as fixed by the Commission. The grounds for default include, but are not limited to, failure of a Compacting State to perform its obligations or responsibilities, and any other grounds designated in Commission Rules. The Commission shall immediately notify the Defaulting State in writing of the Defaulting State's suspension pending a cure of the default. The Commission shall stipulate the conditions and the time period within which the Defaulting State must cure its default. If the Defaulting State fails to cure the default within the time period specified by the Commission, the Defaulting State shall be terminated from the Compact and all rights, privileges and benefits conferred by this Compact shall be terminated from the effective date of termination.

b. Product approvals by the Commission or product self-certifications, or any Advertisement in connection with such product, that are in force on the effective date of termination shall remain in force in the Defaulting State in the same manner as if the Defaulting State had withdrawn voluntarily pursuant to Section 1 of this article.

c. Reinstatement following termination of any Compacting State requires a reenactment of the Compact.

3. Dissolution of Compact

a. The Compact dissolves effective upon the date of the withdrawal or default of the Compacting State which reduces membership in the Compact to one Compacting State.

b. Upon the dissolution of this Compact, the Compact becomes null and void and shall be of no further force or effect, and the business and affairs of the Commission shall be wound up and any surplus funds shall be distributed in accordance with the Bylaws.

Article XV. SEVERABILITY AND CONSTRUCTION

1. The provisions of this Compact shall be severable; and if any phrase, clause, sentence or provision is deemed unenforceable, the remaining provisions of the Compact shall be enforceable.

2. The provisions of this Compact shall be liberally construed to effectuate its purposes.

Article XVI. BINDING EFFECT OF COMPACT AND OTHER LAWS

1. Other Laws

a. Nothing herein prevents the enforcement of any other law of a Compacting State, except as provided in Paragraph b of this section.

b. For any Product approved or certified to the Commission, the Rules, Uniform Standards and any other requirements of the Commission shall constitute the exclusive provisions applicable to the content, approval and certification of such Products. For Advertisement that is subject to the Commission's authority, any Rule, Uniform Standard or other requirement of the Commission which governs the content of the Advertisement shall constitute the exclusive provision that a Commissioner may apply to the content of the Advertisement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no action taken by the Commission shall abrogate or restrict: (i) the access of any person to state courts; (ii) remedies available under state law related to breach of contract, tort, or other laws not specifically directed to the content of the Product; (iii) state law relating to the construction of insurance contracts; or (iv) the authority of the attorney general of the state, including but not limited to maintaining any actions or proceedings, as authorized by law.

c. All insurance products filed with individual States shall be subject to the laws of those States.

2. Binding Effect of this Compact

a. All lawful actions of the Commission, including all Rules and Operating Procedures promulgated by the Commission, are binding upon the Compacting States.

b. All agreements between the Commission and the Compacting States are binding in accordance with their terms.

c. Upon the request of a party to a conflict over the meaning or interpretation of Commission actions, and upon a majority vote of the Compacting States, the Commission may issue advisory opinions regarding the meaning or interpretation in dispute.

d. In the event any provision of this Compact exceeds the constitutional limits imposed on the legislature of any Compacting State, the obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction sought to be conferred by that provision upon the Commission shall be ineffective as to that Compacting State, and those obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction shall remain in the Compacting State and shall be exercised by the agency thereof to which those obligations, duties, powers or jurisdiction are delegated by law in effect at the time this Compact becomes effective.

44-7901. Act, how cited.
44-7902. Statement of Actuarial Opinion; filing; supporting documents; appointed actuary; immunity.
44-7903. Statement of Actuarial Opinion; supporting documents; disclosure allowed; when.

44-7901 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-7901 to 44-7903 shall be known and may be cited as the Property and Casualty Actuarial Opinion Act.

Source: Laws 2005, LB 119, § 39.

44-7902 Statement of Actuarial Opinion; filing; supporting documents; appointed actuary; immunity.

(1) Beginning January 1, 2007, every property and casualty insurance company doing business in this state, unless otherwise exempted by the domiciliary commissioner, shall annually submit the opinion of an appointed actuary entitled Statement of Actuarial Opinion. This opinion shall be filed in accordance with the appropriate National Association of Insurance Commissioners Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions.

(2)(a) Every property and casualty insurance company domiciled in this state that is required to submit a Statement of Actuarial Opinion shall annually submit an actuarial opinion summary, written by the company's appointed actuary. This actuarial opinion summary shall be filed in accordance with the appropriate National Association of Insurance Commissioners Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions and shall be considered as a document supporting the Statement of Actuarial Opinion required in subsection (1) of this section.

(b) A property and casualty insurance company authorized to do business in this state but not domiciled in this state shall provide the actuarial opinion summary to the Director of Insurance upon request.

(3)(a) An actuarial report and underlying workpapers as required by the appropriate National Association of Insurance Commissioners Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions shall be prepared to support each Statement of Actuarial Opinion.

(b) If the insurance company fails to provide a supporting actuarial report or workpapers at the request of the director or the director determines that the supporting actuarial report or workpapers provided by the insurance company is otherwise unacceptable to the director, the director may engage a qualified actuary at the expense of the company to review the opinion and the basis for the opinion and prepare the supporting actuarial report or workpapers.

(4) The appointed actuary shall not be liable for damages to any person, other than the insurance company or the director, for any act, error, omission, decision, or conduct with respect to the actuary's opinion, except in cases of fraud or willful misconduct on the part of the appointed actuary.

44-7903 Statement of Actuarial Opinion; supporting documents; disclosure allowed; when.

(1) The Statement of Actuarial Opinion shall be provided with the annual statement in accordance with the appropriate National Association of Insurance Commissioners Property and Casualty Annual Statement Instructions and shall be a public document.

(2)(a) Documents, materials, or other information in the possession or control of the Department of Insurance that are considered an actuarial report, workpapers, or actuarial opinion summary provided in support of the opinion, and any other material provided by the company to the Director of Insurance in connection with the actuarial report, workpapers, or actuarial opinion summary, shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action.

(b) This section shall not be construed to limit the director's authority to release the documents to the Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline if the material is required for the purpose of professional disciplinary proceedings and that the Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline establishes procedures satisfactory to the director for preserving the confidentiality of the documents, nor shall this section be construed to limit the director's authority to use the documents, materials or other information in furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as part of the director's official duties.

(3) Neither the director nor any person who received documents, materials, or other information while acting under the authority of the director shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials, or information subject to subsection (2) of this section.

(4) The director:

(a) May share documents, materials, or other information, including the confidential and privileged documents, materials, or information subject to subsection (2) of this section with other state, federal, and international regulatory agencies, with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and with state, federal, and international law enforcement authorities, if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the document, material, or other information and has the legal authority to maintain confidentiality; and

(b) May receive documents, materials, or information, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials, or information from other state, federal, foreign, or international regulatory and law enforcement agencies and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The director shall maintain information received pursuant to this subdivision as confidential or privileged if received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the information. Such information shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, subject to subpoena, subject to discovery, or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use such information in any regulatory or legal action brought by the director. The director, and any other person while acting under the authority of the director who has received information pursuant to this subdivision, may not, and shall not be required to, testify in any private civil action concerning any information subject to this section. Nothing in this section shall constitute a waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the information received pursuant to this subdivision as a result of information sharing authorized by this section.

HEALTH CARE PROMPT PAYMENT ACT

Section

Section

44-8001 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-8001 to 44-8010 shall be known and may be cited as the Health Care Prompt Payment Act.

Source: Laws 2005, LB 389, § 1.

44-8002 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Health Care Prompt Payment Act:

(1) Claim form means an insurer's standard printed or electronic transaction form that complies with the standards issued by the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services or, if an insurer does not have a standard printed or electronic transaction form, any form which complies with such standards;

(2) Clean claim means a claim for payment of health care services that is submitted by a Nebraska health care provider to an insurer on a claim form with all required fields completed with information to adjudicate the claim in accordance with any published filing requirements of the insurer;

(3) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(4) Insurer means an entity that contracts to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a prepaid limited health service organization, a prepaid dental service corporation, a participant in an insurance arrangement as defined in section 44-4105, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or health care services. Insurer does not include the medical assistance program established pursuant to the Medical Assistance Act, a property and liability insurer, a motor vehicle insurer, a workers' compensation insurer, a risk management pool, or a self-insured employer who contracts for services to be provided through a managed care plan certified pursuant to section 48-120.02;

(5) Prompt payment act compliance statement means a certification made in good faith by an insurer that, during the twenty-four-month period ending on the preceding June 30, it paid, denied, or settled more than ninety percent of its clean claims within the time periods set forth in subsections (1) and (2) of section 44-8004;

(6) Repricer means an entity that receives claims from health care providers and submits them to insurers after adjudicating or repricing such claims; and

(7) Unfair payment pattern means any of the following patterns of conduct:

(a) Engaging in a demonstrable and unjust pattern of reviewing or processing complete and accurate claims that results in payment delays;

(b) Engaging in a demonstrable and unjust pattern of reducing the amount of payment or denying complete and accurate claims;

(c) Repeated failure to pay the uncontested portions of a claim within the time periods specified in section 44-8004; or

(d) Failing on a repeated basis to pay the interest when due on claims pursuant to section 44-8005.

44-8003 Claim; date of receipt; rebuttable presumption.

If a claim is submitted electronically, the claim is presumed to have been received on the date of the electronic verification of receipt by the insurer or the insurer's clearinghouse. If a claim is submitted by mail, the claim is presumed to have been received five business days after the claim has been placed in the United States mail with first-class postage prepaid. The presumption may be rebutted by sufficient evidence that the claim was received on another day or not received at all.

Source: Laws 2005, LB 389, § 3.

44-8004 Action on claim; deadline.

(1) A clean claim shall be paid, denied, or settled within thirty calendar days after receipt by the insurer if submitted electronically and within forty-five calendar days after receipt if submitted in a form other than electronically.

(2) If the resolution of a claim requires additional information, the insurer shall, within thirty calendar days after receipt of the claim, give the health care provider, policyholder, insured, or patient, as appropriate, a full explanation in writing of what additional information is needed to resolve the claim, including any additional medical or other information related to the claim. The applicable time period set forth in subsection (1) of this section shall be tolled as of the date the additional information is requested until the date all such additional information necessary to resolve the claim is received. The person receiving a request for such additional information shall submit all additional information requested by the insurer within thirty calendar days after receipt of such request. After such person has provided all such additional information necessary to resolve the claim, the claim shall be paid, denied, or settled by the insurer within the remaining applicable time period set forth in subsection (1) of this section. Failure to furnish additional information within the time period required shall not invalidate or reduce the claim if it was not reasonably possible to give such information within such time period. The insurer may deny a claim if a health care provider receives a request for additional information and fails to submit additional information requested under this subsection.

(3) For purposes of subsection (1) of this section, a clean claim shall not include a claim:

(a) For which the insurer needs additional information in order to resolve one or more issues concerning coverage, eligibility, coordination of benefits, investigation of preexisting conditions, subrogation, determination of medical necessity, or the use of unlisted procedural codes; or

(b) For which the insurer has a reasonable belief supported by specific information that the claim has been submitted fraudulently.

(4) If a claim is submitted to a repricer, the time periods for payment, denial, or settlement of such claims set forth in this section shall commence upon receipt of the claim by the repricer.

Source: Laws 2005, LB 389, § 4.

44-8005 Interest; rate; payment.

(1) An insurer that fails to pay, deny, or settle a clean claim in accordance with the time periods set forth in subsection (1) of section 44-8004 or to take other required action within the time periods set forth in subsection (2) of section 44-8004 shall pay interest at the rate of twelve percent per annum on the total amount ultimately allowed on the claim, accruing from the date payment was due pursuant to section 44-8004.

(2) To the extent that interest is not paid concurrently with the claim, it may be paid on a quarterly basis or when the aggregate interest for a health care provider exceeds ten dollars.

Source: Laws 2005, LB 389, § 5.

44-8006 Prompt payment act compliance statement; filing; effect; list available.

An insurer shall be exempt from the requirements of section 44-8005 during a calendar year when the insurer has a prompt payment act compliance statement on file with the director. Any insurer desiring to obtain the exemption shall file a prompt payment act compliance statement with the director not later than December 1 of the year prior to the exemption year. A list of insurers with prompt payment act compliance statements on file shall be publicly available from the director.

Source: Laws 2005, LB 389, § 6.

44-8007 Claims processing functions; delegation; requirements.

If an insurer delegates its claims processing functions to a third party, the delegation agreement shall provide that the third party shall consent to an examination and cooperate with that examination by the director and shall comply with the requirements of the Health Care Prompt Payment Act. Any delegation by the insurer shall not be construed to limit the insurer's responsibility to comply with the act.

Source: Laws 2005, LB 389, § 7.

44-8008 Compliance with act; unfair payment pattern; director; powers and duties; enforcement; penalty.

(1) An insured, a representative of an insured, or a health care provider acting on behalf of the insured may notify the director of activities related to an unfair payment pattern. The director shall compile a record of notices, and if it appears to the director that an insurer, or a third party working on behalf of an insurer, may be engaged in an unfair payment pattern or that an insurer has filed a prompt payment act compliance statement that the insurer knows or has reason to know is false, the director may examine and investigate the affairs of such insurer or third party, either as part of a regularly scheduled examination or as part of an examination called solely for the purposes of determining compliance with the Health Care Prompt Payment Act. The insurer shall reimburse the Department of Insurance for the expense of the examination of the insurer or third party working on behalf of the insurer in the same manner as provided for examination of insurance companies in the Insurers Examination Act.

(2) If as a result of an examination conducted under subsection (1) of this section, the director finds that any insurer doing business in this state is engaged in any unfair payment pattern, or that the insurer has filed a prompt payment act compliance statement that the insurer knows or has reason to know is false, and that a proceeding in respect thereto would be in the public interest, the director shall issue and serve upon such insurer a statement of the charges in that respect and a notice of hearing thereon, which notice shall set a hearing date not less than ten days from the date of the notice.

(3) If, after a hearing conducted pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, the director finds that an insurer or a third party working on behalf of an insurer has engaged in an unfair payment pattern or that the insurer has filed a prompt payment act compliance statement that the insurer knows or has reason to know is false, the director shall reduce the findings to writing and shall issue and cause to be served upon the insurer a copy of the findings and an order requiring the insurer or any third party working on behalf of the insurer to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice and the director may order any one or more of the following:

(a) Payment of a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of thirty thousand dollars, unless the violation was committed flagrantly and in conscious disregard of the Health Care Prompt Payment Act, in which case the penalty shall not be more than fifteen thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars;

(b) Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license or certificate of authority if the insurer knew or reasonably should have known it was in violation of the act; and

(c) Withdrawal of the insurer's prompt payment act compliance statement for such time as the director determines.

(4) Any insurer who violates a cease and desist order under subsection (3) of this section may, after notice and hearing and upon order of the director, be subject to:

(a) A monetary penalty of not more than thirty thousand dollars for each violation, not to exceed an aggregate penalty of one hundred fifty thousand dollars; and

(b) Suspension or revocation of the insurer's license or certificate of authority.

44-8105 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act:

(1) Annuity means an annuity that is an insurance product under state law and is individually solicited, whether the product is classified as an individual or group annuity;

(2) Cash compensation means any discount, concession, fee, service fee, commission, sales charge, loan, override, or cash benefit received by a producer from an insurer or intermediary or directly from the consumer in connection with the recommendation or sale of an annuity;

(3) Consumer profile information means any information that is reasonably appropriate to determine whether a recommendation addresses the consumer's financial situation, insurance needs, and financial objectives, including, at a minimum, the consumer's:

(a) Age;

(b) Annual income;

(c) Financial situation and needs, including debts and other obligations;

(d) Financial experience;

(e) Insurance needs;

(f) Financial objectives;

(g) Intended use of the annuity;

(h) Financial time horizon;

(i) Existing assets or financial products, including investment, annuity, and insurance holdings;

(j) Liquidity needs;

(k) Liquid net worth;

(l) Risk tolerance, including, but not limited to, willingness to accept non-guaranteed elements in the annuity;

(m) Financial resources used to fund the annuity; and

(n) Tax status;

(4) Continuing education credit means one clock hour of an approved continuing education activity certified by the Director of Insurance pursuant to subsection (1) of section 44-3905;

(5) Continuing education provider means an individual or entity that is approved to offer continuing education activities pursuant to subsection (1) of section 44-3905;

(6) Insurer means a company required to be licensed under the laws of this state to provide insurance products, including annuities;

(7) Intermediary means an entity contracted (a) directly with an insurer or (b) with another entity that is contracted with an insurer to facilitate the sale of the insurer's annuities by producers;

(8) Material conflict of interest means a financial interest of the producer in the sale of an annuity that a reasonable person would expect to influence the impartiality of a recommendation, but does not include cash compensation or noncash compensation;

(9) Noncash compensation means any form of compensation that is not cash compensation, including, but not limited to, health insurance, office rent, office support, and retirement benefits;

(10) Nonguaranteed elements means the premiums, credited interest rates, including any bonus, benefits, values, dividends, non-interest-based credits, charges, or elements of formulas used to determine any of the listed elements that are subject to company discretion and are not guaranteed at issue. An element is considered nonguaranteed if its calculation uses any underlying nonguaranteed element;

(11) Producer means (a) a person required to be licensed under the laws of this state to sell, solicit, or negotiate insurance, including annuities, or (b) if no person described in subdivision (11)(a) of this section is involved, an insurer;

(12) Recommendation means advice provided by a producer to an individual consumer that was intended to result or does result in a purchase, an exchange, or a replacement of an annuity in accordance with that advice, but does not include general communication to the public, generalized consumer services assistance or administrative support, general education information and tools, prospectuses, or other product and sales material; and

(13) Replacement means a transaction in which a new annuity is to be purchased, and it is known or should be known to the proposing producer or the proposing insurer that, by reason of the transaction, an existing annuity or other insurance policy has been or is to be:

(a) Lapsed, forfeited, surrendered, or partially surrendered, assigned to the replacing insurer, or otherwise terminated;

(b) Converted to reduced paid-up insurance, continued as extended term insurance, or otherwise reduced in value by the use of nonforfeiture benefits or other policy values;

(c) Amended so as to effect either a reduction in benefits or in the term for which coverage would otherwise remain in force or for which benefits would be paid;

(d) Reissued with any reduction in cash value; or

44-8106 Recommendation of annuity; obligations; requirements; supervision system, required; producer; insurer; prohibited acts; safe harbor requirements; maintenance of records; Director of Insurance; powers.

(1) The producer, when making a recommendation of an annuity, shall act in the best interest of the consumer under the circumstances known at the time the recommendation is made, without placing the producer's or the insurer's financial interest ahead of the consumer's interest. A producer has acted in the best interest of the consumer and met the best interest obligation if the following care, disclosure, conflict of interest, and documentation obligations are satisfied:

(a)(i) In meeting the care obligation for making a recommendation, the producer shall exercise reasonable diligence, care, and skill to:

(A) Know the consumer's financial situation, insurance needs, and financial objectives;

(B) Understand the available recommendation options after making a reasonable inquiry into options available to the producer;

(C) Have a reasonable basis to believe the recommended option effectively addresses the consumer's financial situation, insurance needs, and financial objectives over the life of the product, as evaluated in light of the consumer profile information; and

(D) Communicate the basis or bases of the recommendation.

(ii) The care obligation requirements under subdivision (a)(i) of this subsection include making reasonable efforts to obtain consumer profile information from the consumer prior to the recommendation of an annuity.

(iii) The care obligation requires a producer to consider the types of products the producer is authorized and licensed to recommend or sell that address the consumer's financial situation, insurance needs, and financial objectives. This does not require analysis or consideration of any products outside the authority and license of the producer or other possible alternative products or strategies available in the market at the time of the recommendation. Producers shall be held to standards applicable to producers with similar authority and licensure.

(iv) The care obligation does not create a fiduciary obligation or relationship and only creates a regulatory obligation as established in this subsection.

(v) The consumer profile information, characteristics of the insurer, and product costs, rates, benefits, and features are those factors generally relevant in making a determination whether an annuity effectively addresses the consumer's financial situation, insurance needs, and financial objectives, but the level of importance of each factor under the care obligation may vary depending on the facts and circumstances. However, in no instance shall each factor be considered in isolation.

(vi) The care obligation requires the producer to have a reasonable basis to believe the consumer would benefit from certain features of the annuity, such as annuitization, death or living benefit, or other insurance-related features.

(vii) The care obligation requirements under subdivision (1)(a) of this section apply to the particular annuity as a whole and the underlying subaccounts to which funds are allocated at the time of purchase or exchange of an annuity, and to riders and similar product enhancements, if any.

(viii) The care obligation does not require that the annuity with the lowest one-time or multiple occurrence compensation structure be recommended.

(ix) The care obligation does not include an ongoing monitoring obligation for the producer, although an ongoing monitoring obligation may be separately owed under the terms of a fiduciary, consulting, investment advising, or financial planning agreement between the consumer and the producer.

(x) In the case of an exchange or replacement of an annuity, the care obligation requires the producer to consider the whole transaction, which includes taking into consideration whether:

(A) The consumer will incur a surrender charge, be subject to the commencement of a new surrender period, lose existing benefits, such as death, living, or other contractual benefits, or be subject to increased fees, investment advisory fees, or charges for riders and similar product enhancements;

(B) The replacing product would substantially benefit the consumer in comparison to the replaced product over the life of the product; and

(C) The consumer has had another annuity exchange or replacement and, in particular, an exchange or replacement within the preceding sixty months.

(xi) Nothing in the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act shall be construed to require a producer to obtain any license other than a producer license with the appropriate line of authority to sell, solicit, or negotiate insurance in this state, including, but not limited to, any securities license, in order to fulfill the duties of the care obligation, except that a producer shall not give advice or provide services that are otherwise subject to securities laws or engage in any other activity requiring another professional license without first obtaining the appropriate license;

(b)(i) In meeting the disclosure obligation, the producer shall, prior to the recommendation or sale of an annuity, prominently disclose to the consumer on a form created or previously approved by the Department of Insurance:

(A) A description of the scope and terms of the relationship with the consumer and the role of the producer in the transaction;

(B) An affirmative statement on whether the producer is licensed and authorized to sell the following products: Fixed annuities; fixed indexed annuities; variable annuities; life insurance; mutual funds; stocks and bonds; or certificates of deposit;

(C) An affirmative statement describing the insurers the producer is authorized, contracted, appointed, or otherwise able to sell insurance products for using one of the following descriptions: From one insurer; from two or more insurers; or from two or more insurers although primarily contracted with one insurer;

(D) A description of the sources and types of cash compensation and noncash compensation to be received by the producer, including whether the producer is to be compensated for the sale of a recommended annuity by commission, as part of a premium, by other remuneration received from the insurer, intermediary, or other producer, or by fee as a result of a contract for advice or consulting services; and

(E) A notice of the consumer's right to request additional information regarding cash compensation as described in subdivision (b)(ii) of this subsection.

(ii) As part of the disclosure obligation, the producer shall, upon request of the consumer or the consumer's designated representative, disclose:

(A) A reasonable estimate of the amount of cash compensation to be received by the producer, which may be stated as a range of amounts or percentages; and

(B) Whether the cash compensation is a one-time or multiple occurrence amount, and if a multiple occurrence amount, the frequency and amount of the occurrences, which may be stated as a range of amounts or percentages.

(iii) As part of the disclosure obligation, the producer shall, prior to or at the time of the recommendation or sale of an annuity, have a reasonable basis to believe the consumer has been informed of various features of the annuity, such as the potential surrender period and surrender charge, potential tax penalty if the consumer sells, exchanges, surrenders, or annuitizes the annuity, mortality and expense fees, investment advisory fees, any annual fees, potential charges for and features of riders or other options of the annuity, limitations on interest returns, potential changes in nonguaranteed elements of the annuity, insurance and investment components, and market risk;

(c) In meeting the conflict of interest obligation, the producer shall identify and avoid or reasonably manage and disclose material conflicts of interest, including, but not limited to, material conflicts of interest related to an ownership interest;

(d) In meeting the documentation obligation, a producer shall at the time of sale:

(i) Make a written record of any recommendation subject to the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act and of the basis for such recommendation;

(ii) Obtain a consumer-signed statement on a form created or previously approved by the Department of Insurance documenting:

(A) Any refusal by the consumer to provide consumer profile information; and

(B) The consumer's understanding of the ramifications of not providing consumer profile information or providing insufficient consumer profile information; and

(iii) Obtain a consumer-signed statement on a form created or previously approved by the Department of Insurance acknowledging that the annuity transaction is not recommended if a consumer decides to enter into an annuity transaction that is not based on the producer's recommendation; and

(e) Any best interest obligation requirement applicable to a producer under this subsection shall apply to every producer who has exercised material control or influence in the making of a recommendation and has received direct compensation as a result of the recommendation or sale, regardless of whether the producer has had any direct contact with the consumer. Activities such as providing or delivering marketing or educational materials, product wholesaling or other back office product support, and general supervision of a producer do not, in and of themselves, constitute material control or influence.

(2)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (2)(b) of this section, a producer shall have no obligation to a consumer under subdivision (1)(a) of this section related to any annuity transaction if:

(i) No recommendation is made;

(ii) A recommendation was made and was later found to have been prepared based on materially inaccurate information provided by the consumer;

(iii) A consumer refuses to provide relevant consumer profile information and the annuity transaction is not recommended; or

(iv) A consumer decides to enter into an annuity transaction that is not based on a recommendation of the producer.

(b) An insurer's issuance of an annuity subject to subdivision (2)(a) of this section shall be deemed reasonable under all the circumstances actually known to the insurer at the time the annuity is issued.

(3)(a) Except as permitted under subsection (2) of this section, an insurer may not issue an annuity recommended to a consumer unless there is a reasonable basis to believe the annuity would effectively address the particular consumer's financial situation, insurance needs, and financial objectives based on the consumer's consumer profile information.

(b) An insurer shall establish and maintain a supervision system that is reasonably designed to achieve the insurer's and its producers' compliance with the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act, including, but not limited to, the following:

(i) The insurer shall maintain reasonable procedures to inform its producers of the requirements of the act and shall incorporate such requirements into relevant producer training manuals;

(ii) The insurer shall establish and maintain standards for producer product training and shall establish and maintain reasonable procedures to require its producers to comply with the requirements of section 44-8108;

(iii) The insurer shall provide product-specific training and training materials which explain all material features of its annuity products to its producers;

(iv) The insurer shall establish and maintain procedures for review of each recommendation prior to issuance of an annuity that are designed to ensure that there is a reasonable basis to determine that the recommended annuity would effectively address the particular consumer's financial situation, insurance needs, and financial objectives. Such review procedures may apply a screening system for the purpose of identifying selected transactions for additional review and may be accomplished electronically or through other means including, but not limited to, physical review. Such an electronic or other system may be designed to require additional review only of those transactions identified for additional review by the selection criteria;

(v) The insurer shall establish and maintain reasonable procedures to detect recommendations that are not in compliance with subsections (1), (2), (4), and (5) of this section. This may include, but is not limited to, confirmation of the consumer profile information, systematic consumer surveys, producer and consumer interviews, confirmation letters, producer statements or attestations, and programs of internal monitoring. Nothing in this subdivision shall prevent an insurer from complying with this subdivision by applying sampling procedures or by confirming the consumer profile information or other required information under this section after issuance or delivery of the annuity;

(vi) The insurer shall establish and maintain reasonable procedures to assess, prior to or upon issuance or delivery of an annuity, whether a producer has provided to the consumer the information required to be provided under this section;

(vii) The insurer shall establish and maintain reasonable procedures to identify and address suspicious consumer refusals to provide consumer profile information;

(viii) The insurer shall establish and maintain reasonable procedures to identify and eliminate any sales contests, sales quotas, bonuses, and noncash compensation that are based on the sales of specific annuities within a limited period of time. The requirements of this subdivision are not intended to prohibit the receipt of health insurance, office rent, office support, retirement benefits, or other employee benefits by employees as long as such benefits are not based upon the volume of sales of a specific annuity within a limited period of time; and

(ix) The insurer shall annually provide a written report to senior management, including the senior manager responsible for audit functions, which details a review, with appropriate testing, reasonably designed to determine the effectiveness of the supervision system, the exceptions found, and corrective action taken or recommended, if any.

(c)(i) Nothing in this subsection restricts an insurer from contracting for performance of a function, including maintenance of procedures, required under this subsection. An insurer is responsible for taking appropriate corrective action and may be subject to sanctions and penalties pursuant to section 44-8107 regardless of whether the insurer contracts for performance of a function and regardless of the insurer's compliance with subdivision (b) of this subsection.

(ii) An insurer's supervision system under this subsection shall include supervision of contractual performance under this subsection. This includes, but is not limited to, the following:

(A) Monitoring and, as appropriate, conducting audits to assure that the contracted function is properly performed; and

(B) Annually obtaining a certification from a senior manager who has responsibility for the contracted function that the manager has a reasonable basis to represent, and does represent, that the function is properly performed.

(d) An insurer is not required to include in its system of supervision:

(i) A producer's recommendations to consumers of products other than the annuities offered by the insurer; or

(ii) Consideration of or comparison to options available to the producer or compensation relating to those options other than annuities or other products offered by the insurer.

(4) Neither a producer nor an insurer shall dissuade, or attempt to dissuade, a consumer from:

(a) Truthfully responding to an insurer's request for confirmation of the consumer profile information;

(b) Filing a complaint; or

(c) Cooperating with the investigation of a complaint.

(5)(a) Recommendations and sales of annuities made in compliance with comparable standards shall satisfy the safe harbor requirements under this subsection. This subsection applies to all recommendations and sales of annuities made by financial professionals in compliance with business rules, controls, and procedures that satisfy a comparable standard even if such standard would not otherwise apply to the product or recommendation at issue. However, nothing in this subsection shall limit the ability of the Director of Insurance to investigate and enforce the provisions of this subsection.

(b) Nothing in subdivision (a) of this subsection shall limit the insurer's obligation to comply with subdivision (3)(a) of this section, although the insurer may base its analysis on information received from either the financial professional or the entity supervising the financial professional.

(c) For subdivision (a) of this subsection to apply, an insurer shall:

(i) Monitor the relevant conduct of the financial professional seeking to rely on subdivision (a) of this subsection or the entity responsible for supervising the financial professional, such as the financial professional's broker-dealer or an investment adviser registered under federal securities laws using information collected in the normal course of an insurer's business; and

(ii) Provide to the entity responsible for supervising the financial professional seeking to rely on subdivision (a) of this subsection, such as the financial professional's broker-dealer or investment adviser registered under federal securities laws, information and reports that are reasonably appropriate to assist such entity to maintain its supervision system.

(d) For purposes of this subsection, financial professional means a producer that is regulated and acting as:

(i) A broker-dealer registered under federal securities laws or a registered representative of a broker-dealer;

(ii) An investment adviser registered under federal securities laws or an investment adviser representative associated with a federal registered investment adviser; or

(iii) A plan fiduciary under section 3(21) of the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 or a fiduciary under section 4975(e)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as such sections existed on January 1, 2021.

(e) For purposes of this subsection, comparable standards means:

(i) With respect to broker-dealers and registered representatives of broker-dealers, applicable federal Securities and Exchange Commission and Financial Industry Regulatory Authority rules pertaining to best interest obligations and supervision of annuity recommendations and sales, including, but not limited to, Regulation Best Interest, as such rules existed on January 1, 2021;

(ii) With respect to investment advisers registered under federal securities laws or investment adviser representatives, the fiduciary duties and all other requirements imposed on such investment advisers or investment adviser representatives by contract or under the federal Investment Advisers Act of 1940, including, but not limited to, Form ADV and interpretations of Form ADV as such form and interpretations existed on January 1, 2021; and

(iii) With respect to plan fiduciaries or fiduciaries, the duties, obligations, prohibitions, and all other requirements attendant to such status under the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 or the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as such acts existed on January 1, 2021.

(6)(a) Insurers, general agents, independent agencies, and producers shall maintain or be able to make available to the Director of Insurance records of the information collected from the consumer, disclosures made to the consumer, including summaries of oral disclosures, and other information used in making the recommendations that were the basis for insurance transactions for five years after the insurance transaction is completed by the insurer. An insurer is permitted, but shall not be required, to maintain documentation on behalf of a producer.

(b) Records required to be maintained by this subsection may be maintained in paper, photographic, microprocess, magnetic, mechanical, or electronic media or by any process that accurately reproduces the actual document.

44-8107 Insurer; duties; Director of Insurance; powers; violations.

(1) An insurer is responsible for compliance with the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act. If a violation occurs, either because of the action or inaction of the insurer or its producer, the Director of Insurance may order:

(a) An insurer to take reasonably appropriate corrective action for any consumer harmed by a failure to comply with the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act by the insurer, an entity contracted to perform the insurer's supervisory duties, or by the producer;

(b) A general agency, an independent agency, or the producer to take reasonably appropriate corrective action for any consumer harmed by the producer's violation of the act; and

(c) Appropriate penalties and sanctions.

(2) A violation of the act shall be an unfair trade practice in the business of insurance under the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act.

(3) The director may reduce or eliminate any applicable penalty under section 44-1529 for a violation of the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act if corrective action for the consumer was taken promptly after a violation was discovered or the violation was not part of a pattern or practice.

44-8108 Producer; duties.

(1) A producer shall not solicit the sale of an annuity product unless the producer has adequate knowledge of the product to recommend the annuity and the producer is in compliance with the insurer's standards for product training. A producer may rely on insurer-provided product-specific training standards and materials to comply with this subsection.

(2)(a)(i) A producer who engages in the sale of annuity products shall complete a one-time four-credit training course approved by the Department of Insurance and provided by a department-approved education provider.

(ii) Producers who hold a life insurance line of authority on July 1, 2021, and who desire to sell annuities shall complete the requirements of this subsection within six months after July 1, 2021. Individuals who obtain a life insurance line of authority on or after July 1, 2021, shall not engage in the sale of annuities until the annuity training course required under this subsection has been completed.

(b) The minimum length of the training required under this subsection shall be sufficient to qualify for at least four continuing education credits, but may be longer.

(c) The training required under this subsection shall include information on the following topics:

(i) The types of annuities and various classifications of annuities;

(ii) Identification of the parties to an annuity;

(iii) How fixed, variable, and indexed annuity contract provisions affect consumers;

(iv) The application of income taxation of qualified and nonqualified annuities;

(v) The primary uses of annuities; and

(vi) Appropriate sales practices and replacement and disclosure requirements.

(d) Providers of courses intended to comply with this subsection shall cover all topics listed in the prescribed outline and shall not present any marketing information or provide training on sales techniques or specific information about a particular insurer's products. Additional topics may be offered in conjunction with and in addition to the required outline.

(e) A provider of an annuity training course intended to comply with this subsection shall register as a continuing education provider in this state and comply with the requirements applicable to insurance producer continuing education activities as set forth in section 44-3905.

(f) A producer who has completed an annuity training course approved by the Department of Insurance prior to July 1, 2021, shall, within six months after July 1, 2021, complete either:

(i) A new four-credit training course approved by the Department of Insurance after April 8, 2021; or

(ii) An additional one-time, one-credit training course approved by the Department of Insurance and provided by a Department of Insurance approved education provider on appropriate sales practices and replacement and disclosure requirements under the Nebraska Protection in Annuity Transactions Act.

(g) Annuity training courses may be conducted and completed by classroom or self-study methods in accordance with sections 44-3901 to 44-3908.

(h) Providers of annuity training shall comply with the reporting requirements and shall issue certificates of completion in accordance with sections 44-3901 to 44-3908.

(i) The satisfaction of training requirements of another state that are substantially similar to the provisions of this subsection shall be deemed to satisfy the training requirements of this subsection.

(j) The satisfaction of the components of the training requirements of any course or courses with components substantially similar to the provisions of this subsection shall be deemed to satisfy the training requirements of this subsection.

(k) An insurer shall verify that each producer has completed the annuity training course required under this subsection before allowing the producer to sell an annuity product for that insurer. An insurer may satisfy its responsibility under this subsection by obtaining certificates of completion of the training course or obtaining reports provided by National Association of Insurance Commissioners-sponsored database systems or vendors or from a reasonably reliable commercial database vendor that has a reporting arrangement with approved insurance education providers.

CAPTIVE INSURERS ACT

Section
44-8201. Act, how cited.
44-8202. Purposes of act.
44-8203. Terms, defined.
44-8204. Name.
44-8205. Certificate of authority; application; fee; plan of operation; filings required; director; powers; subsequent amendments; books and records.

Section

44-8201 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-8201 to 44-8218 shall be known and may be cited as the Captive Insurers Act.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 35.

44-8202 Purposes of act.

The purposes of the Captive Insurers Act are to set forth the procedures for organizing and regulating the operations of captive insurers within the State of Nebraska and to encourage integrity, financial solvency, and stability of captive insurers for the purpose of promoting the development of Nebraska businesses.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 36.

44-8203 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Captive Insurers Act:

(1) Affiliated entity means any entity that directly or indirectly controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with a captive insurer;

(2) Captive insurer means a domestic insurer authorized under the act to provide insurance and reinsurance to its parent, any affiliated entity, or both. Such insurance and reinsurance shall be limited to the risks, hazards, and liabilities of its parent and affiliated entities;

(3) Control means the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of an entity through ownership of voting securities;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance; and

(5) Parent means an entity that directly or indirectly owns, controls, or holds, with power to vote, more than fifty percent of the outstanding voting securities or other ownership interest of a captive insurer.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 37.

44-8204 Name.

No captive insurer shall adopt the name of any existing insurer or any name that may be misleading to the public.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 38.

44-8205 Certificate of authority; application; fee; plan of operation; filings required; director; powers; subsequent amendments; books and records.

(1) No person shall transact the business of insurance as a captive insurer without first applying for and obtaining from the director a certificate of authority. An applicant shall submit a nonrefundable application fee of five hundred dollars with a plan of operation which includes:

(a) Articles of incorporation and bylaws or other documents of organization;

(b) Pro forma financial statements for two years;

(c) The source and nature of initial and ongoing capital;

(d) A feasibility study which discloses the types and adequacy of the insurance programs of the captive insurer, the identity of the parent and affiliated entities benefiting from such insurance program, and the relationships to the captive insurer as well as all projected expenses, contracts, and a holding company system chart identifying the ownership and relationship of the parent and affiliated entities;

(e) Copies of all insurance and reinsurance agreements of the captive insurer as well as disclosure of all transactions material to the insurance operations;

(f) Financial condition of the parent and, if requested by the director, any affiliated entities, benefiting from the captive insurance program;

(g) A management overview including competence, experience, and integrity of those controlling the insurance operations;

(h) A statement submitting to the jurisdiction of the director; and

(i) An explanation of how the operation of the captive insurer promotes the development of a Nebraska business.

(2) If the plan of operation is accepted and approved by the director, the articles and other documents of organization shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. A copy of the articles or other documents of organization, certified by the Secretary of State, shall be filed with the director. Amendments to organizational documents shall be deemed a change to the plan of operation and shall be filed with and approved by the director before they are submitted to the Secretary of State.

(3) The director may refuse to issue a certificate of authority until he or she is reasonably satisfied that the plan of operation contains sufficient indication of a successful insurance operation and that the captive insurer will be able to meet expected or ongoing policy obligations.

(4) A captive insurer shall obtain prior written approval of any subsequent amendments to any components of the original plan of operation. The director shall deem that any captive insurer that has failed to disclose a transaction or a series of transactions that would circumvent the Captive Insurers Act to be in hazardous financial condition with respect to the public or its policyholders and subject to suspension or revocation of the certificate of authority of the captive insurer.

(5) Except as otherwise authorized in section 44-8216, a captive insurer may only transact any line or lines of insurance specified in subdivisions (5), (7), (8), (9), (10), and (18) of section 44-201. A captive insurer shall not transact directors and officers insurance.

(6) Every captive insurer shall provide to the director books and records in the state as to enable the financial examination of the captive insurer by the director.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 39.

44-8206 Management of business; director or officer; restriction.

A board of directors or other governing body consisting of not less than three individuals shall manage the business of each captive insurer. The organizational documents or bylaws shall provide for the terms, meetings, and elections of the directors and officers of the governing body. No individual may serve as a director or officer who has been convicted of fraud involving any financial institution or of a felony involving misuse of funds.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 40.

44-8207 Certificate of authority; expiration; renewal; fee.

The certificate of authority issued to a captive insurer shall expire on June 30 of each year. The director shall renew the certificate of authority upon payment of an annual renewal fee of five hundred dollars and all other required fees and the filing of all required reports.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 41.

44-8208 Report; filing required; form; director; other reports.

(1) Every captive insurer with a certificate of authority to transact business in this state pursuant to the Captive Insurers Act shall file with the director a report, signed and sworn to by its chief officers, of its financial condition as of the end of each fiscal year. The report shall be in a form prescribed by the director and contain such information as the director deems necessary for the purpose of ascertaining whether the captive insurer can continue to meet its policy obligations to its parent, affiliated entities, and claimants. The report shall be filed within sixty days following the end of the captive insurer's fiscal year. The director may require that the report include the information required by section 44-322, including any instructions, procedures, and guidelines consistent with the act.

(2) The director may prescribe the format and frequency of other reports to be filed, which may include, but not be limited to, summary loss reports, quarterly financial statements, audited annual financial statements, holding company statements, biographical information on officers and directors, and other professional reports.

Source: Laws 2007, LB117, § 42.

44-8209 Total capital and surplus requirements; director; powers; letter of credit requirements.

(1) No captive insurer shall be permitted to transact any business in this state unless it maintains total capital and surplus in the amount of at least one hundred thousand dollars in such form as is acceptable to the director.

(2) Upon a written finding by the director that the approved plan of operation or the operational results of the captive insurer require either additional capital or a larger surplus than required by this section, the director may require that additional capital or surplus, or both, be obtained. Additional capital or surplus may be tendered in the form of an irrevocable evergreen letter of credit acceptable to the director.

(3) Any letter of credit provided to satisfy the requirements of the Captive Insurers Act shall be:

(a) Jointly held under the control of the director and the captive insurer for the benefit of claimants;

(b) Issued or confirmed by an institution that is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation;

(c) The sole property of such captive insurer; and

(d) Free and clear of any claim or encumbrance.

44-8211 Investments; limitation on loans and investments.

(1) Captive insurers shall be subject to the types and nature of investments as set forth in the Insurers Investment Act, but not subject to any limitations contained in such act as to invested amounts, except that the director may prohibit or limit any investment that threatens the solvency or liquidity of any such captive insurer or if such investments are not made in accordance with the approved plan of operation.

(2) No captive insurer may make a loan to or an investment in its parent or affiliated entities without prior written approval of the director and any such transaction shall be evidenced by documentation approved by the director. Loans of minimum capital and surplus funds are prohibited.

44-8212 Credit for reserves ceded to reinsurer.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) of this section, any captive insurer authorized to do business in this state may take credit for reserves on risks ceded to a reinsurer pursuant to the provisions of sections 44-416.05 to 44-416.10 and any rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under such sections.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, any captive insurer may cede risks to a reinsurer not meeting the standards of sections 44-416.05 to 44-416.10 and may take reserve credits if the captive insurer receives prior written approval from the director.

44-8214 Voluntary dissolution; approval of director required; effect of dissolution.

The director shall approve any voluntary dissolution of a captive insurer if the director determines that all obligations of the captive insurer have been satisfied. The dissolution of a captive insurer shall not impair the right of any person to commence an action against the captive insurer for any liability previously incurred.

44-8215 Suspension or revocation of certificate of authority; administrative fine; grounds; notice; hearing; cease and desist order.

(1) After notice and a hearing conducted pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, the director may suspend or revoke a certificate of authority or may impose an administrative fine not to exceed one thousand dollars per violation, or any combination of such actions, if the director finds the captive insurer:

(a) Engages in financial practices that make further transaction of business in this state hazardous or injurious to claimants or the public as defined by rule and regulation adopted and promulgated by the director;

(b) Within fifteen business days fails to respond to an inquiry of the director;

(c) Fails to pay any final judgment rendered against it in this state on any contractual obligation in a reasonable period of time;

(d) Conducts business fraudulently or has not met its contractual obligations in good faith; or

(e) Violates any provision of the laws of this or any other state.

(2) In lieu of or in addition to the administrative fines set forth in subsection (1) of this section, the director may issue a cease and desist order to a captive insurer if the captive insurer engages in any of the activities set forth in subsection (1) of this section.

44-8216 Creation of special purpose financial captive insurers; applicability of section; form of organization; powers; duties; powers of director; limitation on dividends; confidentiality.

(1) This section provides for the creation of special purpose financial captive insurers to diversify and broaden insurers' access to sources of capital.

(2) For purposes of this section:

(a) Counterparty means a special purpose financial captive insurer's parent or affiliated entity, which is an insurer domiciled in Nebraska that cedes life insurance risks to the special purpose financial captive insurer pursuant to the special purpose financial captive insurer contract;

(b) Guaranty of a parent means an agreement to pay specified obligations of the special purpose financial captive insurer by a parent of the special purpose financial captive insurer approved by the director that is not a counterparty and the guarantor has sufficient equity, less the equity of all counterparties that are subsidiaries of the guarantor, to satisfy the agreement during the life of the guaranty;

(c) Insolvency or insolvent means that the special purpose financial captive insurer is unable to pay its obligations when they are due, unless those obligations are the subject of a bona fide dispute;

(d) Insurance securitization means a package of related risk transfer instruments, capital market offerings, and facilitating administrative agreements, under which a special purpose financial captive insurer obtains proceeds either directly or indirectly through the issuance of securities, and may hold the proceeds in trust to secure the obligations of the special purpose financial captive insurer under one or more special purpose financial captive insurer contracts, in that the investment risk to the holders of the securities is contingent upon the obligations of the special purpose financial captive insurer to the counterparty under the special purpose financial captive insurer contract in accordance with the transaction terms and pursuant to the Captive Insurers Act;

(e) Organizational document means the special purpose financial captive insurer's articles of incorporation, articles of organization, bylaws, operating agreement, or other foundational documents that establish the special purpose financial captive insurer as a legal entity or prescribes its existence;

(f) Permitted investments means those investments that meet the qualifications set forth in section 44-8211;

(g) Securities means debt obligations, equity investments, surplus certificates, surplus notes, funding agreements, derivatives, and other legal forms of financial instruments;

(h) Special purpose financial captive insurer means a captive insurer which has received a certificate of authority from the director for the limited purposes provided for in this section;

(i) Special purpose financial captive insurer contract means a contract between the special purpose financial captive insurer and the counterparty pursuant to which the special purpose financial captive insurer agrees to provide insurance or reinsurance protection to the counterparty for risks associated with the counterparty's insurance or reinsurance business; and

(j) Special purpose financial captive insurer securities means the securities issued by a special purpose financial captive insurer.

(3)(a) The provisions of the Captive Insurers Act, other than those in subdivision (3)(b) of this section, apply to a special purpose financial captive insurer. If a conflict occurs between a provision of the act not in this section and a provision of this section, the latter controls.

(b) The requirements of this section shall not apply to specific special purpose financial captive insurers if the director finds a specific requirement is inappropriate due to the nature of the risks to be insured by the special purpose financial captive insurer and if the special purpose financial captive insurer meets criteria established by rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the director.

(c) In determining whether to issue a certificate of authority or to approve an amended plan of operation for a special purpose financial captive insurer required under section 44-8205, the director may consider any additional factors the director may deem relevant, including the specific type of life insurance risks insured by the special purpose financial captive insurer, the financial ability of a parent that issues a guaranty pursuant to this section to satisfy such guaranty, and any actuarial opinions or other statements or documents required by the director to evaluate such application.

(d) At the time a special purpose financial captive insurer files an application for a certificate of authority or submits an amended plan of operation in accordance with section 44-8205, and on each date the special purpose financial captive insurer is required to file an annual financial statement in this state, a senior actuarial officer of each ceding insurer shall file with the director a certification that the ceding insurer's transactions with the special purpose financial captive insurer are not being used to gain an unfair advantage in the pricing of the ceding insurer's products. A ceding insurer shall not be deemed to have gained an unfair advantage if the pricing of the policies and contracts reinsured by the special purpose financial captive insurer reflects, at the time those policies and contracts were issued, a reasonable long-term estimate of the cost to the ceding insurer of an alternative third-party transaction and utilizes current pricing assumptions.

(4) A special purpose financial captive insurer may be established as a stock corporation or other form of organization approved by the director.

(5)(a) A special purpose financial captive insurer may not issue a contract for assumption of risk or indemnification of loss other than a special purpose financial captive insurer contract. However, the special purpose financial captive insurer may cede risks assumed through a special purpose financial captive insurer contract to third-party reinsurers through the purchase of reinsurance or retrocession protection if approved by the director.

(b) A special purpose financial captive insurer may enter into contracts and conduct other commercial activities related or incidental to and necessary to fulfill the purposes of the special purpose financial captive insurer contract, insurance securitization, and this section. Those activities may include, but are not limited to: Entering into special purpose financial captive insurer contracts; entering into agreements in connection with obtaining guaranties of its parent; issuing securities of the special purpose financial captive insurer in accordance with applicable securities law; complying with the terms of these contracts or securities; entering into trust, swap, tax, administration, reimbursement, or fiscal agent transactions; or complying with trust indenture, reinsurance, retrocession, and other agreements necessary or incidental to effectuate a special purpose financial captive insurer contract or an insurance securitization in compliance with this section and in the plan of operation approved by the director.

(6)(a) A special purpose financial captive insurer may issue securities, subject to and in accordance with applicable law, its approved plan of operation, and its organization documents.

(b) A special purpose financial captive insurer, in connection with the issuance of securities, may enter into and perform all of its obligations under any required contracts to facilitate the issuance of these securities.

(c) The obligation to repay principal or interest, or both, on the securities issued by the special purpose financial captive insurer shall be designed to reflect the risk associated with the obligations of the special purpose financial captive insurer to the counterparty under the special purpose financial captive insurer contract.

(7) A special purpose financial captive insurer may enter into swap agreements, or other forms of asset management agreements, including guaranteed investment contracts, or other transactions that have the objective of leveling timing differences in funding of up-front or ongoing transaction expenses or managing asset, credit, prepayment, or interest rate risk of the investments in the trust to ensure that the investments are sufficient to assure payment or repayment of the securities, and related interest or principal payments, issued pursuant to a special purpose financial captive insurer insurance securitization transaction or the obligations of the special purpose financial captive insurer under the special purpose financial captive insurer contract or for any other purpose approved by the director. All asset management agreements entered into by the special purpose financial captive insurer must be approved by the director.

(8)(a) A special purpose financial captive insurer, at any given time, may enter into and effectuate a special purpose financial captive insurer contract with a counterparty if the special purpose financial captive insurer contract obligates the special purpose financial captive insurer to indemnify the counterparty for losses and contingent obligations of the special purpose financial captive insurer under the special purpose financial captive insurer contract are securitized through a special purpose financial captive insurer insurance securitization, which security for such obligations may be funded and secured with assets held in trust for the benefit of the counterparty pursuant to agreements contemplated by this section and invested in a manner that meet the criteria as provided in section 44-8211.

(b) A special purpose financial captive insurer may enter into agreements with affiliated companies and third parties and conduct business necessary to fulfill its obligations and administrative duties incidental to the insurance securitization and the special purpose financial captive insurer contract. The agreements may include management and administrative services agreements and other allocation and cost-sharing agreements, or swap and asset management agreements, or both, or agreements for other contemplated types of transactions provided in this section.

(c) A special purpose financial captive insurer contract must contain provisions that:

(i) Require the special purpose financial captive insurer to either (A) enter into a trust agreement specifying what recoverables or reserves, or both, the agreement is to cover and to establish a trust account for the benefit of the counterparty and the security holders or (B) establish such other method of security acceptable to the director, including letters of credit or guaranties of a parent as described in subsection (9) of this section;

(ii) Stipulate that assets deposited in the trust account must be valued in accordance with their current fair market value and must consist only of permitted investments;

(iii) If a trust arrangement is used, require the special purpose financial captive insurer, before depositing assets with the trustee, to execute assignments, to execute endorsements in blank, or to take such actions as are necessary to transfer legal title to the trustee of all shares, obligations, or other assets requiring assignments, in order that the counterparty, or the trustee upon the direction of the counterparty, may negotiate whenever necessary the assets without consent or signature from the special purpose financial captive insurer or another entity; and

(iv) If a trust arrangement is used, stipulate that the special purpose financial captive insurer and the counterparty agree that the assets in the trust account, established pursuant to the provisions of the special purpose financial captive insurer contract, may be withdrawn by the counterparty, or the trustee on its behalf, at any time, only in accordance with the terms of the special purpose financial captive insurer contract, and must be utilized and applied by the counterparty or any successor of the counterparty by operation of law, including, subject to the provisions of this section, but without further limitation, any liquidator, rehabilitator, or receiver of the counterparty, without diminution because of insolvency on the part of the counterparty or the special purpose financial captive insurer, only for the purposes set forth in the credit for reinsurance laws and rules and regulations of this state.

(d) The special purpose financial captive insurer contract may contain provisions that give the special purpose financial captive insurer the right to seek approval from the counterparty to withdraw from the trust all or part of the assets, or income from them, contained in the trust and to transfer the assets to the special purpose financial captive insurer if such provisions comply with the credit for reinsurance laws and rules and regulations of this state.

(9) A special purpose financial captive insurer contract meeting the provisions of this section must be granted credit for reinsurance treatment or otherwise qualify as an asset or a reduction from liability for reinsurance ceded by a domestic insurer to a special purpose financial captive insurer as an assuming insurer for the benefit of the counterparty if and only to the extent:

(a)(i) Of the value of:

(A) The assets held in trust;

(B) Clean, or irrevocable, unconditional letters of credit, issued or confirmed by a qualified United States financial institution as defined in section 44-416.08, or as approved by the director; or

(C) Guaranties of the parent; and

(ii) For the benefit of the counterparty under the special purpose financial captive insurer contract; and

(b) Assets of the special purpose financial captive insurer are held or invested in one or more of the forms allowed in section 44-8211.

(10)(a)(i) Notwithstanding the provisions of the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, the director may apply to the district court of Lancaster County for an order authorizing the director to rehabilitate or liquidate a special purpose financial captive insurer domiciled in this state on one or more of the following grounds:

(A) There has been embezzlement, wrongful sequestration, dissipation, or diversion of the assets of the special purpose financial captive insurer intended to be used to pay amounts owed to the counterparty or the holders of special purpose financial captive insurer securities; or

(B) The special purpose financial captive insurer is insolvent and the holders of a majority in outstanding principal amount of each class of special purpose financial captive insurer securities request or consent to conservation, rehabilitation, or liquidation pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(ii) The court may not grant relief provided by subdivision (10)(a)(i) of this section unless, after notice and a hearing, the director establishes that relief must be granted.

(b) Notwithstanding any other applicable law, rule, or regulation, upon any order of rehabilitation or liquidation of a special purpose financial captive insurer, the receiver shall manage the assets and liabilities of the special purpose financial captive insurer pursuant to the provisions of subsection (11) of this section.

(c) With respect to amounts recoverable under a special purpose financial captive insurer contract, the amount recoverable by the receiver must not be reduced or diminished as a result of the entry of an order of conservation, rehabilitation, or liquidation with respect to the counterparty, notwithstanding another provision in the contracts or other documentation governing the special purpose financial captive insurer insurance securitization.

(d) An application or petition, or a temporary restraining order or injunction issued pursuant to the provisions of the Nebraska Insurers Supervision, Rehabilitation, and Liquidation Act, with respect to a counterparty does not prohibit the transaction of a business by a special purpose financial captive insurer, including any payment by a special purpose financial captive insurer made pursuant to a special purpose financial captive insurer security, or any action or proceeding against a special purpose financial captive insurer or its assets.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of any applicable law or rule or regulation, the commencement of a summary proceeding or other interim proceeding commenced before a formal delinquency proceeding with respect to a special purpose financial captive insurer, and any order issued by the court, does not prohibit the payment by a special purpose financial captive insurer made pursuant to a special purpose financial captive insurer security or special purpose financial captive insurer contract or the special purpose financial captive insurer from taking any action required to make the payment.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other applicable law, rule, or regulation:

(i) A receiver of a counterparty may not void a nonfraudulent transfer by a counterparty to a special purpose financial captive insurer of money or other property made pursuant to a special purpose financial captive insurer contract; and

(ii) A receiver of a special purpose financial captive insurer may not void a nonfraudulent transfer by the special purpose financial captive insurer of money or other property made to a counterparty pursuant to a special purpose financial captive insurer contract or made to or for the benefit of any holder of a special purpose financial captive insurer security on account of the special purpose financial captive insurer security.

(g) With the exception of the fulfillment of the obligations under a special purpose financial captive insurer contract, and notwithstanding the provisions of any other applicable law or rule or regulation, the assets of a special purpose financial captive insurer, including assets held in trust, must not be consolidated with or included in the estate of a counterparty in any delinquency proceeding against the counterparty pursuant to the provisions of this section for any purpose including, without limitation, distribution to creditors of the counterparty.

(11) A special purpose financial captive insurer may not declare or pay dividends in any form to its owners other than in accordance with the insurance securitization transaction agreements, and in no instance shall the dividends decrease the capital of the special purpose financial captive insurer below two hundred fifty thousand dollars, and, after giving effect to the dividends, the assets of the special purpose financial captive insurer, including any assets held in trust pursuant to the terms of the insurance securitization, must be sufficient to satisfy the director that it can meet its obligations. Approval by the director of an ongoing plan for the payment of dividends, interest on securities, or other distribution by a special purpose financial captive insurer must be conditioned upon the retention, at the time of each payment, of capital or surplus equal to or in excess of amounts specified by, or determined in accordance with formulas approved for the special purpose financial captive insurer by, the director.

(12) Information submitted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be given confidential treatment, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be made public by the director or any other person, except to other state, federal, foreign, and international regulatory and law enforcement agencies if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality of the information, without the prior written consent of the special purpose financial captive insurer unless the director, after giving the special purpose financial captive insurer notice and opportunity to be heard, determines that the best interest of policyholders, shareholders, or the public will be served by the publication thereof, in which event he or she may publish all or any part thereof in such manner as he or she may deem appropriate.

ARTICLE 83

DISCOUNT MEDICAL PLAN ORGANIZATION ACT

Section

44-8301 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-8301 to 44-8316 shall be known and may be cited as the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act.

Source: Laws 2008, LB855, § 33.

44-8302 Purpose of act.

The purpose of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act is to promote the public interest by establishing standards for discount medical plan organizations to protect consumers from unfair or deceptive marketing, sales, or enrollment practices and to facilitate consumer understanding of the role and function of discount medical plan organizations in providing access to medical or ancillary services.

Source: Laws 2008, LB855, § 34.

44-8303 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act:

(1) Affiliate means a person that directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the person specified;

(2) Ancillary services includes, but is not limited to, audiology, dental, vision, mental health, substance abuse, chiropractic, and podiatry services;

(3) Control or controlled by or under common control with means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract other than a commercial contract for goods or nonmanagement services, or otherwise, unless the power is the result of an official position with or corporate office held by the person;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(5)(a) Discount medical plan means a business arrangement or contract in which a person, in exchange for fees, dues, charges, or other consideration, offers access for its members to providers of medical or ancillary services and the right to receive discounts on medical or ancillary services provided under the discount medical plan from those providers.

(b) Discount medical plan does not include a plan that does not charge a membership or other fee to use the plan's discount medical card;

(6) Discount medical plan organization means an entity that, in exchange for fees, dues, charges, or other consideration, provides access for discount medical plan members to providers of medical or ancillary services and the right to receive medical or ancillary services from those providers at a discount. It is the organization that contracts with providers, provider networks, or other discount medical plan organizations to offer access to medical or ancillary services at a discount and determines the charge to discount medical plan members;

(7) Facility means an institution providing medical or ancillary services or a health care setting. Facility includes, but is not limited to:

(a) A hospital or other licensed inpatient center;

(b) An ambulatory surgical or treatment center;

(c) A skilled nursing center;

(d) A residential treatment center;

(e) A rehabilitation center; and

(f) A diagnostic, laboratory, or imaging center;

(8) Health care professional means a physician, pharmacist, or other health care practitioner who is licensed, accredited, or certified to perform specified medical or ancillary services within the scope of his or her license, accreditation, certification, or other appropriate authority and consistent with state law;

(9) Health carrier means an entity certified under and subject to the insurance laws and rules and regulations of this state or subject to the jurisdiction of the director that contracts or offers to contract to provide, deliver, arrange for, pay for, or reimburse any of the costs of health care services, including a sickness and accident insurance company, a health maintenance organization, a nonprofit hospital and health service corporation, or any other entity providing a plan of health insurance, health benefits, or medical or ancillary services;

(10) Marketer means a person or entity that markets, promotes, sells, or distributes a discount medical plan including a private label entity that places its name on and markets or distributes a discount medical plan pursuant to a marketing agreement with a discount medical plan organization;

(11) Medical services means any maintenance care of, or preventive care for, the human body or care, service, or treatment of an illness or dysfunction of, or injury to, the human body. Medical services includes, but is not limited to, physician care, inpatient care, hospital surgical services, emergency services, ambulance services, laboratory services, and medical equipment and supplies. Medical services does not include pharmacy services or ancillary services;

(12) Member means any individual who pays fees, dues, charges, or other consideration for the right to receive the benefits of a discount medical plan;

(13) Person means an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a joint venture, a joint-stock company, a trust, an unincorporated organization, or any similar entity or any combination of the foregoing;

(14) Provider means any health care professional or facility that has contracted, directly or indirectly, with a discount medical plan organization to provide medical or ancillary services to members; and

(15) Provider network means an entity that negotiates directly or indirectly with a discount medical plan organization on behalf of more than one provider to provide medical or ancillary services to members.

Source: Laws 2008, LB855, § 35.

44-8304 Control; presumption.

Control as used in the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act is presumed to exist if any person, directly or indirectly, owns, holds with the power to vote, or holds proxies representing ten percent or more of the voting securities of any other person. This presumption may be rebutted by a showing made in the manner provided in subsection (11) of section 44-2132 that control does not exist in fact. The director may determine, after furnishing all persons in interest notice and opportunity to be heard and making specific findings of fact to support the determination, that control exists in fact, notwithstanding the absence of a presumption to that effect.

Source: Laws 2008, LB855, § 36.

44-8305 Applicability of act.

(1) The Discount Medical Plan Organization Act applies to all discount medical plan organizations doing business in or from this state.

(2) A discount medical plan organization that is a health carrier is not required to obtain a certificate of registration under section 44-8306, except that each of its affiliates that operates as a discount medical plan organization in this state shall obtain a certificate of registration under section 44-8306 and comply with all other provisions of the act. The discount medical plan organization is required to comply with sections 44-8308 to 44-8311 and report, in the form and manner as the director may require, any of the information described in subsection (2) of section 44-8313 that is not otherwise already reported.

(3) A provider who provides discounts to his or her own patients without any cost or fee of any kind to the patient is not required to obtain and maintain a certificate of registration under the act as a discount medical plan organization.

Source: Laws 2008, LB855, § 37.

44-8306 Certificate of registration; application; fee; director; duties; renewal; application; fee; disciplinary actions; grounds; hearing; cease and desist order; penalty.

(1) Before doing business in or from this state as a discount medical plan organization, a discount medical plan organization:

(a) May transact business in this state under Chapter 21; and

(b) Shall obtain a certificate of registration from the director to operate as a discount medical plan organization.

(2) Each application for a certificate of registration to operate as a discount medical plan organization shall:

(a) Be in a form prescribed by the director and verified by an officer or authorized representative of the applicant;

(b) Be accompanied by an application fee not to exceed five hundred dollars;

(c) Include information on whether:

(i) A previous application for a certificate of registration or licensure has been denied, revoked, suspended, or terminated for cause in any jurisdiction; and

(ii) The applicant is under investigation for or the subject of any pending action or has been found in violation of a statute or regulation in any jurisdiction within the previous five years; and

(d) Include information as the director may require that permits the director, after reviewing all of the information submitted pursuant to this subsection, to make a determination that the applicant:

(i) Is financially responsible;

(ii) Has adequate expertise or experience to operate a discount medical plan organization; and

(iii) Is of good character.

(3) After the receipt of an application filed pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, the director shall review the application and notify the applicant of any deficiencies in the application.

(4) No more than ninety days after the date of receipt of a completed application, the director shall issue a certificate of registration if the director is satisfied that the applicant has met the requirements of subsection (2) of this section or shall deny the application and state the grounds for denial.

(5) Prior to issuance of a certificate of registration by the director, each discount medical plan organization shall establish an Internet website in order to conform to the requirements of subsection (2) of section 44-8309.

(6)(a) A registration is effective for one year unless before its expiration it is renewed in accordance with this subsection or suspended or revoked in accordance with subsection (7) of this section.

(b) At least ninety days before a certificate of registration is set to expire, the discount medical plan organization shall submit:

(i) A renewal application form; and

(ii) The renewal fee.

(c) The director shall renew the certificate of registration of each holder that meets the requirements of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act and pays the renewal fee of three hundred dollars.

(7)(a) The director may suspend or revoke a certificate of registration after notice and hearing held in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act if the director finds that any of the following conditions exist:

(i) The discount medical plan organization is not operating in compliance with the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act;

(ii) The discount medical plan organization has advertised, merchandised, or attempted to merchandise its services in such a manner as to misrepresent its services or capacity for service or has engaged in deceptive, misleading, or unfair practices with respect to advertising or merchandising;

(iii) The discount medical plan organization is not fulfilling its obligations as a discount medical plan organization; or

(iv) The continued operation of the discount medical plan organization would be hazardous to its members.

(b) If the director has cause to believe that grounds for the denial or nonrenewal of a certificate of registration exist, the director shall notify the discount medical plan organization in writing specifically stating the grounds for the refusal to grant or renew the certificate of registration. The applicant or registrant has thirty days after receipt of such notification to demand a hearing. The hearing shall be held no more than thirty days after receipt of such demand by the director and shall be held in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(c)(i) The director shall, in his or her order suspending the authority of the discount medical plan organization to enroll new members, specify the period during which the suspension is to be in effect and the conditions, if any, that must be met by the discount medical plan organization prior to reinstatement of its certificate of registration to enroll members.

(ii) The director may rescind or modify the order of suspension prior to the expiration of the suspension period.

(iii) The certificate of registration of a discount medical plan organization shall not be reinstated unless requested by the discount medical plan organization. The director shall not grant the request for reinstatement if the director finds that the circumstances for which the suspension occurred still exist or are likely to recur.

(8) In lieu of suspending or revoking a discount medical plan organization's certificate of registration under subsection (7) of this section, if the discount medical plan organization has violated any provision of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act, the director may:

(a) Issue and cause to be served upon the organization charged with the violation a copy of the findings and an order requiring the organization to cease and desist from engaging in the act or practice that constitutes the violation; and

(b) Impose a monetary penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation.

(9) Each registered discount medical plan organization shall notify the director immediately whenever the discount medical plan organization's certificate of registration or other form of authority to operate as a discount medical plan organization in another state is suspended, revoked, or not renewed in that state.

44-8307 Director; examination or investigation; powers; expenses.

(1) The director may examine or investigate the business and affairs of any discount medical plan organization to protect the interests of the residents of this state based on the following reasons, including, but not limited to, complaint indices, recent complaints, information from other states, or as the director deems necessary.

(2) An examination or investigation conducted as provided in subsection (1) of this section shall be performed in accordance with the provisions of the Insurers Examination Act.

(3) The director may:

(a) Order any discount medical plan organization or applicant that operates a discount medical plan organization to produce any records, books, files, advertising and solicitation materials, or other information; and

(b) Take statements under oath to determine whether the discount medical plan organization or applicant is in violation of the law or is acting contrary to the public interest.

(4) The discount medical plan organization or applicant that is the subject of the examination or investigation shall pay the expenses incurred in conducting the examination or investigation. Failure by the discount medical plan organization or applicant to pay such expenses is grounds for denial of a certificate of registration to operate as a discount medical plan organization or revocation of a certificate of registration to operate as a discount medical plan organization.

44-8308 Charges authorized; right to cancel membership; plan sold in conjunction with other products; duties.

(1) A discount medical plan organization may charge a periodic charge as well as a reasonable one-time processing fee for a discount medical plan.

(2)(a)(i) If a member cancels his or her membership in the discount medical plan organization within thirty days after the date of receipt of the written document for the discount medical plan described in subsection (4) of section 44-8311, the member shall receive a reimbursement of all periodic charges and the amount of any one-time processing fee that exceeds thirty dollars upon return of the discount medical plan card to the discount medical plan organization.

(ii)(A) Cancellation occurs when notice of cancellation is given to the discount medical plan organization.

(B) Notice of cancellation is deemed given when delivered by hand or deposited in a mailbox, properly addressed, and postage prepaid to the mailing address of the discount medical plan organization.

(iii) A discount medical plan organization shall return any periodic charge charged or collected after the member has returned the discount medical plan card or given the discount medical plan organization notice of cancellation.

(b) If the discount medical plan organization cancels a membership for any reason other than nonpayment of charges by the member, the discount medical plan organization shall make a pro rata reimbursement of all periodic charges to the member.

(3) When a marketer or discount medical plan organization sells a discount medical plan in conjunction with any other products, the marketer or discount medical plan organization shall:

(a) Provide the charges for each discount medical plan in writing to the member; or

(b) Reimburse the member for all periodic charges for the discount medical plan if the member cancels his or her membership in accordance with subdivision (2)(a) of this section.

(4) Any discount medical plan organization that is a health carrier that provides a discount medical plan product that is incidental to the insured product is not subject to this section.

44-8309 Written provider agreement required; contents; Internet website; information required; toll-free telephone number.

(1)(a) A discount medical plan organization shall have a written provider agreement with all providers offering medical or ancillary services to its members. The written provider agreement may be entered into directly with the provider or indirectly with a provider network to which the provider belongs.

(b) A provider agreement between a discount medical plan organization and a provider shall provide the following:

(i) A list of the medical or ancillary services and products to be provided at a discount;

(ii) The amount or amounts of the discounts or, alternatively, a fee schedule that reflects the provider's discounted rates; and

(iii) That the provider will not charge members more than the discounted rates.

(c) A provider agreement between a discount medical plan organization and a provider network shall require that the provider network have written agreements with its providers that:

(i) Contain the provisions described in subdivision (1)(b) of this section;

(ii) Authorize the provider network to contract with the discount medical plan organization on behalf of the provider; and

(iii) Require the provider network to maintain an up-to-date list of its contracted providers and to provide the list on a monthly basis to the discount medical plan organization.

(d) A provider agreement between a discount medical plan organization and an entity that contracts with a provider network shall require that the entity, in its contract with the provider network, require the provider network to have written agreements with its providers that comply with subdivision (1)(c) of this section.

(e) The discount medical plan organization shall maintain a copy of each active provider agreement into which it has entered.

(2) Each discount medical plan organization shall maintain on an Internet website an up-to-date list of the names and addresses of the providers with which it has contracted directly or through a provider network. The website address shall be prominently displayed on all of its advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, and discount medical plan cards. This subsection applies to those providers with which the discount medical plan organization has contracted directly as well as those providers that are members of a provider network with which the discount medical plan organization has contracted.

(3) Each discount medical plan organization shall maintain a toll-free telephone number for members to obtain additional information about and assistance on the discount medical plan and an up-to-date list of the names and addresses of the providers with which it has contracted directly or through a provider network. The toll-free telephone number shall be prominently displayed on all of its advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, and discount medical plan cards. Capable and competent personnel shall staff the toll-free telephone number.

44-8310 Marketing; written agreement required; approval of advertising; powers of director.

(1) A discount medical plan organization may market directly or contract with other marketers for the distribution of its product.

(2)(a) The discount medical plan organization shall have an executed written agreement with each marketer prior to the marketer's marketing, promoting, selling, or distributing the discount medical plan.

(b) The agreement between the discount medical plan organization and the marketer shall prohibit the marketer from using advertising, marketing materials, brochures, and discount medical plan cards without the discount medical plan organization's approval in writing.

(c) The discount medical plan organization shall be bound by and responsible for the activities of a marketer that are within the scope of the marketer's agency relationship with the organization.

(3) A discount medical plan organization shall approve in writing all advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, and discount cards used by marketers to market, promote, sell, or distribute the discount medical plan prior to their use.

(4) Upon request, a discount medical plan organization shall submit to the director all advertising, marketing materials, and brochures regarding a discount medical plan.

Source: Laws 2008, LB855, § 42.

44-8311 Communications to prospective members and members; requirements; disclosures required; new member; terms and conditions of plan; information included.

(1)(a) All advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, discount medical plan cards, and any other communications of a discount medical plan organization provided to prospective members and members shall be truthful and not misleading in fact or in implication.

(b) Any advertisement, marketing material, brochure, discount medical plan card, or other communication is misleading in fact or in implication if it has a capacity or tendency to mislead or deceive based on the overall impression that it is reasonably expected to create within the segment of the public to which it is directed.

(2)(a) Except as otherwise provided in the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act, as a disclaimer of any relationship between discount medical plan benefits and insurance, or as a description of an insurance product connected with a discount medical plan, a discount medical plan organization shall not use in its advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, or discount medical plan cards the term insurance.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in state law, a discount medical plan organization shall not describe or characterize the discount medical plan as being insurance whenever a discount medical plan is bundled with an insurance product and the insurance benefits are incidental to the discount medical plan benefits.

(c) A discount medical plan organization shall not:

(i) Use in its advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, or discount medical plan cards the terms health plan, coverage, copay, copayment, deductible, preexisting condition, guaranteed issue, premium, PPO, preferred provider organization, or other terms in a manner that could reasonably mislead an individual into believing that the discount medical plan is health insurance;

(ii) Use language in its advertisements, marketing materials, brochures, or discount medical plan cards with respect to being licensed or registered by a state insurance department in a manner that could reasonably mislead an individual into believing that the discount medical plan is insurance or has been endorsed by a state;

(iii) Make misleading, deceptive, or fraudulent representations regarding the discount or range of discounts offered by the discount medical plan card or the access to any range of discounts offered by the discount medical plan card;

(iv) Have restrictions on access to discount medical plan providers, including waiting periods and notification periods, except for hospital services; or

(v) Pay providers any fees for medical or ancillary services or collect or accept money from a member to pay a provider for medical or ancillary services provided under the discount medical plan unless the discount medical plan organization has an active certificate of authority to act as a third-party administrator in accordance with the Third-Party Administrator Act.

(3)(a) Each discount medical plan organization shall make the following general disclosures in writing in not less than twelve-point font on the first content page of any advertisement, marketing material, or brochure made available to the public relating to a discount medical plan together with any enrollment forms given to a prospective member:

(i) That the plan is a discount plan and is not insurance coverage;

(ii) That the range of discounts for medical or ancillary services provided under the plan will vary depending on the type of provider and medical or ancillary service received;

(iii) Unless the discount medical plan organization has an active certificate of authority to act as a third-party administrator as described in subdivision (2)(c)(v) of this section, that the plan does not make payments to providers for the medical or ancillary services received under the discount medical plan;

(iv) That the plan member is obligated to pay for all medical or ancillary services but will receive a discount from those providers that have contracted with the discount medical plan organization; and

(v) The toll-free telephone number and Internet website address for the registered discount medical plan organization for prospective members and members to obtain additional information about and assistance on the discount medical plan and an up-to-date list of providers participating in the discount medical plan.

(b) If the initial contact with a prospective member is by telephone, the disclosures required under subdivision (a) of this subsection shall be made orally and included in the initial written materials that describe the benefits under the discount medical plan provided to the prospective or new member.

(4)(a) In addition to the general disclosures required under subsection (3) of this section, each discount medical plan organization shall provide to:

(i) Each prospective member, at the time of enrollment, information that describes the terms and conditions of the discount medical plan, including any limitations or restrictions on the refund of any processing fees or periodic charges associated with the discount medical plan; and

(ii) Each new member a written document that contains the terms and conditions of the discount medical plan.

(b) The written document required under subdivision (a)(ii) of this subsection shall be clear and include the following information:

(i) The name of the member;

(ii) The benefits to be provided under the discount medical plan;

(iii) Any processing fees and periodic charges associated with the discount medical plan, including any limitations or restrictions on the refund of any processing fees and periodic charges;

(iv) The frequency of payment of any processing fees and periodic charges and procedures for changing the frequency of payment;

(v) Any limitations, exclusions, or exceptions regarding the receipt of discount medical plan benefits;

(vi) Any waiting periods for certain medical or ancillary services under the discount medical plan;

(vii) Procedures for obtaining discounts under the discount medical plan, such as requiring members to contact the discount medical plan organization to make an appointment with a provider on the member's behalf;

(viii) Cancellation procedures, including information on the member's thirty-day cancellation rights and refund requirements and procedures for obtaining refunds;

(ix) Renewal, termination, and cancellation terms and conditions;

(x) Procedures for adding new members to a family discount medical plan, if applicable;

(xi) Procedures for filing complaints under the discount medical plan organization's complaint system and information that, if the member remains dissatisfied after completing the organization's complaint system, the plan member may contact his or her state insurance department; and

(xii) The name, toll-free telephone number, and mailing address of the discount medical plan organization or other entity where the member can make inquiries about the plan, send cancellation notices, and file complaints.

44-8313 Annual report; contents; failure to file; effect.

(1) If the information required in subsection (2) of this section is not provided at the time of renewal of a certificate of registration under section 44-8306, a discount medical plan organization shall file an annual report with the director in the form prescribed by the director within three months after the end of each fiscal year.

(2) The report shall include:

(a) If different from the initial application for a certificate of registration or at the time of renewal of a certificate of registration, a list of the names and residence addresses of all persons responsible for the conduct of the organization's affairs, together with a disclosure of the extent and nature of any contracts or arrangements with such persons and the discount medical plan organization, including any possible conflicts of interest;

(b) The number of discount medical plan members in the state; and

(c) Any other information relating to the performance of the discount medical plan organization that may be required by the director.

(3)(a) Any discount medical plan organization that fails to file an annual report in the form and within the time required by this section shall forfeit:

(i) Up to five hundred dollars each day for the first ten days during which the violation continues; and

(ii) Up to one thousand dollars each day after the first ten days during which the violation continues.

(b) Upon notice by the director, the discount medical plan organization described in subdivision (a) of this subsection shall lose its authority to enroll new members or to do business in this state if the violation continues.

44-8314 Violation; unfair trade practice; administrative penalty; fraudulent insurance act; restitution.

(1) A violation of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act shall be an unfair trade practice under the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act.

(2) In addition to the penalties and other enforcement provisions of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act, any person who willfully violates the act is subject to administrative penalties of up to one thousand dollars per violation.

(3) A person that willfully operates as or aids and abets another operating as a discount medical plan organization in violation of subsection (1) of section 44-8306 commits a fraudulent insurance act under section 28-631.

(4) A person that collects fees for purported membership in a discount medical plan but purposefully fails to provide the promised benefits commits a fraudulent insurance act under section 28-631. In addition, upon conviction, such person shall be ordered to pay restitution to persons aggrieved by the violation of the act. Restitution shall be ordered in addition to a fine or imprisonment, but not in lieu of such fine or imprisonment.

44-8315 Violations of act; cease and desist order; hearing; appeal; director; additional powers.

(1) The director may issue an order directing a discount medical plan organization to cease and desist from engaging in any action or practice in violation of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act. Within ten days after service of the cease and desist order, the organization may request a hearing on the question of whether an action or practice in violation of the act has occurred. Such hearing shall be conducted as provided by the Administrative Procedure Act. The organization may appeal the decision of the director. Such appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(2)(a) In addition to the penalties and other enforcement provisions of the Discount Medical Plan Organization Act, the director may seek both temporary and permanent injunctive relief when:

(i) A discount medical plan is being operated by a person or entity that is not registered pursuant to the act; or

(ii) Any person, entity, or discount medical plan organization has engaged in any activity prohibited by the act or any rules or regulations adopted and promulgated pursuant to the act.

(b) The district court of Lancaster County shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any proceeding brought pursuant to this section.

(3) The director's authority to seek relief under this section is not conditioned upon having conducted any proceeding pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act.

MANDATE OPT-OUT AND INSURANCE COVERAGE CLARIFICATION ACT

Section
44-8401. Act, how cited.
44-8402. Legislative findings.
44-8403. Qualified health insurance plan offered through health insurance exchange; abortion coverage; restriction; health insurance plan, contract, or policy; optional rider.
44-8404. Act; not construed as right to abortion.

44-8401 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-8401 to 44-8404 shall be known and may be cited as the Mandate Opt-Out and Insurance Coverage Clarification Act.

Source: Laws 2011, LB22, § 1.

44-8402 Legislative findings.

(1) The Legislature finds that:

(a) In the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, Public Law 111-148, federal tax dollars are routed via affordability credits to qualified health insurance plans offered through a health insurance exchange created under the act, including plans that provide coverage for abortion;

(b) Federal funding for health insurance plans that cover abortions is prohibited by the federal statutory restriction commonly known as the Hyde Amendment and the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program established under Chapter 89 of Title 5 of the United States Code, as amended;

(c) Section 1303 of the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act explicitly permits each state to pass laws prohibiting qualified health insurance plans offered through a health insurance exchange created under the act in such state from offering abortion coverage. Such section allows a state to prohibit the use of public funds to subsidize health insurance plans that cover abortions within the state;

(d) The laws of the State of Nebraska provide that group health insurance plans or health maintenance agreements paid for with public funds shall not cover abortion unless necessary to prevent the death of the woman;

(e) Rust v. Sullivan, 500 U.S. 173 (1991), states that it is permissible for a state to engage in unequal subsidization of abortion and other medical services to encourage alternative activity deemed in the public interest; and

(f) A majority of the citizens of the State of Nebraska, like other Americans, oppose the use of public funds, both federal and state, to pay for abortions.

(2) Based on the findings in subsection (1) of this section, it is the purpose of the Mandate Opt-Out and Insurance Coverage Clarification Act to affirmatively opt out of allowing qualified health insurance plans that cover abortions to participate in health insurance exchanges within the State of Nebraska. Further, it is also the purpose of the act to limit the coverage of abortion in all health insurance plans, contracts, or policies delivered or issued for delivery in the State of Nebraska.

44-8403 Qualified health insurance plan offered through health insurance exchange; abortion coverage; restriction; health insurance plan, contract, or policy; optional rider.

(1) No abortion coverage shall be provided by a qualified health insurance plan offered through a health insurance exchange created pursuant to the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, Public Law 111-148, within the State of Nebraska. This subsection shall not apply to coverage for an abortion which is verified in writing by the attending physician as necessary to prevent the death of the woman or to coverage for medical complications arising from an abortion.

(2) No health insurance plan, contract, or policy delivered or issued for delivery in the State of Nebraska shall provide coverage for an elective abortion except through an optional rider to the policy for which an additional premium is paid solely by the insured. This subsection applies to any health insurance plan, contract, or policy delivered or issued for delivery in the State of Nebraska by any health insurer, any nonprofit hospital, medical, surgical, dental, or health service corporation, any group health insurer, and any health maintenance organization subject to the laws of insurance in this state and any employer providing self-funded health insurance for his or her employees. This subsection also applies to any plan provision of hospital, medical, surgical, or funeral benefits or of coverage against accidental death or injury if such benefits or coverage are incidental to or a part of any other insurance plan delivered or issued for delivery in the State of Nebraska.

(3) The issuer of a health insurance plan, contract, or policy in the State of Nebraska shall not provide any incentive or discount to an insured if the insured elects abortion coverage.

(4) For purposes of this section, elective abortion means an abortion (a) other than a spontaneous abortion or (b) that is performed for any reason other than to prevent the death of the female upon whom the abortion is performed.

PORTABLE ELECTRONICS INSURANCE ACT

Section

44-8501 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-8501 to 44-8509 shall be known and may be cited as the Portable Electronics Insurance Act.

Source: Laws 2011, LB535, § 1.

44-8502 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Portable Electronics Insurance Act:

(1) Customer means a person who purchases portable electronics;

(2) Covered customer means a customer who elects coverage pursuant to a portable electronics insurance policy issued to a vendor of portable electronics;

(3) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(4) Location means any physical location in this state or any website, call center, or other site or similar location to which Nebraska customers may be directed;

(5) Portable electronics means any nonstationary electronic equipment and its accessories capable of communications or data processing or utility including, but not limited to, a laptop, a tablet, a wearable computer, a personal communications device such as a cellular or mobile telephone, a hand-held smart phone, a media player, an e-reader, a personal digital assistant, devices used for data collection, global positioning, or monitoring, and other devices that may or may not incorporate wireless transmitters and receivers. Portable electronics does not include telecommunications switching equipment, transmission wires, cellular site transceiver equipment, or other equipment or system used by a telecommunications company to provide telecommunications service to consumers;

(6)(a) Portable electronics insurance means insurance that provides coverage for the repair or replacement of portable electronics and may provide coverage for portable electronics that are lost, stolen, damaged, or inoperable due to mechanical failure or malfunction or suffer other similar causes of loss; and

(b) Portable electronics insurance does not include:

(i) A service contract under the Motor Vehicle Service Contract Reimbursement Insurance Act;

(ii) A service contract or extended warranty providing coverage as described in subdivision (2) of section 44-102.01;

(iii) A policy of insurance providing coverage for a seller's or manufacturer's obligations under a warranty; or

(iv) A homeowner's, renter's, private passenger automobile, commercial multiperil, or other similar policy;

(7) Portable electronics transaction means the sale or lease of portable electronics by a vendor to a customer or the sale of a service related to the use of portable electronics by a vendor to a customer;

(8) Supervising entity means a business entity that is a licensed insurance producer or insurer; and

(9) Vendor means a person in the business of engaging in portable electronics transactions directly or indirectly.

44-8503 Vendor; limited lines insurance license; issuance; application; contents.

(1) A vendor shall hold a limited lines insurance license issued under the Portable Electronics Insurance Act to sell or offer coverage under a policy of portable electronics insurance.

(2) The director may issue a limited lines insurance license under the act. Such license shall authorize an employee or authorized representative of a vendor to sell or offer coverage under a policy of portable electronics insurance to a customer at each location at which the vendor engages in a portable electronics transaction.

(3) The vendor shall submit an application for a limited lines insurance license pursuant to section 44-8504 to the director, and a list of all locations in this state at which the vendor intends to offer such insurance coverage shall accompany the application. A vendor shall maintain such list and make it available for the director upon request.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a limited lines insurance license issued under the act shall authorize the vendor and its employees or authorized representatives to engage in the activities permitted by the act.

44-8504 Limited lines insurance license; application; contents; period valid; fees.

(1) An application for a limited lines insurance license shall be made to and filed with the director on forms prescribed and furnished by the director.

(2) An application for an initial or a renewal license shall:

(a) Provide the name, residence address, and other information required by the director for an employee or authorized representative of the vendor that is designated by the vendor as the person responsible for the vendor's compliance with the Portable Electronics Insurance Act. If the vendor derives more than fifty percent of its revenue from the sale of portable electronics insurance, the information required by this subdivision shall be provided for all persons of record having beneficial ownership of ten percent or more of any class of securities of the vendor registered under federal securities law; and

(b) Provide the location of the vendor's home office.

(3) Any application for licensure under the act for an existing vendor shall be made within ninety days after the application is made available by the director.

(4) An initial license issued pursuant to the act shall be valid for one year and expires on April 30 of each year.

(5) Any vendor licensed under the act shall pay an initial license fee to the director in an amount prescribed by the director but not to exceed one hundred dollars and shall pay a renewal fee in an amount prescribed by the director but not to exceed one hundred dollars.

44-8505 Brochure or written material; available to customer; contents; certificate of insurance; powers of insurer.

(1) At each location at which portable electronics insurance is offered to a customer, a brochure or other written material shall be available to the customer which:

(a) Discloses the fact that portable electronics insurance may provide a duplication of coverage already provided by a customer's homeowner's insurance policy, renter's insurance policy, or other similar insurance coverage;

(b) States that the enrollment by the customer in a portable electronics insurance coverage program is not required in order to purchase or lease portable electronics or services;

(c) Summarizes the material terms of the portable electronics insurance, including:

(i) The identity of the insurer;

(ii) The identity of the supervising entity;

(iii) The amount of any applicable deductible and how it is to be paid;

(iv) The benefits of the coverage; and

(v) The key terms and conditions of the coverage, including whether portable electronics may be repaired or replaced with a similar reconditioned make or model or with nonoriginal manufacturer parts or equipment;

(d) Summarizes the process for filing a claim, including a description of how to return the portable electronics and the maximum fee applicable if the customer fails to comply with any equipment return requirements; and

(e) States that the customer may cancel enrollment for portable electronics insurance coverage at any time and receive any applicable unearned premium refund on a pro rata basis.

(2) Portable electronics insurance may be offered on a month-to-month or other periodic basis as a group or master commercial inland marine policy issued to a vendor for its covered customers. A covered customer who elects to enroll for coverage shall receive a certificate of insurance and an explanation of coverage or instructions on how to obtain such materials upon request.

(3) Eligibility and underwriting standards for customers who elect to enroll in portable electronics insurance coverage shall be established by the insurer for each portable electronics insurance program.

Source: Laws 2011, LB535, § 5.

44-8506 Exemption from licensure as insurance producer; conditions; vendor; duties; treatment of funds.

(1) An employee or authorized representative of a vendor may sell or offer for sale portable electronics insurance to customers and shall not be subject to licensure as an insurance producer if:

(a) The vendor obtains a limited lines insurance license pursuant to section 44-8503 that authorizes its employees or authorized representatives to sell or offer for sale portable electronics insurance under this section;

(b) The insurer issuing the portable electronics insurance directly supervises or appoints a supervising entity to supervise the administration of the insurance program, including development of a training program for employees and authorized representatives of a vendor. The training required by this subdivision shall comply with the following:

(i) The training shall be delivered to employees and authorized representatives of a vendor who are directly involved in the activity of selling or offering for sale portable electronics insurance;

(ii) The training may be provided in electronic form. If the training is provided in electronic form, the supervising entity shall implement a supplemental education program that is conducted and overseen by licensed employees of the supervising entity; and

(iii) Each employee and authorized representative shall receive basic instruction on the portable electronics insurance offered to customers and the disclosures required by section 44-8505; and

(c) The vendor does not advertise, represent, or otherwise hold itself or any of its employees or authorized representatives out as authorized insurers or licensed insurance producers.

(2) The charges for portable electronics insurance coverage may be billed and collected by the vendor. Any charge to the customer for coverage that is not included in the cost associated with the purchase or lease of portable electronics shall be separately itemized on the covered customer's bill. If the portable electronics insurance coverage is included in the purchase or lease of portable electronics or related services, the vendor shall clearly and conspicuously disclose to the customer that portable electronics insurance coverage is included with the portable electronics or related services. No vendor shall require the purchase of any kind of insurance specified in this section as a condition of the purchase or lease of portable electronics or services. If such insurance is purchased, the portable electronics insurance coverage offered by the limited lines insurance licensee to a customer is primary over any other insurance coverage applicable to the portable electronics. A vendor who bills and collects such charges shall not be required to maintain such funds in a segregated account if the vendor is authorized by the insurer to hold such funds in an alternative manner and remits such amounts to the supervising entity within sixty days after receipt. All funds received by a vendor from a covered customer for the sale of portable electronics insurance shall be considered funds held in trust by the vendor in a fiduciary capacity for the benefit of the insurer. A vendor may receive compensation for billing and collection services.

Source: Laws 2011, LB535, § 6.

44-8507 Violations; director; powers; administrative fine.

If a vendor violates any provision of the Portable Electronics Insurance Act, the director may, after notice and a hearing:

(1) Revoke or suspend a limited lines insurance license issued under the act;

(2) Impose such other penalties, including suspension of the transaction of insurance at specific vendor locations where violations have occurred, as the director deems necessary or convenient to carry out the purposes of the act; and

(3) Impose an administrative fine of not more than one thousand dollars per violation or five thousand dollars in the aggregate.

44-8508 Insurer; rights; duties; notice; policy; termination; vendor; duties.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law:

(1) An insurer may terminate or otherwise change the terms and conditions of a policy of portable electronics insurance only upon providing the vendor and enrolled customers with at least thirty days' notice, except that:

(a) An insurer may terminate an enrolled customer's insurance policy upon fifteen days' notice for:

(i) Discovery of fraud or material misrepresentation in obtaining coverage or in the presentation of a claim under such policy; or

(ii) Nonpayment of premium; or

(b) An insurer may immediately terminate an enrolled customer's insurance policy:

(i) If the enrolled customer ceases to have active service with the vendor of portable electronics; or

(ii) If an enrolled customer exhausts the aggregate limit of liability, if any, under the portable electronics insurance policy and the insurer sends notice of termination to the customer within thirty days after exhaustion of the limit. If such notice is not sent within the thirty-day period, the customer shall continue to be enrolled in such insurance policy notwithstanding the aggregate limit of liability until the insurer sends notice of termination to the customer;

(2) If the insurer changes the terms and conditions, the insurer shall provide the vendor with a revised policy or endorsement and each enrolled customer with a revised certificate, endorsement, updated brochure, or other evidence indicating a change in the terms and conditions has occurred and a summary of the material changes;

(3) If a portable electronics insurance policy is terminated by a vendor, the vendor shall mail or deliver written notice to each enrolled customer at least thirty days prior to the termination advising the customer of such termination and of the effective date of termination; and

(4) If notice is required under this section, it shall be:

(a) In writing and may be mailed or delivered to a vendor at the vendor's mailing address and to an enrolled customer at such customer's last-known mailing address on file with the insurer. The insurer or vendor, as applicable, shall maintain proof of mailing in a form authorized or accepted by the United States Postal Service or a commercial mail delivery service; or

(b) In electronic form. Disclosure of notice in electronic form to the enrolled customer shall be provided within thirty days after the purchase of the portable electronics. If notice is delivered in electronic form, the insurer or vendor, as applicable, shall maintain proof that the notice was sent.

44-8603 Contract to be paid from proceeds of property and casualty insurance policy; right to cancel; notice; residential contractor; duties.

(1) A person who has entered into a written contract with a residential contractor to provide goods or services to be paid from the proceeds of a property and casualty insurance policy may cancel the contract prior to midnight on the later of the third business day after the person has (a) entered into the written contract or (b) received written notice from the person's insurer that all or part of the claim or contract is not a covered loss under the insurance policy. Cancellation shall be evidenced by the person giving written notice of the cancellation to the residential contractor at the address of the residential contractor's place of business as stated in the contract. Written notice of cancellation may be given by delivering or mailing a signed and dated copy of the written notice of cancellation to the residential contractor at the address of the residential contractor's place of business as stated in the contract. The notice of cancellation shall include a copy of the written notice from the person's insurer, if applicable, to the effect that all or part of the claim or contract is not a covered loss under the insurance policy. Notice of cancellation given by mail shall be effective upon deposit in the United States mail, postage prepaid, if properly addressed to the residential contractor. Notice of cancellation is not required to be in any particular form and is sufficient if the notice indicates, by any form of written expression, the intent of the insured not to be bound by the contract.

(2) Within ten days after a contract to provide goods or services to be paid from the proceeds of a property and casualty insurance policy has been canceled by notification pursuant to this section, the residential contractor shall tender to the person canceling the contract any payments, partial payments, or deposits made by the person and any note or other evidence of indebtedness, except that if the residential contractor has provided any goods or services agreed to by such person in writing to be necessary to prevent damage to the premises, the residential contractor shall be entitled to be paid the reasonable value of such goods or services. Any provision in a contract to provide goods or services to be paid from the proceeds of a property and casualty insurance policy that requires the payment of any fee which is not for such goods or services shall not be enforceable against any person who has canceled a contract pursuant to this section.

44-8604 Residential contractor; prohibited acts.

A residential contractor shall not promise to rebate any portion of an insurance deductible as an inducement to the sale of goods or services. A promise to rebate any portion of an insurance deductible includes granting any allowance or offering any discount against the fees to be charged or paying an insured or a person directly or indirectly associated with the residential real estate any form of compensation, except for any item of nominal value.

44-8605 Post-loss assignment of rights or benefits; requirements; Department of Insurance; duties.

(1) A post-loss assignment of rights or benefits to a residential contractor under a property and casualty insurance policy insuring residential real estate shall comply with the following:

(a) The assignment may authorize a residential contractor to be named as a copayee for the payment of benefits under a property and casualty insurance policy covering residential real estate;

(b) The assignment shall be provided to the insurer of the residential real estate within five business days after execution;

(c) The assignment shall include a statement that the residential contractor has made no assurances that the claimed loss will be fully covered by an insurance contract and shall include the following notice in capitalized fourteen-point type:

YOU ARE AGREEING TO ASSIGN CERTAIN RIGHTS YOU HAVE UNDER YOUR INSURANCE POLICY. WITH AN ASSIGNMENT, THE RESIDENTIAL CONTRACTOR SHALL BE ENTITLED TO PURSUE ANY RIGHTS OR REMEDIES THAT YOU, THE INSURED HOMEOWNER, HAVE UNDER YOUR INSURANCE POLICY. PLEASE READ AND UNDERSTAND THIS DOCUMENT BEFORE SIGNING.

THE INSURER MAY ONLY PAY FOR THE COST TO REPAIR OR REPLACE DAMAGED PROPERTY CAUSED BY A COVERED PERIL, SUBJECT TO THE TERMS OF THE POLICY.

(d) The assignment shall not impair the interest of a mortgagee listed on the declarations page of the property and casualty insurance policy which is the subject of the assignment; and

(e) The assignment shall not prevent or inhibit an insurer from communicating with the named insured or mortgagee listed on the declarations page of the property and casualty insurance policy that is the subject of the assignment.

(2) The Department of Insurance shall strictly enforce the provisions of subdivision (13) of section 44-1540, which requires insurers to provide a named insured a reasonable and accurate explanation of the basis for the denial of a claim or an offer of a compromise settlement.

44-8607 Notice required.

Any written contract, repair estimate, or work order prepared by a residential contractor to provide goods or services to be paid from the proceeds of a property and casualty insurance policy shall include the following notice of the prohibition contained in section 44-8604 in capitalized fourteen-point type which shall be signed by the named insured and sent to the named insured's insurer prior to payment of proceeds under the applicable insurance policy:

IT IS A VIOLATION OF THE INSURANCE LAWS OF NEBRASKA TO REBATE ANY PORTION OF AN INSURANCE DEDUCTIBLE AS AN INDUCEMENT TO THE INSURED TO ACCEPT A RESIDENTIAL CONTRACTOR'S PROPOSAL TO REPAIR DAMAGED PROPERTY. REBATE OF A DEDUCTIBLE INCLUDES GRANTING ANY ALLOWANCE OR OFFERING ANY DISCOUNT AGAINST THE FEES TO BE CHARGED FOR WORK TO BE PERFORMED OR PAYING THE INSURED HOMEOWNER THE DEDUCTIBLE AMOUNT SET FORTH IN THE INSURANCE POLICY.

THE INSURED HOMEOWNER IS PERSONALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR PAYMENT OF THE DEDUCTIBLE. THE INSURANCE FRAUD ACT AND NEBRASKA CRIMINAL STATUTES PROHIBIT THE INSURED HOMEOWNER FROM ACCEPTING FROM A RESIDENTIAL CONTRACTOR A REBATE OF THE DEDUCTIBLE OR OTHERWISE ACCEPTING ANY ALLOWANCE OR DISCOUNT FROM THE RESIDENTIAL CONTRACTOR TO COVER THE COST OF THE DEDUCTIBLE. VIOLATIONS MAY BE PUNISHABLE BY CIVIL OR CRIMINAL PENALTIES.

HEALTH INSURANCE EXCHANGE NAVIGATOR REGISTRATION ACT

Section

44-8801 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-8801 to 44-8808 shall be known and may be cited as the Health Insurance Exchange Navigator Registration Act.

Source: Laws 2013, LB568, § 1.

44-8802 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Health Insurance Exchange Navigator Registration Act:

(1) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(2) Exchange means any health insurance exchange established or operating in this state, including any exchange established or operated by the United States Department of Health and Human Services; and

(3) Navigator means any individual or entity, other than an insurance producer or consultant, that receives any funding, directly or indirectly, from an exchange, the state, or the federal government to perform the duties identified in 42 U.S.C. 18031(i)(3), as such section existed on January 1, 2013.

Source: Laws 2013, LB568, § 2.

44-8803 Navigator; registration required; prohibited acts.

(1) No individual or entity shall perform, offer to perform, or advertise any service as a navigator in this state unless registered as a navigator by the director.

(2) A navigator shall not:

(a) Engage in any activities that would require an insurance producer license;

(b) Violate section 44-4050;

(c) Recommend or endorse a particular health plan;

(d) Accept any compensation or consideration from an insurance company, broker, or consultant that is dependent, in whole or in part, on whether a person enrolls in or purchases a qualified health plan; or

(e) Fail to respond to any written inquiry from the director regarding the navigator's duties as a navigator or fail to request additional reasonable time to respond within fifteen working days.

Source: Laws 2013, LB568, § 3.

44-8804 Individual navigator registration; application; form; contents; fee; entity navigator registration; application; form; contents; fee; notice of federal action; list of employees.

(1) An individual applying for an individual navigator registration shall make application to the director on a form developed by the director which, unless preempted by federal law, is accompanied by the initial individual registration fee in an amount not to exceed twenty-five dollars as established by the director. The individual shall declare in the application under penalty of refusal, suspension, or revocation of the registration that the statements made in the application are true, correct, and complete to the best of the individual's knowledge and belief. Before approving the application, the director shall find that the individual:

(a) Is at least eighteen years of age;

(b) Has successfully passed an examination prescribed by an exchange established or operating in this state and has been authorized to act as a navigator; and

(c) Has identified any entity navigator with which he or she is affiliated and supervised.

(2) An entity applying for an entity navigator registration shall make application on a form developed by the director and which contains the information prescribed by the director and which, unless preempted by federal law, is accompanied by the initial entity registration fee in an amount not to exceed fifty dollars as established by the director.

(3) The director may require any documents deemed necessary to verify the information contained in an application submitted in accordance with subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(4) A registered navigator shall, in a manner prescribed by the director, notify the director within thirty days of any federal action that restricts or terminates the navigator's authorization to act as a navigator.

(5) A registered entity navigator shall, in a manner prescribed by the director, provide the director with a list of all individual navigators that it employs, supervises, or is affiliated with.

Source: Laws 2013, LB568, § 4.

44-8805 Registrations; term; renewal; application; fee; federal training and continuing education requirements.

(1) Individual and entity registrations shall expire one year after the date of issuance.

(2) An individual navigator may file an application for renewal of a registration on a form developed by the director and, unless preempted by federal law, shall pay the renewal fee in an amount not to exceed twenty-five dollars as established by the director, and an entity navigator may file an application for renewal of a registration on a form developed by the director and, unless preempted by federal law, shall pay the renewal fee in an amount not to exceed fifty dollars as established by the director. An individual navigator who fails to file prior to the expiration of the current registration for registration renewal, unless preempted by federal law, shall pay a late fee in an amount not to exceed fifty dollars as established by the director, and an entity navigator that fails to file prior to the expiration of the current registration for registration renewal, unless preempted by federal law, shall pay a late fee in an amount not to exceed fifty dollars as established by the director.

(3) Any failure to fulfill the federal ongoing training and continuing education requirements shall result in the expiration of the registration.

Source: Laws 2013, LB568, § 5.

44-8806 Navigator; individual with existing health insurance coverage; information.

On contact with an individual who acknowledges having existing health insurance coverage obtained through a licensed insurance producer, a navigator shall make a reasonable effort to inform the individual that he or she may, but is not required to, seek further assistance from that producer or another licensed producer for information, assistance, and any other services and that tax credits may not be available to offset the premium cost of plans that are marketed outside of the exchange.

Source: Laws 2013, LB568, § 6.

44-8807 Director; disciplinary actions authorized; powers to examine business affairs and records; notice; hearing.

(1) The director, after notice and hearing, may place on probation, suspend, revoke, or refuse to issue, renew, or reinstate a navigator registration for violation of the Health Insurance Exchange Navigator Registration Act.

(2) Except as otherwise provided by law, the director may examine and investigate the business affairs and records of any navigator as such business affairs and records regard the navigator's duties as a navigator to determine whether the navigator has engaged or is engaging in any violation of the act.

(3) An entity navigator registration may be suspended or revoked or renewal or reinstatement thereof may be refused if the director finds, after notice and hearing, that an individual navigator's violation was known by the employing or supervising entity navigator and the violation was not reported to the director and no corrective action was undertaken.

STANDARD VALUATION ACT

Section
44-8901. Act, how cited.

Section

44-8901 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-8901 to 44-8912 shall be known and may be cited as the Standard Valuation Act.

Source: Laws 2014, LB755, § 1.

44-8902 Applicability of act.

Except as provided in sections 44-8905, 44-8906, and 44-8907, the Standard Valuation Act applies to those policies and contracts issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual designated in subsection (2) of section 44-8908.

Source: Laws 2014, LB755, § 2.

44-8903 Terms, defined.

For the purposes of the Standard Valuation Act:

(1) Accident and health insurance contract means a contract that incorporates morbidity risk and provides protection against economic loss resulting from accident, sickness, or medical conditions and as may be specified in the valuation manual;

(2) Appointed actuary means a qualified actuary who is appointed in accordance with the valuation manual to prepare the actuarial opinion required in sections 44-421 to 44-425 and 44-8905;

(3) Company means an entity which has (a) written, issued, or reinsured life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts, or deposit-type contracts in this state and has at least one such policy in force or on claim or (b) written, issued, or reinsured life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts, or deposit-type contracts in any state and is required to hold a certificate of authority to write life insurance, accident and health insurance, or deposit-type contracts in this state;

(4) Deposit-type contract means a contract that does not incorporate mortality or morbidity risks and as may be specified in the valuation manual;

(5) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(6) Life insurance contract means a contract that incorporates mortality risk, including annuity and pure endowment contracts, and as may be specified in the valuation manual;

(7) Policyholder behavior means any action a policyholder, a contract holder, or any other person with the right to elect options, such as a certificate holder, may take under a policy or contract subject to the act including, but not limited to, lapse, withdrawal, transfer, deposit, premium payment, loan, annuitization, or benefit elections prescribed by the policy or contract but excluding events of mortality or morbidity that result in benefits prescribed in their essential aspects by the terms of the policy or contract;

(8) Principle-based valuation means a reserve valuation that uses one or more methods or one or more assumptions determined by the insurer and is required to comply with section 44-8909 as specified in the valuation manual;

(9) Qualified actuary means an individual who is qualified to sign the applicable statement of actuarial opinion in accordance with the American Academy of Actuaries qualification standards for actuaries signing such statements and who meets the requirements specified in the valuation manual;

(10) Reserves means reserve liabilities;

(11) Tail risk means a risk that occurs either when the frequency of low probability events is higher than expected under a normal probability distribution or when there are observed events of very significant size or magnitude; and

(12) Valuation manual means the valuation manual prescribed by the director which conforms substantially to the valuation manual developed and adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

Source: Laws 2014, LB755, § 3.

44-8904 Director; valuation of reserves; duties; powers.

The director shall annually value, or cause to be valued, the reserves for all outstanding life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts, and deposit-type contracts of every company issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual. In lieu of the valuation of the reserves required of a foreign or alien company, the director may accept a valuation made, or caused to be made, by the insurance supervisory official of any state or other jurisdiction when the valuation complies with the minimum standard provided in the Standard Valuation Act.

44-8905 Company; opinion of actuary; contents; standards; liability; confidentiality; director; powers; release of material; when.

(1) Every company with outstanding life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts, or deposit-type contracts in this state and subject to regulation by the director shall annually submit the opinion of the appointed actuary as to whether the reserves and related actuarial items held in support of the policies and contracts are computed appropriately, are based on assumptions that satisfy contractual provisions, are consistent with prior reported amounts, and comply with applicable laws of this state. The valuation manual shall prescribe the specifics of this opinion including any items deemed to be necessary to its scope.

(2) Every company with outstanding life insurance contracts, accident and health insurance contracts, or deposit-type contracts in this state and subject to regulation by the director, except as exempted in the valuation manual, shall also annually include in the opinion required by subsection (1) of this section an opinion of the same appointed actuary as to whether the reserves and related actuarial items held in support of the policies and contracts specified in the valuation manual, when considered in light of the assets held by the company with respect to the reserves and related actuarial items, including, but not limited to, the investment earnings on the assets and the considerations anticipated to be received and retained under the policies and contracts, make adequate provision for the company's obligations under the policies and contracts, including, but not limited to, the benefits under and expenses associated with the policies and contracts.

(3) Each opinion required by subsection (2) of this section shall be governed by the following provisions:

(a) A memorandum, in form and substance as specified in the valuation manual, and acceptable to the director, shall be prepared to support each actuarial opinion; and

(b) If the company fails to provide a supporting memorandum at the request of the director within a period specified in the valuation manual or the director determines that the supporting memorandum provided by the company fails to meet the standards prescribed by the valuation manual or is otherwise unacceptable to the director, the director may engage a qualified actuary at the expense of the company to review the opinion and the basis for the opinion and prepare the supporting memorandum required by the director.

(4) Every opinion shall be governed by the following provisions:

(a) The opinion shall be in form and substance as specified in the valuation manual and acceptable to the director;

(b) The opinion shall be submitted with the annual statement reflecting the valuation of the reserves for each year ending on or after the operative date of the valuation manual;

(c) The opinion shall apply to all policies and contracts subject to subsection (2) of this section, plus other actuarial liabilities as may be specified in the valuation manual;

(d) The opinion shall be based on standards adopted from time to time by the Actuarial Standards Board or its successor and on such additional standards as may be prescribed in the valuation manual;

(e) In the case of an opinion required to be submitted by a foreign or alien company, the director may accept the opinion filed by that company with the insurance supervisory official of another state if the director determines that the opinion reasonably meets the requirements applicable to a company domiciled in this state;

(f) Except in cases of fraud or willful misconduct, the appointed actuary shall not be liable for damages to any person other than the insurance company and the director for any act, error, omission, decision, or conduct with respect to the appointed actuary's opinion; and

(g) Disciplinary action by the director against the company or the appointed actuary shall be as set forth in rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the director.

(5)(a) Documents, materials, or other information in the possession or control of the director that are a memorandum in support of the opinion and any other material provided by the company to the director in connection with the memorandum shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action. The director may use the documents, materials, or other information in the furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as a part of the director's official duties. Neither the director nor any person who received documents, materials, or other information while acting under the authority of the director shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials, or other information.

(b) In order to assist in the performance of the director's duties, the director:

(i) May share documents, materials, or other information, including the confidential and privileged documents, materials, or information, with other state, federal, and international regulatory agencies, with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, and with state, federal, and international law enforcement authorities if the recipient agrees to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the document, material, or other information; and

(ii) May receive documents, materials, or other information, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials, or other information, from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries and from regulatory and law enforcement officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions, and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any document, material, or other information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material, or other information.

(c) No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the documents, materials, or other information shall occur as a result of disclosure to the director under this section or as a result of sharing information pursuant to this subsection.

(d) A memorandum in support of the opinion, and any other material provided by the company to the director in connection with the memorandum, may be subject to subpoena for the purpose of defending an action seeking damages from the actuary submitting the memorandum by reason of an action required by this section or by rules and regulations.

(e) The memorandum or other material may otherwise be released by the director with the written consent of the company or to the American Academy of Actuaries pursuant to a request stating that the memorandum or other material is required for the purpose of professional disciplinary proceedings and setting forth procedures satisfactory to the director for preserving the confidentiality of the memorandum or other material.

(f) Once any portion of the confidential memorandum is cited by the company in its marketing or is cited before a governmental agency other than a state insurance department or is released by the company to the news media, all portions of the confidential memorandum shall be no longer confidential.

44-8907 Life insurance; standards of valuation; policies issued on or after operative date of law; reserves required.

(1) This section shall apply to only those policies and contracts issued on or after the operative date defined in section 44-407.07 (the Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance), except as otherwise provided in subsection (3) of this section for all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after the operative date of such subsection (3) under group annuity and pure endowment contracts issued prior to such operative date defined in section 44-407.07. This section shall apply to all policies and contracts issued prior to the operative date of the valuation manual designated in subsection (2) of section 44-8908, and sections 44-8908 and 44-8909 shall not apply to any such policies and contracts.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (3) and (4) of this section, the minimum standard for the valuation of all such policies and contracts issued prior to August 30, 1981, shall be that provided by the laws in effect immediately prior to such date. Except as otherwise provided in subsections (3) and (4) of this section, the minimum standard for the valuation of all such policies and contracts shall be the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Methods defined in subsections (5), (6), and (9) of this section; five percent interest for group annuity and pure endowment contracts and three and one-half percent interest for all other such policies and contracts, or in the cases of policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, issued on or after September 2, 1973, four percent interest for such policies issued prior to August 24, 1979, and four and one-half percent interest for such policies issued on or after August 24, 1979; and the following tables: (a) For all ordinary policies of life insurance issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies,—the Commissioners 1941 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table for such policies issued prior to the operative date of section 44-407.08 (Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance), the Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table for such policies issued on or after such operative date and prior to the operative date of section 44-407.24, except that for any category of such policies issued on female risks, all modified net premiums and present values referred to in this section may be calculated according to an age not more than six years younger than the actual age of the insured; and for such policies on or after the operative date of section 44-407.24 (i) the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table, or (ii) at the election of the company for any one or more specified plans of life insurance, the Commissioners 1980 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table with Ten-Year Select Mortality Factors, or (iii) any ordinary mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the Department of Insurance for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such policies; (b) for all industrial life insurance policies issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies,—the 1941 Standard Industrial Mortality Table for such policies issued prior to the operative date of section 44-407.09 (Standard Nonforfeiture Law for Life Insurance), and for such policies issued on or after such operative date, the Commissioners 1961 Standard Industrial Mortality Table or any industrial mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the Department of Insurance for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such policies; (c) for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies,—the 1937 Standard Annuity Mortality Table, or at the option of the company, the Annuity Mortality Table for 1949, Ultimate, or any modification of either of these tables approved by the Department of Insurance; (d) for group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies,—the Group Annuity Mortality Table for 1951, any modification of such table approved by the Department of Insurance, or, at the option of the company, any of the tables or modifications of tables specified for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts; (e) for total and permanent disability benefits in or supplementary to ordinary policies or contracts—for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1966, the tables of Period 2 disablement rates and the 1930 to 1950 termination rates of the 1952 Disability Study of the Society of Actuaries, with due regard to the type of benefit, or any tables of disablement rates and termination rates, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that are approved by regulation promulgated by the Department of Insurance for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such policies; for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1961, and prior to January 1, 1966, either such tables or, at the option of the company, the Class (3) Disability Table (1926); and for policies issued prior to January 1, 1961, the Class (3) Disability Table (1926). Any such table shall, for active lives, be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies; (f) for accidental death benefits in or supplementary to policies—for policies issued on or after January 1, 1966, the 1959 Accidental Death Benefits Table; for policies issued on or after January 1, 1961, and prior to January 1, 1966, either such table or, at the option of the company, the Inter-Company Double Indemnity Mortality Table; and for policies issued prior to January 1, 1961, the Inter-Company Double Indemnity Mortality Table. Either table shall be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies; and (g) for group life insurance, life insurance issued on the substandard basis and other special benefits—such tables as may be approved by the Department of Insurance.

(3) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, the minimum standard for the valuation of all individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after the operative date of this subsection, as defined herein, and for all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after such operative date under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall be the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Methods defined in subsections (5) and (6) of this section and the following tables and interest rates:

(a) For individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued prior to August 24, 1979, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts—the 1971 Individual Annuity Mortality Table, or any modification of this table approved by the Department of Insurance, and six percent interest for single premium immediate annuity contracts, and four percent interest for all other individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(b) For individual single premium immediate annuity contracts issued on or after August 24, 1979, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts—the 1971 Individual Annuity Mortality Table, or any individual annuity mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the Department of Insurance for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such contracts, or any modification of these tables approved by the director, and seven and one-half percent interest;

(c) For individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after August 24, 1979, other than single premium immediate annuity contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts—the 1971 Individual Annuity Table, or any individual annuity mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the Department of Insurance for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such contracts, or any modification of these tables approved by the director, and five and one-half percent interest for single premium deferred annuity and pure endowment contracts and four and one-half percent interest for all other such individual annuity and pure endowment contracts;

(d) For all annuities and pure endowments purchased prior to August 24, 1979, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under such contracts—the 1971 Group Annuity Mortality Table, or any modification of this table approved by the Department of Insurance, and six percent interest; and

(e) For all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after August 24, 1979, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits purchased under such contracts—the 1971 Group Annuity Mortality Table, or any group annuity mortality table, adopted after 1980 by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, that is approved by regulation promulgated by the Department of Insurance for use in determining the minimum standard of valuation for such annuities and pure endowments, or any modification of these tables approved by the director, and seven and one-half percent interest.

(4)(a) The calendar year statutory valuation interest rates as defined in this subsection shall be used in determining the minimum standard for the valuation of all life insurance policies issued in a particular calendar year, on or after the operative date of section 44-407.02; all individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued in a particular calendar year on or after January 1 of the calendar year next following August 30, 1981; all annuities and pure endowments purchased in a particular calendar year on or after January 1 of the calendar year next following August 30, 1981, under group annuity and pure endowment contracts; and the net increase, if any, in a particular calendar year after January 1 of the calendar year next following August 30, 1981, in amounts held under guaranteed interest contracts.

(b)(i) The calendar year statutory valuation interest rates shall be determined as provided in subdivision (4)(b)(i) of this section and the results rounded to the nearer one-quarter of one percent: (A) For life insurance, the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate shall be equal to the sum of (I) three percent; (II) the weighting factor defined in this subsection multiplied by the difference between the lesser of the reference interest rate defined in this subsection and nine percent, and three percent; and (III) one-half the weighting factor defined in this subsection multiplied by the difference between the greater of the reference interest rate defined in this subsection and nine percent, and nine percent. (B) For single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and from guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, the calendar year statutory valuation interest rates shall be equal to the sum of (I) three percent and (II) the weighting factor defined in this subsection multiplied by the difference between the reference interest rate defined in this subsection and three percent. (C) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on an issue-year basis, except as stated in subdivision (4)(b)(i)(B) of this section, the formula for life insurance in subdivision (4)(b)(i)(A) of this section shall apply to annuities and guaranteed interest contracts with guarantee durations in excess of ten years, and the formula for single premium immediate annuities in subdivision (4)(b)(i)(B) of this section shall apply to annuities and guaranteed interest contracts with guarantee duration of ten years or less. (D) For other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the formula for single premium immediate annuities in subdivision (4)(b)(i)(B) of this section shall apply. (E) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a change in fund basis, the formula for single premium immediate annuities in subdivision (4)(b)(i)(B) of this section shall apply. (F) However, if the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for any life insurance policies issued in any calendar year determined without reference to this sentence differs from the corresponding actual rate for similar policies issued in the immediately preceding calendar year by less than one-half of one percent, the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for such life insurance policies shall be equal to the corresponding actual rate for the immediately preceding calendar year. For purposes of applying the immediately preceding sentence, the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for life insurance policies issued in a calendar year shall be determined for 1980 (using the reference interest rate defined for 1979) and shall be determined for each subsequent calendar year regardless of when section 44-407.24 becomes operative.

(ii) The weighting factors referred to in the formulas stated in this subsection are as follows: (A) For life insurance, with a guarantee duration of ten years or less, the weighting factor is .50; with a guarantee duration of more than ten years but not more than twenty years, the weighting factor is .45; and with a guarantee duration of more than twenty years, the weighting factor is .35. For life insurance, the guarantee duration is the maximum number of years the life insurance can remain in force on a basis guaranteed in the policy or under options to convert to plans of life insurance with premium rates or nonforfeiture values or both which are guaranteed in the original policy. (B) The weighting factor for single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options is .80. (C) The weighting factors for other annuities and for guaranteed interest contracts, except as stated in subdivision (4)(b)(ii)(B) of this section, are as follows, according to plan type as defined in this subdivision: (I) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on an issue-year basis with a guarantee duration of five years or less, the weighting factor is .80 for plan type A, .60 for plan type B, and .50 for plan type C; with a guarantee duration of more than five years but not more than ten years, the weighting factor is .75 for plan type A, .60 for plan type B, and .50 for plan type C; with a guarantee duration of more than ten years but not more than twenty years, the weighting factor is .65 for plan type A, .50 for plan type B, and .45 for plan type C; and with more than twenty years guarantee duration the weighting factor is .45 for plan type A, .35 for plan type B, and .35 for plan type C. (II) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on an issue-year basis (other than those with no cash settlement options) which do not guarantee interest on considerations received more than one year after issue or purchase, the weighting factors are the factors shown in subdivision (4)(b)(ii)(C)(I) of this section increased by .05 for all plan types. (III) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on a change in fund basis, the weighting factors are the factors as computed in subdivision (4)(b)(ii)(C)(II) of this section increased by .10 for plan type A, increased by .20 for plan type B, and not increased for plan type C. (IV) For annuities and guaranteed interest contracts valued on a change in fund basis which do not guarantee interest rates on considerations received more than twelve months beyond the valuation date, the weighting factors are the factors as computed in subdivision (4)(b)(ii)(C)(III) of this section increased by .05 for all plan types. For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, the guarantee duration is the number of years for which the contract guarantees interest rates in excess of the calendar year statutory valuation interest rate for life insurance policies with guarantee duration in excess of twenty years. For other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the guarantee duration is the number of years from the date of issue or date of purchase to the date annuity benefits are scheduled to commence.

(c) Plan types used in this subsection are defined as follows: Under plan type A, at any time a policyholder may withdraw funds only with an adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurance company, without such an adjustment but in installments over five years or more, or as an immediate life annuity, or no withdrawal may be permitted. Under plan type B, before expiration of the interest rate guarantee, a policyholder may withdraw funds only with an adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurance company or without such an adjustment but in installments over five years or more, or no withdrawal may be permitted. At the end of interest rate guarantee, funds may be withdrawn without such adjustment in a single sum or installments over less than five years. Under plan type C, a policyholder may withdraw funds before expiration of the interest rate guarantee in a single sum or installments over less than five years either without an adjustment to reflect changes in interest rates or asset values since receipt of the funds by the insurance company, or subject only to a fixed surrender charge stipulated in the contract as a percentage of the fund.

(d) A company may elect to value guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options and annuities with cash settlement options on either an issue-year basis or on a change in fund basis. Guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options and other annuities with no cash settlement options must be valued on an issue-year basis. As used in this subsection, an issue-year basis of valuation refers to a valuation basis under which the interest rate used to determine the minimum valuation standard for the entire duration of the annuity or guaranteed interest contract is the calendar year valuation interest rate for the year of issue or year of purchase of the annuity or guaranteed interest contract, and the change in fund basis of valuation refers to a valuation basis under which the interest rate used to determine the minimum valuation standard applicable to each change in the fund held under the annuity or guaranteed interest contract is the calendar year valuation interest rate for the year of the change in the fund.

(e) The reference interest rate referred to in this subsection shall be defined as follows: (i) For all life insurance, the lesser of the average over a period of thirty-six months and the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year next preceding the year of issue, of the reference monthly average as defined in this subsection. (ii) For single premium immediate annuities and for annuity benefits involving life contingencies arising from other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or year of purchase, of the reference monthly average as defined in this subsection. (iii) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a year of issue basis, except as stated in subdivision (4)(e)(ii) of this section, with guarantee duration in excess of ten years the lesser of the average over a period of thirty-six months and the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the reference monthly average as defined in this subsection. (iv) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a year of issue basis, except as stated in subdivision (4)(e)(ii) of this section, with guarantee duration of ten years or less, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the reference monthly average as defined in this subsection. (v) For other annuities with no cash settlement options and for guaranteed interest contracts with no cash settlement options, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of issue or purchase, of the reference monthly average as defined in this subsection. (vi) For other annuities with cash settlement options and guaranteed interest contracts with cash settlement options, valued on a change in fund basis, except as stated in subdivision (4)(e)(ii) of this section, the average over a period of twelve months, ending on June 30 of the calendar year of the change in the fund, of the reference monthly average as defined in this subsection.

(f) The reference monthly average referred to in this subsection shall mean a monthly bond yield average which is published by a national financial statistical organization, recognized by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, in current general use in the insurance industry, and designated by the Director of Insurance. In the event that the National Association of Insurance Commissioners determines that an alternative method for determination of the reference interest rate is necessary, an alternative method, which is adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and approved by regulation promulgated by the Department of Insurance, may be substituted.

(5)(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (6) and (9) of this section and section 44-8906, reserves according to the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Methods, for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor. The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (i) over (ii), as follows: (i) A net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of such benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due, except that such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of such policy; (ii) a net one year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year.

(b) For any life insurance policy issued on or after January 1 of the fourth calendar year commencing after August 30, 1981, for which the contract premium in the first policy year exceeds that of the second year and for which no comparable additional benefit is provided in the first year for such excess and which provides an endowment benefit or a cash surrender value or a combination thereof in an amount greater than such excess premium, the reserve according to the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Methods as of any policy anniversary occurring on or before the assumed ending date defined herein as the first policy anniversary on which the sum of any endowment benefit and any cash surrender value then available is greater than such excess premium shall, except as otherwise provided in subsection (9) of this section, be the greater of the reserve as of such policy anniversary calculated as described in subdivision (5)(a) of this section, and the reserve as of such policy anniversary calculated as described in subdivision (5)(a) of this section but with (i) the net level annual premium calculated as described in subdivision (5)(a) of this section being reduced by fifteen percent of the amount of such excess first year premium, (ii) all present values of benefits and premiums being determined without reference to premiums or benefits provided for by the policy after the assumed ending date, (iii) the policy being assumed to mature on such date as an endowment, and (iv) the cash surrender value provided on such date being considered as an endowment benefit. In making the above comparison the mortality and interest bases stated in subsections (2) and (4) of this section shall be used.

(c) Reserves according to the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Methods for (i) life insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums, (ii) group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer, including a partnership, limited liability company, or sole proprietorship, or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, (iii) disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts, and (iv) all other benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies and benefits provided by all other annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of this subsection, except that any extra premiums charged because of impairments or special hazards shall be disregarded in the determination of modified net premiums.

(6) This subsection shall apply to all annuity and pure endowment contracts other than group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer, including a partnership, limited liability company, or sole proprietorship, or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code.

Reserves according to the commissioners annuity reserve method for benefits under annuity or pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, shall be the greatest of the respective excesses of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the future guaranteed benefits, including guaranteed nonforfeiture benefits, provided for by such contracts at the end of each respective contract year, over the present value, at the date of valuation, of any future valuation considerations derived from future gross considerations, required by the terms of such contract, that become payable prior to the end of such respective contract year. The future guaranteed benefits shall be determined by using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate, or rates, specified in such contracts for determining guaranteed benefits. The valuation considerations shall be the portions of the respective gross considerations applied under the terms of such contracts to determine nonforfeiture values.

(7)(a) In no event shall a company's aggregate reserves for all life insurance policies, excluding disability and accidental death benefits, be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the methods set forth in subsections (5), (6), (9), and (10) of this section and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating nonforfeiture benefits for such policies.

(b) In no event shall the aggregate reserves for all policies, contracts, and benefits be less than the aggregate reserves determined by the appointed actuary to be necessary to render the opinion required by sections 44-420 to 44-427.

(8)(a) Reserves for all policies and contracts issued prior to August 30, 1981, may be calculated, at the option of the company, according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for all such policies and contracts than the minimum reserves required by the laws in effect immediately prior to such date.

(b) Reserves for any category of policies, contracts, or benefits as established by the Department of Insurance, may be calculated, at the option of the company, according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for such category than those calculated according to the minimum standard provided under the Standard Valuation Act, but the rate or rates of interest used for policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall not be greater than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided for therein.

(c) A company which adopts at any time a standard of valuation producing greater aggregate reserves than those calculated according to the minimum standard provided under the Standard Valuation Act may adopt a lower standard of valuation with the approval of the director, but not lower than the minimum standard provided under the act. For the purposes of this subdivision, the holding of additional reserves previously determined by the appointed actuary to be necessary to render the opinion required by section 44-8905 shall not be deemed to be the adoption of a higher standard of valuation.

(9) If in any contract year the gross premium charged by any life insurance company on any policy or contract is less than the valuation net premium for the policy or contract calculated by the method used in calculating the reserve thereon but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest, the minimum reserve required for such policy or contract shall be the greater of either the reserve calculated according to the mortality table, rate of interest, and method actually used for such policy or contract, or the reserve calculated by the method actually used for such policy or contract, but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest and replacing the valuation net premium by the actual gross premium in each contract year for which the valuation net premium exceeds the actual gross premium. The minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest referred to in this subsection are those standards stated in subsections (2) and (4) of this section.

For any life insurance policy issued on or after January 1 of the fourth calendar year commencing after August 30, 1981, for which the gross premium in the first policy year exceeds that of the second year and for which no comparable additional benefit is provided in the first year for such excess and which provides an endowment benefit or a cash surrender value or a combination thereof in an amount greater than such excess premium, the foregoing provisions of this subsection shall be applied as if the method actually used in calculating the reserve for such policy were the method described in subsection (5) of this section, ignoring subdivision (5)(b) of this section. The minimum reserve at each policy anniversary of such a policy shall be the greater of the minimum reserve calculated in accordance with subsection (5) of this section, including subdivision (5)(b) of this section, and the minimum reserve calculated in accordance with this subsection.

(10) In the case of any plan of life insurance which provides for future premium determination, the amounts of which are to be determined by the insurance company based on then estimates of future experience, or in the case of any plan of life insurance or annuity which is of such a nature that the minimum reserves cannot be determined by the methods described in subsections (5), (6), and (9) of this section, the reserves which are held under any such plan must (a) be appropriate in relation to the benefits and the pattern of premiums for that plan, and (b) be computed by a method which is consistent with the principles of this section as determined by regulations promulgated by the Department of Insurance.

44-8908 Valuation manual; director prescribe; designate operative date; when effective; contents; director; powers.

(1) For policies issued on or after the operative date of the valuation manual designated in subsection (2) of this section, the standard prescribed in the valuation manual is the minimum standard of valuation required under section 44-8905 except as provided under subsections (5) and (7) of this section.

(2) The director shall prescribe the valuation manual no later than July 1, 2017. The director shall designate the operative date of the valuation manual as of January 1 after the date on which the director prescribes the valuation manual.

(3) Unless a change in the valuation manual specifies a later effective date, the changes adopted by the director to the valuation manual shall be effective on January 1 following the adoption of the change by the director.

(4) The valuation manual must specify all of the following:

(a) Minimum valuation standards for and definitions of the policies or contracts subject to section 44-8904. Such minimum valuation standards shall be:

(i) The director's reserve valuation method for life insurance contracts, other than annuity contracts, subject to section 44-8904;

(ii) The director's annuity reserve valuation method for annuity contracts subject to section 44-8904; and

(iii) Minimum reserves for all other policies or contracts subject to section 44-8904;

(b) Which policies or contracts or types of policies or contracts are subject to the requirements of a principle-based valuation in subsection (1) of section 44-8909 and the minimum valuation standards consistent with those requirements;

(c) For policies and contracts subject to a principle-based valuation under section 44-8909:

(i) Requirements for the format of reports to the director under subdivision (2)(c) of section 44-8909 which shall include information necessary to determine if the valuation is appropriate and in compliance with the Standard Valuation Act;

(ii) Assumptions shall be prescribed for risks over which the company does not have significant control or influence; and

(iii) Procedures for corporate governance and oversight of the actuarial function, and a process for appropriate waiver or modification of such procedures;

(d) For policies not subject to a principle-based valuation under section 44-8909, the minimum valuation standard shall either:

(i) Be consistent with the minimum standard of valuation prior to the operative date of the valuation manual designated in subsection (2) of this section; or

(ii) Develop reserves that quantify the benefits and guarantees, and the funding, associated with the contracts and their risks at a level of conservatism that reflects conditions that include unfavorable events that have a reasonable probability of occurring;

(e) Other requirements, including, but not limited to, those relating to reserve methods, models for measuring risk, generation of economic scenarios, assumptions, margins, use of company experience, risk measurement, disclosure, certifications, reports, actuarial opinions and memorandums, transition rules, and internal controls; and

(f) The data and form of the data required under section 44-8910 and with whom the data must be submitted.

The valuation manual may specify other requirements, including data analyses and reporting of analyses.

(5) In the absence of a specific valuation requirement or if a specific valuation requirement in the valuation manual is not, in the opinion of the director, in compliance with the act, then the company shall, with respect to such requirements, comply with minimum valuation standards prescribed by the director by rule and regulation.

(6) The director may employ or contract with a qualified actuary, at the expense of the company, to perform an actuarial examination of the company and opine on the appropriateness of any reserve assumption or method used by the company or to review and opine on a company's compliance with any requirement set forth in the act. The director may rely upon the opinion, regarding provisions contained within the act, of a qualified actuary engaged by the insurance commissioner of another state, district, or territory of the United States.

(7) The director may require a company to change any assumption or method that in the opinion of the director is necessary in order to comply with the requirements of the valuation manual or the act and the company shall adjust the reserves as required by the director. The director may take other disciplinary action pursuant to law.

44-8909 Reserves; company; duties.

(1) A company must establish reserves using a principle-based valuation that meets the following conditions for policies or contracts as specified in the valuation manual:

(a) Quantify the benefits and guarantees, and the funding, associated with the contracts and their risks at a level of conservatism that reflects conditions that include unfavorable events that have a reasonable probability of occurring during the lifetime of the contracts. For policies or contracts with significant tail risk, the valuation must reflect conditions appropriately adverse to quantify the tail risk;

(b) Incorporate assumptions, risk analysis methods, and financial models and management techniques that are consistent with, but not necessarily identical to, those utilized within the company's overall risk assessment process, while recognizing potential differences in financial reporting structures and any prescribed assumptions or methods;

(c) Incorporate assumptions that are derived in one of the following manners:

(i) The assumption is prescribed in the valuation manual; or

(ii) For assumptions that are not prescribed, the assumptions shall:

(A) Be established utilizing the company's available experience, to the extent it is relevant and statistically credible; or

(B) To the extent that company data is not available, relevant, or statistically credible, be established utilizing other relevant, statistically credible experience; and

(d) Provide margins for uncertainty including adverse deviation and estimation error, such that the greater the uncertainty the larger the margin and resulting reserve.

(2) A company using a principle-based valuation for one or more policies or contracts subject to this section as specified in the valuation manual shall:

(a) Establish procedures for corporate governance and oversight of the actuarial valuation function consistent with those described in the valuation manual;

(b) Provide to the director and the board of directors an annual certification of the effectiveness of the internal controls with respect to the principle-based valuation. Such controls shall be designed to assure that all material risks inherent in the liabilities and associated assets subject to such valuation are included in the valuation and that valuations are made in accordance with the valuation manual. The certification shall be based on the controls in place as of the end of the preceding calendar year; and

(c) Develop, and file with the director upon request, a principle-based valuation report that complies with standards prescribed in the valuation manual.

(3) A principle-based valuation may include a prescribed formulaic reserve component.

44-8911 Confidential information; how treated; director; powers; release of material; when.

(1) For purposes of this section, confidential information means:

(a) A memorandum in support of an opinion submitted under section 44-8905 and any other documents, materials, and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced, or obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in connection with such memorandum;

(b) All documents, materials, and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced, or obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in the course of an examination made under subsection (6) of section 44-8908, except that if an examination report or other material prepared in connection with an examination made under the Insurers Examination Act is not held as private and confidential information under the act, an examination report or other material prepared in connection with an examination made under subsection (6) of section 44-8908 shall not be confidential information to the same extent as if such examination report or other material had been prepared under the Insurers Examination Act;

(c) Any reports, documents, materials, and other information developed by a company in support of, or in connection with, an annual certification by the company under subdivision (2)(b) of section 44-8909 evaluating the effectiveness of the company's internal controls with respect to a principle-based valuation and any other documents, materials, and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced, or obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in connection with such reports, documents, materials, and other information;

(d) Any principle-based valuation report developed under subdivision (2)(c) of section 44-8909 and any other documents, materials, and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced, or obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in connection with such report; and

(e) Any data, documents, materials, and other information submitted by a company under section 44-8910, known as experience data, and any other data, documents, materials, and information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created or produced in connection with such experience data, known as experience materials, in each case that includes any potentially company-identifying or personally identifiable information, that is provided to or obtained by the director and any other documents, materials, data, and other information, including, but not limited to, all working papers, and copies thereof, created, produced, or obtained by or disclosed to the director or any other person in connection with such experience data and experience materials.

(2)(a) Except as provided in this section, a company's confidential information is confidential by law and privileged and shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action, except that the director may use the confidential information in the furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought against the company as a part of the director's official duties.

(b) Neither the director nor any person who received confidential information while acting under the authority of the director shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential information.

(c) In order to assist in the performance of the director's duties, the director may share confidential information (i) with other state, federal, and international regulatory agencies and with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries and (ii) in the case of confidential information specified in subdivisions (1)(a) and (b) of this section, with the Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline or its successor upon request stating that the confidential information is required for the purpose of professional disciplinary proceedings. The recipient must agree, and must have the legal authority to agree, to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of such data, documents, materials, and other information in the same manner and to the same extent as required for the director.

(d) The director may receive data, documents, materials, and other information, including otherwise confidential and privileged data, documents, materials, or information, from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and its affiliates and subsidiaries, from regulatory or law enforcement officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions, and from the Actuarial Board for Counseling and Discipline or its successor and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any data, document, material, or other information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the data, document, material, or other information.

(e) The director may enter into agreements governing sharing and use of information consistent with this subsection.

(f) No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the confidential information shall occur as a result of disclosure to the director under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in subdivision (2)(c) of this section.

(g) A privilege established under the law of any state or jurisdiction that is substantially similar to the privilege established under subsection (2) of this section shall be available and enforced in any proceeding in, and in any court of, this state.

(h) Regulatory agency, law enforcement agency, and the National Association of Insurance Commissioners include employees, agents, consultants, and contractors of such entities.

(3) Notwithstanding subsection (2) of this section, any confidential information specified in subdivisions (1)(a) and (d) of this section:

(a) May be subject to subpoena for the purpose of defending an action seeking damages from the appointed actuary submitting the related memorandum in support of an opinion submitted under section 44-8905 or principle-based valuation report developed under subdivision (2)(c) of section 44-8909 by reason of an action required by the Standard Valuation Act or by rule and regulation;

(b) May otherwise be released by the director with the written consent of the company; and

(c) Once any portion of a memorandum in support of an opinion submitted under section 44-8905 or a principle-based valuation report developed under subdivision (2)(c) of section 44-8909 is cited by the company in its marketing or is publicly volunteered to or before a governmental agency other than a state insurance department or is released by the company to the news media, all portions of such memorandum or report shall no longer be confidential.

ARTICLE 90

RISK MANAGEMENT AND OWN RISK AND SOLVENCY ASSESSMENT ACT

Section

44-9001 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-9001 to 44-9011 shall be known and may be cited as the Risk Management and Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Act.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 1.

44-9002 Purposes of act; applicability.

(1) The purposes of the Risk Management and Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Act are to provide requirements for maintaining a risk management framework and completing an own risk and solvency assessment and to provide guidance and instructions for filing an own risk and solvency assessment summary report with the director.

(2) The requirements of the act apply to all insurers domiciled in this state unless exempt pursuant to section 44-9008.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 2.

44-9003 Legislative findings and declaration.

The Legislature finds and declares that the own risk and solvency assessment summary report will contain confidential and sensitive information related to an insurer's or insurance group's identification of risks that is material and relevant to the insurer or insurance group filing the report. The information will include proprietary and trade secret information that has the potential for harm and competitive disadvantage to the insurer or insurance group if the information is made public. It is the intent of the Legislature that the own risk and solvency assessment summary report shall be a confidential document filed with the director, that the own risk and solvency assessment summary report shall be shared only as provided in the Risk Management and Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Act and to assist the director in the performance of his or her duties, and that in no event shall the own risk and solvency assessment summary report be subject to public disclosure.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 3.

44-9004 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Risk Management and Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Act:

(1) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(2) Insurance group means those insurers and affiliates included within an insurance holding company system as defined in subdivision (6) of section 44-2121;

(3) Insurer has the same meaning as in section 44-103, except that it does not include agencies, authorities, or instrumentalities of the United States, its possessions and territories, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, or a state or political subdivision of a state;

(4) Own risk and solvency assessment means a confidential internal assessment, appropriate to the nature, scale, and complexity of an insurer or insurance group, conducted by the insurer or insurance group, of the material and relevant risks associated with the insurer's or insurance group's current business plan and the sufficiency of capital resources to support those risks;

(5) Own risk and solvency assessment guidance manual means the own risk and solvency assessment guidance manual prescribed by the director which conforms substantially to the Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Guidance Manual developed and adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. A change in the own risk and solvency assessment guidance manual shall be effective on the January 1 following the calendar year in which the change has been adopted by the director; and

(6) Own risk and solvency assessment summary report means a confidential, high-level summary of an insurer's or insurance group's own risk and solvency assessment.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 4; Laws 2016, LB772, § 16.

44-9005 Risk management framework.

An insurer shall maintain a risk management framework to assist the insurer with identifying, assessing, monitoring, managing, and reporting on its material and relevant risks. This requirement is satisfied if the insurance group of which the insurer is a member maintains a risk management framework applicable to the operations of the insurer.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 5.

44-9006 Own risk and solvency assessment.

Subject to section 44-9008, an insurer, or the insurance group of which the insurer is a member, shall regularly conduct an own risk and solvency assessment consistent with a process comparable to the own risk and solvency assessment guidance manual. The own risk and solvency assessment shall be conducted no less than annually but also at any time when there are significant changes to the risk profile of the insurer or the insurance group of which the insurer is a member.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 6.

44-9007 Own risk and solvency assessment summary report; submission; contents; similar report accepted; when.

(1) Upon the director's request, and no more than once each year, an insurer shall submit to the director an own risk and solvency assessment summary report or any combination of reports that together contain the information described in the own risk and solvency assessment guidance manual applicable to the insurer or the insurance group of which the insurer is a member. Notwithstanding any request from the director, if the insurer is a member of an insurance group, the insurer shall submit the report required by this subsection if the director is the lead state insurance commissioner of the insurance group.

(2) The report shall include a signature of the insurer's or insurance group's chief risk officer or other executive having responsibility for the oversight of the insurer's enterprise risk management process attesting to the best of his or her belief and knowledge that the insurer applies the enterprise risk management process described in the own risk and solvency assessment summary report and that a copy of the report has been provided to the insurer's board of directors or the appropriate committee thereof.

(3) An insurer may comply with subsection (1) of this section by providing the most recent and substantially similar report provided by the insurer or another member of an insurance group of which the insurer is a member to the insurance commissioner of another state or to a supervisor or regulator of a foreign jurisdiction if that report provides information that is comparable to the information described in the own risk and solvency assessment guidance manual. Any such report in a language other than English must be accompanied by a translation of that report into the English language.

(4) The first filing of the own risk and solvency assessment summary report shall be in 2015.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 7.

44-9008 Act; exemptions; waiver; director; considerations; director; powers.

(1) An insurer shall be exempt from the requirements of the Risk Management and Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Act if:

(a) The insurer has annual direct written and unaffiliated assumed premium, including international direct and assumed premium but excluding premiums reinsured with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation and National Flood Insurance Program, of less than five hundred million dollars; and

(b) The insurance group of which the insurer is a member has annual direct written and unaffiliated assumed premium, including international direct and assumed premium but excluding premiums reinsured with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation and National Flood Insurance Program, of less than one billion dollars.

(2) If an insurer qualifies for exemption pursuant to subdivision (1)(a) of this section, but the insurance group of which the insurer is a member does not qualify for exemption pursuant to subdivision (1)(b) of this section, then the own risk and solvency assessment summary report required pursuant to section 44-9007 shall include every insurer within the insurance group. This requirement may be satisfied by the submission of more than one own risk and solvency assessment summary report for any combination of insurers if the combination of reports includes every insurer within the insurance group.

(3) If an insurer does not qualify for exemption pursuant to subdivision (1)(a) of this section, but the insurance group of which the insurer is a member qualifies for exemption pursuant to subdivision (1)(b) of this section, then the only own risk and solvency assessment summary report required pursuant to section 44-9007 shall be the report applicable to that insurer.

(4) An insurer that does not qualify for exemption pursuant to subsection (1) of this section may apply to the director for a waiver from the requirements of the act based upon unique circumstances. In deciding whether to grant the insurer's request for waiver, the director may consider the type and volume of business written, ownership and organizational structure, and any other factor the director considers relevant to the insurer or insurance group of which the insurer is a member. If the insurer is part of an insurance group with insurers domiciled in more than one state, the director shall coordinate with the lead state insurance commissioner and with the other domiciliary insurance commissioners in considering whether to grant the insurer's request for a waiver.

(5) Notwithstanding the exemptions stated in this section:

(a) The director may require that an insurer maintain a risk management framework, conduct an own risk and solvency assessment, and file an own risk and solvency assessment summary report based on unique circumstances, including, but not limited to, the type and volume of business written, ownership and organizational structure, federal agency requests, and international supervisor requests; and

(b) The director may require that an insurer maintain a risk management framework, conduct an own risk and solvency assessment, and file an own risk and solvency assessment summary report if the insurer has risk-based capital for a company action level event as set forth in section 44-6016, meets one or more of the standards of an insurer deemed to be in hazardous financial condition as defined by rule and regulation adopted and promulgated by the director to define standards for companies deemed to be in hazardous financial condition, or otherwise exhibits qualities of a troubled insurer as determined by the director.

(6) If an insurer that qualified for an exemption pursuant to subsection (1) of this section no longer qualifies for that exemption due to changes in premium as reflected in the insurer's most recent annual statement or in the most recent annual statements of the insurers within the insurance group of which the insurer is a member, the insurer shall have one year after the year the threshold is exceeded to comply with the requirements of the act.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 8.

44-9009 Own risk and solvency assessment summary report; documentation and supporting information.

(1) An own risk and solvency assessment summary report shall be prepared consistent with the own risk and solvency assessment guidance manual, subject to the requirements of subsection (2) of this section. Documentation and supporting information shall be maintained and made available upon examination or upon request of the director.

(2) The review of the own risk and solvency assessment summary report, and any additional requests for information, shall be made using similar procedures currently used in the analysis and examination of multistate or global insurers and insurance groups.

Source: Laws 2014, LB700, § 9.

44-9010 Confidentiality; director; powers; sharing and use of information; written agreement; contents.

(1) Documents, materials, or other information, including the own risk and solvency assessment summary report, in the possession or control of the director that are obtained by, created by, or disclosed to the director or any other person under the Risk Management and Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Act, is recognized by this state as being proprietary and to contain trade secrets. All such documents, materials, or other information shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action. The director may use the documents, materials, or other information in the furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as a part of the director's official duties. The director shall not otherwise make the documents, materials, or other information public without the prior written consent of the insurer.

(2) Neither the director nor any person who received documents, materials, or other own risk and solvency assessment related information through examination or otherwise while acting under the authority of the director or with whom such documents, materials, or other information are shared pursuant to the act shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials, or information subject to subsection (1) of this section.

(3) In order to assist in the performance of the director's regulatory duties, the director:

(a) May, upon request, share documents, materials, or other own risk and solvency assessment information, including the confidential and privileged documents, materials, or information subject to subsection (1) of this section, including proprietary and trade secret documents and materials, with other state, federal, and international financial regulatory agencies, including members of any supervisory college under section 44-2137.01, with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and with any third-party consultants designated by the director, if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the documents, materials, or other information and has verified in writing the legal authority to maintain confidentiality; and

(b) May receive documents, materials, or other own risk and solvency assessment information, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials, or information, including proprietary and trade secret documents and materials, from regulatory officials of other foreign or domestic jurisdictions, including members of any supervisory college under section 44-2137.01, and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any documents, materials, or information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material, or information.

(4) The director shall enter into a written agreement with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant governing sharing and use of information provided pursuant to the act that:

(a) Specifies procedures and protocols regarding the confidentiality and security of information shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant pursuant to the act, including procedures and protocols for sharing by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners with other state regulators from states in which the insurance group has domiciled insurers. The agreement shall provide that the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the documents, materials, or other information and has verified in writing the legal authority to maintain confidentiality;

(b) Specifies that ownership of information shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant pursuant to the act remains with the director and that the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' or a third-party consultant's use of the information is subject to the direction of the director;

(c) Prohibits the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant from storing the information shared pursuant to the act in a permanent database after the underlying analysis is completed;

(d) Requires prompt notice to be given to an insurer whose confidential information in the possession of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant pursuant to the act is subject to a request or subpoena to the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant for disclosure or production;

(e) Requires the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant to consent to intervention by an insurer in any judicial or administrative action in which the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant may be required to disclose confidential information about the insurer shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant pursuant to the act; and

(f) As part of the retention process, requires a third-party consultant to verify to the director, with notice to the insurer, that it is free of any conflict of interest and that it has internal procedures in place to monitor compliance with any conflicts and to comply with the act's confidentiality standards and requirements. The retention agreement with a third-party consultant shall require prior written consent of the insurer before making public any information provided pursuant to the act as required in subsection (1) of this section.

(5) The sharing of information and documents by the director pursuant to the act shall not constitute a delegation of regulatory authority or rulemaking, and the director is solely responsible for the administration, execution, and enforcement of the provisions of the act.

(6) No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the documents, materials, or other own risk and solvency assessment information shall occur as a result of disclosure of such documents, materials, or other information to the director under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in the act.

(7) Documents, materials, or other information in the possession or control of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant pursuant to the act shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action.

44-9011 Failure to file own risk and solvency assessment summary report; penalty.

Any insurer failing, without just cause, to timely file its own risk and solvency assessment summary report as required in the Risk Management and Own Risk and Solvency Assessment Act shall be required, after notice and hearing, to pay a penalty of not to exceed two hundred dollars for each day's delay. The maximum penalty under this section is ten thousand dollars. The director may reduce the penalty if the insurer demonstrates to the director that the imposition of the penalty would constitute a financial hardship to the insurer. The director shall remit any penalties collected under this section to the State Treasurer for distribution in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

ARTICLE 91
CORPORATE GOVERNANCE ANNUAL DISCLOSURE ACT

Section

44-9101 Act, how cited.

Sections 44-9101 to 44-9109 shall be known and may be cited as the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act.

Source: Laws 2016, LB772, § 1.

44-9102 Purposes of act.

(1) The purposes of the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act are to:

(a) Provide the director a summary of an insurer's or insurance group's corporate governance structure, policies, and practices to permit the director to gain and maintain an understanding of the insurer's or insurance group's corporate governance framework;

(b) Outline the requirements for completing a corporate governance annual disclosure with the director; and

(c) Provide for the confidential treatment of the corporate governance annual disclosure and related information that contains confidential and sensitive information related to an insurer's or insurance group's internal operations and proprietary and trade secret information which, if made public, could potentially cause the insurer or insurance group competitive harm or disadvantage.

(2) Nothing in the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act shall be construed (a) to prescribe or impose corporate governance standards and internal procedures beyond that which is required under applicable state corporate law or (b) to limit the director's authority, or the rights or obligations of third parties, under the Insurers Examination Act.

(3) The requirements of the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act shall apply to all insurers that are domiciled in this state.

Source: Laws 2016, LB772, § 2.

Cross References

Insurers Examination Act, see section 44-5901.

44-9103 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act:

(1) Corporate governance annual disclosure means a confidential report filed by an insurer or insurance group made in accordance with the requirements of the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act;

(2) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(3) Insurance group means those insurers and affiliates included within an insurance holding company system as defined in section 44-2121; and

(4) Insurer has the same meaning as in section 44-103, except that it shall not include agencies, authorities, or instrumentalities of the United States, its possessions and territories, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, or a state or political subdivision of a state.

Source: Laws 2016, LB772, § 3.

44-9104 Corporate governance annual disclosure; submission to director; review; cross reference to other documents.

(1) An insurer, or the insurance group of which the insurer is a member, shall, no later than June 1 of each calendar year, submit to the director a corporate governance annual disclosure that contains the information described in section 44-9105. Notwithstanding any request from the director made pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, if the insurer is a member of an insurance group, the insurer shall submit the disclosure required by this section to the director of the lead state for the insurance group, in accordance with the laws of the lead state, as determined by the procedures outlined in the Financial Analysis Handbook adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

(2) The corporate governance annual disclosure must include a signature of the insurer's or insurance group's chief executive officer or corporate secretary attesting to the best of that individual's belief and knowledge that the insurer or insurance group has implemented the corporate governance practices contained in the corporate governance annual disclosure and that a copy of the disclosure has been provided to the insurer's board of directors or the appropriate committee thereof.

(3) An insurer not required to submit a corporate governance annual disclosure under this section shall do so upon the director's request.

(4) For purposes of completing the corporate governance annual disclosure, the insurer or insurance group may provide information regarding corporate governance at the ultimate controlling parent level, an intermediate holding company level, or the individual legal entity level, depending upon how the insurer or insurance group has structured its system of corporate governance. The insurer or insurance group is encouraged to make the corporate governance annual disclosure at the level at which the insurer's or insurance group's risk appetite is determined, the level at which the earnings, capital, liquidity, operations, and reputation of the insurer are overseen collectively and at which the supervision of those factors are coordinated and exercised, or the level at which legal liability for failure of general corporate governance duties would be placed. If the insurer or insurance group determines the level of reporting based on one of these three criteria, it shall indicate which of the three criteria was used to determine the level of reporting and explain any subsequent changes in the level of reporting.

(5) The review of the corporate governance annual disclosure and any additional requests for information shall be made through the lead state as determined by the procedures within the Financial Analysis Handbook adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

(6) Insurers providing information substantially similar to the information required by the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act in other documents provided to the director, including proxy statements filed in conjunction with the requirements of section 44-2132 or other state or federal filings provided to the director, shall not be required to duplicate such information in the corporate governance annual disclosure, but shall only be required to cross reference the document in which such information is included.

Source: Laws 2016, LB772, § 4.

44-9105 Corporate governance annual disclosure; contents; request for additional information.

The corporate governance annual disclosure shall be prepared in a manner prescribed by the director. The insurer or insurance group shall have discretion over the responses to the corporate governance annual disclosure inquiries, except that the corporate governance annual disclosure shall contain the material information necessary to permit the director to gain an understanding of the insurer's or insurance group's corporate governance structure, policies, and practices. The director may request additional information that he or she deems material and necessary to provide the director with a clear understanding of the corporate governance policies, reporting or information systems, or controls implementing the corporate governance policies. Documentation and supporting information shall be maintained and made available upon examination or upon request of the director.

Source: Laws 2016, LB772, § 5.

44-9106 Documents, materials, and other information; proprietary and trade secrets; confidential; use by director; director; powers.

(1) Documents, materials, or other information, including the corporate governance annual disclosure, in the possession or control of the Department of Insurance that are obtained by, created by, or disclosed to the director or any other person under the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act are recognized by this state as being proprietary and to contain trade secrets. All such documents, materials, or other information shall be confidential by law and privileged, shall not be a public record subject to disclosure by the director pursuant to sections 84-712 to 84-712.09, shall not be subject to subpoena, and shall not be subject to discovery or admissible in evidence in any private civil action. However, the director is authorized to use the documents, materials, or other information in the furtherance of any regulatory or legal action brought as a part of the director's official duties. The director shall not otherwise make the documents, materials, or other information public without the prior written consent of the insurer. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require written consent of the insurer before the director may share or receive confidential documents, materials, or other information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure pursuant to subsection (3) of this section to assist in the performance of the director's regular duties.

(2) Neither the director nor any person who received documents, materials, or other information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure, through examination or otherwise, while acting under the authority of the director, or with whom such documents, materials, or other information are shared pursuant to the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act, shall be permitted or required to testify in any private civil action concerning any confidential documents, materials, or other information subject to subsection (1) of this section.

(3) In order to assist in the performance of the director's regulatory duties, the director:

(a) May, upon request, share documents, materials, or other information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure, including the confidential and privileged documents, materials, or other information subject to subsection (1) of this section, including proprietary and trade secret documents and materials, with other state, federal, and international financial regulatory agencies, including members of any supervisory college as described in section 44-2137.01, with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and with third-party consultants pursuant to section 44-9107 if the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of such documents, materials, or other information and has verified in writing the legal authority to maintain confidentiality; and

(b) May receive documents, materials, or other information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure, including otherwise confidential and privileged documents, materials, or other information, including proprietary and trade secret documents and materials, from regulatory officials of other state, federal, and international financial regulatory agencies, including members of any supervisory college as described in section 44-2137.01 and from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, and shall maintain as confidential or privileged any documents, materials, or other information received with notice or the understanding that it is confidential or privileged under the laws of the jurisdiction that is the source of the document, material, or other information.

(4) The sharing of information and documents by the director pursuant to the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act shall not constitute a delegation of regulatory authority or rulemaking, and the director is solely responsible for the administration, execution, and enforcement of the provisions of the act.

(5) No waiver of any applicable privilege or claim of confidentiality in the documents, materials, or other information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure shall occur as a result of disclosure of such documents, materials, or other information to the director under this section or as a result of sharing as authorized in the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act.

44-9107 Review of corporate governance annual disclosure; third-party consultants; National Association of Insurance Commissioners; written agreement; contents.

(1) The director may retain, at the insurer's expense, third-party consultants, including attorneys, actuaries, accountants, and other experts not otherwise a part of the director's staff, as may be reasonably necessary to assist the director in reviewing the corporate governance annual disclosure and related information or the insurer's compliance with the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act.

(2) Any persons retained under subsection (1) of this section shall be under the direction and control of the director and shall act in a purely advisory capacity.

(3) The National Association of Insurance Commissioners and third-party consultants shall be subject to the same confidentiality standards and requirements as the director.

(4) As part of the retention process, a third-party consultant shall verify to the director, with notice to the insurer, that the third-party consultant is free of a conflict of interest and that it has internal procedures in place to monitor compliance with a conflict of interest and to comply with the confidentiality standards and requirements of the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act.

(5) A written agreement with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant governing sharing and use of information provided pursuant to the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act shall contain the following provisions and expressly require the written consent of the insurer prior to making public information provided under the act:

(a) Specific procedures and protocols for maintaining the confidentiality and security of information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure that is shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant pursuant to the act;

(b) Procedures and protocols for sharing by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners only with other state regulators from states in which the insurance group has domiciled insurers. The agreement shall provide that the recipient agrees in writing to maintain the confidentiality and privileged status of the documents, materials, or other information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure and has verified in writing the legal authority to maintain confidentiality.

(c) A provision specifying that (i) ownership of the information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure that is shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant remains with the Department of Insurance and (ii) the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' or third-party consultant's use of the information is subject to the direction of the director;

(d) A provision that prohibits the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant from storing the information shared pursuant to the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act in a permanent database after the underlying analysis is completed;

(e) A provision requiring the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or third-party consultant to provide prompt notice to the director and to the insurer or insurance group regarding any subpoena, request for disclosure, or request for production of the insurer's or insurance group's information related to the corporate governance annual disclosure; and

(f) A requirement that the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant consent to intervention by an insurer in any judicial or administrative action in which the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant may be required to disclose confidential information about the insurer shared with the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or a third-party consultant pursuant to the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act.

44-9108 Failure to file corporate governance annual disclosure; forfeiture; suspension of certificate of authority.

Any insurer failing, without just cause, to timely file the corporate governance annual disclosure as required in the Corporate Governance Annual Disclosure Act shall forfeit fifty dollars each day thereafter such failure continues. The maximum forfeit shall not exceed ten thousand dollars. In addition to the forfeiture, the director may suspend, after notice and hearing, the certificate of authority of the insurer until it has complied with the act. The director may reduce the forfeiture if the insurer demonstrates to the director that the forfeiture would constitute a financial hardship to the insurer. The director shall remit any forfeiture collected pursuant to this section to the State Treasurer for distribution in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

44-9203 Terms, defined.

As used in the Public Adjusters Licensing Act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Business entity means a corporation, association, partnership, limited liability company, limited liability partnership, or any other legal entity;

(2) Catastrophic disaster means an event declared to be a catastrophic disaster by the President of the United States or the governor of the state in which the disaster occurred that (a) results in large numbers of deaths and injuries, (b) causes extensive damage or destruction of facilities that provide and sustain human needs, (c) produces an overwhelming demand on state and local response resources and mechanisms, (d) causes a severe long-term effect on general economic activity, and (e) severely affects state, local, and private sector capabilities to begin and sustain response activities;

(3) Department means the Department of Insurance;

(4) Director means the Director of Insurance;

(5) Home state means the District of Columbia or any state or territory of the United States in which the principal place of residence or principal place of business of the public adjuster is located;

(6) Individual means a natural person;

(7) Insured means a person insured under the insurance policy against which the claim is made;

(8) Person means an individual or a business entity;

(9) Public adjuster means any person who, for compensation, does any of the following:

(a) Acts for or aids an insured in negotiating for or effecting the settlement of a first-party claim for loss or damage to real or personal property of the insured;

(b) Advertises for employment as a public adjuster of first-party claims or otherwise solicits business or represents to the public that the person is a public adjuster of first-party claims for loss or damage to real or personal property of an insured; or

(c) Directly or indirectly solicits the business of investigating or adjusting losses or of advising an insured about first-party claims for loss or damage to real or personal property of the insured;

(10) Uniform business entity application means the uniform business entity application prescribed by the director which conforms substantially to the uniform business entity application for resident and nonresident business entities adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners; and

(11) Uniform individual application means the uniform individual application prescribed by the director which conforms substantially to the uniform application for individual adjuster licensing adopted by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

44-9204 License required; exceptions.

(1) A person shall not operate as or represent that such person is a public adjuster in this state unless such person is licensed as a public adjuster in accordance with the Public Adjusters Licensing Act.

(2) A public adjuster shall not misrepresent to any insured that such public adjuster is an adjuster representing an insurer in any capacity, including acting as an employee of the insurer or acting as an independent adjuster unless so appointed by an insurer in writing to act on behalf of the insurer for that specific claim or purpose. A public adjuster is prohibited from charging any insured a fee when appointed by the insurer and the appointment is accepted by the public adjuster.

(3) A public adjuster shall not, directly or indirectly, solicit, or enter into, an agreement for the repair or replacement of damaged property on which such public adjuster has engaged to adjust or settle claims for losses or damages of the insured.

(4) Notwithstanding subsection (1) of this section, licensing as a public adjuster shall not be required for:

(a) An attorney admitted to practice in this state, when acting in the attorney's professional capacity as an attorney;

(b) A person who negotiates or settles claims arising under a life or health insurance policy or an annuity contract;

(c) A person employed only for the purpose of obtaining facts surrounding a loss or furnishing technical assistance to a licensed public adjuster, including, but not limited to, a photographer, estimator, private investigator, engineer, or handwriting expert;

(d) A licensed health care provider, or an employee of a licensed health care provider, who prepares or files a health claim form on behalf of a patient; or

(e) A person who settles subrogation claims between insurers.

44-9205 Resident public adjuster license; application; qualifications; fee; examination.

An individual applying for a resident public adjuster license shall make application to the director on the uniform individual application and declare under penalty of denial, suspension, or revocation of the license that the statements made in the application are true, correct, and complete to the best of such individual's knowledge and belief. Before approving an application for a resident public adjuster license, the director shall find that such individual:

(1) Is at least eighteen years of age. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 43-2101, if an individual is issued a license pursuant to the Public Adjusters Licensing Act, his or her minority ends;

(2) Has his or her principal place of residence or principal place of business in this state;

(3) Has not committed any act that is a ground for denial, suspension, or revocation set forth in section 44-9211;

(4) Has paid the resident licensing fee, not to exceed one hundred dollars, prescribed by the director;

(5) Except as otherwise provided under the act, has passed the examinations required by section 44-9208;

(6) Is trustworthy, reliable, and of good reputation, evidence of which may be determined by the director;

(7) Is financially responsible to exercise the license and has provided proof of financial responsibility as required in section 44-9212; and

(8) Maintains an office in this state with public access to such office by reasonable appointment or regular business hours.

44-9206 Nonresident public adjuster license; application; qualifications; fee; director; verify status; termination of license; when.

(1) An individual applying for a nonresident public adjuster license shall make application to the director in the manner prescribed by the director and declare under penalty of denial, suspension, or revocation of the license that the statements made in the application are true, correct, and complete to the best of such individual's knowledge and belief. Before approving an application for a nonresident public adjuster license, the director shall find that the applicant:

(a) Is licensed as a resident public adjuster and in good standing in such individual's home state and that such home state awards nonresident public adjuster licenses to residents of this state on the same basis as provided for in the Public Adjusters Licensing Act; and

(b) Has paid the nonresident licensing fee, not to exceed one hundred dollars, prescribed by the director.

(2) The director may verify the licensing status of a nonresident public adjuster through the producer database maintained by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, its affiliates, or subsidiaries.

(3) As a condition to continuation of a nonresident public adjuster license, a licensed nonresident public adjuster shall maintain a resident public adjuster license in good standing in his or her home state.

(4) A nonresident public adjuster license issued pursuant to this section shall terminate and be surrendered immediately to the director if the home state public adjuster license terminates for any reason, unless the individual has been issued a license as a resident public adjuster in a new home state and such new home state has reciprocity with this state. A licensed nonresident public adjuster shall notify the director of any change to a new home state as soon as possible, but no later than thirty days after receiving a license as a resident public adjuster from the new home state. The nonresident public adjuster shall include both the new and the old addresses in the notice to the director.

44-9207 Business entity acting as public adjuster; license; application; qualifications; fee; director; powers.

(1) A business entity acting as a public adjuster in this state is required to obtain a public adjuster license and shall make application to the director on the uniform business entity application and declare under penalty of denial, suspension, or revocation of the license that the statements made in the application are true, correct, and complete to the best of the knowledge and belief of such entity. Before approving an application for a business entity public adjuster license, the director shall find that the applicant:

(a) Has paid the business entity licensing fee, not to exceed one hundred fifty dollars, prescribed by the director; and

(b) Has designated a resident public adjuster or a nonresident public adjuster licensed pursuant to the Public Adjusters Licensing Act to be responsible for compliance with the insurance laws, rules, and regulations of this state for such business entity.

(2) The director may require any documents reasonably necessary to verify the information contained in any application submitted pursuant to this section.

Source: Laws 2018, LB743, § 7.

44-9208 Examination; fee.

(1) An individual applying for a resident public adjuster license shall pass a written examination, unless exempt pursuant to section 44-9209. Such examination shall test the knowledge of the individual concerning the duties and responsibilities of a public adjuster and the insurance laws and regulations of this state and shall be conducted as prescribed by the director.

(2) The director may make arrangements, including contracting with an outside testing service, for administering the written examination required pursuant to subsection (1) of this section and collecting a fee prescribed by the director. The fee shall not exceed one hundred dollars.

Source: Laws 2018, LB743, § 8.

44-9209 Exemption from examination.

(1) An individual who moves to this state, was previously licensed as a public adjuster in another state based on a public adjuster examination, and applies for a resident public adjuster license in this state within ninety days of establishing legal residence shall not be required to pass an examination pursuant to section 44-9208 in this state if:

(a) Such individual is currently licensed in the other state or if an application for a resident public adjuster license is received within twelve months of the cancellation of his or her previous license; and

(b) The other state issues a certification that such individual is licensed and in good standing in that state or was licensed and in good standing at the time of cancellation.

(2) An individual who applies for a resident public adjuster license and who was previously licensed as either a resident public adjuster or a nonresident public adjuster in this state shall not be required to complete an examination if the application is received within twelve months of the termination of such previous license in this state and if, at the time of such termination, the applicant was in good standing in this state.

44-9210 Individual; issuance of license; expiration; renewal; fee; lapsed license; reinstatement; business entity; license; expiration; renewal; fee; lapsed license; reinstatement; license; contents; licensee; duties; director; powers; renewal procedures.

(1)(a) An individual who meets the requirements for a resident public adjuster license shall be issued such license. An individual who meets the requirements for a nonresident public adjuster license shall be issued such license.

(b) Each resident public adjuster license and each nonresident public adjuster license shall expire on the last day of the month of such public adjuster's birthday in the first year after issuance of such license in which his or her age is divisible by two.

(c) Each resident public adjuster license and each nonresident public adjuster license may be renewed within the ninety-day period immediately preceding the expiration date upon payment of the renewal fee, not to exceed one hundred dollars, prescribed by the director. A resident public adjuster or nonresident public adjuster who allows his or her license to lapse may, within the twelve-month period immediately following the expiration date, reinstate the same license without the necessity of passing a written examination upon payment of a reinstatement fee, not to exceed one hundred twenty-five dollars, prescribed by the director in addition to the renewal fee.

(d) The director may grant an individual licensee who is unable to comply with license renewal procedures due to military service or some other extenuating circumstance, including, but not limited to, a long-term medical disability, a waiver of any examination requirement or any other fine, fee, or sanction imposed for failure to comply with renewal procedures.

(2)(a) A business entity that has met the requirements of the Public Adjusters Licensing Act shall be issued a business entity public adjuster license.

(b) Each business entity public adjuster license shall expire on April 30 of each year.

(c) A business entity public adjuster license may be renewed within the ninety-day period immediately preceding the expiration date upon payment of the renewal fee, not to exceed one hundred fifty dollars, prescribed by the director. A business entity public adjuster that allows its license to lapse may, within the thirty-day period immediately following the expiration date, renew the same license upon payment of a late renewal fee, not to exceed one hundred twenty-five dollars, prescribed by the director in addition to the renewal fee.

(d) Any business entity public adjuster license renewed within the thirty-day period immediately following the expiration date pursuant to this subsection shall be deemed to have been renewed before the expiration date.

(3)(a) Each license issued pursuant to the Public Adjusters Licensing Act shall contain the licensee's name, address, and license number, the date of issuance, the lines of authority, the expiration date, and any other information the director deems necessary.

(b) Each licensee shall inform the director, by any means acceptable to the director, of any change of legal name, address, or other information submitted on the application within thirty days after the change. Any licensee failing to provide such notification shall be subject to a fine by the director of not more than five hundred dollars per violation, suspension of the license until the change is reported to the director, or both.

(c) Each licensee doing business under any name other than the licensee's legal name shall notify the director prior to using the assumed name.

(d) Each licensee shall be subject to the Unfair Insurance Trade Practices Act and the Unfair Insurance Claims Settlement Practices Act.

(e) Each licensee shall report to the director any administrative action taken against such licensee in another jurisdiction or by another governmental agency in this state within thirty days of the final disposition of the matter. This report shall include a copy of the order, consent to order, or other relevant legal documents.

(f) Each licensee shall report to the director any criminal prosecution of such licensee taken in any jurisdiction within thirty days of arraignment. The report shall include a copy of the initial complaint filed, the order resulting from the hearing, and any other relevant legal documents.

(4) The director may contract with nongovernmental entities, including the National Association of Insurance Commissioners or any affiliates or subsidiaries that the National Association of Insurance Commissioners oversees, to perform any ministerial functions, including the collection of fees, related to the administration of the Public Adjusters Licensing Act.

(5) The director may establish license renewal procedures by rule and regulation adopted and promulgated pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act.

44-9211 Director; powers; nonrenewal or denial of application; notice; hearing; administrative fine; director; enforce act.

(1) The director may suspend, revoke, or refuse to issue or renew a resident public adjuster license, nonresident public adjuster license, or business entity public adjuster license or may levy an administrative fine in accordance with subsection (4) of this section, or any combination of such actions, for any one or more of the following causes:

(a) Providing incorrect, misleading, incomplete, or materially untrue information in the license application;

(b) Violating any insurance law or violating any rule, regulation, subpoena, or order of the director or of another state's insurance commissioner or director;

(c) Obtaining or attempting to obtain a license through misrepresentation or fraud;

(d) Improperly withholding, misappropriating, or converting any money or property received in the course of doing business;

(e) Intentionally misrepresenting the terms of an actual or proposed insurance contract or application for insurance;

(f) Having been convicted of a felony or a Class I, II, or III misdemeanor;

(g) Having admitted or been found to have committed any insurance unfair trade practice, any unfair claims settlement practice, or any fraud;

(h) Using fraudulent, coercive, or dishonest practices or demonstrating incompetence, untrustworthiness, or financial irresponsibility in the conduct of business in this state or elsewhere or failing to comply with section 44-9217;

(i) Having an insurance or public adjuster license, or the equivalent thereof, denied, suspended, placed on probation, or revoked in Nebraska or in any other state, province, district, or territory;

(j) Forging another's name to an application for insurance or to any document related to an insurance transaction;

(k) Improperly using notes or any other reference material to complete an examination for an insurance license;

(l) Knowingly accepting insurance business from an individual who is not licensed;

(m) Failing to comply with an administrative or court order imposing a child support obligation pursuant to the License Suspension Act;

(n) Failing to pay state income tax or comply with any administrative or court order directing payment of state income tax; or

(o) Failing to maintain in good standing a resident license in the public adjuster's home state.

(2) If the director does not renew or denies an application for a public adjuster license, the director shall notify the applicant or licensee and advise, in writing, the applicant or licensee of the reason for the denial or nonrenewal of the applicant's or licensee's license. The applicant or licensee may make written demand upon the director within thirty days for a hearing before the director to determine the reasonableness of the director's action. The hearing shall be held within thirty days and shall be held pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act.

(3) A business entity public adjuster license may be suspended, revoked, or refused if the director finds, after notice and hearing, that a violation committed by an individual licensee providing services through the business entity was known or should have been known by one or more of the partners, officers, or managers acting on behalf of the business entity and the violation was neither reported to the director nor corrective action taken.

(4) In addition to or in lieu of any applicable denial, suspension, or revocation of a license, any person violating the act may, after notice and hearing, be subject to an administrative fine of not more than one thousand dollars per violation. Such fine may be enforced in the same manner as civil judgments. Any person charged with a violation of the Public Adjusters Licensing Act may waive his or her right to a hearing and consent to such discipline as the director determines is appropriate. The Administrative Procedure Act shall govern all hearings held pursuant to this subsection.

(5) The director shall retain the authority to enforce the provisions of and impose any penalty or remedy authorized by the Public Adjusters Licensing Act against any person who is under investigation for or charged with a violation of the act even if the person's license or registration has been surrendered or has lapsed by operation of law. No disciplinary proceeding shall be instituted against any licensed person after the expiration of three years from the termination of such license.

44-9212 Financial responsibility; surety bond; director; powers.

(1) Prior to the issuance of a resident public adjuster license or a nonresident public adjuster license and for the duration of such license, an applicant shall secure evidence of financial responsibility in a format prescribed by the director through a surety bond. The surety bond shall be executed and issued by an insurer authorized to issue surety bonds in this state, which bond:

(a) Shall be in the minimum amount of twenty thousand dollars; and

(b) Shall not be terminated unless written notice has been filed with the director and submitted to such public adjuster at least thirty days prior to such termination.

(2) The director may request the evidence of financial responsibility at any time the director deems relevant.

(3) A public adjuster shall immediately notify the director if evidence of financial responsibility terminates or becomes impaired. The authority to act as a public adjuster shall automatically terminate if the evidence of financial responsibility terminates or becomes impaired.

44-9213 Continuing education.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, an individual who holds a resident public adjuster license or a nonresident public adjuster license shall satisfactorily complete a minimum of twenty-four credits of continuing education, including three credits of ethics, reported on a biennial basis in conjunction with the license renewal cycle.

(2) The requirements of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to a nonresident public adjuster who has met the continuing education requirements of the adjuster's home state and whose home state gives credit to residents of this state on the same basis.

(3) Only continuing education activities approved by the director pursuant to sections 44-3901 to 44-3908 shall be used to satisfy the requirements of this section.

44-9214 Contracts; contents; prohibited terms; separate disclosure document; public adjuster; duties; written notice of rights; right to rescind.

(1) Public adjusters shall ensure that all contracts for their services are in writing and contain the following terms:

(a) Legible full name of the public adjuster signing the contract, as specified in director records;

(b) Home state, business address, and telephone number;

(c) Public adjuster license number;

(d) Title of ''Public Adjuster Contract'';

(e) Insured's full name, street address, insurer name, and insurance policy number, if known or upon notification;

(f) Description of the loss and its location, if applicable;

(g) Description of services to be provided to the insured;

(h) Signatures of the public adjuster and the insured;

(i) Date contract was signed by the public adjuster and date the contract was signed by the insured;

(j) Attestation language stating that the public adjuster is fully bonded pursuant to state law; and

(k) The specific amount of compensation, including, but not limited to, the full salary, fee, commission, or other consideration the public adjuster is to receive for services.

(2)(a) The contract may specify that the public adjuster shall be named as a co-payee on an insurer's payment of a claim.

(b) If the compensation is based on a share of the insurance settlement, the exact percentage shall be specified.

(c) Initial expenses to be reimbursed to the public adjuster from the proceeds of the claim payment shall be specified by type and the dollar estimates shall be set forth in the contract. Any additional expenses shall be approved in writing by the insured.

(d) Compensation provisions in a public adjuster contract shall not be redacted in any copy of the contract provided to the director.

(3) If the insurer, not later than seventy-two hours after the date on which the loss is reported to the insurer, either pays or commits in writing to pay to the insured the policy limit of the insurance policy, the public adjuster shall:

(a) Not receive a commission that consists of a percentage of the total amount paid by an insurer to resolve a claim;

(b) Inform the insured that the loss recovery amount might not be increased by the insurer; and

(c) Be entitled only to reasonable compensation from the insured for services provided by the public adjuster on behalf of the insured, based on the time spent on a claim and expenses incurred by the public adjuster, until the claim is paid or the insured receives a written commitment to pay from the insurer.

(4) A public adjuster contract may not contain any contract term that:

(a) Allows a percentage fee to be collected by the public adjuster when money is due from an insurer, but not paid, or that allows a public adjuster to collect the entire fee from the first check issued by an insurer, rather than as a percentage of each check issued by an insurer;

(b) Requires the insured to authorize an insurer to issue a check only in the name of the public adjuster;

(c) Imposes collection costs or late fees; or

(d) Precludes a public adjuster from pursuing civil remedies.

(5) Prior to the signing of the contract the public adjuster shall provide the insured with a separate disclosure document regarding the claim process that states:

(a) Property insurance policies obligate the insured to present a claim to his or her insurer for consideration;

(b) There are three types of adjusters that could be involved in the claim process. The definitions of the three types are as follows:

(i) Company adjuster means an insurance adjuster who is an employee of an insurer. He or she represents the interest of the insurer, is paid by the insurer, and will not charge the insured a fee;

(ii) Independent adjuster means an insurance adjuster who is hired on a contract basis by an insurer to represent the interest of the insurer in the settlement of the claim. He or she is paid by the insurer and will not charge the insured a fee; and

(iii) Public adjuster means an insurance adjuster who does not work for any insurer. He or she works for the insured to assist in the preparation, presentation, and settlement of the claim. The insured hires a public adjuster by signing a contract agreeing to pay a fee or commission based on a percentage of the settlement or other method of compensation;

(c) The insured is not required to hire a public adjuster to help the insured meet the insured's obligations under the policy, but has the right to do so;

(d) The insured has the right to initiate direct communications with the insured's attorney, the insurer, the company adjuster, and the insurer's attorney, or any other person regarding the settlement of the insured's claim;

(e) The public adjuster is not a representative or employee of the insurer; and

(f) The salary, fee, commission, or other consideration to be paid to a public adjuster is the obligation of the insured, not the insurer.

(6) The contract shall be executed in duplicate to provide an original contract to the public adjuster and an original contract to the insured. The original contract retained by the public adjuster shall be available at all times for inspection without notice by the department.

(7) The public adjuster shall provide the insurer a notification letter, which has been signed by the insured, authorizing the public adjuster to represent the insured's interest.

(8) The public adjuster shall give the insured written notice of the insured's rights as provided in this section.

(9) The insured has the right to rescind the contract within three business days after the date the contract was signed. The rescission shall be in writing and mailed or delivered to the public adjuster at the address in the contract within the three-business-day period.

(10) If the insured exercises the right to rescind the contract, anything of value given by the insured under the contract will be returned to the insured within fifteen days following the receipt by the public adjuster of the rescission notice.

(11) The director may require a public adjuster to file a contract with the department in a manner prescribed by the director.

44-9215 Escrow account.

A public adjuster who receives, accepts, or holds, on behalf of an insured, any funds toward the settlement of a claim for loss or damage shall deposit the funds in a non-interest-bearing escrow account in a financial institution that is insured by an agency of the federal government in the home state of such public adjuster or the state where the loss occurred.

Source: Laws 2018, LB743, § 15.

44-9216 Records; contents; retention; inspection.

(1) A public adjuster shall maintain a complete record of each transaction as a public adjuster. The records required by this section shall include the following:

(a) The name of the insured;

(b) The date, location, and amount of the loss;

(c) A copy of the contract between the public adjuster and the insured;

(d) The name of the insurer, amount, expiration date, and policy number for each policy carried with respect to the loss;

(e) An itemized statement of the amount recovered for the insured;

(f) An itemized statement of all compensation received by the public adjuster, from any source whatsoever, in connection with the loss;

(g) A register of all money received, deposited, disbursed, or withdrawn in connection with a transaction with an insured, including fees, transfers, and disbursements from a trust account and all transactions concerning all interest-bearing accounts;

(h) The name of the public adjuster who executed the contract;

(i) The name of the attorney representing the insured, if applicable, and the name of the claims representative of the insurer; and

(j) Evidence of financial responsibility in a format prescribed by the director.

(2) Records shall be maintained for at least five years after the termination of the transaction with an insured and shall be open to examination by the department at all times.

(3) Records submitted to the department in accordance with this section that contain information identified in writing as proprietary by the public adjuster shall be treated as confidential by the department.

44-9217 Public adjuster; loyalty; prohibited acts.

(1) A public adjuster shall serve with objectivity and complete loyalty to the interest of the insured and shall, in good faith, render to the insured such information, counsel, and service, as within the knowledge, understanding, and opinion of such public adjuster will best serve the insurance claim needs and interest of the insured.

(2) A public adjuster shall not solicit, nor attempt to solicit, an insured during the progress of a loss-producing occurrence, as defined in the insured's insurance contract.

(3) A public adjuster shall not permit an unlicensed employee or representative of the public adjuster to conduct business for which a license is required under the Public Adjusters Licensing Act.

(4) A public adjuster shall not have a direct or indirect financial interest in any aspect of the claim, other than the salary, fee, commission, or other consideration established in the written contract with the insured. Direct or indirect financial interest includes, but is not limited to, ownership of, employment by, or other consideration received from any business entity or individual that performs any work pertaining to damage related to the insured loss.

(5) A public adjuster shall not acquire any interest in salvage of property subject to the contract with the insured unless the public adjuster obtains written permission from the insured after settlement of the claim with the insurer.

(6) A public adjuster shall abstain from referring or directing the insured to obtain needed repairs or services in connection with a loss from any person:

(a) With whom the public adjuster has a direct or indirect financial interest; or

(b) From whom the public adjuster may receive direct or indirect compensation or other consideration for the referral.

(7) A public adjuster shall not undertake the adjustment of any claim if such public adjuster is not competent and knowledgeable as to the terms and conditions of the insurance coverage or if the loss or coverage otherwise exceeds the current expertise of the public adjuster.

(8) A public adjuster shall not knowingly make any false oral or written material statements regarding any person engaged in the business of insurance to any insured client or potential insured client.

(9) A public adjuster, while so licensed pursuant to the Public Adjusters Licensing Act, shall not represent or act as a company adjuster or independent adjuster in any circumstance.

(10) A public adjuster shall not enter into a contract or accept a power of attorney that vests in such public adjuster the effective authority to choose the persons who shall perform repair work.

(11) A public adjuster shall not agree to any loss settlement without the knowledge and consent of the insured.

Source: Laws 2018, LB743, § 17.

44-9218 Fee; catastrophic fees.

(1) A public adjuster may charge the insured a reasonable fee for public adjuster services.

(2) A person shall not accept a commission, service fee, or other valuable consideration for investigating or settling claims in this state if that person is required to be licensed under the Public Adjusters Licensing Act and is not so licensed.

(3) In the event of a catastrophic disaster, there shall be limits on catastrophic fees. No public adjuster shall charge, agree to, or accept as compensation or reimbursement any payment, commission, fee, or other thing of value equal to or more than ten percent of any insurance settlement or proceeds resulting from a catastrophic disaster.

(4) No public adjuster shall require, demand, or accept any fee, retainer, compensation, deposit, or other thing of value prior to settlement of a claim unless the loss is being handled by the public adjuster on a time-plus-expense basis.

(c) LOAN AGENCIES

45-159. Repealed. Laws 1982, LB 592, § 2.

(a) GENERAL PROVISIONS

45-101 Repealed. Laws 1975, LB 349, § 6.

45-101.01 Unconstitutional.

This section enacted by 1963 Special Session as a part of Legislative Bill 11 was unconstitutional as special legislation. State Securities Co. v. Ley, 177 Neb. 251, 128 N.W.2d 766 (1964).

45-101.02 Terms, defined.

As used in sections 45-101.02 to 45-101.04, 45-102, and 45-105, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Interest means the compensation agreed upon or allowed by law upon any loan or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action but does not include loan service costs;

(2) Loan service costs means reasonable and necessary costs and charges incurred in connection with the making, closing, disbursing, servicing, extending, transferring, or renewing of a loan, including but not limited to (a) prepayment charges, (b) delinquency charges, (c) premiums for hazard, private mortgage, disability, life, or title insurance, (d) fees for escrow, appraisal, abstracting, title examination, surveys, inspections, credit reports, and recording of documents, (e) origination fees, (f) interest on interest after default, and (g) costs and charges incurred for determining qualification for the loan proceeds and disbursement of the loan proceeds; and

(3) Discount points means any charges except actual loan service costs whether or not actually denominated as discount points paid to a lender which directly or indirectly affect the ability of the borrower to secure a loan. For the purpose of determining the rate of interest on any loan, discount points, if any, shall be amortized over the original term of the loan.

45-101.03 General interest rate; maximum; variable rate authorized; conditions.

(1) Except as provided in section 45-101.04, any rate of interest which may be agreed upon, not exceeding sixteen percent per annum on the unpaid principal balance, shall be valid upon any loan or forbearance of money, goods, or things in action and may be taken yearly, for any shorter period, or in advance, if so expressly agreed.

(2) Such rate of interest so long as it does not violate sections 45-101.02 to 45-113 or any federal usury law may be charged on a variable rate basis, except that if the lender proposes to increase the interest rate during the term of a loan on consumer goods notice of such proposed increase shall be communicated in writing to the person or persons primarily obligated on such loan at least ten days prior to the proposed increase. Deposit of such notice in the United States mails, postage prepaid, shall be deemed communication for the purpose of this section.

Notwithstanding limitations on interest rates imposed on state banks by Nebraska law, national bank in Nebraska can charge, with respect to credit card transactions, rates allowed by Nebraska law for ''small loan companies''. Fisher v. First Nat. Bank of Omaha, 548 F.2d 255 (8th Cir. 1977).

45-101.04 General interest rate; maximum; when not applicable.

The limitation on the rate of interest provided in section 45-101.03 shall not apply to:

(1) Other rates of interest authorized for loans made by any licensee or permittee operating under a license or permit duly issued by the Department of Banking and Finance pursuant to the Credit Union Act, the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, subsection (4) of section 8-319, or sections 8-815 to 8-829;

(2) Loans made to any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or trust;

(3) The guarantor or surety of any loan to a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or trust;

(4) Loans made when the aggregate principal amount of the indebtedness is twenty-five thousand dollars or more of the borrower to any one financial institution, licensee, or permittee;

(5) Loans insured, guaranteed, sponsored, or participated in, either in whole or part, by any agency, department, or program of the United States or state government;

(6) Loans or advances of money, repayable on demand, which are made solely upon securities, as defined in subdivision (15) of section 8-1101, pledged as collateral for such repayment and in which such loans or advances are used by the borrower only for the purchase of securities as so defined. It shall be lawful to contract for and receive any rate of interest on such transaction as the parties thereto may expressly agree;

(7) Interest charges made on open credit accounts by a person who sells goods or services on credit when the interest charges do not exceed one and one-third percent per month for any charges which remain unpaid for more than thirty days following rendition of the statement of account;

(8) A minimum charge of ten dollars per loan which may be charged by the lender in lieu of all interest charges;

(9) Loans described in subsection (4) of section 8-319 made by a state or federal savings and loan association at a rate not to exceed nineteen percent per annum;

(10) Loans made primarily for business or agricultural purposes or secured by real property when such loans are made (a) by a licensee, registrant, or permittee operating under a license, registration, or permit duly issued by the Department of Banking and Finance except for licensees operating under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, (b) by any financial institution insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the National Credit Union Administration, or (c) by any insurance company organized under the laws of this state and subject to regulation by the Department of Insurance;

(11) Loans secured solely by real property when such loans are (a) made by licensees operating under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act and (b) made to finance or refinance the purchase of the property or construction on or improvements to the property, if the Department of Banking and Finance has the authority to examine such loans for compliance with sections 45-101.02 and 45-101.03. A licensee making a loan pursuant to this subdivision may obtain an interest in any fixtures attached to such real property and any insurance proceeds payable in connection with such real property or the loan;

(12) Loans secured by a reverse mortgage pursuant to section 45-702.01;

(13) Interest charges made on any goods or services sold under an installment contract pursuant to the Nebraska Installment Sales Act. Subject to section 45-338, it shall be lawful to contract for and receive any rate of interest on such contract as the parties may expressly agree to in writing; or

(14) Fees which may be charged by a licensee for services pursuant to the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act.

45-101.05 Mortgage loan; escrow account; how established and maintained.

No lender, in connection with a mortgage loan, shall require the borrower or prospective borrower:

(1) To deposit in any escrow account which may be established in connection with such loan for the purpose of assuring payment of taxes, insurance premiums, or other charges with respect to the property, prior to or upon the date of settlement, an aggregate sum in excess of the total amount of such taxes, insurance premiums, and other charges which are attributable to the period beginning on the last date on which each such charge would have been paid under the normal lending practice of the lender if the selection of each such date constitutes prudent lending practice and ending on the due date of its first full installment payment under the mortgage plus a cushion that shall be no greater than one-sixth of the estimated total annual payments to be made from the escrow account for such taxes, insurance premiums, and other charges during the twelve-month period beginning on the date of settlement; or

(2) To deposit in any such escrow account in any month beginning after the date of settlement a sum for the purpose of assuring payment of taxes, insurance premiums, or other charges with respect to the property in excess of one-twelfth of the total annual escrow account payments which the lender reasonably anticipates paying from the escrow account for such taxes, insurance premiums, and other charges plus a cushion that shall be no greater than one-sixth of the estimated total annual payments to be made from the escrow account for such taxes, insurance premiums, and other charges, except that if the lender determines that a shortage exists or that there will be a deficiency on the due date the lender shall not be prohibited from requiring additional monthly deposits in such escrow account of pro rata portions of the shortage or deficiency corresponding to the number of months from the date of the lender's determination of such shortage or deficiency to the date upon which such taxes, insurance premiums, and other charges would be paid under the normal lending practice of the lender if the selection of each such date constitutes prudent lending practice.

45-103 Interest; judgments; decrees; rate; exceptions.

For decrees and judgments rendered before July 20, 2002, interest on decrees and judgments for the payment of money shall be fixed at a rate equal to one percentage point above the bond equivalent yield, as published by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, of the average accepted auction price for the last auction of fifty-two-week United States Treasury bills in effect on the date of entry of the judgment. For decrees and judgments rendered on and after July 20, 2002, interest on decrees and judgments for the payment of money shall be fixed at a rate equal to two percentage points above the bond investment yield, as published by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, of the average accepted auction price for the first auction of each annual quarter of the twenty-six-week United States Treasury bills in effect on the date of entry of the judgment. The State Court Administrator shall distribute notice of such rate and any changes to it to all Nebraska judges to be in effect two weeks after the date the auction price is published by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. This interest rate shall not apply to:

(1) An action in which the interest rate is specifically provided by law; or

(2) An action founded upon an oral or written contract in which the parties have agreed to a rate of interest other than that specified in this section.

Where contract bears interest at six percent before maturity and ten thereafter, decree will draw ten. Havemeyer v. Paul, 45 Neb. 373, 63 N.W. 932 (1895).

2. Judgments and decrees generally

Judgment interest accrues on the judgment, even if that judgment is made up in part of interest already accrued. Heritage Bank v. Bruha, 283 Neb. 263, 812 N.W.2d 260 (2012).

It is not mandatory that interest be charged on a marital deferred property distribution. It is, however, within the discretionary power of a district court to award interest on deferred installments payable as part of a marital property distribution. When utilizing this discretionary power, a factor the district court or the Court of Appeals should take into consideration is the burden of the payor spouse. Priest v. Priest, 251 Neb. 76, 554 N.W.2d 792 (1996).

When a judgment is to be paid in installments, interest begins to accrue on each individual installment only from the date it becomes due and payable. Thiltges v. Thiltges, 247 Neb. 371, 527 N.W.2d 853 (1995).

Plaintiff was entitled to six percent interest on claim allowed against receiver until amendment increased it to eight percent from July 6, 1972. Colburn v. Ley, 191 Neb. 427, 215 N.W.2d 869 (1974).

Provision for interest on decrees and judgments relates to money immediately due and collectible where its nonpayment is a breach of duty. Patterson v. Spelts Lumber Co., 166 Neb. 692, 90 N.W.2d 283 (1958).

Order of court establishing trust fund in sum certain, entitled to priority of payment from assets of failed bank before claims of depositors and creditors are paid, bears interest at legal rate from date of decree until paid, and accrued interest is preferred claim over claims of depositors and creditors. State ex rel. Spillman v. First State Bank, 124 Neb. 786, 248 N.W. 383 (1933).

Where court in receivership proceeding allows depositor of insolvent bank preferred claim payable from guaranty fund, the order is a judgment and such judgment draws interest at legal rate until paid. Bliss v. Bryan, 123 Neb. 461, 243 N.W. 625 (1932).

In liquidation of insolvent bank, allowance of trust fund is decree in the nature of judgment for payment of money, and hereunder, bears interest at legal rate from date of judgment until paid. Hall v. Citizens State Bank, 122 Neb. 636, 241 N.W. 123 (1932).

3. Installment judgment

Where a judgment is required to be paid in installments, interest begins to accrue on each individual installment from the date it becomes due and payable. Dryden v. Dryden, 205 Neb. 666, 289 N.W.2d 525 (1980).

Delinquent installments of child support bear interest at the legal rate from the date of delinquency. Ferry v. Ferry, 201 Neb. 595, 271 N.W.2d 450 (1978).

The trial court has the inherent power in adjusting the rights of the parties to provide that a money allowance to be paid in installments shall not draw interest until a certain date. Nickel v. Nickel, 201 Neb. 267, 267 N.W.2d 190 (1978).

Where judgment was rendered for specific amount against each of several defendants jointly and severally liable, and case continued for further decree in event any should fail to pay, interest on remaining amount begins from date of demand and refusal, not from original judgment. First Nat. Bank of Omaha v. Cooper, 91 Neb. 624, 136 N.W. 1023 (1912).

Section refers to judgments collectible at once. Installment judgments should draw interest from date of maturity of installment until paid. Dike v. Andrews, 80 Neb. 455, 114 N.W. 582 (1908).

4. Verdict

Interest is allowable on amount of verdict from date of rendition to entry of judgment thereon. Hilton v. State, 60 Neb. 421, 83 N.W. 354 (1900).

Interest on verdict in tort should be allowed up to rendition of judgment and become part thereof. Fremont, E. & M. V. R.R. Co. v. Root, 49 Neb. 900, 69 N.W. 397 (1896).

5. Miscellaneous

Based on the mandatory language contained herein, a court of equity does not have discretion to withhold interest on decrees or judgments for the payment of money. Welch v. Welch, 246 Neb. 435, 519 N.W.2d 262 (1994).

A court of equity has a reasonable discretion to allow or withhold interest as is reasonable and just, except in cases where it is recoverable as a matter of right. Kullbom v. Kullbom, 215 Neb. 148, 337 N.W.2d 731 (1983).

The provisions for interest in this section apply to sales conducted pursuant to statutory procedures relating to foreclosure sales. They do not apply as a matter of right to sales conducted under terms negotiated by the parties. In such situations, the court may exercise reasonable discretion in allocating interest between the parties. Bankers Union Life Ins. Co. v. Nebraska Corp., 211 Neb. 350, 318 N.W.2d 730 (1982).

Where usury is established, plaintiff is not entitled to interest on the judgment. Central Constr. Co. v. Blanchard, 180 Neb. 62, 141 N.W.2d 416 (1966).

Interest is not allowed on attorney's fee until claim is reduced to judgment. Metcalf v. Hartford Acc. & Ind. Co., 176 Neb. 468, 126 N.W.2d 471 (1964).

Representatives of estates should be surcharged with interest at legal rate when they have abused their trust. In re Estate of Wiley, 150 Neb. 898, 36 N.W.2d 483 (1949).

In action to rescind a contract, where certain money in hands of defendant is found to be an equitable trust fund in favor of plaintiff, plaintiff is entitled to interest thereon. Ericson v. Nebraska–Iowa Farm Investment Co., 134 Neb. 391, 278 N.W. 841 (1938).

Where payment is made upon judgment in excess of interest then due thereon, entire balance due on judgment bears interest as provided by law from date of such payment. Rawlings v. Anheuser–Busch Brewing Co., 69 Neb. 34, 94 N.W. 1001 (1903).

In all actions interest is recoverable for use or destruction of property when amount due plaintiff may be ascertained by reference to market values. Missouri, K. & T. Trust Co. v. Clark, 60 Neb. 406, 83 N.W. 202 (1900).

Note, providing for legal rate until maturity and higher legal rate thereafter, is not a penalty and not usurious. Crapo v. Hefner, 53 Neb. 251, 73 N.W. 702 (1898).

Where interest on note plus commission on loan taken together do not exceed legal rate for period, it is not usurious. Upton v. O'Donahue, 32 Neb. 565, 49 N.W. 267 (1891).

Unlike this section, which provides for postjudgment interest, section 45–104 allows for prejudgment interest. Farm & Garden Ctr. v. Kennedy, 26 Neb. App. 576, 921 N.W.2d 615 (2018).

In Frazier–Lemke proceedings, failure to file claim at time of application for extension does not prejudice holder of mortgage lien, and holder of lien is not required to offer proof of freedom from usury. Rafert v. Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, 152 F.2d 193 (8th Cir. 1945).

In awarding damages for breach of contract, court could not allow interest on unliquidated claim at a rate exceeding six percent after statute reducing legal rate from seven to six percent became effective. Otoe County Nat. Bank v. Delany, 88 F.2d 238 (8th Cir. 1937).

Alleged error in calculating interest on allowance of attorney's fees is not reviewable in absence of motion, objection or exception, or assignment of error at trial. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Armstrong, 85 F.2d 187 (8th Cir. 1936).

45-103.01 Postjudgment interest; accrual; when.

Interest as provided in section 45-103 shall accrue on decrees and judgments for the payment of money from the date of entry of judgment until satisfaction of judgment.

Judgment interest accrues on the judgment, even if that judgment is made up in part of interest already accrued. Heritage Bank v. Bruha, 283 Neb. 263, 812 N.W.2d 260 (2012).

This section allows parties to contractually agree to a rate of postjudgment interest and does not impose additional conditions for the recovery of such interest. Folgers Architects v. Kerns, 262 Neb. 530, 633 N.W.2d 114 (2001).

Interest accrues from the date the original judgment is due, regardless of whether an appeal is taken prior to that date. Gallner v. Gallner, 257 Neb. 158, 595 N.W.2d 904 (1999).

Based on the mandatory language contained herein, a court of equity does not have discretion to withhold interest on decrees or judgments for the payment of money. Welch v. Welch, 246 Neb. 435, 519 N.W.2d 262 (1994).

The court did not err in awarding postjudgment interest on the wife's fixed dollar amount share of her husband's profit-sharing plan from the date of entry of the decree, even though the qualified domestic relations order called for by the decree was not entered for over 2 years. Fry v. Fry, 18 Neb. App. 75, 775 N.W.2d 438 (2009).

When a judgment is modified upon appeal, interest runs on the full amount of the judgment as modified from the date the original judgment was rendered by the trial court. Ramaekers, McPherron & Skiles v. Ramaekers, 4 Neb. App. 733, 549 N.W.2d 662 (1996).

45-103.02 Prejudgment interest; accrual; when; conditions.

(1) Except as provided in section 45-103.04, interest as provided in section 45-103 shall accrue on the unpaid balance of unliquidated claims from the date of the plaintiff's first offer of settlement which is exceeded by the judgment until the entry of judgment if all of the following conditions are met:

(a) The offer is made in writing upon the defendant by certified mail, return receipt requested, to allow judgment to be taken in accordance with the terms and conditions stated in the offer;

(b) The offer is made not less than ten days prior to the commencement of the trial;

(c) A copy of the offer and proof of delivery to the defendant in the form of a receipt signed by the party or his or her attorney is filed with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending; and

(d) The offer is not accepted prior to trial or within thirty days of the date of the offer, whichever occurs first.

(2) Except as provided in section 45-103.04, interest as provided in section 45-104 shall accrue on the unpaid balance of liquidated claims from the date the cause of action arose until the entry of judgment.

1. Liquidated claims
2. Unliquidated claims
3. Miscellaneous

1. Liquidated claims

Prejudgment interest is recoverable only when the claim is liquidated, that is, when there is no reasonable controversy as to the plaintiff's right to recover and the amount of such recovery. This determination requires a two-pronged inquiry. There must be no dispute as to the amount due and to the plaintiff's right to recover. Dutton–Lainson Co. v. Continental Ins. Co., 279 Neb. 365, 778 N.W.2d 433 (2010).

Prejudgment interest may be awarded only as provided in subsection (2) of this section. Dutton–Lainson Co. v. Continental Ins. Co., 279 Neb. 365, 778 N.W.2d 433 (2010).

Prejudgment interest under this section is recoverable only when the claim is liquidated, that is, when there is no reasonable controversy as to either the plaintiff's right to recover or the amount of such recovery. A two-pronged inquiry is required. There must be no dispute either as to the amount due or as to the plaintiff's right to recover, or both. Ferer v. Aaron Ferer & Sons, 272 Neb. 770, 725 N.W.2d 168 (2006).

Under this section, the proper date for prejudgment interest to begin accruing on a liquidated claim is the date in which the cause of action arose; it is important that a court awarding prejudgment interest disclose the precise date on which it determined the cause of action giving rise to an award of prejudgment interest arose. Blue Valley Co-op v. National Farmers Org., 257 Neb. 751, 600 N.W.2d 786 (1999).

A claim is liquidated when there is no reasonable controversy either as to the plaintiff's right to recover or as to the amount of such recovery. Cheloha v. Cheloha, 255 Neb. 32, 582 N.W.2d 291 (1998).

Prejudgment interest under subsection (2) of this section is recoverable only when the claim is liquidated, that is, when there is no reasonable controversy as to either the plaintiff's right to recover or the amount of such recovery. Farm & Garden Ctr. v. Kennedy, 26 Neb. App. 576, 921 N.W.2d 615 (2018).

2. Unliquidated claims

Under subsection (1) of this section, where the claim is unliquidated and the plaintiff's offer of settlement is exceeded by the judgment, prejudgment interest accrues on the full amount of the judgment starting on the date of the plaintiff's first offer of settlement, which offer is exceeded by the judgment. Martensen v. Rejda Bros., 283 Neb. 279, 808 N.W.2d 855 (2012).

The interest rate referenced in this section does not apply when the parties have contractually agreed to the rate of interest that will apply to an unliquidated claim. This section prescribes the conditions for allowance of prejudgment interest on all causes of action, and the parties cannot contract out of the statutory conditions. Folgers Architects v. Kerns, 262 Neb. 530, 633 N.W.2d 114 (2001).

An offer to settle a claim pursuant to this section may be made either before or after the commencement of an action asserting the claim. This section does not differentiate between a judgment reached by agreement and one rendered following trial. Wortman By and Through Wortman v. Unger, 254 Neb. 544, 578 N.W.2d 413 (1998).

If there is a dispute as to either the amount due or the plaintiff's right to recover, the claim is generally considered to be unliquidated and prejudgment interest is not allowed. Farm & Garden Ctr. v. Kennedy, 26 Neb. App. 576, 921 N.W.2d 615 (2018).

3. Miscellaneous

This section and section 45–104 are alternate and independent sections authorizing the recovery of prejudgment interest. Weyh v. Gottsch, 303 Neb. 280, 929 N.W.2d 40 (2019).

This section provides the sole means for recovery of interest costs. Interest is not otherwise recoverable as a separate element of damages. R & D Properties v. Altech Constr. Co., 279 Neb. 74, 776 N.W.2d 493 (2009).

Prejudgment interest may be awarded only as provided in this section. IBP, Inc. v. Sands, 252 Neb. 573, 563 N.W.2d 353 (1997).

In order to be eligible to receive prejudgment interest in a cause of action accruing after January 1, 1987, a litigant must comply with the requirements of this section. Label Concepts v. Westendorf Plastics, 247 Neb. 560, 528 N.W.2d 335 (1995).

It was plain error for district court to award prejudgment interest where the requirements of this section were not complied with. Peterson v. Kellner, 245 Neb. 515, 513 N.W.2d 517 (1994).

In order to receive prejudgment interest, a litigant must comply with this section. Sayer v. Bowley, 243 Neb. 801, 503 N.W.2d 166 (1993).

Prejudgment interest may be recovered only as provided under this section. Elson v. Pool, 235 Neb. 469, 455 N.W.2d 783 (1990).

Prejudgment interest is not allowed on rent which accrued on or after January 1, 1987, unless the provisions of this section are complied with. Knox v. Cook, 233 Neb. 387, 446 N.W.2d 1 (1989).

45-103.03 Interest; how computed.

All payments made prior to trial by or on behalf of the defendant shall be subtracted from the judgment before interest as provided in subsection (1) of section 45-103.02 is added.

Source: Laws 1986, LB 298, § 4; Laws 1994, LB 1183, § 4.

45-103.04 Prejudgment interest; exceptions.

Interest as provided in section 45-103.02 shall not accrue prior to the date of entry of judgment for:

(1) Any action arising under Chapter 42; or

(2) Any action involving the state, a political subdivision of the state, or any employee of the state or any of its political subdivisions for any negligent or wrongful act or omission accruing within the scope of such employee's office or employment.

Source: Laws 1986, LB 298, § 5; Laws 1994, LB 1183, § 5; Laws 1999, LB 43, § 22.

Subsection (2) of this section prohibits prejudgment interest for (1) any action involving the state, (2) any action involving a political subdivision of the state, or (3) any action involving an employee of the state or political subdivision for any negligent or wrongful act or omission accruing within the scope of such employee's office or employment. Eikmeier v. City of Omaha, 280 Neb. 173, 783 N.W.2d 795 (2010).

Claims against political subdivisions which accrued on or after January 1, 1987, are not subject to prejudgment interest. Hammond v. City of Broken Bow, 239 Neb. 437, 476 N.W.2d 822 (1991).

45-104 Interest; other contract obligations.

Unless otherwise agreed, interest shall be allowed at the rate of twelve percent per annum on money due on any instrument in writing, or on settlement of the account from the day the balance shall be agreed upon, on money received to the use of another and retained without the owner's consent, express or implied, from the receipt thereof, and on money loaned or due and withheld by unreasonable delay of payment. Unless otherwise agreed or provided by law, each charge with respect to unsettled accounts between parties shall bear interest from the date of billing unless paid within thirty days from the date of billing.

1. Scope of section

Section 45–103.02 and this section are alternate and independent sections authorizing the recovery of prejudgment interest. Weyh v. Gottsch, 303 Neb. 280, 929 N.W.2d 40 (2019).

This section authorizes the recovery of prejudgment interest on four categories of contract-based claims without regard to whether the claim is liquidated or unliquidated. Weyh v. Gottsch, 303 Neb. 280, 929 N.W.2d 40 (2019).

This section only provides the interest rate on prejudgment interest in specific types of actions; it does not provide an alternative statute for recovery independent of section 45–103.02. Records v. Christensen, 246 Neb. 912, 524 N.W.2d 757 (1994).

In order to receive prejudgment interest, a litigant must comply with section 45–103.02. Sayer v. Bowley, 243 Neb. 801, 503 N.W.2d 166 (1993).

2. Instruments in writing

A will is an instrument in writing. Therefore, when interest is required to be paid on a pecuniary devise pursuant to section 30–24,102, the legal rate of interest called for is 12 percent per annum, as required by this section. In re Estate of Peterson, 230 Neb. 744, 433 N.W.2d 500 (1988).

Where the parties had ''otherwise agreed'' by a provision in their lease, this section was superseded. Prudential Ins. Co. v. Greco, 211 Neb. 342, 318 N.W.2d 724 (1982).

Where no interest rate is inserted in a form contract providing for interest and it appears from other matter typed into the form contract and parol evidence at trial that no interest payments were intended, this section does not require that interest be paid. Lovelace v. Stern, 207 Neb. 174, 297 N.W.2d 160 (1980).

Where under signed agreement defendant was to pay upon completion of subcontracts and date of completion was not proved, the account was not settled and interest was allowable from date of judgment only. Andrews Electric Co. v. Farm Automation, Inc., 188 Neb. 669, 198 N.W.2d 463 (1972).

Note providing interest from date, without specified rate, bears interest at legal rate. Praest v. Quesner, 113 Neb. 485, 203 N.W. 549 (1925).

In action on official bonds, interest runs from time, under terms of statute and bond, when funds should have been accounted for and turned over to successor. Thomssen v. County of Hall, 63 Neb. 777, 89 N.W. 389 (1902).

A written instrument whereby maker promises to pay a specified sum with interest at a specified rate per annum draws interest from date of instrument notwithstanding the instrument contains a condition that it shall not be due and payable until payee shall render an account of money received under bond. Jewett v. McGillicuddy, 55 Neb. 588, 75 N.W. 1099 (1898).

Demand certificates, in absence of agreement, draw interest at legal rate from demand, and, if no demand, then from commencement of suit. Morse v. Rice, 36 Neb. 212, 54 N.W. 308 (1893).

In action on executor's bond for money which he failed to pay, interest should be allowed at legal rate. Bell v. Arndt, 24 Neb. 261, 38 N.W. 750 (1888).

Due bills draw interest from date, unless there is some provision therein to the contrary. Estate of Bennett v. Taylor, 4 Neb. Unof. 800, 96 N.W. 669 (1903).

''[M]oney due on any instrument in writing'' under this section includes written invoices and billing statements sent by a business to a customer for products and services sold, and unless otherwise agreed or provided by law, such unsettled accounts between the parties shall bear interest from the date of billing unless paid within 30 days from the date of billing. Farm & Garden Ctr. v. Kennedy, 26 Neb. App. 576, 921 N.W.2d 615 (2018).

Where written contract provides that purchase price of goods shall be paid by a certain date, seller is entitled to interest from date buyer was obligated to make payment. City of Hastings v. Nebraska–Kansas Nat. Gas Co., 226 F.2d 419 (8th Cir. 1955).

3. Accounts

When a bank or savings institution is found liable for unauthorized withdrawal of funds from depositor's account, the depositor is entitled to interest from the date of such withdrawals to date of judgment. Edquist v. Commercial Sav. & Loan Assn., 191 Neb. 618, 217 N.W.2d 82 (1974).

A cotenant who collects rents and profits from real estate is required to pay interest on each year's rent to the other cotenants. Fraser v. Temple, 173 Neb. 367, 113 N.W.2d 319 (1962).

Trial court properly added to verdict interest on unsettled account from six months after date of last item. Heusser v. McAtee, 151 Neb. 828, 39 N.W.2d 802 (1949).

In absence of contract, unsettled accounts do not draw interest until six months after the date of the last item. Moore v. Schank, 148 Neb. 228, 27 N.W.2d 165 (1947).

Where mechanics' lien is based on book account, interest commences six months after date of last item, in absence of other agreement. Walker v. Collins Constr. Co., 121 Neb. 157, 236 N.W. 334 (1931).

Unsettled accounts draw interest at legal rate beginning six months from date of last item, whether it be debit or credit, but greater rate may be agreed upon. Woodbury Granite Co. v. Miller, 102 Neb. 304, 167 N.W. 68 (1918); Lindell v. Deere, Wells & Co., 66 Neb. 87, 92 N.W. 164 (1902); Garneau v. Omaha Printing Co., 52 Neb. 383, 72 N.W. 360 (1897).

In partnership accounts, interest may be allowed on an advancement, but not on withdrawals until replacement is demanded. Clark v. Warden, 10 Neb. 87, 4 N.W. 413 (1880).

Interest on claim against receiver was properly allowed from date of contract which amounted to an account stated. Lupton v. Chase National Bank of New York, 89 F.Supp. 393 (D. Neb. 1950).

4. Money retained

As used in this section, ''money received to the use of another'' indicates that the money is received on behalf of another person, such as an agent receiving money on behalf of his principal. Brook Valley Ltd. Part. v. Mutual of Omaha Bank, 285 Neb. 157, 825 N.W.2d 779 (2013).

Where delay in payment of a specific legacy is caused by litigation which precluded speedy administration of estate, executor is not ordinarily chargeable with interest until a reasonable time has elapsed after difficulty has ceased. In re Kierstead's Estate, 128 Neb. 654, 259 N.W. 740 (1935).

Money sought to be reclaimed as a trust fund from receiver of insolvent state bank bears interest at legal rate, as it is money received to the use of another and retained without the owner's consent. Hall v. Citizens State Bank of Superior, 122 Neb. 636, 241 N.W. 123 (1932).

Agent chargeable with interest at legal rate from time money was wrongfully withheld from principal. Pearlman v. Snitzer, 112 Neb. 135, 198 N.W. 879 (1924).

Interest may be allowed at legal rate on money due and withheld by unreasonable delay of payment. Mullally v. Dingman, 62 Neb. 702, 87 N.W. 543 (1901).

A claim against an insolvent bank for specific money deposited and adjudicated to be a trust fund draws interest as money received to the use of another and retained without the owner's consent. Capital Nat. Bank v. Coldwater Nat. Bank, 49 Neb. 786, 69 N.W. 115 (1896), 59 A.S.R. 572 (1896).

5. Money loaned or due

Where stockholders of a corporation resisted payment of additional judgment rendered on account of failure of same stockholders to pay share of original judgment, they were liable for interest on money due and withheld by unreasonable delay. First Nat. Bank of Omaha v. Cooper, 91 Neb. 624, 136 N.W. 1023 (1912).

Allowance of interest on purchase money refunded is in discretion of court and cannot exceed legal rate. State Bank of Nebraska v. Green, 10 Neb. 130, 4 N.W. 942 (1880).

Where, by express agreement, the amount of merchandise sold during each month was, at the end of the month, due and payable, sales for each month would draw interest from time account fell due. Beck v. Devereaux, 9 Neb. 109, 2 N.W. 365 (1879).

Where amount due is liquidated, and there is evidence that makes it possible to compute with exactness the amount owed, the prevailing party is entitled to prejudgment interest. Kaus v. Bideaux, 709 F.2d 1221 (8th Cir. 1983).

6. Date interest accrues

Under this section, an agent is chargeable with interest at the legal rate from the time that the money is wrongfully withheld from the principal. Cheloha v. Cheloha, 255 Neb. 32, 582 N.W.2d 291 (1998).

Interest properly allowed from date checks and warrants involved were deposited in treasurer's bank account. City of Bellevue v. Western Surety Co., 184 Neb. 678, 171 N.W.2d 772 (1969).

On rescission of contract, party rescinding is liable for interest on money withheld from date of rescission. James v. Hogan, 154 Neb. 306, 47 N.W.2d 847 (1951).

A claim adjudicated to be trust funds payable from assets of insolvent state bank in preference to depositors' claims is in effect a judgment, which bears interest at legal rate from date rendered. State ex rel. Sorensen v. Plateau State Bank, 126 Neb. 407, 253 N.W. 433 (1934).

Generally, prejudgment interest accrues on the unpaid balance of liquidated claims arising from an instrument in writing from the date the cause of action arose until the entry of judgment. Valley Cty. Sch. Dist. 88–0005 v. Ericson State Bank, 18 Neb. App. 624, 790 N.W.2d 462 (2010).

In a suit where amounts of debts and set-offs were known, prejudgment interest should have run from a date six months after the last transaction affecting the account. Ford Motor Co. v. Auto Supply Co., Inc., 615 F.2d 757 (8th Cir. 1980).

Where amount claimed is a matter of reasonable controversy and is unliquidated, interest runs from date of judgment. Socony Mobil Oil Co. v. Klapal, 205 F.Supp. 388 (D. Neb. 1962).

7. Contracted rate

This section allows parties to contractually agree to a rate of prejudgment interest that will apply to a liquidated claim. Folgers Architects v. Kerns, 262 Neb. 530, 633 N.W.2d 114 (2001).

Where the parties have contracted for a particular lawful rate of interest, a court should award the contract rate rather than the statutory rate. Lease Northwest v. Davis, 224 Neb. 617, 400 N.W.2d 220 (1987).

Amount due as interest prior to judgment by reason of agreement of the parties is not prejudgment interest as the term is used in this section. First Nat. Bank v. Bolzer, 221 Neb. 415, 377 N.W.2d 533 (1985).

8. Liquidated versus unliquidated

Prejudgment interest is allowed where the amount of the claim is liquidated; if reasonable controversy exists concerning the claimant's right to recover or the amount of such recovery, the claim is unliquidated, and prejudgment interest is not allowed. Knox v. Cook, 233 Neb. 387, 446 N.W.2d 1 (1989).

Prejudgment interest is allowable only when the amount of the claim is liquidated. Graff v. Burnett, 226 Neb. 710, 414 N.W.2d 271 (1987).

Prejudgment interest is properly disallowed where the claim is unliquidated. A claim is unliquidated when there exists a reasonable controversy as to plaintiff's right to recover and as to the amount of such a recovery, if any. Philip G. Johnson & Co. v. Salmen, 211 Neb. 123, 317 N.W.2d 900 (1982).

A claim is liquidated if the evidence furnishes data which if believed makes it possible to compute the amount with exactness without reliance on opinion or discretion and on a liquidated claim prejudgment interest is allowed as a matter of right. Abbott v. Abbott, 188 Neb. 61, 195 N.W.2d 204 (1972).

45-104.01 Interest; political subdivisions; delinquent taxes; special assessments.

Unless otherwise specifically provided, the interest rate assessed on delinquent payments of any taxes or special assessments owing to any political subdivision of the State of Nebraska shall be assessed at a rate of fourteen percent per annum.

Source: Laws 1981, LB 167, § 1; Laws 1992, Fourth Spec. Sess., LB 1, § 4.

Under the former law, if an obligation to pay interest arises under section 67-405 and the rate is not specified, the rate is that specified in this section. Robertson v. Jacobs Cattle Co., 285 Neb. 859, 830 N.W.2d 191 (2013).

This statutory provision does not mandate the assessment of interest on delinquent taxes; rather, it sets the rate at which such interest will be assessed. Ameritas Life Ins. Corp. v. Balka, 257 Neb. 878, 601 N.W.2d 508 (1999).

45-104.02 Interest; State of Nebraska; delinquent taxes; special assessments; credits or refunds.

(1) Unless otherwise specifically provided, the interest rate assessed on delinquent payments of any taxes or special assessments owing to the State of Nebraska shall be assessed at a rate of fourteen percent per annum through December 31, 1992, and at the per annum rate determined pursuant to subsection (2) of this section after such date.

(2) Commencing January 1, 1993, the interest rate assessed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall be redetermined every other year. The rate shall be determined by the Tax Commissioner and shall be equal to the average short-term borrowing rate for the federal government during July of the previous year rounded to the nearest whole percentage point plus three percentage points. If the new rate does not increase or decrease the old rate by at least two percentage points, the old rate shall continue in effect.

(3)(a) The rate determined pursuant to subsection (2) of this section shall apply for the period from its effective date through the date of payment or up to the effective date of the succeeding new rate, whichever is earlier.

(b) Interest on taxes or special assessments shall be calculated using the different rates which are effective over the period of delinquency.

(c) For any taxes or special assessments that were delinquent and unpaid on or before December 31, 1992, the interest rate shall be fourteen percent per annum through December 31, 1992.

(4) For any credits or refunds of taxes or special assessments on which interest is to be determined at the rate specified in this section, the calculation of interest shall use the same rates for the same periods that are used for interest on delinquent payments.

(5) For refunds applied for on or after May 1, 1993, for any taxes that were overpaid as of December 31, 1992, the interest rate shall be seven percent per annum from the date of overpayment through December 31, 1992.

Absent evidence in the record about what the rate should be, an appellate court cannot rule that the rate used by the trial judge was wrong. Holman v. Papio-Missouri River Nat. Resources Dist., 246 Neb. 787, 523 N.W.2d 510 (1994).

45-105 Usury; penalty.

If a greater rate of interest than is allowed in section 45-101.03 shall be contracted for or received or reserved, the contract shall not on that account be void, but if in any action on such contract, proof be made that illegal interest has been directly or indirectly contracted for, or taken, or reserved, the plaintiff shall recover only the principal, without interest, and the defendant shall recover costs; and if interest shall have been paid thereon, judgment shall be for the principal, deducting interest paid; Provided, the acts and dealings of an agent in loaning money shall bind the principal, and in all cases where there is illegal interest by the transaction of the agent, the principal will be held thereby as if he had done the same in person. Where the same person acts as agent for the borrower who obtains the money from the lender, he shall be deemed to be the agent of the lender also.

1. Definition

Elements of usury are (1) a loan, express or implied; (2) an understanding that the money will be returned; (3) for such loan, a greater rate of interest than allowed by law shall be paid or agreed to be paid; and (4) a corrupt intent to take more than the legal rate of interest for the money loaned. Farmland Enterprises, Inc. v. Schueman, 212 Neb. 342, 322 N.W.2d 665 (1982).

Usurious intent need not be implied where variable interest rate at time of contracting was below legal limit but where it exceeded the limit because of increase in the prime rate to which contract referred. Farmland Enterprises, Inc. v. Schueman, 212 Neb. 342, 322 N.W.2d 665 (1982).

A nonlicensee may make an installment loan where interest not in excess of nine percent per annum is charged. Pattavina v. Pignotti, 177 Neb. 217, 128 N.W.2d 817 (1964).

What constitutes usury is defined. State ex rel. Beck v. Associates Discount Corp., 168 Neb. 298, 96 N.W.2d 55 (1959).

Usury is intent, under contract, on part of borrower to give and of lender to receive interest in excess of legal limit. Menzie v. Smith, 63 Neb. 666, 88 N.W. 855 (1902).

To constitute usury, there must be a contract by which lender receives or reserves a greater rate of interest than maximum allowed by law. Richards v. Kountze, 4 Neb. 200 (1876).

2. Transactions usurious

Usurious loan disguised as conditional or time sale is subject to forfeiture of interest. Midstates Acceptance v. Voss, 189 Neb. 411, 202 N.W.2d 822 (1972).

Usurious contract not void, but recovery limited to amount of principal without interest less interest paid. Baker v. A. C. Nelson Co., 185 Neb. 128, 174 N.W.2d 197 (1970).

Where defense of usury is established, plaintiff is not entitled to recover interest on the principal. Central Constr. Co. v. Blanchard, 180 Neb. 62, 141 N.W.2d 416 (1966).

Where sum named in promissory note exceeds sum actually loaned, such excess being a commission to payee, which added to interest aggregates more than legal rate of interest, the note is usurious. Detweiler v. Forman, 120 Neb. 780, 235 N.W. 330 (1931).

Prior to 1927, mortgage requiring mortgagor to pay maximum legal interest plus taxes on mortgagee's interest in mortgaged premises was usurious. War Finance Corp. v. Thornton, 118 Neb. 797, 226 N.W. 454 (1929); Stuart v. Durland, 115 Neb. 211, 212 N.W. 31 (1927), 53 A.L.R. 739 (1927).

Sale or purchase of property at price beyond its value as condition for making loan, with intent that lender receive more than lawful rate is usurious. Sanford v. Hawthorne, 103 Neb. 867, 174 N.W. 863 (1919).

Taking interest for more than one year in advance is unauthorized by statute and is usurious. Allen v. Dunn, 71 Neb. 831, 99 N.W. 680 (1904).

Exacting bonus in addition to highest legal rate renders transaction usurious. Hare v. Winterer, 64 Neb. 551, 90 N.W. 544 (1902).

Where debtor executes note and mortgage at lawful rate, and at maturity enters into new usurious contract for extension under which lender retains note and mortgage as collateral, all interest is forfeited after date of usurious contract. Chicago Lumber Co. v. Bancroft, 64 Neb. 176, 89 N.W. 780 (1902).

Stipulation for legal rate until maturity, and if not then paid, for higher legal rate from date, is penalty and not enforceable. Stipulation that past due installments of interest shall draw interest, if total interest does not exceed ten percent, is valid. Hallam v. Telleren, 55 Neb. 255, 75 N.W. 560 (1898).

Usury law cannot be evaded by antedating note bearing highest legal rate from date. Vail v. Van Doren, 45 Neb. 450, 63 N.W. 787 (1895).

Usurious note given for extension of legal note is usurious. McDonald v. Beer, 42 Neb. 437, 60 N.W. 868 (1894).

Loan, made at twelve percent for one year, is not purged of usury by extension for another year at eight percent. Doyle v. Holland, 39 Neb. 87, 57 N.W. 989 (1894).

Agreement to pay attorney's fee for extension of time is usurious, and amount must be applied on principal. Rosa v. Doggett, 8 Neb. 48 (1878).

Where purported lease and farm equipment dealer's guaranty was found to be a usurious loan transaction but was not found to have been fraudulently obtained, seller of farm equipment was entitled to avoid guaranty only to extent of usurious interest and his right to reimbursement from farmer was vitiated only to extent of usurious interest. McKeeman v. Commercial Credit Equipment Corp., 320 F.Supp. 938 (D. Neb. 1970).

3. Transactions not usurious

Prior to 1941, contract for payment of interest at rate of ten percent was not usurious. Lefferdink v. Schmutte, 149 Neb. 695, 32 N.W.2d 194 (1948).

A clause in a mortgage upon real estate located in a foreign state, that the mortgagor will pay the tax on the note secured thereby, does not render such note usurious though the note bears interest at the maximum legal rate and is taxable to the mortgagor. Pierson v. Faulkner, 134 Neb. 865, 279 N.W. 813 (1938).

To constitute usury, brokerage charge and interest for term of loan must exceed legal maximum. Western Securities Co. v. Naughton, 124 Neb. 702, 248 N.W. 56 (1933).

A dealer in automobiles may in good faith sell a car on time in excess of the cash price without tainting the transaction with usury, though the difference in prices may exceed the maximum legal rate of interest. Grand Island Finance Co. v. Fowler, 124 Neb. 514, 247 N.W. 429 (1933).

A mortgage is not void because usurious interest is exacted thereunder, and mortgagor's covenant to pay taxes is invalidated only to extent of usury involved. Matthews v. Guenther, 120 Neb. 742, 235 N.W. 98 (1931).

Interest upon interest cannot be stipulated for, but agreement made after interest is due, that it shall bear maximum rate, is valid, and extending time is sufficient consideration for such agreement. Sanford v. Lundquist, 80 Neb. 414, 118 N.W. 129 (1908).

Officer of bank cannot make contract with corporation of which he is officer to pay usurious rate on money owing by him to bank, thereby escaping payment of all interest. Gund v. Ballard, 73 Neb. 547, 103 N.W. 309 (1905).

Mistake in computing interest will not render contract usurious. Dodds v. McCormick Harv. Machine Co., 62 Neb. 759, 87 N.W. 911 (1901).

Contract for legal rate is not rendered usurious by oral agreement to pay more than legal rate, unless carried out. Koehler v. Dodge, 31 Neb. 328, 47 N.W. 913 (1891).

Interest taken in advance is not usurious, unless total amount of interest exceeds ten percent. Foster v. Pitman, 2 Neb. Unof. 672, 89 N.W. 763 (1902).

4. National banks

Exemption of national banks from state usury laws owes existence to acts of Congress, and will not cover note and mortgage collateral to note in national bank. Gadsden v. Thrush, 58 Neb. 340, 78 N.W. 632 (1899).

Prohibition of federal law against taking usury applies to artificial as well as natural persons, is not penal statute and not strictly construed. Albion Nat. Bank v. Montgomery, 54 Neb. 681, 74 N.W. 1102 (1898).

Defense of usury is available in action by national bank to recover unpaid interest where rate contracted for is in excess of that prescribed by Act of Congress. Tomblin v. Higgins, 53 Neb. 92, 73 N.W. 461 (1897).

State law relating to usury does not apply to national banks so far as the penalty and remedy are concerned, which are governed by federal law. First Nat. Bank of Tobias v. Barnett, 51 Neb. 397, 70 N.W. 937 (1897).

Usurious interest paid on loan cannot be set off in suit to recover principal more than two years after payment, as federal statute governs. Montgomery v. Albion Nat. Bank, 50 Neb. 652, 70 N.W. 239 (1897).

Payment of loan made by national bank is not a condition precedent to maintain suit to recover double amount of usurious interest paid. Exeter Nat. Bank v. Orchard, 43 Neb. 579, 61 N.W. 833 (1895).

Limitation of two years in which to recover penalty under federal statute dated from actual payment of such usurious interest. Lanham v. First Nat. Bank of Crete, 42 Neb. 757, 60 N.W. 1041 (1894); First Nat. Bank of Dorchester v. Smith, 36 Neb. 199, 54 N.W. 254 (1893).

Courts of this state have jurisdiction in actions to recover from national banks the penalty provided by federal statute for taking usury. Schuyler Nat. Bank v. Bollong, 37 Neb. 620, 56 N.W. 209 (1893).

National bank cannot collect usurious interest, but usurious interest charged but not paid, cannot be recovered. Hall v. Bank of Fairfield, 30 Neb. 99, 46 N.W. 150 (1890).

5. Foreign building and loan associations

Requirement that borrower subscribe to capital stock as a condition to obtaining loan, the stock to be paid for in monthly installments, made the transaction usurious. Clarke v. Woodruff, 72 Neb. 286, 100 N.W. 314 (1904).

Foreign building and loan associations doing business in Nebraska are subject to penalties of statute against usury. Anselme v. American S. & L. Assn., 66 Neb. 520, 92 N.W. 745 (1902); Interstate S. & L. Assn. v. Strine, 59 Neb. 27, 80 N.W. 45 (1899).

Special terms and exemptions given to domestic building and loan associations by general law, are constitutional and not in conflict with general interest law. Livingston L. & B. Assn. v. Drummond, 49 Neb. 200, 68 N.W. 375 (1896).

6. Acts of agents

Agent of lender exacting, directly or indirectly, interest in excess of legal rate, renders transaction usurious. Hare v. Hooper, 56 Neb. 480, 76 N.W. 1055 (1898); Courtnay v. Price, 12 Neb. 188, 10 N.W. 698 (1881).

Broker, receiving bonus for procuring loan as agent of borrowers, does not render transaction usurious. Davis v. Sloman, 27 Neb. 877, 44 N.W. 41 (1889).

7. Conflict of laws

Notes made and payable in foreign state calling for rate higher than legal in this state will be enforced in absence of plea of usury. McCready v. Phillips, 56 Neb. 446, 76 N.W. 885 (1898).

Where contract is made in Nebraska, payable in New York, validity is to be determined by laws of Nebraska. Bascom v. Zediker, 48 Neb. 380, 67 N.W. 148 (1896).

Presumption is that laws of other state are same as our own, unless pleaded and proved. People's B., L. & S. Assn. v. Backus, 2 Neb. Unof. 463, 89 N.W. 315 (1902).

8. Usury as defense

Although variable interest rate caused interest in excess of the then legal limit to be paid for a period, usury is not available as a defense because the action on the loan was not brought until after Legislature exempted the transaction from the interest limitation. Farmland Enterprises, Inc. v. Schueman, 212 Neb. 342, 322 N.W.2d 665 (1982).

Purchaser of equity of redemption may set up defense of usury against mortgage where he deducted from purchase money only legal interest. Nat. Mut. B. & L. Assn. v. Retzman, 69 Neb. 667, 96 N.W. 204 (1903).

Mortgagor, who has conveyed lands by warranty deed, is entitled to intervene for purpose of pleading usury in foreclosure action. Pitman v. Ireland, 64 Neb. 675, 90 N.W. 540 (1902).

Where usury is established, plaintiff is only entitled to actual amount loaned less all payments of interest and principal on debt. Male v. Wink, 61 Neb. 748, 86 N.W. 472 (1901).

Defense is available in action on account, without alleging fraud or mistake. Jorgensen v. Kingsley, 60 Neb. 44, 82 N.W. 104 (1900).

Defense of usury is personal to borrower and his sureties and privies, and not available to purchaser of equity of redemption of mortgaged premises. Bldg. & Loan Assn. of Dakota v. Walker, 59 Neb. 456, 81 N.W. 308 (1899); People's B., L. & S. Assn. v. Pickard, 2 Neb. Unof. 144, 96 N.W. 337 (1901).

Where usurious note has been repeatedly renewed, notes being taken in name of bank or cashier and transferred after due, holder of final note takes subject to defense of usury. Farmers Bank of Kearney v. Oliver, 55 Neb. 774, 76 N.W. 449 (1898).

Where debtor delivered accommodation note in payment of usurious note, accommodation note was not renewal of usurious loan, and maker could not raise defense of usury. Palmer v. Carpenter, 53 Neb. 394, 73 N.W. 690 (1898).

Every renewal of a note given for a usurious loan of money is subject to the defense of usury between the original parties and purchasers with notice. McDonald v. Aufdengarten, 41 Neb. 40, 59 N.W. 762 (1894).

Innocent purchaser of note for value before maturity and without notice takes note free from defense of usury. Van Etten v. Howell, 40 Neb. 850, 59 N.W. 389 (1894).

If usurious interest is received and deposited in bank by officers of bank as agent of depositor, bank cannot raise defense of usury against depositor. Porter v. Sherman County Banking Co., 40 Neb. 274, 58 N.W. 721 (1894).

Where usury is shown in original transaction, every subsequent security given on same is usurious and holder must show that he is bona fide holder, before maturity, without notice. Knox v. Williams, 24 Neb. 630, 39 N.W. 786 (1888).

Defense is available to maker against assignee of mortgage alone, note not being endorsed though transferred for value before maturity and without notice. Doll v. Hollenbeck, 19 Neb. 639, 28 N.W. 286 (1886).

Usury is personal defense, except where contract for usury is separable from agreement to pay interest, when it may be pleaded by anyone. Bean v. People's B., L. & S. Assn., 2 Neb. Unof. 810, 90 N.W. 222 (1902).

Usury cannot be asserted by purchaser of mortgaged premises who has assumed mortgage. People's B., L. & S. Assn. of Geneva v. Palmer, 2 Neb. Unof. 460, 89 N.W. 316 (1902).

9. Pleading and proof

The claim of usury in this state is a defense to a cause of action. Usury must be pleaded to be available as a defense. General Fiberglass Supply, Inc. v. Roemer, 256 Neb. 810, 594 N.W.2d 283 (1999).

Burden is on one pleading usury, but, when proved, holder of note must prove that he is bona fide purchaser before maturity, for value, without notice. Male v. Wink, 61 Neb. 748, 86 N.W. 472 (1901); Blackwell v. Wright, 27 Neb. 269, 43 N.W. 116 (1889); Olmsted v. New Eng. Mtg. Sec. Co., 11 Neb. 487, 9 N.W. 650 (1881); Bovier v. McCarthy, 4 Neb. Unof. 490, 94 N.W. 965 (1903).

Usury may be proved by defendant under general denial in replevin. Davis v. Culver, 58 Neb. 265, 78 N.W. 504 (1899).

In action to foreclose a mortgage, answer was sufficient to plead defense of usury where it alleged execution of note and mortgage in excess of the money loaned so that interest in excess of the maximum lawful rate on the amount loaned was reserved and to be paid to the lender. FarmLand Sec. Co. v. Nelson, 52 Neb. 624, 72 N.W. 1048 (1897).

Plea must show contract by which there was reserved or received a rate in excess of highest legal rate. McKinley-Lanning L. & T. Co. v. Aldrich, 50 Neb. 785, 70 N.W. 399 (1897).

It is essential to a plea of usury that it state with whom the agreement alleged to be usurious was made, when made, where made, and the facts which it is alleged make the transaction usurious. Rainbolt v. Strang, 39 Neb. 339, 58 N.W. 96 (1894); Hare v. Winterer, 1 Neb. Unof. 854, 96 N.W. 179 (1901).

Plea should state with whom contract was made, its nature, and amount of usurious interest agreed upon or received. New Eng. Co. Mtg. Sec. v. Sandford, 16 Neb. 689, 21 N.W. 394 (1884).

Plea of usury is defense in action on usurious contract, but cannot be retained as set-off or counterclaim after action is dismissed. New Eng. Mtg. Sec. Co. v. Aughe, 12 Neb. 504, 11 N.W. 753 (1882).

10. Costs

Where defense is established, plaintiff is not entitled to costs nor interest on judgment awarded him. Interstate S. & L. Assn. v. Strine, 58 Neb. 133, 78 N.W. 377 (1899).

Where defense of usury is sustained, defendant is entitled to costs, and also costs on attachment sued out to recover usurious debt. Montgomery v. Albion Nat. Bank, 50 Neb. 652, 70 N.W. 239 (1897).

11. Miscellaneous

Remedy for recovery of usury under this section contrasted with remedy under Installment Loan Act. Dailey v. A. C. Nelsen Co., 178 Neb. 881, 136 N.W.2d 186 (1965).

Amendment to this section in 1963 Special Session by Legislative Bill 11 was unconstitutional as special legislation. State Securities Co. v. Ley, 177 Neb. 251, 128 N.W.2d 766 (1964).

Amendment to this section in 1963 Special Session by Legislative Bill 16 was unconstitutional as special legislation. Davis v. General Motors Acceptance Corp., 176 Neb. 865, 127 N.W.2d 907 (1964).

The scope of the effect of usury on installment loans has been broadened in comparison to what it is on ordinary loans. Commonwealth Trailer Sales, Inc. v. Bradt, 166 Neb. 1, 87 N.W.2d 705 (1958).

Statute does not make contract void where a usurious rate of interest is charged. McNish v. General Credit Corp., 164 Neb. 526, 83 N.W.2d 1 (1957).

Installment Loan Act was independent act and not unconstitutional for failure to amend this section. State ex rel. Beck v. Associates Discount Corp., 162 Neb. 683, 77 N.W.2d 215 (1956).

Payee loses only interest for violation of general usury law. Fidelity Finance Co. v. Westfall, 127 Neb. 56, 254 N.W. 710 (1934).

Where a note has been paid, an action cannot be maintained to recover usurious interest. Waller v. First Trust Co., 126 Neb. 403, 255 N.W. 29 (1934).

Borrower under usurious contract is entitled to possession of mortgaged property divested of lien upon payment or tender of principal. Frenzer v. Richards, 60 Neb. 131, 82 N.W. 317 (1900).

Usury once paid cannot be recovered in independent action. Blain v. Willson, 32 Neb. 302, 49 N.W. 224 (1891); New Eng. Mtg. Sec. Co. v. Aughe, 12 Neb. 504, 11 N.W. 753 (1882).

Where there are unmatured renewal notes, a greater part of which represent usurious interest on former notes, and where there is reason to fear that the notes will be transferred to a bona fide holder for value, the debtor may obtain relief by injunction. Wilhelmson v. Bentley, 25 Neb. 473, 41 N.W. 387 (1889).

Borrower seeking relief from usurious contract in equity must tender amount of principal and lawful interest and court will render decree for principal with seven percent interest. Eiseman v. Gallagher, 24 Neb. 79, 37 N.W. 941 (1888).

45-105.01 Unconstitutional.

This section enacted by 1963 Special Session as a part of Legislative Bill 11 was unconstitutional as special legislation. State Securities Co. v. Ley, 177 Neb. 251, 128 N.W.2d 766 (1964).

45-106 Interest; warrants or orders.

All warrants or orders issued by the proper authorities of any county, city, township, school district, other municipal subdivision less than a county, or sanitary district, whose area is located partly within a municipality, shall draw interest from and after the date of presentation for payment at such rate as is fixed by the issuing authority and endorsed on the warrant. All warrants issued by the state shall draw interest at the rate of four percent per annum from the date the same are presented for payment.

(f) LOAN BROKERS

45-189 Loan brokers; legislative findings.

The Legislature finds that:

(1) Many professional groups are presently licensed or otherwise regulated by the State of Nebraska in the interest of public protection;

(2) Certain questionable business practices, such as the collection of an advance fee prior to the performance of the service, misleads the public;

(3) Such practices are avoided by many professional groups and many professional groups are regulated by the state to restrict practices which tend to mislead or deceive the public;

(4) Loan brokers in Nebraska have engaged in the practice of collecting an advance fee from borrowers in consideration for attempting to procure a loan of money;

(5) Such practice, as well as others, by loan brokers has led the public to believe that the loan broker has agreed to procure a loan for the borrower when in fact the loan broker has merely promised to attempt to procure a loan; and

(6) Regulation of loan brokers by the state, in similar fashion to that of other professions, is necessary in order to protect the public welfare and to promote the use of fair and equitable business practices.

45-190 Terms, defined.

For purposes of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Advance fee means any fee, deposit, or consideration which is assessed or collected, prior to the closing of a loan, by a loan broker and includes, but is not limited to, any money assessed or collected for processing, appraisals, credit checks, consultations, or expenses;

(2) Borrower means a person obtaining or desiring to obtain a loan of money;

(3) Department means the Department of Banking and Finance;

(4) Director means the Director of Banking and Finance;

(5)(a) Loan broker means any person who:

(i) For or in expectation of consideration from a borrower, procures, attempts to procure, arranges, or attempts to arrange a loan of money for a borrower;

(ii) For or in expectation of consideration from a borrower, assists a borrower in making an application to obtain a loan of money;

(iii) Is employed as an agent for the purpose of soliciting borrowers as clients of the employer; or

(iv) Holds himself or herself out, through advertising, signs, or other means, as a loan broker; and

(b) Loan broker does not include: (i) A bank, bank holding company, trust company, savings and loan association or subsidiary of a savings and loan association, building and loan association, or credit union which is subject to regulation or supervision under the laws of the United States or any state; (ii) a mortgage banker or an installment loan company licensed or registered under the laws of the State of Nebraska; (iii) a credit card company; (iv) an insurance company authorized to conduct business under the laws of the State of Nebraska; or (v) a lender approved by the Federal Housing Administration or the United States Department of Veterans Affairs, if the loan is secured or covered by guarantees, commitments, or agreements to purchase or take over the same by the Federal Housing Administration or the United States Department of Veterans Affairs;

(6) Loan brokerage agreement means any agreement for services between a loan broker and a borrower; and

(7) Person means natural persons, corporations, trusts, unincorporated associations, joint ventures, partnerships, and limited liability companies.

45-191 Loan brokers; prohibited acts.

No loan broker shall:

(1) Assess or collect an advance fee from a borrower under a contract to provide services for the procurement of a loan of money;

(2) Willfully, either orally or in writing, misrepresent the terms, benefits, privileges, or provisions of any service contract issued or to be issued by the loan broker or by any lender; or

(3) Represent or imply that the loan broker has been sponsored, recommended, or approved by the department or that the loan broker's abilities or qualifications have been passed upon by the department.

Source: Laws 1981, LB 154, § 3; Laws 1993, LB 270, § 2.

45-191.01 Loan brokerage agreement; written disclosure statement; requirements.

(1) Prior to a borrower signing a loan brokerage agreement, the loan broker shall give the borrower a written disclosure statement. The cover sheet of the disclosure statement shall have printed, in at least ten-point boldface capital letters, the title DISCLOSURES REQUIRED BY NEBRASKA LAW. The following statement, printed in at least ten-point type, shall appear under the title:

THE STATE OF NEBRASKA HAS NOT REVIEWED AND DOES NOT APPROVE, RECOMMEND, ENDORSE, OR SPONSOR ANY LOAN BROKERAGE AGREEMENT. THE INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT HAS NOT BEEN VERIFIED BY THE STATE. IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS, SEEK LEGAL ADVICE BEFORE YOU SIGN A LOAN BROKERAGE AGREEMENT.

Only the title and the statement shall appear on the cover sheet.

(2) The body of the disclosure statement shall contain the following information:

(a) The name, street address, and telephone number of the loan broker, the names under which the loan broker does, has done, or intends to do business, the name and street address of any parent or affiliated company, and the electronic mail and Internet address of the loan broker, if any;

(b) A statement as to whether the loan broker does business as an individual, a partnership, a corporation, or another organizational form, including identification of the state of incorporation or formation;

(c) How long the loan broker has done business;

(d) The number of loan brokerage agreements the loan broker has entered into in the previous twelve months;

(e) The number of loans the loan broker has obtained for borrowers in the previous twelve months;

(f) A description of the services the loan broker agrees to perform for the borrower;

(g) The conditions under which the borrower is obligated to pay the loan broker. This disclosure shall be in boldface type;

(h) The names, titles, and principal occupations for the past five years of all officers, directors, or persons occupying similar positions responsible for the loan broker's business activities;

(i) A statement whether the loan broker or any person identified in subdivision (h) of this subsection:

(i) Has been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor or pleaded nolo contendere to a felony or misdemeanor charge if such felony or misdemeanor involved fraud, embezzlement, fraudulent conversion, or misappropriation of property;

(ii) Has been held liable in a civil action by final judgment or consented to the entry of a stipulated judgment if the civil action alleged fraud, embezzlement, fraudulent conversion, or misappropriation of property or the use of untrue or misleading representations in an attempt to sell or dispose of real or personal property or the use of unfair, unlawful, or deceptive business practices; or

(iii) Is subject to any currently effective injunction or restrictive order relating to business activity as the result of an action brought by a public agency or department including, but not limited to, action affecting any vocational license; and

(j) Any other information the director requires.

45-191.02 Loan brokers; filings with department required; filing fees.

(1) Before advertising or making any oral or written representation or acting as a loan broker in this state a loan broker shall file with the department one copy of the disclosure statement and one copy of any loan brokerage agreement.

(2) The loan broker shall renew these filings no less than annually and shall also file any amendment to the disclosure statement within forty-five days after any material change in information required to be disclosed in the disclosure statement.

(3) The loan broker shall pay a one-hundred-fifty-dollar filing fee upon filing the initial disclosure statement and a one-hundred-dollar filing fee upon the filing of a renewal of the disclosure statement. The loan broker shall pay a fifty-dollar filing fee for each amendment filed. All funds collected by the department under this section shall be remitted to the State Treasurer for credit to the Securities Act Cash Fund.

(4) The information contained or filed under this section may be made available to the public under such rules and regulations as the department may prescribe.

45-191.03 Prohibited acts; violations; penalties.

(1) A loan broker who fails to make accurate and timely filings as required by section 45-191.02 shall be guilty of a Class I misdemeanor.

(2) A loan broker who willfully violates subdivision (1) of section 45-191 shall be guilty of:

(a) A Class IV felony if the advance fee assessed or collected is greater than three hundred dollars; or

(b) A Class I misdemeanor if the advance fee assessed or collected is three hundred dollars or less.

(3) A willful violation of any other provision of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11 by a loan broker shall be a Class IV felony.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 270, § 5.

45-191.04 Loan brokerage agreement; requirements; right to cancel.

(1) A loan brokerage agreement shall be in writing and shall be signed by the loan broker and the borrower. The loan broker shall furnish the borrower a copy of such signed loan brokerage agreement at the time the borrower signs it.

(2) The borrower has the right to cancel a loan brokerage agreement for any reason at any time within five business days after the date the parties sign the agreement. The loan brokerage agreement shall set forth the borrower's right to cancel and the procedures to be followed when an agreement is canceled.

(3) A loan brokerage agreement shall set forth in at least ten-point type, or handwriting of at least equivalent size, the following:

(a) The terms and conditions of payment;

(b) A full and detailed description of the acts or services the loan broker will undertake to perform for the borrower;

(c) The loan broker's principal business address, telephone number, and electronic mail and Internet address, if any, and the name, address, telephone number, and electronic mail and Internet address, if any, of its agent in the State of Nebraska authorized to receive service of process;

(d) The business form of the loan broker, whether a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or otherwise; and

(e) The following notice of the borrower's right to cancel the loan brokerage agreement pursuant to this section:

''You have five business days in which you may cancel this agreement for any reason by mailing or delivering written notice to the loan broker. The five business days shall expire on . . . . . (last date to mail or deliver notice), and notice of cancellation should be mailed to . . . . . (loan broker's name and business street address). If you choose to mail your notice, it must be placed in the United States mail properly addressed, first-class postage prepaid, and postmarked before midnight of the above date. If you choose to deliver your notice to the loan broker directly, it must be delivered to the loan broker by the end of the normal business day on the above date. Within five business days after receipt of the notice of cancellation, the loan broker shall return to you all sums paid by you to the loan broker pursuant to this agreement.''

The notice shall be set forth immediately above the place at which the borrower signs the loan brokerage agreement.

45-191.05 Waiver of sections; attempt; prohibited.

A waiver of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11 by a borrower prior to or at the time of entering into a loan brokerage agreement is contrary to public policy and shall be void. Any attempt by a loan broker to have a borrower waive any rights pursuant to sections 45-189 to 45-191.11 shall be a violation of such sections.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 270, § 7.

45-191.06 Department; adopt rules and regulations.

The department may adopt, promulgate, amend, and rescind such rules and regulations as necessary or appropriate to implement the purposes of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 270, § 8.

45-191.07 Violation of loan brokerage agreement by loan broker; effect.

(1) If a loan broker materially violates the loan brokerage agreement, the borrower may upon written notice void such loan brokerage agreement. In addition, the borrower may recover all money paid to the loan broker and any other damages, including reasonable attorney's fees. The loan broker shall be deemed to have materially violated the loan brokerage agreement if the loan broker does any of the following:

(a) Makes false or misleading statements relating to the loan brokerage agreement;

(b) Does not comply with the loan brokerage agreement or any obligations arising from the loan brokerage agreement;

(c) Does not grant the borrower a loan or diligently attempt to obtain a loan for the borrower; or

(d) Does not comply with the requirements of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11.

(2) Remedies under this section shall be in addition to any other remedies available in law or equity.

Source: Laws 1993, LB 270, § 9.

45-191.08 Director; enforcement powers.

(1)(a) The director in his or her discretion may make such investigations within or without this state as necessary to determine whether any person has violated or is about to violate sections 45-189 to 45-191.11 or to aid in the enforcement of such sections or in the adopting or promulgating of rules, regulations, and forms under such sections. In the discretion of the director, the actual expense of any such investigation may be charged to any person who is the subject of such investigation.

(b) The department may publish information concerning any violation of such sections or any rule, regulation, or order of the department.

(c) For purposes of any investigation or proceeding under such sections, the director or any officer designated by him or her may administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, agreements, or other documents or records which the director deems relevant or material to the inquiry.

(2)(a) In case of contumacy by or refusal to obey a subpoena issued to any person, any court of competent jurisdiction, upon application by the director, may issue an order to that person requiring him or her to appear before the director or an officer designated by the director to produce documentary evidence or to give evidence touching on a matter under investigation or in question. Any failure to obey an order of the court may be punished by the court as a contempt of court.

(b) The request for order of compliance may be addressed to either (i) the district court of Lancaster County or the district court in the county where service may be obtained on the person refusing to testify or produce, if the person is within this state, or (ii) the appropriate district court of this state having jurisdiction over the person refusing to testify or produce, if the person is outside this state.

45-191.09 Director; summary cease and desist order; when; other enforcement measures; collection of fines and costs; hearing; procedure; appeal.

(1) The director may summarily order a loan broker to cease and desist from acting as a loan broker or from the use of certain forms or practices relating to the loan broker's activities if the order is in the public interest and the director finds:

(a) The disclosure statement on file is incomplete in any material respect or contains any statement which was, in light of the circumstances under which it was made, false or misleading with respect to any material fact;

(b) The loan broker has willfully violated or willfully failed to comply with any provision of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11;

(c) There has been a substantial failure to comply with any of the provisions of such sections;

(d) The continued use of certain forms or practices relating to the loan broker's activity would constitute a misrepresentation, deceit, or fraud upon the consumer; or

(e) Any person identified in the required disclosure statement has been convicted of an offense described in subdivision (2)(i)(i) of section 45-191.01 or is subject to an order or has had a civil judgment entered against him or her as described in subdivision (2)(i)(ii) or (2)(i)(iii) of section 45-191.01 and the involvement of such person in the loan broker's business creates an unreasonable risk to prospective borrowers.

(2) If the director believes, whether or not based upon an investigation conducted under section 45-191.08, that any person or loan broker has engaged in or is about to engage in any act or practice constituting a violation of any provision of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11 or any rule, regulation, or order under such sections, the director may:

(a) Issue a cease and desist order;

(b) Impose a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars per violation, in addition to costs of the investigation; or

(c) Initiate an action in any court of competent jurisdiction to enjoin such acts or practices and to enforce compliance with such sections or any order under such sections.

(3) Upon a proper showing a permanent or temporary injunction, restraining order, or writ of mandamus shall be granted. The director shall not be required to post a bond.

(4)(a) Any fines and costs imposed pursuant to this section shall be in addition to all other penalties imposed by the laws of this state. The department shall collect the fines and costs and remit them to the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer shall credit the costs to the Securities Act Cash Fund and distribute the fines in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

(b) If a person fails to pay the fine or costs of the investigation referred to in this subsection, a lien in the amount of the fine and costs may be imposed upon all of the assets and property of such person in this state and may be recovered by suit by the department. Failure of the person to pay a fine and costs shall constitute a separate violation of sections 45-189 to 45-191.11.

(5) Upon entry of an order pursuant to this section, the director shall promptly notify all persons to whom such order is directed that it has been entered and of the reasons for such order and that any person to whom the order is directed may request a hearing in writing within fifteen business days of the issuance of the order. Upon receipt of a written request, the matter shall be set down for hearing to commence within thirty business days after the receipt unless the parties consent to a later date or the hearing officer sets a later date for good cause. If a hearing is not requested within fifteen business days from the issuance of the order and none is ordered by the director, the order shall automatically become final and shall remain in effect until it is modified or vacated by the director. If a hearing is requested or ordered, the director, after notice and hearing, shall enter his or her written findings of fact and conclusions of law and may affirm, modify, or vacate the order.

(6) The director may vacate or modify a cease and desist order if he or she finds that the conditions which caused its entry have changed or that it is otherwise in the public interest to do so.

(7) Any person aggrieved by a final order of the director may appeal the order. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(h) REJECTION OF FEDERAL LIMITS

45-1,104 Federal interest rate limitations; rejected by state.

The federal limits on interest rates as provided in sections 501(a)(1), 511, and 524 of Public Law 96-221 shall not apply to loans, mortgages, credit sales, and advances made in Nebraska and are hereby rejected by the State of Nebraska pursuant to this section. Sections 521 to 523 of Public Law 96-221 are not rejected. Subject to the foregoing, the State of Nebraska elects to retain the power to establish or not establish usury limits provided under the Nebraska statutes and the Nebraska Constitution and retains the power to have such limits, if any, apply to any loan, mortgage, credit sale, or advance made in this state after July 17, 1982.

(i) CONSUMER CREDIT DEFAULT PROCEDURES

45-1,105 Terms, defined.

As used in sections 45-1,105 to 45-1,110, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Collateral shall mean the property subject to a security interest as defined by the Uniform Commercial Code;

(2) Consumer shall mean a natural person to whom credit is offered or extended by way of a transaction if the money, property, or services of the transaction are primarily for personal, family, or household purposes;

(3) Credit shall mean the right granted by a creditor to a debtor to defer payment of debt or to incur debt and defer its payment;

(4) Creditor shall mean creditors who regularly extend, or arrange for the extension of, credit which is payable by agreement in more than four installments or for which payment of a finance charge is or may be required, whether in connection with loans, sale of property or services, or otherwise; and

(5) Default shall mean either of the following, if without justification under any law:

(a) The consumer fails to make a payment required by the agreement; or

(b) The prospect of payment, performance, or realization of collateral is significantly impaired. The burden of establishing the prospect of significant impairment shall be on the creditor.

Source: Laws 1983, LB 111, § 1.

45-1,106 Consumer credit transaction; default; notice required.

(1) With respect to a consumer credit transaction, after a consumer has been in default for ten days, a creditor may give the consumer the notice described in this section. A creditor gives notice to the consumer under this section when he or she delivers the notice to the consumer or delivers or mails the notice to the consumer's last-known residence address.

(2) The notice shall be in writing and shall conspicuously state: The name, address, and telephone number of the creditor to which payment is to be made; a brief identification of the credit transaction; the consumer's right to cure the default; and the amount of payment and date by which payment must be made to cure the default, or any other performance necessary to cure the default and the date by which such performance must be tendered.

Source: Laws 1983, LB 111, § 2.

45-1,107 Consumer credit transaction; default; consumer's right to cure.

(1) With respect to a consumer credit transaction, after a default a creditor may neither accelerate maturity of the unpaid balance of the obligation nor take possession of collateral, except voluntarily surrendered collateral, because of such default until twenty days after a notice of the consumer's right to cure is given. The consumer shall have twenty days after the notice is given to cure any default by tendering the amount of all unpaid sums due at the time of the tender, without acceleration, plus any unpaid charges, or by tendering any other performance necessary to cure the default as specified in the notice of right to cure. Cure shall restore the consumer to his or her rights under the agreement as though the default had not occurred.

(2) With respect to defaults on the same obligation after a creditor has once given notice of the consumer's right to cure, the consumer shall have no further right to cure and the creditor has no obligation to proceed against the consumer or the collateral.

(k) CREDIT AGREEMENTS

45-1,112 Terms, defined.

For purposes of sections 45-1,112 to 45-1,115:

(1)(a) Credit agreement means:

(i) A contract, promise, undertaking, offer, or commitment to loan money or to grant or extend credit; or

(ii) A contract, promise, undertaking, or offer to forebear repayment of money or to make any other financial accommodation in connection with a loan of money or grant or extension of credit, or any amendment of, cancellation of, waiver of, or substitution for any or all of the terms or provisions of any instrument or document executed in connection with a loan of money or grant or extension of credit, except for loans of money or grants or extensions of credit which are:

(A) Not in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars and used primarily for personal, family, or household purposes of the debtor or debtors; or

(B) Used for the purchase of and secured solely by the principal residence of the debtor or debtors.

(b) Credit agreement does not include (i) letters of credit or (ii) promissory notes, real estate mortgages, trust deeds, security agreements, financing statements, guarantee agreements, pledge agreements, or other similar documents or instruments evidencing an obligation to repay indebtedness or securing the repayment of indebtedness;

(2) Creditor means any financial institution which makes a credit agreement with a debtor;

(3) Debtor means a person or entity which obtains credit from a creditor, seeks a credit agreement with a creditor, or owes money to a creditor; and

(4) Financial institution means a state-chartered or federally chartered bank, savings bank, building and loan association, credit union, or savings and loan association or a holding company or affiliate or subsidiary of such an institution.

45-1,113 Action or defense based on credit agreement; requirements.

(1) A debtor or a creditor may not maintain an action or assert a defense in an action based on a credit agreement unless the credit agreement is in writing, expresses consideration, sets forth the relevant terms and conditions of the credit agreement, and is signed by the creditor and by the debtor.

(2) Subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to (a) credit extended on an account as defined in section 4-104, Uniform Commercial Code, (b) loans initiated by credit card or other type of transaction card, or (c) credit agreements as defined in subdivision (1)(a)(ii) of section 45-1,112 unless the creditor, at the time of the initial loan of money or grant or extension of credit, has given to the debtor a written notice, signed or initialed by the debtor, which contains substantially the following language: A credit agreement must be in writing to be enforceable under Nebraska law. To protect you and us from any misunderstandings or disappointments, any contract, promise, undertaking, or offer to forebear repayment of money or to make any other financial accommodation in connection with this loan of money or grant or extension of credit, or any amendment of, cancellation of, waiver of, or substitution for any or all of the terms or provisions of any instrument or document executed in connection with this loan of money or grant or extension of credit, must be in writing to be effective.

(3) This section shall not be construed to limit or bar the recovery of money owed or collateral securing a loan in any way.

45-203 Repealed. Laws 1965, c. 267, § 7.

45-204 Terms, defined.

As used in sections 45-204 to 45-209, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Seller shall mean a person, firm, or corporation, except a bank, selling goods or furnishing services to a buyer under a revolving charge agreement, including the operator of a card system whereby a cardholder purchases goods or services from participating merchants or others;

(2) Buyer shall mean a person, firm, or corporation buying goods or services from a seller or using a card system for the purchase of goods or services from participating merchants or others under a revolving charge agreement;

(3) Time-price differential, however denominated or expressed, shall mean the amount or rate which is paid or payable for the privilege of purchasing goods or services to be paid for by the buyer in installments over a period of time; and

(4) Revolving charge agreement shall mean an agreement prescribing the terms of installment sales to be made from time to time pursuant thereto wherein the buyer's total unpaid balance is payable in installments over a period of time, and under the terms of which a time-price differential as provided in section 45-207 is to be computed in relation to the buyer's unpaid balance from time to time.

Source: Laws 1965, c. 267, § 1, p. 754; Laws 1984, LB 736, § 1.

45-205 Agreements; requirements; fees and delinquency charges authorized.

Every revolving charge agreement shall be in writing and shall be signed by the buyer. Such requirements may be met when disclosure of the revolving charge credit terms has been made to the buyer in conformity with the requirements of the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act before the first extension of credit to the buyer under the revolving charge agreement, and the buyer has signed an application for the revolving charge credit or the buyer signs a sales slip in connection with such extension of credit if the application has been solicited by telephone with disclosure of the periodic rate of the time-price differential by the seller at the time of the telephone solicitation. A copy of any such agreement shall be delivered or mailed to the buyer by the seller prior to the date on which the first payment is due thereunder. All agreements executed on or after such date shall state the amount or rate of the time-price differential to be charged and paid pursuant thereto. If a seller proffers a revolving charge agreement as part of a transaction which delays or cancels, or promises to delay or cancel, the payment of the time-price differential on the revolving charge agreement, if the buyer pays the basic time price, cash price, or cash sale price within a certain period of time, the seller shall, in clear and conspicuous writing, either within the revolving charge agreement or in a separate document or, in lieu thereof, within a statement sent by the seller to the buyer no later than thirty-five days after the buyer's purchase of goods or services, or in the case of special order goods which are not available for immediate delivery no later than thirty-five days after the buyer's receipt of goods, inform the buyer of the exact date by which the buyer must pay the basic time price, cash price, or cash sale price in order to delay or cancel the payment of the time-price differential. The seller or any subsequent purchaser of the revolving charge agreement shall not be allowed to change such date. In addition to the sale price of the goods or services and the time-price differential provided for in sections 45-204 to 45-208, no further or other amount whatsoever shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received, except that a seller may (1) contract for and receive fees for participation in a card system which offers services other than revolving charges and (2) impose delinquency charges on each payment in default for a period of not less than ten days not to exceed five percent of the amount due or five dollars, whichever is greater. A delinquency charge under this section may be collected only once on each payment due, however long it remains in default. A delinquency charge may be collected at the time it accrues or at any time afterward.

45-206 Monthly statement by seller; contents; payment in full; requirements.

(1) The seller under a revolving charge agreement shall promptly supply the buyer under such agreement with a statement as of the end of each monthly period, which need not be a calendar month, or other regular period agreed upon by the seller and the buyer, in which there is any unpaid balance thereunder, which shall recite the following: (a) The unpaid balance under the revolving charge agreement at the beginning and end of the period; (b) unless otherwise furnished by the seller to the buyer by sales slip, memorandum, or otherwise, a description or identification of the goods or services purchased, the cash price, and the date of each purchase; (c) the payments made by the buyer to the seller and any other credits to the buyer during the period; (d) the amount of the time-price differential, if any; and (e) a legend to the effect that the buyer may at any time pay the total balance or any portion thereof. The items need not be stated in the sequence or order set forth in this subsection and additional items may be included to explain the computations made in determining the amount to be paid by the buyer. Compliance with the applicable disclosure requirements of the federal regulations which implement the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act shall be deemed compliance with this section.

(2) If the amount owed under a revolving charge agreement has been paid in full and has been inactive for at least twenty-four months, the seller shall mark the revolving charge agreement as closed or paid in full. The seller shall give written notice to the buyer of the closed or paid-in-full status of the revolving charge agreement within forty-five days after the seller has so marked the revolving charge agreement.

45-207 Time-price differential; rate; maximum.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, the seller or assignee under a revolving charge agreement may charge, receive, and collect a time-price differential which shall not exceed the following rate: One and three-quarters percent per month on amounts less than five hundred dollars, and one and one-half percent per month on amounts of five hundred dollars or more. The rate shall be computed on the unpaid balance under the agreement from month to month, which need not be a calendar month, or other period as agreed, except that no time-price differential shall be assessed on an account if payment of the outstanding balance is received prior to the beginning of the next billing cycle under the agreement.

45-208 Violations; penalty.

Any person who willfully and knowingly violates any provisions of section 45-207 shall be guilty of a Class II misdemeanor. In addition the seller shall forfeit all time-price differential paid and cancel the outstanding indebtedness.

Installment Sales Act of 1965 sustained as constitutional. Engelmeyer v. Murphy, 180 Neb. 295, 142 N.W.2d 342 (1966).

45-335 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) Goods means all personal property, except money or things in action, and includes goods which, at the time of sale or subsequently, are so affixed to realty as to become part thereof whether or not severable therefrom;

(2) Services means work, labor, and services of any kind performed in conjunction with an installment sale but does not include services for which the prices charged are required by law to be established and regulated by the government of the United States or any state;

(3) Buyer means a person who buys goods or obtains services from a seller in an installment sale;

(4) Seller means a person who sells goods or furnishes services to a buyer under an installment sale;

(5) Installment sale means any transaction, whether or not involving the creation or retention of a security interest, in which a buyer acquires goods or services from a seller pursuant to an agreement which provides for a time-price differential and under which the buyer agrees to pay all or part of the time-sale price in one or more installments and within one hundred forty-five months, except that installment contracts for the purchase of mobile homes may exceed such one-hundred-forty-five-month limitation. Installment sale does not include a consumer rental purchase agreement defined in and regulated by the Consumer Rental Purchase Agreement Act;

(6) Installment contract means an agreement entered into in this state evidencing an installment sale except those otherwise provided for in separate acts;

(7) Cash price or cash sale price means the price stated in an installment contract for which the seller would have sold or furnished to the buyer and the buyer would have bought or acquired from the seller goods or services which are the subject matter of the contract if such sale had been a sale for cash instead of an installment sale. It may include the cash price of accessories or services related to the sale such as delivery, installation, alterations, modifications, and improvements and may include taxes to the extent imposed on the cash sale;

(8) Basic time price means the cash sale price of the goods or services which are the subject matter of an installment contract plus the amount included therein, if a separate identified charge is made therefor and stated in the contract, for insurance, registration, certificate of title, debt cancellation contract, debt suspension contract, electronic title and lien services, guaranteed asset protection waiver, and license fees, filing fees, an origination fee, and fees and charges prescribed by law which actually are or will be paid to public officials for determining the existence of or for perfecting, releasing, or satisfying any security related to the credit transaction or any charge for nonfiling insurance if such charge does not exceed the amount of fees and charges prescribed by law which would have been paid to public officials for filing, perfecting, releasing, and satisfying any security related to the credit transaction and less the amount of the buyer's downpayment in money or goods or both;

(9) Time-price differential, however denominated or expressed, means the amount, as limited in the Nebraska Installment Sales Act, to be added to the basic time price;

(10) Time-sale price means the total of the basic time price of the goods or services, the amount of the buyer's downpayment in money or goods or both, and the time-price differential;

(11) Sales finance company means a person purchasing one or more installment contracts from one or more sellers or acquiring any rights of ownership, servicing, or other forms of participation in or otherwise engaging with a consumer on behalf of the purchaser of one or more installment sales contracts from one or more sellers. Sales finance company includes, but is not limited to, a financial institution or installment loan licensee, if so engaged;

(12) Department means the Department of Banking and Finance;

(13) Director means the Director of Banking and Finance;

(14) Financial institution has the same meaning as in section 8-101.03;

(15) Debt cancellation contract means a loan term or contractual arrangement modifying loan terms under which a financial institution or licensee agrees to cancel all or part of a buyer's obligation to repay an extension of credit from the financial institution or licensee upon the occurrence of a specified event. The debt cancellation contract may be separate from or a part of other loan documents. The term debt cancellation contract does not include loan payment deferral arrangements in which the triggering event is the buyer's unilateral election to defer repayment or the financial institution's or licensee's unilateral decision to allow a deferral of repayment;

(16) Debt suspension contract means a loan term or contractual arrangement modifying loan terms under which a financial institution or licensee agrees to suspend all or part of a buyer's obligation to repay an extension of credit from the financial institution or licensee upon the occurrence of a specified event. The debt suspension contract may be separate from or a part of other loan documents. The term debt suspension contract does not include loan payment deferral arrangements in which the triggering event is the buyer's unilateral election to defer repayment or the financial institution's or licensee's unilateral decision to allow a deferral of repayment;

(17) Guaranteed asset protection waiver means a waiver that is offered, sold, or provided in accordance with the Guaranteed Asset Protection Waiver Act;

(18) Licensee means any person who obtains a license under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act;

(19) Person means individual, partnership, limited liability company, association, financial institution, trust, corporation, and any other legal entity;

(20) Breach of security of the system means unauthorized acquisition of data that compromises the security, confidentiality, or integrity of the information maintained by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry, its affiliates, or its subsidiaries;

(21) Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry means a licensing system developed and maintained by the Conference of State Bank Supervisors and the American Association of Residential Mortgage Regulators for the licensing and registration of mortgage loan originators, mortgage bankers, installment loan companies, and other state-regulated financial services entities and industries;

(22)(a) Control in the case of a corporation means (i) direct or indirect ownership of or the right to control twenty-five percent or more of the voting shares of the corporation or (ii) the ability of a person or group acting in concert to elect a majority of the directors or otherwise effect a change in policy.

(b) Control in the case of any other entity means (i) the power, directly or indirectly, to direct the management or policies of the entity, (ii) the contribution of twenty-five percent or more of the capital of the entity, or (iii) the right to receive, upon dissolution, twenty-five percent or more of the capital of the entity; and

(23) Branch office means any location, other than the main office location, at which the business of a licensee is to be conducted, including (a) any offices physically located in Nebraska, and (b) any offices that, while not physically located in this state, intend to transact business with Nebraska residents.

Classification made by this section is very comprehensive and covers almost all installment sales. Engelmeyer v. Murphy, 180 Neb. 295, 142 N.W.2d 342 (1966).

45-336 Installment contract; requirements.

(1) Each retail installment contract shall be in writing, shall be signed by both the buyer and the seller, and shall contain the following items and a copy thereof shall be delivered to the buyer at the time the instrument is signed, except for contracts made in conformance with section 45-340: (a) The cash sale price; (b) the amount of the buyer's downpayment, and whether made in money or goods, or partly in money and partly in goods, including a brief description of any goods traded in; (c) the difference between subdivisions (a) and (b) of this subsection; (d) the amount included for insurance if a separate charge is made therefor, specifying the types of coverages; (e) the amount included for a debt cancellation contract or a debt suspension contract if the debt cancellation contract or debt suspension contract is a contract of a financial institution or licensee, such contract is sold directly by such financial institution or licensee or by an unaffiliated, nonexclusive agent of such financial institution or licensee in accordance with 12 C.F.R. part 37, as such part existed on January 1, 2011, and the financial institution or licensee is responsible for the unaffiliated, nonexclusive agent's compliance with such part, and a separate charge is made therefor; (f) the amount included for electronic title and lien services other than fees and charges prescribed by law which actually are or will be paid to public officials for determining the existence of or for perfecting, releasing, or satisfying any security related to the credit transaction; (g) the basic time price, which is the sum of subdivisions (c), (d), (e), and (f) of this subsection; (h) the time-price differential; (i) the amount of the time-price balance, which is the sum of subdivisions (g) and (h) of this subsection, payable in installments by the buyer to the seller; (j) the number, amount, and due date or period of each installment; (k) the time-sales price; and (l) the amount included for a guaranteed asset protection waiver.

(2) The contract shall contain substantially the following notice: NOTICE TO THE BUYER. DO NOT SIGN THIS CONTRACT BEFORE YOU READ IT OR IF IT CONTAINS BLANK SPACES. YOU ARE ENTITLED TO A COPY OF THE CONTRACT YOU SIGN.

(3) The items listed in subsection (1) of this section need not be stated in the sequence or order set forth in such subsection. Additional items may be included to explain the computations made in determining the amount to be paid by the buyer. No installment contract shall be signed by the buyer or proffered by seller when it contains blank spaces to be filled in after execution, except that if delivery of the goods or services is not made at the time of the execution of the contract, the identifying numbers or marks of the goods, or similar information, and the due date of the first installment may be inserted in the contract after its execution.

(4) If a seller proffers an installment contract as part of a transaction which delays or cancels, or promises to delay or cancel, the payment of the time-price differential on the contract if the buyer pays the basic time price, cash price, or cash sale price within a certain period of time, the seller shall, in clear and conspicuous writing, either within the installment contract or in a separate document, inform the buyer of the exact date by which the buyer must pay the basic time price, cash price, or cash sale price in order to delay or cancel the payment of the time-price differential. The seller or any subsequent purchaser of the installment contract, including a sales finance company, shall not be allowed to change such date.

(5) Upon written request from the buyer, the holder of an installment contract shall give or forward to the buyer a written statement of the dates and amounts of payments and the total amount unpaid under such contract. A buyer shall be given a written receipt for any payment when made in cash.

(6) After payment of all sums for which the buyer is obligated under a contract, the holder shall deliver or mail to the buyer at his or her last-known address one or more good and sufficient instruments or copies thereof to acknowledge payment in full and shall release all security in the goods and mark canceled and return to the buyer the original agreement or copy thereof or instruments or copies thereof signed by the buyer. For purposes of this section, a copy shall meet the requirements of section 25-12,112.

45-337 Insurance; policy; cancellation; premium refund; fee.

(1) The amount, if any, included for insurance, which may be purchased by the holder of the contract, shall not exceed the applicable premium rates chargeable in accordance with filings, if any, with the Department of Insurance. If dual interest insurance on the goods is purchased by the holder it shall, within thirty days after execution of the installment contract, send or cause to be sent to the buyer a policy or policies or certificate of insurance, written by an insurance company authorized to do business in this state, clearly setting forth the amount of the premium, the kind or kinds of insurance, the coverages, and all the terms and conditions of the contract or contracts of insurance.

(2) If any insurance is canceled or the premium adjusted during the term of the installment contract, any refund of the insurance premium plus the unearned time-price differential thereon received by the holder shall be credited by the holder to the last maturing installment of the contract except to the extent applied toward payment for similar insurance protecting the interests of the buyer and the holder or either of them.

(3) If any insurance is canceled due to the payment of all sums for which the buyer is liable under an installment contract, the holder of the installment contract shall, upon receipt of payment of all sums due, send notice to the buyer within fifteen business days of the name, address, and telephone number of the insurance company which issued the insurance contract or the party responsible for any refund, and notice that the buyer may be eligible for a refund. A copy of such notice shall be retained by the holder of the installment contract. This subsection does not apply if the holder of the loan contract previously credited the refund of the insurance premium to the loan contract or otherwise refunded the insurance premium to the buyer.

(4) The holder may also purchase nonfiling insurance and charge a reasonable fee. The fee shall not exceed the amount of fees and charges prescribed by law which would have been paid to public officials for filing, perfecting, releasing, and satisfying any lien or security interest in the goods or services.

45-338 Installment contract; time-price differential; rate; maximum; origination fee.

(1)(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, the time-price differential for any goods or services sold under an installment contract shall be stated as a fixed or variable annual percentage rate and shall be at a rate agreed to in writing, not to exceed eighteen percent per annum, except that a minimum time-price differential of ten dollars may be charged on any installment contract.

(b)(i) A buyer may be required, upon the execution of the installment contract, to pay an origination fee of not to exceed ten dollars, except that if the installment contract is for an installment sale of agricultural machinery or equipment for use in commercial agriculture or if the installment contract is for an installment sale of industrial machinery or equipment the buyer may be required to pay (A) an origination fee of not to exceed one hundred dollars if the cash sale price is less than twenty-five thousand dollars or (B) an origination fee of not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars if the cash sale price is twenty-five thousand dollars or more.

(ii) The origination fee shall be refundable if the installment contract is canceled during the first thirty days. The origination fee may be collected from the buyer or included in the principal balance of the installment contract at the time the contract is made and shall not be considered interest or a time-price differential.

(c) Nothing in the Nebraska Installment Sales Act prohibits a seller or holder of an installment contract from contracting for, computing, and charging a time-price differential based upon the application of the rate charged to the unpaid principal balance for the number of days actually elapsed. The charges so computed shall be used for the purpose of calculating the time-price differential, the time-price balance, the amount of each installment, and the time-sale price.

(d) When the installment contract is payable in substantially equal and consecutive monthly installments, the time-price differential shall be computed on the basic time price of each contract, as determined under the provisions of section 45-336, from the date of the contract until the due date of the final installment, notwithstanding that the time-price balance is required to be paid in installments.

(2) When an installment contract provides for payment other than in substantially equal and consecutive monthly installments, the time-price differential may be at a rate which will provide the same return as is permitted on substantially equal monthly payment contracts under subdivision (1)(d) of this section, having due regard for the schedule of payments.

(3) Every contract payable in two or more installments shall provide for payment of such installments by stating the date and amount of each installment or the method by which any variable rate or installment shall be determined.

45-339 Subsequent purchases; consolidate with previous contract; requirements.

Where a buyer makes any subsequent purchases of goods or services from a seller from whom he has previously purchased goods or services under one or more installment contracts and the amounts under such contract or contracts to the extent of cash sale price thereof have not been fully paid the subsequent purchases may be included in and consolidated with one or more of the prior contract or contracts. A memorandum of such additional purchases shall be prepared by the seller and inserted in or attached to the seller's counterpart of the contract and shall set forth:

(1) The names of the seller and the buyer and a description of the additional goods or services sold and all the information with respect to the additional purchase required by section 45-336 to be included in an installment contract;

(2) The consolidated time-price balance to be paid by the buyer; and

(3) The revised payments.

A copy of such memorandum shall be delivered to the buyer as provided in and subject to the provisions of section 45-336. When such subsequent purchases are made, the entire amount of all payments made prior to such subsequent purchases shall be deemed to have been applied on previous purchases.

Each payment thereafter made on a consolidated installment contract shall be deemed to be allocated to all of the various purchases in the same ratio or proportion as the original cash sale prices of the various purchases bear to one another. Where the amount of each deferred payment is increased in connection with such subsequent purchase, the subsequent payments, at the seller's option, may be deemed to be allocated as follows: An amount equal to the original installment payment to the previous purchase, the balance to the subsequent purchase. The amount of any initial payment or downpayment on the subsequent purchase shall be allocated in its entirety to such subsequent purchase. The provisions of this section shall not apply to cases involving equipment, parts, or to other merchandise attached or affixed to goods previously purchased, or to repairs or services in connection therewith rendered by the seller at the buyer's request.

45-340 Contracts negotiated by mail; requirements.

Installment contracts negotiated and entered into by mail without personal solicitation by salespersons or other representatives of the seller and based upon the catalog of the seller or other printed solicitation of business, which is distributed and made available generally to the public, if such catalog or other printed solicitation clearly sets forth the cash and time-sale prices and other terms of sales to be made through such medium, may be made as provided in this section. All provisions of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act shall apply to such sales except that the seller shall not be required to deliver a copy of the contract to the buyer as provided in section 45-336 and if the contract when received by the seller contains any blank spaces the seller may insert in the appropriate blank space the amounts of money and other terms which are set forth in the seller's catalog or other printed solicitation which is then in effect. In lieu of sending the buyer a copy of the contract as provided in section 45-336, the seller shall furnish to the buyer a written statement of any items inserted in the blank spaces in the contract received from the buyer.

45-341 Delinquency charges; limitation; fee.

An installment contract may provide and the holder thereof may collect, in addition to any time-price differential, a delinquency charge on each installment in default for a period of not less than fifteen days, if provided for in the contract, not in excess of five percent of each installment or twenty-five dollars, whichever is less, or, in lieu thereof, interest after maturity on each such installment not exceeding the highest permissible contract rate. If the time-price differential is computed by application of the rate charged to the unpaid principal balance for the number of days actually elapsed, such delinquency charge may not exceed five percent of each installment or twenty-five dollars, whichever is less. If any installment payment is made by a check, draft, or similar signed order which is not honored because of insufficient funds, no account, or any other reason except an error of a third party to the contract, the holder may charge and collect a fee of not more than fifteen dollars. The delinquency charge and such fee may be collected when due or at any time thereafter.

When an installment contract is for a commercial or business purpose (1) a delinquency charge not to exceed five percent of each unpaid installment may be contracted for and received and (2) the holder of any check or draft or similar order which is not honored for any reason, except for error of a third party, may charge and collect a fee as stated in the contract. As used in this section, commercial or business purpose means primarily for a purpose other than a personal, family, or household purpose.

45-342 Prepayment; rebate; how computed.

(1) Notwithstanding the provisions of any contract to the contrary, any buyer may prepay in full at any time before maturity the obligation of any contract.

(2) If such obligation is prepaid in full by cash, a new loan, or otherwise after the first installment due date, the borrower shall receive a rebate of an amount which shall be not less than the amount obtained by applying to the unpaid principal balances as originally scheduled or, if deferred, as deferred, for the period following prepayment, according to the actuarial method, the rate of the time-price differential previously stated to the borrower. The licensee may round the rate of the time-price differential to the nearest one-half of one percent if such procedure is not consistently used to obtain a greater yield than would otherwise be permitted. Any default and deferment charges which are due and unpaid may be deducted from any rebate. No rebate shall be required for any partial prepayment. No rebate of less than one dollar need be made. Acceleration of the maturity of the contract shall not in itself require a rebate. If judgment is obtained before the final installment date, the contract balance shall be reduced by the rebate which would be required for prepayment in full as of the date judgment is obtained.

45-344 Excess charges; penalty.

If any seller or sales finance company, in the making or collection of an installment contract, shall, directly or indirectly, contract for, take, or receive charges in excess of those authorized by the Nebraska Installment Sales Act except as a result of an accidental and bona fide error such contract shall be void and uncollectible as to (1) all of the excessive portion of the time-price differential, (2) the first one thousand dollars of the time-price differential authorized by section 45-338, and (3) the first four thousand dollars of the principal of the contract. If any seller or sales finance company violates any provision of the act, other than the violations described above, except as a result of an accidental and bona fide error, such installment contract shall be void and uncollectible as to the first five hundred dollars of the time-price differential and the first one thousand dollars of the principal of such contract. If any of such money has been paid by the buyer, such buyer or his or her assignee may recover under the act in a civil suit brought within one year after the due date, or any extension thereof, of the last installment of the contract.

45-345 License; requirement; exception.

(1) No person shall act as a sales finance company in this state without obtaining a license therefor from the department as provided in the Nebraska Installment Sales Act whether or not such person maintains an office, place of doing business, or agent in this state, unless such person meets the requirements of section 45-340.

(2) No financial institution or installment loan licensee authorized to do business in this state shall be required to obtain a license under the act but shall comply with all of the other provisions of the act.

(3) A seller who does not otherwise act as a sales finance company shall not be required to obtain a license under the act but shall comply with all of the other provisions of the act in order to charge the time-price differential allowed by section 45-338.

45-346 License; application; contents; issuance; bond; fee; term; director; duties.

(1) A license issued under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act is nontransferable and nonassignable. The same person may obtain additional licenses for each place of business operating as a sales finance company in this state upon compliance with the act as to each license, except that on or after January 1, 2020, a person is no longer required to obtain a new license for each place of business and may maintain a branch office or offices upon compliance with the act.

(2) Application for a license shall be on a form prescribed and furnished by the director and shall include, but not be limited to, (a) the applicant's name and any trade name or doing business as designation which the applicant intends to use in this state, (b) the applicant's main office address, (c) all branch office addresses at which business is to be conducted, (d) the names and titles of each director and principal officer of the applicant, (e) the names of all shareholders, partners, or members of the applicant, (f) a description of the activities of the applicant in such detail as the department may require, (g) if the applicant is an individual, his or her social security number, and (h) audited financial statements showing a minimum net worth of one hundred thousand dollars.

(3) An applicant for a license shall file with the department a surety bond in the amount of fifty thousand dollars, furnished by a surety company authorized to do business in this state. Such bond shall be increased by an additional fifty thousand dollars for each branch location of the applicant that is licensed under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act. The bond shall be for the use of the State of Nebraska and any Nebraska resident who may have claims or causes of action against the applicant. The surety may cancel the bond only upon thirty days' written notice to the director.

(4) A license fee of one hundred fifty dollars, and, if applicable, a one-hundred-dollar fee for each branch office listed in the application, and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-354 shall be submitted along with each application.

(5) An initial license shall remain in full force and effect until the next succeeding December 31. Each license shall remain in force until revoked, suspended, canceled, expired, or surrendered.

(6) The director shall, after an application has been filed for a license under the act, investigate the facts, and if he or she finds that the experience, character, and general fitness of the applicant, of the members thereof if the applicant is a corporation or association, and of the officers and directors thereof if the applicant is a corporation, are such as to warrant belief that the business will be operated honestly, fairly, and efficiently within the purpose of the act, the director shall issue and deliver a license to the applicant to do business as a sales finance company in accordance with the license and the act. The director shall have the power to reject for cause any application for a license.

(7) The director shall, within his or her discretion, make an examination and inspection concerning the propriety of the issuance of a license to any applicant. The cost of such examination and inspection shall be borne by the applicant.

(8) If an applicant for a license under the act does not complete the license application and fails to respond to a notice or notices from the department to correct the deficiency or deficiencies for a period of one hundred twenty days or more after the date the department sends the initial notice to correct the deficiency or deficiencies, the department may deem the application as abandoned and may issue a notice of abandonment of the application to the applicant in lieu of proceedings to deny the application.

45-346.01 Licensee; move of main office; notice to director; maintain minimum net worth; bond.

(1) A licensee may move its main office from one place to another without obtaining a new license if the licensee gives notice thereof to the director through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry at least thirty days prior to such move.

(2) A licensee shall notify the director through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry at least thirty days prior to the occurrence of any of the following:

(a) The establishment of a new branch office. Notice of each such establishment shall be accompanied by a fee of one hundred dollars and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-354;

(b) The relocation or closing of an existing branch office; or

(c) A change of name, trade name, or doing business as designation.

(3) A licensee shall maintain the minimum net worth as required by section 45-346 while a license issued under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act is in effect. The minimum net worth shall be proven by an annual audit conducted by a certified public accountant. A licensee shall submit a copy of the annual audit to the director as required by section 45-348 or upon written request of the director. If a licensee fails to maintain the required minimum net worth, the department may issue a notice of cancellation of the license in lieu of revocation proceedings.

(4) The surety bond or a substitute bond as required by section 45-346 shall remain in effect while a license issued under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act is in effect. If a licensee fails to maintain a surety bond or substitute bond, the licensee shall immediately cease doing business and surrender the license to the department. If the licensee does not surrender the license, the department may issue a notice of cancellation of the license in lieu of revocation proceedings.

45-348 License; renewal; licensee; duties; fee; voluntary surrender of license.

(1) An installment sales license may be renewed annually on or before December 31 by paying to the director a fee of one hundred fifty dollars, plus one hundred dollars for each branch office, if applicable, and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-354 and by submitting such information as the director may require to indicate any material change in the information contained in the original application or succeeding renewal applications, including a copy of the licensee's most recent annual audit.

(2) A licensee may voluntarily surrender a license at any time by delivering to the director written notice of the surrender. The department shall cancel the license following such surrender.

(3) If a licensee fails to renew its license and does not voluntarily surrender the license pursuant to this section, the department may issue a notice of expiration of the license to the licensee in lieu of revocation proceedings.

45-349 Repealed. Laws 1983, LB 447, § 104.

45-350 License; denial of renewal; suspension; revocation; appeal.

(1) Renewal of a license originally granted under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act may be denied or a license may be suspended or revoked by the director on the following grounds: (a) Material misstatement in the application for license; (b) willful failure to comply with any provision of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act relating to installment contracts; (c) defrauding any buyer to the buyer's damage; or (d) fraudulent misrepresentation, circumvention, or concealment by the licensee through whatever subterfuge or device of any of the material particulars or the nature thereof required to be stated or furnished to the buyer under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act.

(2) If a licensee is a partnership, limited liability company, association, or corporation, it shall be sufficient cause for the suspension or revocation of a license that any officer, director, or trustee of a licensed association or corporation or any member of a licensed partnership or limited liability company has so acted or failed to act as would be cause for suspending or revoking a license to such party as an individual.

(3) No license shall be denied, suspended, or revoked except after hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act. The director shall give the licensee at least ten days' written notice, in the form of an order to show cause, of the time and place of such hearing by either registered or certified mail addressed to the principal place of business in this state of such licensee. Such notice shall contain the grounds of complaint against the licensee. Any order suspending or revoking such license shall recite the grounds upon which the same is based. The order shall be entered upon the records of the director and shall not be effective until after thirty days' written notice thereof given after such entry forwarded by either registered or certified mail to the licensee at such principal place of business.

(4) Revocation, suspension, cancellation, expiration, or surrender of any license shall not impair or affect the obligation of any lawful installment contract acquired previously thereto by the licensee.

(5) Revocation, suspension, cancellation, expiration, or surrender of any license shall not affect civil or criminal liability for acts committed before the revocation, suspension, cancellation, expiration, or surrender or affect liability for any fines which may be levied against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members pursuant to the Nebraska Installment Sales Act for acts committed before the revocation, suspension, cancellation, expiration, or surrender.

(6) Any person, licensee, or applicant considering himself or herself aggrieved by an order of the director entered under the provisions of this section may appeal the order. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

45-351 Licensee; investigation and inspection; director; appoint examiners; charges; fines; lien.

(1) The department shall be charged with the duty of inspecting the business, records, and accounts of all persons who engage in the business of a sales finance company subject to the Nebraska Installment Sales Act. The director shall have the power to appoint examiners who shall, under his or her direction, investigate the installment contracts and business and examine the books and records of licensees when the director shall so determine. Such examinations shall not be conducted more often than annually except as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The director or his or her duly authorized representative shall have the power to make such investigations as he or she shall deem necessary, and to the extent necessary for this purpose, he or she may examine such licensee or any other person and shall have the power to compel the production of all relevant books, records, accounts, and documents.

(3) The expenses of the director incurred in the examination of the books and records of licensees shall be charged to the licensees as set forth in sections 8-605 and 8-606. The director may charge the costs of an investigation of a nonlicensed person to such person, and such costs shall be paid within thirty days after receipt of billing.

(4) Upon receipt by a licensee of a notice of investigation or inquiry request for information from the department, the licensee shall respond within twenty-one calendar days. Each day a licensee fails to respond as required by this subsection shall constitute a separate violation.

(5) If the director finds, after notice and opportunity for hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, that any person has willfully and intentionally violated any provision of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act, any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated under the act, or any order issued by the director under the act, the director may order such person to pay (a) an administrative fine of not more than one thousand dollars for each separate violation and (b) the costs of investigation. The department shall remit fines collected under this subsection to the State Treasurer for distribution in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

(6) If a person fails to pay an administrative fine and the costs of investigation ordered pursuant to subsection (5) of this section, a lien in the amount of such fine and costs may be imposed upon all assets and property of such person in this state and may be recovered in a civil action by the director. The lien shall attach to the real property of such person when notice of the lien is filed and indexed against the real property in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the real property is located. The lien shall attach to any other property of such person when notice of the lien is filed against the property in the manner prescribed by law. Failure of the person to pay such fine and costs shall constitute a separate violation of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act.

45-353 Violations; enforcement; receiver; appointment; powers; duties.

(1) Whenever the director has reasonable cause to believe that any person is violating or is threatening to or intends to violate any of the provisions of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act, he or she may, in addition to all actions provided for in the act and without prejudice thereto, enter an order requiring such person to desist or to refrain from such violation. An action may also be brought, on the relation of the Attorney General or the director, to enjoin such person from engaging in or continuing such violation or from doing any act or acts in furtherance thereof.

(2) In any such action an order or judgment may be entered awarding such preliminary or final injunction as may be deemed proper. In addition to all other means provided by law for the enforcement of a restraining order or injunction, the court, in which such action is brought, shall have power and jurisdiction to impound and appoint a receiver for the property and business of the defendant, including books, papers, documents, and records pertaining thereto or so much thereof as the court may deem reasonably necessary to prevent violations of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act through or by means of the use of such property and business. Such receiver, when so appointed and qualified, shall have such powers and duties as to custody, collection, administration, winding up and liquidation of such property and business as shall, from time to time, be conferred upon him or her by the court.

45-354 Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry; department; participation; requirements; director; duties; department; duties.

(1) Effective January 1, 2013, or within one hundred eighty days after the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry is capable of accepting licenses issued under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act, whichever is later, the department shall require such licensees under the act to be licensed and registered through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. In order to carry out this requirement, the department is authorized to participate in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. For this purpose, the department may establish, by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or by order, requirements as necessary. The requirements may include, but not be limited to:

(a) Background checks of applicants and licensees, including, but not limited to:

(i) Criminal history through fingerprint or other databases;

(ii) Civil or administrative records;

(iii) Credit history; or

(iv) Any other information as deemed necessary by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(b) The payment of fees to apply for or renew a license through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(c) Compliance with prelicensure education and testing and continuing education;

(d) The setting or resetting, as necessary, of renewal processing or reporting dates; and

(e) Amending or surrendering a license or any other such activities as the director deems necessary for participation in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(2) In order to fulfill the purposes of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act, the department is authorized to establish relationships or contracts with the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry or other entities designated by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry to collect and maintain records and process transaction fees or other fees related to licensees or other persons subject to the act. The department may allow such system to collect licensing fees on behalf of the department and allow such system to collect a processing fee for the services of the system directly from each licensee or applicant for a license.

(3) The director is required to regularly report enforcement actions and other relevant information to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry subject to the provisions contained in section 45-355.

(4) The director shall establish a process whereby applicants and licensees may challenge information entered into the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry by the director.

(5) The department shall ensure that the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry adopts a privacy, data security, and breach of security of the system notification policy. The director shall make available upon written request a copy of the contract between the department and the Nationwide

Mortgage Licensing System and Registry pertaining to the breach of security of the system provisions.

(6) The department shall upon written request provide the most recently available audited financial report of the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

45-355 Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry; information sharing; director; powers.

(1) In order to promote more effective regulation and reduce the regulatory burden through supervisory information sharing:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the requirements under any federal or state law regarding the privacy or confidentiality of any information or material provided to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry, and any privilege arising under federal or state law, including the rules of any federal or state court, with respect to such information or material, shall continue to apply to such information or material after the information or material has been disclosed to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. Such information and material may be shared with all federal and state regulatory officials with mortgage industry oversight authority without the loss of privilege or the loss of confidentiality protections provided by federal or state law;

(b) Information or material that is subject to privilege or confidentiality under subdivision (a) of this subsection shall not be subject to:

(i) Disclosure under any federal or state law governing the disclosure to the public of information held by an officer or an agency of the federal government or the respective state; or

(ii) Subpoena or discovery or admission into evidence in any private civil action or administrative process unless, with respect to any privilege held by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry with respect to such information or material, the person to whom such information or material pertains waives, in whole or in part, in the discretion of such person, that privilege;

(c) Any state statute relating to the disclosure of confidential supervisory information or any information or material described in subdivision (a) of this subsection that is inconsistent with such subdivision shall be superseded by the requirements of this section; and

(d) This section shall not apply with respect to the information or material relating to the employment history of, and publicly adjudicated disciplinary and enforcement actions against, applicants and licensees that is included in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry for access by the public.

(2) For these purposes, the director is authorized to enter into agreements or sharing arrangements with other governmental agencies, the Conference of State Bank Supervisors, the American Association of Residential Mortgage Regulators, or other associations representing governmental agencies as established by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or an order of the director.

45-356 Acquisition of licensee; notice; filing fee; director; duties; disapproval; grounds; notice; hearing.

(1) No person acting personally or as an agent shall acquire control of any licensee under the Nebraska Installment Sales Act without first (a) giving thirty days' notice to the department on a form prescribed by the department of such proposed acquisition and (b) paying a filing fee of one hundred fifty dollars and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-354.

(2) The director, upon receipt of such notice, shall act upon the acquisition within thirty days, and unless he or she disapproves of the proposed acquisition within such period of time, the acquisition shall become effective on the thirty-first day after receipt without the director's approval, except that the director may extend the thirty-day period an additional thirty days if, in his or her judgment, any material information submitted is substantially inaccurate or the acquiring party has not furnished all the information required by the department.

(3) An acquisition may become effective prior to the expiration of the disapproval period if the director issues written notice of his or her intent not to disapprove the action.

(4)(a) The director may disapprove any proposed acquisition if:

(i) The financial condition of any acquiring person is such as might jeopardize the financial stability of the acquired licensee;

(ii) The character and general fitness of any acquiring person or of any of the proposed management personnel indicate that the acquired installment sales licensee would not be operated honestly, fairly, or efficiently within the purpose of the Nebraska Installment Sales Act; or

(iii) Any acquiring person neglects, fails, or refuses to furnish all information required by the department.

(b) The director shall notify the acquiring party in writing of disapproval of the acquisition. The notice shall provide a statement of the basis for the disapproval.

(c) Within fifteen business days after receipt of written notice of disapproval, the acquiring party may make a written request for a hearing on the proposed acquisition in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department under the Administrative Procedure Act. The director shall, by order, approve or disapprove the proposed acquisition on the basis of the record made at the hearing.

Sections 45-601 to 45-622 shall be known and may be cited as the Collection Agency Act.

No person, firm, corporation, or association shall conduct or operate a collection agency or do a collection agency business as defined in the act until he, she, or it has secured a license as provided in the act. Any person, firm, corporation, or association conducting or operating such a collection agency or doing such a collection agency business without a license shall be guilty of a Class III misdemeanor for each day that such unlawful business is conducted. Any officer or agent of a firm, corporation, or association who personally participates in any violation of the act shall be guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require a regular employee of a collection agency duly licensed as such in this state to procure a collection agency license.

Nothing in the act shall be construed to prohibit a person, firm, corporation, or association regulated as a collection agency in another state and residing in another state from communicating with a debtor in this state.

45-602 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Collection Agency Act:

(1) Board means the Collection Agency Licensing Board;

(2) Collection agency means and includes:

(a) All persons, firms, corporations, and associations directly or indirectly engaged in soliciting, from more than one person, firm, corporation, or association, claims of any kind owed or due or asserted to be owed or due such solicited person, firm, corporation, or association, and all persons, firms, corporations, and associations directly or indirectly engaged in asserting, enforcing, or prosecuting such claims;

(b) Any person, firm, corporation, or association which, in attempting to collect or in collecting his, her, or its own accounts or claims, uses a fictitious name or any name other than his, her, or its own name which would indicate to the debtor that a third person is collecting or attempting to collect such account or claim; and

(c) Any person, firm, corporation, or association which attempts to or does give away or sell to any person, firm, corporation, or association, other than one licensed under the act, any system or series of letters or forms for use in the collection of accounts or claims which assert or indicate, directly or indirectly, that the claim or account is being asserted or collected by any other person, firm, corporation, or association other than the creditor or owner of the claim or demand;

(3) Collection agency does not mean or include (a) regular employees of a single creditor, (b) banks, (c) trust companies, (d) savings and loan associations, (e) building and loan associations, (f) abstract companies doing an escrow business, (g) duly licensed real estate brokers and agents when the claims or accounts being handled by such broker or agent are related to or are in connection with such brokers' or agents' regular real estate business, (h) express and telegraph companies subject to public regulation and supervision, (i) attorneys at law handling claims and collections in their own names and not operating a collection agency under the management of a layperson, (j) any person, firm, corporation, or association handling claims, accounts, or collections under an order or orders of any court, or (k) a person, firm, corporation, or association which, for valuable consideration, purchases accounts, claims, or demands of another and then, in such purchaser's own name, proceeds to assert or collect such accounts, claims, or demands; and

(4) Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry means a licensing system developed and maintained by the Conference of State Bank Supervisors and the American Association of Residential Mortgage Regulators for the licensing and registration of mortgage loan originators, mortgage bankers, installment loan companies, and other state-regulated financial services entities and industries.

45-603 Collection Agency Licensing Board; created; members; term; expenses; employees; Secretary of State; duties.

(1) There is hereby created the Collection Agency Licensing Board which shall consist of the Secretary of State, who shall be chairperson of the board, and four members appointed by the Governor. Three of the members appointed by the Governor shall be licensees actively engaged in the collection business in this state, one of whom shall reside in each of the state's three congressional districts. The remaining member shall be appointed at large as a representative of the public. Such person shall not be a licensee actively engaged in the collection business in this state.

(2) The term of office of each appointed member shall be for four years, except that of the members of the first board appointed under this section, two shall be appointed for a term of two years. Before a member's term expires, the Governor shall appoint a successor to take office on the expiration of the member's term. A member shall continue to serve after the expiration of his or her term until a successor is appointed and qualified. A vacancy in the office of a member shall be filled by appointment for the unexpired term.

(3) The members of the board shall be reimbursed for expenses as provided in sections 81-1174 to 81-1177.

(4) The board may employ such persons as may be necessary to carry out the Collection Agency Act, fix the salaries of such employees, and make such other expenditures as are necessary to properly carry out the act, except that all remuneration, expenses, salaries, and expenditures provided for in the act shall be paid out of the Secretary of State Cash Fund.

(5) The Secretary of State shall keep a record of all the proceedings, transactions, communications, and official acts performed pursuant to the act and perform such other duties as may be necessary to carry out the intent and purpose of the act.

45-605 Board; duties; application for license; filing; issuance; denial; appeal.

The board shall be responsible for the administration of the Collection Agency Act. All applications for licenses provided for in the act shall be made to the board. If the applicant is an individual, the application shall include the applicant's social security number. The board shall investigate the qualifications of each applicant for a license. Based on the results of the investigation, the board may either issue a license to the applicant upon the payment of the license fee and any processing fee allowed under section 45-605.01 and the furnishing of the bond provided for in section 45-608 or refuse to issue such license. The action of the board may be appealed, and the appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

45-605.01 Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry; licensure and registration; requirements.

(1) Effective October 1, 2020, or within one year after the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry is capable of processing licenses issued under the Collection Agency Act, whichever is later, the board, upon its discretion, may require licensees under the act to be licensed and registered through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. In order to carry out this requirement, the board may participate in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. For this purpose, the board may establish, by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or by order, requirements as necessary. The requirements may include, but not be limited to:

(a) Any information as deemed necessary by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(b) The payment of fees to apply for or renew a license provided for in sections 45-606 and 45-620 and any processing fee allowed under this section through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(c) The setting or resetting, as necessary, of renewal processing or reporting dates; and

(d) Amending or surrendering a license or any other such activities as the board deems necessary for participation in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(2) In order to fulfill the purposes of the Nebraska Collection Agency Act, the board may establish relationships or contracts with the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry or other entities designated by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry to collect and maintain records and process transaction fees or other fees related to licensees or other persons subject to the act. The board may allow such system to collect licensing fees on behalf of the board and allow such system to collect a processing fee for the services of the system directly from each licensee or applicant for a license.

(3) The board shall regularly report enforcement actions and other relevant information to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(4) The board shall establish a process whereby applicants and licensees may challenge information entered into the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry by the board.

(5) The board shall ensure that the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry adopts a privacy, data security, and breach of security of the system notification policy. The board shall make available upon written request a copy of the contract between the board and the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry pertaining to the breach of security of the system provisions.

(6) Upon written request, the board shall provide the most recently available audited financial report of the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

45-606 License; application; fees; financial statement; form.

(1) Any person, firm, corporation, or association desiring to engage in this state in the collection business under the Collection Agency Act shall make written and sworn application for such license to the board upon a form to be prescribed by the board, which application shall be accompanied by an investigation fee of not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars and any processing fee allowed under section 45-605.01. The amount of the investigation fee shall be fixed by the board and shall not exceed the amount actually necessary to sustain the administration and enforcement of the act. Such application shall be accompanied by a duly verified financial statement of the applicant in form prescribed by the board. The Secretary of State shall remit the fees received pursuant to this section to the State Treasurer for credit to the Secretary of State Cash Fund.

(2) The board may require applicants to utilize the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry or an entity designated by the Nationwide

Mortgage Licensing System and Registry for the processing of applications and fees.

45-607 License; qualifications of licensee.

(1) The license provided for by section 45-606 shall be granted only to applicants who are trustworthy, who have a good reputation for honesty and fair dealings, who are financially responsible, and who are, in the opinion of the board, competent to engage in the collection of accounts and claims of others. No license shall be issued to a partnership, limited liability company, corporation, or association unless the manager or executive officer thereof has been engaged in the collection business either as owner, officer, partner, member, or employee of an established reputable collection agency for a period of at least two years, except that the board may, if satisfied that the applicant or the manager or executive officer thereof has had sufficient business experience to be fully competent to engage in the collection business without such previous collection experience, approve such application.

(2) No such license shall be issued to any person, firm, limited liability company, corporation, or association who or which is not a resident of this state or does not keep and maintain a regular office in this state in which are kept complete records of collections and claims handled by such person, firm, limited liability company, corporation, or association for creditors residing in this state and against debtors residing in this state, except that a foreign corporation or limited liability company duly authorized, admitted, and licensed to do business in this state may be issued such a license if it complies with all requirements of the Collection Agency Act, nor shall any license be issued to any person, firm, limited liability company, corporation, or association who or which or the principal officers of which have, within the past five years, been convicted in any court of fraud or have been convicted of or had judgment entered against them in any court for failure to account to their client or customer for money or property collected by them for such client or customer.

45-608 Licensee; bond; conditions.

No license shall be issued under section 45-607 until the applicant has furnished a good and sufficient corporate surety bond in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars for those agencies or foreign corporations having sixteen or more licensed solicitors, ten thousand dollars for any agency having five to fifteen licensed solicitors, and five thousand dollars for any agency having less than five solicitors, payable to and approved by the board and conditioned that the licensee shall faithfully and truly perform all agreements entered into with the licensee's clients or customers and shall, within forty-five days after the close of each calendar month, report to and pay to his, her, or its client or customer the net proceeds of all collections made during the preceding calendar month and due to each client or customer, which bond shall be in such form as approved by the board and shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. No person shall be required to post a bond in excess of one hundred thousand dollars.

An action may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction upon such bond by any person to whom the licensee fails to account and pay as set forth in such bond or who has been damaged by failure of the licensee to comply with all agreements entered into with such person, except that the aggregate liability of the surety to all such persons shall, in no event, exceed the sum of such bond.

45-609 License; form; display.

The license provided for in section 45-607 shall be in such form as prescribed by the board. If the licensee maintains a branch office, the licensee shall not do a collection agency business in such branch office until the licensee has secured a branch office certificate for such branch office. A licensee, so long as his, her, or its license is in full force and effect and in good standing, shall be entitled to branch office certificates for any branch offices operated by such licensee upon payment of the fee as set forth in section 45-620 and any processing fee allowed under section 45-605.01. A licensee shall display his, her, or its license in a conspicuous place in his, her, or its principal place of business, and if the licensee conducts a branch office, the branch office certificate shall be conspicuously displayed in the branch office.

45-610 Licensee; employees; solicitor's certificates; form.

The board shall, upon written application by a licensee and the payment of the fee as set forth in section 45-620 and any processing fee allowed under section 45-605.01, issue solicitor's certificates to employees of the licensee who solicit or collect accounts, which certificates shall be in such form as determined by the board. Such certificates shall entitle the solicitor named in the certificate to solicit and handle, for the licensee named in the certificate, collection agency business, accounts, and claims. Upon the termination of the employment of the solicitor by the licensee, such certificate shall become null and void and shall be returned by such solicitor to the licensee for cancellation by the board.

45-611 Licenses; certificates; expiration; renewal; application; time.

(1) All licenses and certificates issued under the Collection Agency Act shall expire on December 31 following the date of issuance unless renewed as provided in this section prior to such date. All branch office certificates and solicitor's certificates shall continue in full force and effect only so long as the license under which they are issued is in full force and effect.

(2) Each licensee shall, if he or she desires to have his or her license renewed, make application to the board for such renewal on or before December 31 of each year and shall, with such application, furnish the bond required by section 45-608 or furnish evidence of the continuation in effect of the prior bond so furnished and pay the renewal fee provided for in section 45-620 and any processing fee allowed under section 45-605.01.

(3) If an application for renewal of a license is denied, the applicant may appeal from such refusal the same as from the refusal to issue an original license.

(4) Upon renewal of a license, the board shall issue to the licensee a new license or a certificate of renewal of the previous license in such form as the board determines. Upon the renewal of a license, the licensee may, if the licensee maintains a branch office, secure a renewal of his, her, or its branch office certificate upon payment of the renewal fee provided for in section 45-620 and any processing fee allowed under section 45-605.01. Such licensee may also secure renewals of his, her, or its solicitor's certificates upon payment of the renewal fee provided for in section 45-620 and any processing fee allowed under section 45-605.01.

45-612 Licensee; solicitor; violation; conviction; revocation; hearing; order.

Upon final conviction of any licensee or solicitor by any court in Nebraska of fraud or embezzlement or upon final judgment against such licensee or solicitor in any court in Nebraska for fraud or embezzlement or for failure to account to his, her, or its client or customer within the time provided for in section 45-608 or upon the termination of the bond furnished by the licensee under such section without another sufficient bond being substituted therefor, the board shall forthwith revoke such license or, in the case of a solicitor, such solicitor's certificate. Such license shall also be revoked by the board at any time a licensee fails to maintain a regular office in this state in which are kept complete records of all collections and claims handled and being handled by such licensee or at any time the licensee becomes a nonresident of this state or, in the case of a foreign corporation, is no longer licensed to do business in this state. Such license or solicitor's certificate shall also be revoked if after a hearing, as provided in sections 45-613 and 45-614, the board finds that such license or certificate should be revoked.

45-613 Licensee; solicitor; complaint; citation; notice; hearing.

The board may, upon its own motion, and shall, upon the sworn complaint of any customer or client of a licensee, cite such licensee or solicitor of such licensee to appear before it at a time and place as set forth in such citation to show cause, if any, why such license or certificate should not be suspended or revoked. Such citation shall be in writing and shall set forth the exact charges against the licensee or solicitor, and a true copy thereof shall be served on such licensee or solicitor at least twenty days prior to the day of hearing in the same manner as summons of the district courts are served. If the citation is against a solicitor, a true copy of the citation shall also be served upon the licensee under whose license the solicitor's certificate has been issued.

45-614 Licensee; solicitor; citation; power to issue subpoenas; depositions.

In the preparation for and the conduct of a hearing held pursuant to section 45-613, the board may issue subpoenas to require the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of any pertinent records, papers, books, and documents and may administer oaths, examine witnesses, and take any evidence it deems pertinent to a proper determination of the charge. The party against whom such citation is issued shall have the right to obtain from the Secretary of State subpoenas for witnesses such party may desire to have at such hearing. Depositions may be taken and used at such hearings the same as taken and used in civil actions in the district courts of this state. Witnesses so subpoenaed shall receive the same fees as witnesses in the district courts of this state.

45-623 Collection of public debts; contracts authorized; requirements.

(1) Any state agency, county, city, village, or other political subdivision may contract to retain a collection agency licensed pursuant to the Collection Agency Act, within or without this state, for the purpose of collecting public debts owed by any person to such state agency, county, city, village, or other political subdivision.

(2) No debt owed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section may be assigned to a collection agency unless (a) there has been an attempt to advise the debtor by first-class mail, postage prepaid, at the last-known address of the debtor (i) of the existence of the debt and (ii) that the debt may be assigned to a collection agency for collection if the debt is not paid and (b) at least thirty days have elapsed from the time the notice was sent, except that in the case of an order for support being enforced by a county attorney, authorized attorney, or prosecuting attorney pursuant to Chapter 42 or 43, this notice requirement shall not apply and Title IV-D of the federal Social Security Act, as amended, shall be complied with.

(3) A collection agency which is assigned a debt under this section shall have only those remedies and powers which would be available to it as an assignee of a private creditor. This subsection shall not be construed to in any way limit the remedies and powers available to an authorized attorney as defined in section 43-512.

(4) For purposes of this section, debt shall include all delinquent fees or payments except delinquent property taxes on real estate. In the case of debt arising as a result of an order or judgment of a court in a criminal or traffic matter, a collection fee may be added to the debt. The collection fee shall be twenty-five dollars or four and one-half percent of the debt, whichever is greater. The collection fee shall be paid by the person who owes the debt directly to the person or agency providing the collection service.

45-702.01 Reverse-mortgage loans; rules applicable; fees authorized; failure by licensee to make loan advances and cure default; forfeiture.

(1) Reverse-mortgage loans shall be governed by the following rules without regard to the requirements set out elsewhere for other types of mortgage transactions: (a) Payment in whole or in part is permitted without penalty at any time during the period of the loan; (b) an advance and interest on the advance have priority over a lien filed after the closing of a reverse-mortgage loan; (c) an interest rate may be fixed or adjustable and may also provide for interest that is contingent on appreciation in the value of the residential real estate; and (d) the advance shall not be reduced in amount or number based on an adjustment in the interest rate when a reverse-mortgage loan provides for periodic advances to a borrower.

(2) Reverse-mortgage loans may be made or acquired without regard to the following provisions for other types of mortgage transactions: (a) Limitations on the purpose and use of future advances or any other mortgage proceeds; (b) limitations on future advances to a term of years or limitations on the term of credit line advances; (c) limitations on the term during which future advances take priority over intervening advances; (d) requirements that a maximum mortgage amount be stated in the mortgage; (e) limitations on loan-to-value ratios; (f) prohibitions on balloon payments; (g) prohibitions on compounded interest and interest on interest; and (h) requirements that a percentage of the loan proceeds must be advanced prior to loan assignment.

(3) A licensee may, in connection with a reverse-mortgage loan, charge to the borrower (a) a nonrefundable loan origination fee which does not exceed two percent of the appraised value of the owner-occupied principal residence at the time the loan is made, (b) a reasonable fee paid to third parties originating loans on behalf of the licensee, and (c) such other fees as are necessary and required, including fees for inspections, insurance, appraisals, and surveys.

(4) Licensees failing to make loan advances as required in the loan documents and failing to cure the default as required in the loan documents shall forfeit to the borrower an amount equal to the greater of two hundred dollars or one percent of the amount of the loan advance the licensee failed to make.

45-703 Act; exemptions.

(1) Except as provided in section 45-704, the following shall be exempt from the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act:

(a) Any depository institution or wholly owned subsidiary thereof;

(b) Any registered bank holding company;

(c) Any insurance company that is subject to regulation by the Department of Insurance and is either (i) organized or chartered under the laws of Nebraska or (ii) organized or chartered under the laws of any other state if such insurance company has a place of business in Nebraska;

(d) Any person licensed to practice law in this state in connection with activities that are (i) considered the practice of law by the Supreme Court, (ii) carried out within an attorney-client relationship, and (iii) accomplished by the attorney in compliance with all applicable laws, rules, ethics, and standards;

(e) Any person licensed in this state as a real estate broker or real estate salesperson pursuant to section 81-885.02 who is engaging in real estate brokerage activities unless such person is compensated by a lender, a mortgage broker, or other mortgage loan originator or by any agent of such lender, mortgage broker, or other mortgage loan originator;

(f) Any registered mortgage loan originator when acting for an entity described in subdivision (24)(a)(i), (ii), or (iii) of section 45-702;

(g) Any sales finance company licensed pursuant to the Nebraska Installment Sales Act if such sales finance company does not engage in mortgage banking business in any capacity other than as a purchaser or servicer of an installment contract, as defined in section 45-335, which is secured by a mobile home or trailer;

(h) Any trust company chartered pursuant to the Nebraska Trust Company Act;

(i) Any wholly owned subsidiary of an organization listed in subdivisions (b) and (c) of this subsection if the listed organization maintains a place of business in Nebraska;

(j) Any individual who offers or negotiates terms of a residential mortgage loan with or on behalf of an immediate family member of the individual;

(k) Any individual who does not repetitively and habitually engage in the business of a mortgage banker, a mortgage loan originator, or a loan processor or underwriter, either inside or outside of this state, who (i) makes a residential mortgage loan with his or her own funds for his or her own investment, (ii) makes a purchase-money mortgage, or (iii) finances the sale of a dwelling or residential real estate owned by such individual without the intent to resell the residential mortgage loan;

(l) Any employee or independent agent of a mortgage banker licensed or registered pursuant to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act or exempt from the act if such employee or independent agent does not conduct the activities of a mortgage loan originator or loan processor or underwriter;

(m) The United States of America; the State of Nebraska; any other state, district, territory, commonwealth, or possession of the United States of America; any city, county, or other political subdivision; and any agency or division of any of the foregoing;

(n) The Nebraska Investment Finance Authority;

(o) Any individual who is an employee of an entity described in subdivision (m) or (n) of this subsection and who acts as a mortgage loan originator or loan processor or underwriter only pursuant to his or her official duties as an employee of such entity;

(p) A bona fide nonprofit organization which has received a certificate of exemption pursuant to section 45-703.01; and

(q) Any employee of a bona fide nonprofit organization which has received a certificate of exemption pursuant to section 45-703.01 if such employee acts as a mortgage loan originator or mortgage loan processor or underwriter (i) only with respect to his or her work duties for the nonprofit organization and (ii) only with respect to residential mortgage loans with terms that are favorable to the borrower.

(2) It shall not be necessary to negate any of the exemptions provided in this section in any complaint, information, indictment, or other writ or proceedings brought under the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act, and the burden of establishing the right to any exemption shall be upon the person claiming the benefit of such exemption.

45-703.01 Nonprofit organization; certificate of exemption; qualification; application; denial; notice; appeal; department; powers; revocation of certificate; grounds.

(1) A nonprofit organization may apply to the director for a certificate of exemption on a form as prescribed by the department. The director shall grant such certificate if the director finds that the nonprofit organization is a bona fide nonprofit organization. In order for a nonprofit organization to qualify as a bona fide nonprofit organization, the director shall find that it meets the following:

(a) Has the status of a tax exempt organization under section 501(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986;

(b) Promotes affordable housing or provides homeownership education or similar services;

(c) Conducts its activities in a manner that serves public or charitable purposes rather than commercial purposes;

(d) Receives funding and revenue and charges fees in a manner that does not incentivize it or its employees to act other than in the best interests of its clients;

(e) Compensates its employees in a manner that does not incentivize employees to act other than in the best interests of its clients; and

(f) Provides or identifies for the borrower residential mortgage loans with terms favorable to the borrower and comparable to mortgage loans and housing assistance provided under government assistance programs.

(2) For residential mortgage loans to have terms that are favorable to the borrower, the director shall determine that terms are consistent with loan origination in a public or charitable context rather than in a commercial context.

(3) If the director determines that the application for a certificate of exemption should be denied, the director shall notify the applicant in writing of the denial and of the reasons for the denial. A decision of the director denying an application for a certificate of exemption pursuant to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act may be appealed. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department.

(4) The department has the authority to examine the books and activities of an organization it determines is a bona fide nonprofit organization. The director may, following a hearing under the Administrative Procedure Act, revoke the certificate of exemption granted to a bona fide nonprofit organization if he or she determines that such nonprofit organization fails to meet the requirements of subsection (1) of this section.

(5) In making its determinations and examinations under subsections (1), (2), and (4) of this section, the department may rely on its receipt and review of:

(a) Reports filed with federal, state, or local housing agencies and authorities; or

(b) Reports and attestations required by the department.

45-704 Registration required; registration statement; fee; procedure; bond; registrant; duties; renewal.

(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act, no person exempt from licensing under section 45-703 who employs or enters into an independent agent agreement with an individual who is required to obtain a mortgage loan originator license in this state pursuant to section 45-727 shall act as a mortgage banker until such person has registered with the department.

(2) Any person required to register pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall submit to the department a registration statement on a form prescribed by the department. The form shall contain such information as the department may prescribe as necessary or appropriate, including, but not limited to, (a) all addresses at which business is to be conducted, (b) the names and titles of each director and principal officer of the business, and (c) a description of the activities of the applicant in such detail as the department may require.

(3) The registration statement required in subsection (2) of this section shall be accompanied by a registration fee of two hundred dollars.

(4) The department shall acknowledge the registration by issuing to the registrant a receipt or other form of acknowledgment.

(5) A registrant shall maintain a surety bond as required by section 45-724, submit mortgage reports of condition as required by section 45-726, and comply with the requirements of section 45-735 pertaining to the employment of mortgage loan originators.

(6) A registration under this section shall not be assignable.

(7) After original registration, all registrations shall remain in full force and effect until the next succeeding December 31. Thereafter, a registration under this section may be renewed on an annual basis for a renewal fee of one hundred dollars.

(8)(a) If a registrant fails to maintain a surety bond as required by section 45-724, the department may issue a notice of cancellation of the registration.

(b) If a registrant fails to renew his, her, or its registration as required by this section and does not voluntarily surrender the registration by delivering to the director written notice of the surrender, the department may issue a notice of expiration of the registration.

45-705 License or registration required; application; fees; background investigation; registered agent.

(1) No person shall act as a mortgage banker or use the title mortgage banker in this state unless he, she, or it is licensed as a mortgage banker, is registered with the department as provided in section 45-704, is licensed under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, or is otherwise exempt from the act pursuant to section 45-703.

(2) Applicants for a license as a mortgage banker shall submit to the department an application on a form prescribed by the department. The application shall include, but not be limited to, (a) the applicant's corporate name and no more than one trade name or doing business as designation which the applicant intends to use in this state, if applicable, (b) the applicant's main office address, (c) all branch office addresses at which business is to be conducted, (d) the names and titles of each director and principal officer of the applicant, (e) the names of all shareholders, partners, or members of the applicant, (f) a description of the activities of the applicant in such detail as the department may require, (g) if the applicant is an individual, his or her social security number, and (h) fingerprints of any principal officer, director, partner, member, or sole proprietor for submission to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and any other governmental agency or entity authorized to receive such information for a state, national, and international criminal history record information check.

(3) The application for a license as a mortgage banker shall include or be accompanied by, in a manner as prescribed by the director, (a) the name and street address in this state of a registered agent appointed by the licensee for receipt of service of process and (b) the written consent of the registered agent to the appointment. A post office box number may be provided in addition to the street address.

(4) The application for a license as a mortgage banker shall be accompanied by an application fee of four hundred dollars and, if applicable, a seventy-five-dollar fee for each branch office listed in the application and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-748.

(5) The application for a license as a mortgage banker shall include or be accompanied by, in a manner as prescribed by the director, a background investigation of each applicant by means of fingerprints and a check of his or her criminal history record information maintained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. If the applicant is a partnership, association, corporation, or other form of business organization, the director shall require a criminal history record information check on each member, director, or principal officer of each applicant or any individual acting in the capacity of the manager of an office location. Fingerprints of any principal officer, director, partner, member, or sole proprietor shall be submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and any other governmental agency or entity authorized to receive such information for a state, national, and international criminal history record information check. The applicant shall be responsible for the direct costs associated with criminal history record information checks performed. The information obtained thereby may be used by the director to determine the applicant's eligibility for licensing under this section. Except as authorized pursuant to subsection (2) of section 45-748, receipt of criminal history record information by a private person or entity is prohibited.

(6) In order to reduce the points of contact which the Federal Bureau of Investigation may have to maintain for purposes of subsection (5) of this section, the director may use the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry as a channeling agent for requesting information from and distributing information to the United States Department of Justice or any other governmental agency.

(7) A license as a mortgage banker granted under the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act shall not be assignable.

(8) An application is deemed filed when accepted as substantially complete by the director.

45-706 License; issuance; denial; abandonment; appeal; renewal; fees; inactive status; renewal; reactivation of license; notice of cancellation.

(1) Upon the filing of an application for a license as a mortgage banker, if the director finds that the character and general fitness of the applicant, the members thereof if the applicant is a partnership, limited liability company, association, or other organization, and the officers, directors, and principal employees if the applicant is a corporation are such that the business will be operated honestly, soundly, and efficiently in the public interest consistent with the purposes of the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act, the director shall issue a license as a mortgage banker to the applicant. The director shall approve or deny an application for a license within ninety days after (a) acceptance of the application, (b) delivery of the bond required under section 45-724, and (c) payment of the required fee.

(2) If the director determines that the mortgage banker license application should be denied, the director shall notify the applicant in writing of the denial and of the reasons for the denial. The director shall not deny an application for a mortgage banker license because of the failure to submit information required under the act or rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act without first giving the applicant an opportunity to correct the deficiency by supplying the missing information. A decision of the director denying a mortgage banker license application pursuant to the act may be appealed. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department under the act. The director may deny an application for a mortgage banker license application if (a) he or she determines that the applicant does not meet the conditions of subsection (1) of this section or (b) an officer, director, shareholder owning five percent or more of the voting shares of the applicant, partner, or member was convicted of, pleaded guilty to, or was found guilty after a plea of nolo contendere to (i) a misdemeanor under any state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, depository institution business, or installment loan company business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law.

(3) If an applicant for a mortgage banker license does not complete the license application and fails to respond to a notice or notices from the department to correct the deficiency or deficiencies for a period of one hundred twenty days or more after the date the department sends the initial notice to correct the deficiency, the department may deem the application as abandoned and may issue a notice of abandonment of the application to the applicant in lieu of proceedings to deny the application.

(4)(a) All initial licenses shall remain in full force and effect until the next succeeding December 31. Mortgage banker licenses may be renewed annually by submitting to the director a request for renewal and any supplemental material as required by the director. The mortgage banker licensee shall certify that the information contained in the license application, as subsequently amended, that is on file with the department and the information contained in any supplemental material previously provided to the department remains true and correct.

(b) For the annual renewal of a license to conduct a mortgage banking business under the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act, the fee shall be two hundred dollars plus seventy-five dollars for each branch office, if applicable, and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-748.

(5)(a) The department may place a mortgage banker licensee that is a sole proprietorship on inactive status for a period of up to twelve months upon receipt of a request from the licensee for inactive status. The request shall include notice that the licensee has temporarily suspended business, is not acting as a mortgage banker in this state, and has no pending customer complaints. The department shall notify the licensee within ten business days as to whether the request has been granted and, if granted, of the date of expiration of the inactive status.

(b) If a mortgage banker license becomes inactive under this section, the license shall remain inactive until the license expires, is canceled, is surrendered, is suspended, is revoked, or is reactivated pursuant to subdivision (d) of this subsection.

(c) An inactive mortgage banker licensee may renew such inactive license if the licensee remains otherwise eligible for renewal pursuant to subdivision (4)(a) of this section, except for being covered by a surety bond pursuant to section 45-724. Such renewal shall not reactivate the license.

(d) The department has the authority to reactivate an inactive mortgage banker license following the department's receipt of a request from the inactive licensee that the licensee intends to resume business as a mortgage banker in this state if the inactive mortgage banker licensee meets the conditions for licensing at the time reactivation is requested, including, but not limited to, coverage by a surety bond pursuant to section 45-724.

(e) The department shall issue a notice of cancellation of an inactive mortgage banker license following the expiration of the period of inactive status set by the department pursuant to subdivision (a) of this subsection if the inactive mortgage banker licensee fails to request reactivation of the license prior to the date of expiration.

(6) The director may require a mortgage banker licensee to maintain a minimum net worth, proven by an audit conducted by a certified public accountant, if the director determines that the financial condition of the licensee warrants such a requirement or that the requirement is in the public interest.

45-724 Surety bond; requirements.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, an applicant for a mortgage banker license or registration shall file with the department a surety bond in the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, furnished by a surety company authorized to do business in the State of Nebraska. The surety bond also shall cover all mortgage loan originators who are employees or independent agents of the applicant. The bond shall be for the use of the State of Nebraska and any Nebraska resident who may have claims or causes of action against the applicant or against an individual who is a mortgage loan originator employed by, or in an independent agent relationship with, the applicant. Submission of a rider to an existing bond indicating that the required coverage is outstanding and evidencing the beneficiaries required in this subsection shall satisfy the requirements of this section. The bond or a substitute bond shall remain in effect during all periods of licensing or registration.

(2) Upon filing of the mortgage report of condition required by section 45-726, a mortgage banker licensee or registrant shall maintain or increase its surety bond to reflect the total dollar amount of the closed residential mortgage loans originated in this state in the preceding calendar year in accordance with the following table. A licensee or registrant may decrease its surety bond in accordance with the following table if the surety bond required is less than the amount of the surety bond on file with the department.

Dollar Amount of Closed Residential Mortgage Loans	Surety Bond Required
$0.00 to $5,000,000.00	$100,000.00
$5,000,000.01 to $10,000,000.00	$125,000.00
$10,000,000.01 to $25,000,000.00	$150,000.00
Over $25,000,000.00	$200,000.00

(3) Should the department determine that a mortgage banker licensee or registrant does not maintain a surety bond in the amount required by subsection (2) of this section, the department shall give written notification to the mortgage banker licensee or registrant requiring him, her, or it to increase the surety bond within thirty days to the amount required by subsection (2) of this section.

(4) At any time the director may require the filing of a new or supplemental bond in the form as provided in subsection (1) of this section if he or she determines that the bond filed under subsection (1) or (2) of this section is exhausted or is inadequate for any reason, including the financial condition of the licensee, the registrant, or the applicant for a license or registration. The new or supplemental bond shall not exceed one million dollars.

45-725 Acquisition of control of mortgage banking business; procedure; fee; disapproval; hearing.

(1) No person acting personally or as an agent shall acquire control of any mortgage banking business required to be licensed under the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act without first giving thirty days' notice to the department on a form prescribed by the department of such proposed acquisition and paying a filing fee of two hundred dollars.

(2) The director, upon receipt of such notice, shall act upon it within thirty days and, unless he or she disapproves the proposed acquisition within that period of time, the acquisition shall become effective on the thirty-first day after receipt without the director's approval, except that the director may extend the thirty-day period an additional thirty days if, in his or her judgment, any material information submitted is substantially inaccurate or the acquiring party has not furnished all the information required by the department.

(3) An acquisition may be made prior to the expiration of the disapproval period if the director issues written notice of his or her intent not to disapprove the action.

(4)(a) The director may disapprove any proposed acquisition if:

(i) The financial condition of any acquiring person is such as might jeopardize the financial stability of the acquired mortgage banking business;

(ii) The character and general fitness of any acquiring person or of any of the proposed management personnel indicate that the acquired mortgage banking business would not be operated honestly, soundly, or efficiently in the public interest; or

(iii) Any acquiring person neglects, fails, or refuses to furnish all information required by the department.

(b) The director shall notify the acquiring party in writing of disapproval of the acquisition. The notice shall provide a statement of the basis for the disapproval.

(c) Within fifteen business days after receipt of written notice of disapproval, the acquiring party may request a hearing on the proposed acquisition in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department under the act. At the conclusion of such hearing, the director shall, by order, approve or disapprove the proposed acquisition on the basis of the record made at the hearing.

45-727 Mortgage loan originator; license required; loan processor or underwriter; license required; temporary authority to act as mortgage loan originator; conditions.

(1) An individual, unless specifically exempted from the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act under section 45-703 or, on or after November 24, 2019, unless having temporary authority under subsections (4) or (5) of this section, shall not engage in, or offer to engage in, the business of a mortgage loan originator with respect to any residential real estate or dwelling located or intended to be located in this state without first obtaining and maintaining annually a license under the act. Each licensed mortgage loan originator shall obtain and maintain a valid unique identifier issued by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(2) An independent agent shall not engage in the activities as a loan processor or underwriter unless such independent agent loan processor or underwriter obtains and maintains a license under subsection (1) of this section. Each independent agent loan processor or underwriter licensed as a mortgage loan originator shall obtain and maintain a valid unique identifier issued by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(3) For the purposes of implementing an orderly and efficient licensing process, the director may adopt and promulgate licensing rules or regulations and interim procedures for licensing and acceptance of applications. For previously registered or licensed individuals, the director may establish expedited review and licensing procedures.

(4) Beginning November 24, 2019, upon becoming employed by a mortgage banker licensed in this state, an individual who is a registered mortgage loan originator shall be deemed to have temporary authority to act as a mortgage loan originator in this state for one hundred twenty days after submitting a mortgage loan originator application unless:

(a) The individual withdraws his or her mortgage loan originator application;

(b) The director denies the mortgage loan originator application;

(c) The director grants the individual a mortgage loan originator license;

(d) The application remains incomplete more than one hundred twenty days after the application was submitted;

(e) The individual has had an application for a mortgage loan originator license denied, revoked, or suspended at any time in any governmental jurisdiction;

(f) The individual has been subject to, or served with, a cease and desist order in any governmental jurisdiction;

(g) The individual has been convicted of a misdemeanor or felony that precludes licensure under the act; or

(h) The individual was not a registered mortgage loan originator for at least one year prior to application under the act.

(5) Beginning November 24, 2019, an individual who is a licensed mortgage loan originator in another state employed by a mortgage banker licensed in this state shall be deemed to have temporary authority to act as a mortgage loan originator in this state for one hundred twenty days after submitting a mortgage loan originator application unless:

(a) The individual withdraws his or her mortgage loan originator application;

(b) The director denies the mortgage loan originator application;

(c) The director grants the individual a mortgage loan originator license;

(d) The application remains incomplete more than one hundred twenty days after the application was submitted;

(e) The individual has had an application for a mortgage loan originator license denied, revoked, or suspended at any time in any governmental jurisdiction;

(f) The individual has been subject to, or served with, a cease and desist order in any governmental jurisdiction;

(g) The individual has been convicted of a misdemeanor or felony that precludes licensure under the act; or

(h) The individual has not been a licensed mortgage loan originator in another state for at least thirty days prior to application under the act.

(6) Beginning November 24, 2019, any person employing an individual who is deemed to have temporary authority to act as a mortgage loan originator in this state, and any individual who is deemed to have temporary authority to act as a mortgage loan originator in this state, shall be subject to the requirements of the act to the same extent as if that individual was a licensed mortgage loan originator under the act.

45-728 License; application; form; fee; use of nationwide registry.

(1) An applicant for a license shall apply on a form prescribed by the director.

(2) The application for a license as a mortgage loan originator shall be accompanied by an application fee of one hundred fifty dollars, plus the cost of the criminal history background check required by subsection (3) of this section and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-748.

(3) In connection with an application for licensing as a mortgage loan originator, the applicant shall, at a minimum, furnish to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry information concerning the applicant's identity, including the following:

(a) Fingerprints for submission to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and any other governmental agency or entity authorized to receive such information for a state, national, and international criminal history background check; and

(b) Personal history and experience in a format prescribed by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry, including the submission of authorization for the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry and the director to obtain the following:

(i) An independent credit report obtained from a consumer reporting agency described in 15 U.S.C. 1681a(p), as such section existed on January 1, 2010; and

(ii) Information related to any administrative, civil, or criminal findings by any governmental jurisdiction.

(4) For the purposes of this section and in order to reduce the points of contact which the Federal Bureau of Investigation may have to maintain for purposes of subdivisions (3)(a) and (3)(b)(ii) of this section, the director may use the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry as a channeling agent for requesting information from and distributing information to the United States Department of Justice or any other governmental agency.

(5) For the purposes of this section and in order to reduce the points of contact which the director may have to maintain for purposes of subdivisions (3)(b)(i) and (3)(b)(ii) of this section, the director may use the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry as a channeling agent for requesting and distributing information to and from any source so directed by the director.

45-729 Issuance of mortgage loan originator license; director; findings required; denial; notice; appeal; application deemed abandoned; when; effect.

(1) The director shall not issue a mortgage loan originator license unless the director makes at a minimum the following findings:

(a) The applicant has never had a mortgage loan originator license revoked in any governmental jurisdiction, except that a subsequent formal vacation of such revocation shall not be deemed a revocation;

(b) The applicant has not been convicted of, or pleaded guilty or nolo contendere or its equivalent to, in a domestic, foreign, or military court:

(i) A misdemeanor under any state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the business of a mortgage banker, depository institution, or installment loan company unless such individual has received a pardon for such conviction or such conviction has been expunged, except that the director may consider the underlying crime, facts, and circumstances of a pardoned or expunged conviction in determining the applicant's eligibility for a license pursuant to subdivision (c) of this subsection; or

(ii) Any felony under state or federal law unless such individual has received a pardon for such conviction or such conviction has been expunged, except that the director may consider the underlying crime, facts, and circumstances of a pardoned or expunged conviction in determining the applicant's eligibility for a license pursuant to subdivision (c) of this subsection;

(c) The applicant has demonstrated financial responsibility, character, and general fitness such as to command the confidence of the community and to warrant a determination that the mortgage loan originator will operate honestly, fairly, and efficiently within the purposes of the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act. For purposes of this subsection, an individual has shown that he or she is not financially responsible when he or she has shown a disregard in the management of his or her own financial condition. The director may consider the following factors in making a determination as to financial responsibility:

(i) The applicant's current outstanding judgments except judgments solely as a result of medical expenses;

(ii) The applicant's current outstanding tax liens or other government liens and filings;

(iii) The applicant's foreclosures within the past three years; and

(iv) A pattern of seriously delinquent accounts within the past three years by the applicant;

(d) The applicant has completed the prelicensing education requirements described in section 45-730;

(e) The applicant has passed a written test that meets the test requirement described in section 45-731; and

(f) The applicant is covered by a surety bond as required pursuant to section 45-724 or a supplemental surety bond as required pursuant to section 45-1007.

(2)(a) If the director determines that a mortgage loan originator license application should be denied, the director shall notify the applicant in writing of the denial and of the reasons for the denial.

(b) The director shall not deny an application for a mortgage loan originator license because of the failure to submit information required under the act or rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act without first giving the applicant an opportunity to correct the deficiency by supplying the missing information.

(c) If an applicant for a mortgage loan originator license does not complete his or her license application and fails to respond to a notice or notices from the department to correct the deficiency or deficiencies for a period of one hundred twenty days or more after the date the department sends the initial notice after initial filing of the application, the department may deem the application as abandoned and may issue a notice of abandonment of the application to the applicant in lieu of proceedings to deny the application.

(d) A decision of the director denying a mortgage loan originator license application pursuant to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act may be appealed. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department.

(3) A mortgage loan originator license shall not be assignable.

45-730 Prelicensing education requirements; course review and approval; relicensure requirements.

(1) In order to meet the prelicensing education requirements referred to in subdivision (1)(d) of section 45-729, an individual shall complete at least twenty hours of education approved in accordance with subsection (2) of this section, which shall include at least the following:

(a) Three hours of instruction in federal law and regulations regarding mortgage origination;

(b) Three hours of instruction in ethics, which shall include instruction on fraud, consumer protection, and fair lending issues; and

(c) Two hours of instruction related to lending standards for the nontraditional mortgage product marketplace.

(2) For purposes of subsection (1) of this section, prelicensing education courses shall be reviewed and approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry based upon reasonable standards. Review and approval of a prelicensing education course shall include review and approval of the course provider.

(3) Nothing in this section shall preclude any prelicensing education course, as approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry, that is provided by the employer of the applicant or an entity which is affiliated with the applicant by an agency contract or any subsidiary or affiliate of such employer or entity.

(4) Prelicensing education may be offered either in a classroom, online, or by any other means approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(5) The prelicensing education requirements approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry in subsection (1) of this section for any state shall be accepted as credit towards completion of prelicensing education requirements in this state.

(6) An individual who previously held a mortgage loan originator license applying to be licensed again shall prove that he or she has either (a) completed all of the continuing education requirements for the year in which the license was last held or (b) made up any deficiency in continuing education as provided by subsection (8) of section 45-733.

45-731 Written test requirement; subject areas.

(1) In order to meet the written test requirement referred to in subdivision (1)(e) of section 45-729, an individual shall pass, in accordance with the standards established under this section, a qualified written test developed by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry and administered by a test provider approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry based upon reasonable standards.

(2) A written test shall not be treated as a qualified written test for purposes of subsection (1) of this section unless the test adequately measures the applicant's knowledge and comprehension in appropriate subject areas, including the following:

(a) Ethics;

(b) Federal laws and regulations pertaining to mortgage origination;

(c) State laws and regulations pertaining to mortgage origination; and

(d) Federal and state laws and regulations, including instruction on fraud, consumer protection, the nontraditional mortgage marketplace, and fair lending issues.

(3) Nothing in this section shall prohibit a test provider approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry from providing a test at the location of the employer of the applicant, the location of any subsidiary or affiliate of the employer of the applicant, or the location of any entity with which the applicant holds an exclusive arrangement to conduct the business of a mortgage loan originator.

(4)(a) An individual shall not be considered to have passed a qualified written test unless the individual achieves a test score of not less than seventy-five percent correct answers to questions.

(b) An individual may take a test three consecutive times with each consecutive taking occurring at least thirty days after the preceding test.

(c) After failing three consecutive tests, an individual shall wait at least six months before taking the test again.

(d) A licensed mortgage loan originator who fails to maintain a valid license for a period of five years or longer shall retake the test, not taking into account any time during which such individual is a registered mortgage loan originator.

45-732 License; term; renewal; minimum standards for renewal; fee; denial; appeal.

(1) All initial mortgage loan originator licenses shall remain in full force and effect until the next succeeding December 31. Mortgage loan originator licenses may be renewed annually by submitting to the director a request for renewal and any supplemental material as required by the director. The mortgage loan originator licensee shall certify that the information contained in the license application, as subsequently amended, that is on file with the department, and the information contained in any supplemental material previously provided to the department, remains true and correct.

(2) The minimum standards for license renewal for mortgage loan originators shall include the following:

(a) The mortgage loan originator continues to meet the minimum standards for license issuance under subdivisions (1)(a) through (f) of section 45-729;

(b) The mortgage loan originator has satisfied the annual continuing education requirements described in section 45-733; and

(c) The mortgage loan originator has paid all required fees for renewal of the license.

(3) For the annual renewal of a mortgage loan originator license, the fee shall be one hundred twenty-five dollars, plus the cost of the criminal history background check required by the director and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-748.

(4) Except as provided in subsection (4) of section 45-734 and subsection (4) of section 45-742, should the director conclude that a mortgage loan originator does not meet the minimum standards for license renewal, the director shall deny the renewal application. A decision of the director denying a renewal of a mortgage loan originator license pursuant to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act may be appealed. The appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department under the act.

45-733 Licensed mortgage loan originator; continuing education; continuing education courses; review and approval; credit as instructor; relicensure requirements.

(1) A licensed mortgage loan originator shall complete annually at least eight hours of education approved in accordance with subsection (2) of this section, which shall include at least:

(a) Three hours of instruction in federal laws and regulations regarding mortgage origination;

(b) Two hours of instruction in ethics, which shall include instruction on fraud, consumer protection, and fair lending issues; and

(c) Two hours of instruction related to lending standards for the nontraditional mortgage product marketplace.

(2) For purposes of subsection (1) of this section, continuing education courses shall be reviewed and approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry based upon reasonable standards. Review and approval of a continuing education course shall include review and approval of the course provider.

(3) Nothing in this section shall preclude any education course, as approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry, that is provided by the employer of the mortgage loan originator, an entity which is affiliated with the mortgage loan originator by an agency contract, or any subsidiary or affiliate of such employer or entity.

(4) Continuing education may be offered either in a classroom, online, or by any other means approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(5) A licensed mortgage loan originator:

(a) Shall only receive credit for a continuing education course in the year in which the course is taken except as provided in subsection (8) of this section; and

(b) Shall not take the same approved course in the same or consecutive years to meet the annual requirements for continuing education.

(6) A licensed mortgage loan originator who is an instructor of an approved continuing education course may receive credit for the licensed mortgage loan originator's own annual continuing education requirement at the rate of two hours credit for every one hour taught.

(7) An individual having successfully completed the education requirements approved by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry in subdivisions (1)(a), (b), and (c) of this section for any state shall be accepted as credit towards completion of continuing education requirements in this state.

(8) A licensed mortgage loan originator who subsequently becomes unlicensed shall complete the continuing education requirements for the last year in which the license was held prior to issuance of a new license or renewal license. Such individual may make up any deficiency in continuing education as established by rule, regulation, or order of the director if such individual meets the requirements of subdivision (2)(a) of section 45-732 and has paid the new application fee as provided by subsection (2) of section 45-728 or the reinstatement fee as provided by subdivision (4)(b) of section 45-742.

45-734 Mortgage loan originator license; inactive status; duration; renewal; reactivation.

(1) A mortgage loan originator whose license is placed on inactive status under this section shall not act as a mortgage loan originator in this state until such time as the license is reactivated.

(2) The department shall place a mortgage loan originator license on inactive status upon the occurrence of one of the following:

(a) Upon receipt of a notice from either the licensed mortgage banker, registrant, installment loan company, or mortgage loan originator that the mortgage loan originator's relationship as an employee or independent agent of a licensed mortgage banker or installment loan company has been terminated;

(b) Upon the cancellation of the employing licensed mortgage banker's license pursuant to section 45-742 or upon the cancellation of the employing installment loan company's license pursuant to subdivision (3)(b) of section 45-1033 for failure to maintain the required surety bond;

(c) Upon the voluntary surrender of the employing licensed mortgage banker's license pursuant to section 45-742 or upon the voluntary surrender of the employing installment loan company's license pursuant to section 45-1032;

(d) Upon the expiration of the employing licensed mortgage banker's license pursuant to section 45-742 or upon the expiration of the employing installment loan company's license pursuant to subdivision (3)(a) of section 45-1033 if such mortgage loan originator has renewed his or her license pursuant to section 45-732;

(e) Upon the revocation or suspension of the employing licensed mortgage banker's license pursuant to section 45-742 or upon the revocation or suspension of the employing installment loan company's license pursuant to subsection (1) of section 45-1033; or

(f) Upon the cancellation, surrender, or expiration of the employing registrant's registration with the department.

(3) If a mortgage loan originator license becomes inactive under this section, the license shall remain inactive until the license expires, the licenseholder surrenders the license, the license is revoked or suspended pursuant to section 45-742, or the license is reactivated.

(4) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, a mortgage loan originator who holds an inactive mortgage loan originator license may renew such inactive license if he or she remains otherwise eligible for renewal pursuant to section 45-732 except for being covered by a surety bond pursuant to subdivision (1)(f) of section 45-729. Such renewal shall not reactivate the license.

(5) A mortgage loan originator who holds an inactive mortgage loan originator license that has been renewed one time may not renew such inactive license for a second annual licensing period unless (a) the inactive license was reactivated after such inactive license was renewed or (b) the mortgage loan originator demonstrates good cause to the director to allow renewal of the inactive license for an additional annual licensing period.

(6) The department has the authority to reactivate a mortgage loan originator license upon receipt of a notice pursuant to section 45-735 that the mortgage loan originator licensee has been hired as a mortgage loan originator by a licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company and if such mortgage loan originator meets the conditions for licensing at the time the reactivation notice is received, including, but not limited to, coverage by a surety bond pursuant to subdivision (1)(f) of section 45-729.

45-735 Mortgage loan originator; employee or independent agent; restriction on activities; written agency contract; notification to department; fee; notice of termination.

(1) A mortgage loan originator shall be an employee or independent agent of a single licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company that shall directly supervise, control, and maintain responsibility for the acts and omissions of the mortgage loan originator.

(2) A mortgage loan originator shall not engage in mortgage loan origination activities at any location that is not a main office location of a licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company or a branch office of a licensed mortgage banker or registrant. The licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company shall designate the location or locations at which each mortgage loan originator is originating residential mortgage loans.

(3) Any licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company who engages an independent agent as a mortgage loan originator shall maintain a written agency contract with such mortgage loan originator. Such written agency contract shall provide that the mortgage loan originator is originating loans exclusively for the licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company.

(4) A licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company that has hired a licensed mortgage loan originator as an employee or entered into an independent agent agreement with such licensed mortgage loan originator shall provide notification to the department as soon as reasonably possible after entering into such relationship, along with a fee of fifty dollars. The employing entity shall not allow the mortgage loan originator to conduct such activity in this state prior to such notification to the department and confirmation that the department has received notice of the termination of the mortgage loan originator's prior employment.

(5) A licensed mortgage banker, registrant, or installment loan company shall notify the department no later than ten days after the termination, whether voluntary or involuntary, of a mortgage loan originator unless the mortgage loan originator has previously notified the department of the termination.

45-737 Mortgage banker; licensee; duties.

A licensee licensed as a mortgage banker shall:

(1) Disburse required funds paid by the borrower and held in escrow for the payment of insurance payments no later than the date upon which the premium is due under the insurance policy;

(2) Disburse funds paid by the borrower and held in escrow for the payment of real estate taxes prior to the time such real estate taxes become delinquent;

(3) Pay any penalty incurred by the borrower because of the failure of the licensee to make the payments required in subdivisions (1) and (2) of this section unless the licensee establishes that the failure to timely make the payments was due solely to the fact that the borrower was sent a written notice of the amount due more than fifteen calendar days before the due date to the borrower's last-known address and failed to timely remit the amount due to the licensee;

(4) At least annually perform a complete escrow analysis. If there is a change in the amount of the periodic payments, the licensee shall mail written notice of such change to the borrower at least twenty calendar days before the effective date of the change in payment. The following information shall be provided to the borrower, without charge, in one or more reports, at least annually:

(a) The name and address of the licensee;

(b) The name and address of the borrower;

(c) A summary of the escrow account activity during the year which includes all of the following:

(i) The balance of the escrow account at the beginning of the year;

(ii) The aggregate amount of deposits to the escrow account during the year; and

(iii) The aggregate amount of withdrawals from the escrow account for each of the following categories:

(A) Payments applied to loan principal;

(B) Payments applied to interest;

(C) Payments applied to real estate taxes;

(D) Payments for real property insurance premiums; and

(E) All other withdrawals; and

(d) A summary of loan principal for the year as follows:

(i) The amount of principal outstanding at the beginning of the year;

(ii) The aggregate amount of payments applied to principal during the year; and

(iii) The amount of principal outstanding at the end of the year;

(5) Establish and maintain a toll-free telephone number or accept collect telephone calls to respond to inquiries from borrowers, if the licensee services residential mortgage loans. If a licensee ceases to service residential mortgage loans, it shall continue to maintain a toll-free telephone number or accept collect telephone calls to respond to inquiries from borrowers for a period of twelve months after the date the licensee ceased to service residential mortgage loans. A telephonic messaging service which does not permit the borrower an option of personal contact with an employee, agent, or contractor of the licensee shall not satisfy the conditions of this section. Each day such licensee fails to comply with this subdivision shall constitute a separate violation of the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act;

(6) Answer in writing, within seven business days after receipt, any written request for payoff information received from a borrower or a borrower's designated representative. This service shall be provided without charge to the borrower, except that when such information is provided upon request within sixty days after the fulfillment of a previous request, a processing fee of up to ten dollars may be charged;

(7) Record or cause to be recorded a release of mortgage pursuant to the provisions of section 76-2803 or, in the case of a trust deed, record or cause to be recorded a reconveyance pursuant to the provisions of section 76-2803;

(8) Maintain a copy of all documents and records relating to each residential mortgage loan and application for a residential mortgage loan, including, but not limited to, loan applications, federal Truth in Lending Act statements, good faith estimates, appraisals, notes, rights of rescission, and mortgages or trust deeds for a period of five years after the date the residential mortgage loan is funded or the loan application is denied or withdrawn;

(9) Notify the director in writing or through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry within three business days after the occurrence of any of the following:

(a) The filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by the licensee or notice of a filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the licensee;

(b) The licensee has lost the ability to fund a loan or loans after it had made a loan commitment or commitments and approved a loan application or applications;

(c) Any other state or jurisdiction institutes license denial, cease and desist, suspension, or revocation procedures against the licensee;

(d) The attorney general of any state, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, or the Federal Trade Commission initiates an action to enforce consumer protection laws against the licensee or any of the licensee's officers, directors, shareholders, partners, members, employees, or agents;

(e) The Federal National Mortgage Association, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, Federal Housing Administration, or Government National Mortgage Association suspends or terminates the licensee's status as an approved seller or seller and servicer;

(f) The filing of a criminal indictment or information against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, members, employees, or agents; or

(g) The licensee or any of the licensee's officers, directors, shareholders, partners, members, employees, or agents was convicted of, pleaded guilty to, or was found guilty after a plea of nolo contendere to (i) a misdemeanor under state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, depository institution business, or installment loan company business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law; and

(10) Notify the director in writing or through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry within thirty days after the occurrence of a material development other than as described in subdivision (9) of this section, including, but not limited to, any of the following:

(a) Business reorganization;

(b) A change of name, trade name, doing business as designation, or main office address;

(c) The establishment of a branch office. Notice of such establishment shall be on a form prescribed by the department and accompanied by a fee of seventy-five dollars for each branch office;

(d) The relocation or closing of a branch office; or

(e) The entry of an order against the licensee or any of the licensee's officers, directors, shareholders, partners, members, employees, or agents, including orders to which the licensee or other parties consented, by any other state or federal regulator.

45-737.01 Mortgage loan originator; licensee; duties.

(1) A licensee licensed as a mortgage loan originator shall notify the director in writing or through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry within three business days after the occurrence of any of the following:

(a) The filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by such licensee or notice of a filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against such licensee;

(b) The filing of a criminal indictment or information against such licensee regarding (i) a misdemeanor under state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, depository institution business, or installment loan company business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law;

(c) Such licensee was convicted of, pleaded guilty to, or was found guilty after a plea of nolo contendere to (i) a misdemeanor under state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, depository institution business, or installment loan company business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law;

(d) Any other state or jurisdiction institutes license denial, cease and desist, suspension, or revocation procedures against such licensee;

(e) The attorney general of any state, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, or the Federal Trade Commission initiates an action to enforce consumer protection laws against such licensee; or

(f) The Federal National Mortgage Association, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, Federal Housing Administration, or Government National Mortgage Association suspends or terminates such licensee's status as an approved loan originator.

(2) A licensee licensed as a mortgage loan originator shall update through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry his or her employment history on file with the department no later than ten business days after the submission of the required notice of the creation or termination of an employment relationship pursuant to section 45-735.

(3) A licensee licensed as a mortgage loan originator shall notify the director in writing or through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry within thirty days after the occurrence of a material development other than as described in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, including, but not limited to, any of the following:

(a) A change in such licensee's name;

(b) A change in such licensee's residential address;

(c) A change in such licensee's employment address;

(d) The filing of a tax or other governmental lien against such licensee;

(e) The entry of a monetary judgment against such licensee; or

(f) The entry of an order against such licensee, including orders to which such licensee consented, by any other state or federal regulator.

45-738 Licensee; failure to deliver abstract of title.

If a licensee in connection with a residential mortgage loan has possession of an abstract of title and fails to deliver the abstract to the borrower within twenty business days of the borrower's request made by certified mail, return receipt requested, in connection with a proposed sale of the real property, the borrower may authorize the preparation of a new abstract of title to the real property and the person failing to deliver the original abstract shall pay the borrower the reasonable costs of the preparation of the new abstract of title. If a borrower brings an action against the person failing to deliver an abstract of title to recover the payment made, the borrower shall also be entitled to recover reasonable attorney's fees and court costs incurred in the action.

45-739 Transfer of servicing rights; duties.

Not less than fifteen days prior to the effective date of the transfer of servicing rights involving any residential mortgage loan, the licensee transferring the servicing rights shall send a written notice of transfer to each borrower which shall include:

(1) The effective date of the transfer;

(2) The name, address, and telephone number of the transferee and the name of a referral person or department of the transferee;

(3) Instructions concerning payments made before the effective date of the transfer; and

(4) Instructions concerning payments made after the effective date of the transfer.

The provisions of this section shall not apply when the licensee transferring the servicing rights has provided the borrower with a written notice of transfer at the time of closing on the residential mortgage loan.

45-740 Prohibited acts; violation; penalty; civil liability.

(1) A licensee, an officer, an employee, or an agent of the licensee shall not:

(a) Assess a late charge if all payments due are received before the date upon which late charges are authorized in the underlying mortgage or trust deed or other loan documents;

(b) Delay closing of a residential mortgage loan for the purpose of increasing interest, costs, fees, or charges payable by the borrower;

(c) Misrepresent or conceal material facts or make false promises intended to influence, persuade, or induce an applicant for a residential mortgage loan or a borrower to take a residential mortgage loan or cause or contribute to such a misrepresentation by any person acting on a licensee's or any other lender's behalf;

(d) Misrepresent to, or conceal from, an applicant for a residential mortgage loan or a borrower material facts, terms, or conditions of a residential mortgage loan to which the licensee is a party;

(e) Fail to make disclosures as required by the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act and any other applicable state or federal law including regulations thereunder;

(f) Engage in any transaction, practice, or business conduct that is not in good faith or that operates a fraud upon any person in connection with the making of any residential mortgage loan;

(g) Receive compensation for acting as a mortgage banker or mortgage loan originator if the licensee has otherwise acted as a real estate broker or agent in connection with the sale of the real estate which secures the residential mortgage loan unless the licensee has provided written disclosure to the person from whom compensation is collected that the licensee is receiving compensation both for acting as a mortgage banker or mortgage loan originator and for acting as a real estate broker or agent;

(h) Advertise, display, distribute, broadcast, televise, or cause or permit to be advertised, displayed, distributed, broadcasted, or televised, in any manner, including by the Internet, any false, misleading, or deceptive statement or representation with regard to rates, terms, or conditions for a residential mortgage loan or any false, misleading, or deceptive statement regarding the qualifications of the licensee or of any officer, employee, or agent thereof;

(i) Record a lien on real property if money is not available for the immediate disbursal to the borrower unless, before that recording, the licensee (i) informs the borrower in writing of the reason for the delay and of a definite date by which disbursement shall be made and (ii) obtains the borrower's written permission for the delay unless the delay is required by any other state or federal law;

(j) Fail to account for or deliver to any person personal property obtained in connection with the mortgage banking business, including, but not limited to, money, funds, deposits, checks, drafts, mortgages, trust deeds, or other documents or things of value which the licensee was not entitled to retain;

(k) Fail to disburse, without just cause, any funds in accordance with any agreement connected with the mortgage banking business;

(l) Collect fees and charges on funds other than new funds if the licensee makes a residential mortgage loan to refinance an existing residential mortgage loan to a current borrower of the licensee within twelve months after the previous residential mortgage loan made by the licensee;

(m) Assess any fees against the borrower other than those which are reasonable and necessary, including actual charges incurred in connection with the making, closing, disbursing, servicing, extending, transferring, or renewing of a loan, including, but not limited to, (i) prepayment charges, (ii) delinquency charges, (iii) premiums for hazard, private mortgage, disability, life, or title insurance, (iv) fees for escrow services, appraisal services, abstracting services, title services, surveys, inspections, credit reports, notary services, and recording of documents, (v) origination fees, (vi) interest on interest after default, and (vii) costs and charges incurred for determining qualification for the loan proceeds and disbursement of the loan proceeds;

(n) Allow the borrower to finance, directly or indirectly, (i) any credit life, credit accident, credit health, credit personal property, or credit loss-of-income insurance or debt suspension coverage or debt cancellation coverage, whether or not such coverage is insurance under applicable law, that provides for cancellation of all or part of a borrower's liability in the event of loss of life, health, personal property, or income or in the case of accident written in connection with a residential mortgage loan or (ii) any life, accident, health, or loss-of-income insurance without regard to the identity of the ultimate beneficiary of such insurance. For purposes of this section, any premiums or charges calculated and paid on a periodic basis that are not added to the principal of the loan shall not be considered financed directly or indirectly by the creditor;

(o) Falsify any documentation relating to a residential mortgage loan or a residential mortgage loan application;

(p) Recommend or encourage default on an existing loan or other debt prior to and in connection with the closing or planned closing of a residential mortgage loan that refinances all or any portion of such existing loan or debt;

(q) Borrow money from, personally loan money to, or guarantee any loan made to any customer or applicant for a residential mortgage loan;

(r) Obtain a signature on a document required to be notarized in connection with a residential mortgage loan or a residential mortgage loan application unless the qualified notary public performing the notarization is physically present at the time the signature is obtained; or

(s) Make any payment, threat, or promise, directly or indirectly, to any person for the purposes of influencing the independent judgment of the person in connection with a residential mortgage loan or make any payment, threat, or promise, directly or indirectly, to any appraiser of a property for the purposes of influencing the independent judgment of the appraiser with respect to the value of the property.

(2) Any person who violates any provision of subsection (1) of this section is guilty of a Class III misdemeanor.

(3) Any person who violates any provision of subsection (1) of this section is liable to the applicant for a residential mortgage loan or to the borrower for the fees, costs, and charges incurred in connection with obtaining or attempting to obtain the residential mortgage loan, damages resulting from such violation, interest on the damage from the date of the violation, and court costs, including reasonable attorney's fees.

45-741 Director; examine documents and records; investigate violations or complaints; director; powers; costs; confidentiality.

(1) The director may examine documents and records maintained by a licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act. The director may investigate complaints about a licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act. The director may investigate reports of alleged violations of the act, any federal law governing residential mortgage loans, or any rule, regulation, or order of the director under the act. For purposes of investigating violations or complaints arising under the act or for the purposes of examination, the director may review, investigate, or examine any licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act as often as necessary in order to carry out the purposes of the act.

(2) For purposes of any investigation, examination, or proceeding, including, but not limited to, initial licensing, license renewal, license suspension, license conditioning, or license revocation, the director shall have the authority to access, receive, and use any books, accounts, records, files, documents, information, or evidence, including, but not limited to:

(a) Criminal, civil, and administrative history information;

(b) Personal history and experience information, including independent credit reports obtained from a consumer reporting agency described in 15 U.S.C. 1681a(p), as such section existed on January 1, 2010; and

(c) Any other documents, information, or evidence the director deems relevant to the inquiry or investigation regardless of the location, possession, control, or custody of such documents, information, or evidence.

(3) Each licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act shall make available to the director upon request the books, accounts, records, files, or documents relating to the operations of such licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act. The director shall have access to such books, accounts, records, files, and documents and may interview the officers, principals, mortgage loan originators, employees, independent contractors, agents, and customers of the licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act, concerning the business of the licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act.

(4) Each licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act shall make or compile reports or prepare other information as instructed by the director in order to carry out the purposes of this section, including, but not limited to:

(a) Accounting compilations;

(b) Information lists and data concerning loan transactions on a form prescribed by the director; or

(c) Such other information deemed necessary to carry out the purposes of this section.

(5) The director may send a notice of investigation or inquiry request for information to a licensee or registrant. Upon receipt by a licensee or registrant of the director's notice of investigation or inquiry request for information, the licensee or registrant shall respond within twenty-one calendar days. Each day beyond that time a licensee or registrant fails to respond as required by this subsection shall constitute a separate violation of the act. This subsection shall not be construed to require the director to send a notice of investigation to a licensee, a registrant, or any person.

(6) For the purpose of any investigation, examination, or proceeding under the act, the director or any officer designated by him or her may administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses and compel their attendance, take evidence, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, agreements, or other documents or records which the director deems relevant or material to the inquiry. If any person refuses to comply with a subpoena issued under this section or to testify with respect to any matter relevant to the proceeding, the district court of Lancaster County may, on application of the director, issue an order requiring the person to comply with the subpoena and to testify. Failure to obey an order of the court to comply with the subpoena may be punished by the court as civil contempt.

(7) In conducting an examination or investigation under this section, the director may rely on reports made by the licensee or registrant which have been prepared within the preceding twelve months for the following federal agencies or federally related entities:

(a) The United States Department of Housing and Urban Development;

(b) The Federal Housing Administration;

(c) The Federal National Mortgage Association;

(d) The Government National Mortgage Association;

(e) The Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation;

(f) The United States Department of Veterans Affairs; or

(g) The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau.

(8) In order to carry out the purposes of this section, the director may:

(a) Enter into agreements or relationships with other government officials or regulatory associations in order to improve efficiencies and reduce the regulatory burden by sharing resources, standardized or uniform methods or procedures, and documents, records, information, or evidence obtained under this section;

(b) Use, hire, contract, or employ publicly or privately available analytical systems, methods, or software to examine or investigate the licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act;

(c) Accept and rely on examination or investigation reports made by other government officials, within or without this state; or

(d) Accept audit reports made by an independent certified public accountant for the licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the act in the course of that part of the examination covering the same general subject matter as the audit and incorporate the audit report in the report of the examination, report of investigation, or other writing of the director.

(9) If the director receives a complaint or other information concerning noncompliance with the act by an exempt person, the director shall inform the agency having supervisory authority over the exempt person of the complaint.

(10) No licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to investigation or examination under this section shall knowingly withhold, abstract, remove, mutilate, destroy, or secrete any books, records, computer records, or other information.

(11) The total charge for an examination or investigation shall be paid by the licensee or registrant as set forth in sections 8-605 and 8-606.

(12) Examination reports shall not be deemed public records and may be withheld from the public pursuant to section 84-712.05.

(13) Complaint files shall be deemed public records.

(14) The authority of this section shall remain in effect, whether such a licensee, registrant, individual, or person subject to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act acts or claims to act under any licensing or registration law of this state or claims to act without such authority.

45-742 License; suspension or revocation; administrative fine; procedure; surrender; cancellation; expiration; effect; reinstatement.

(1) The director may, following a hearing under the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act, suspend or revoke any license issued under the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act. The director may also impose an administrative fine for each separate violation of the act if the director finds:

(a) The licensee has materially violated or demonstrated a continuing pattern of violating the act, rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act, any order, including a cease and desist order, issued under the act, or any other state or federal law applicable to the conduct of its business;

(b) A fact or condition exists which, if it had existed at the time of the original application for the license, would have warranted the director to deny the application;

(c) The licensee has violated a voluntary consent or compliance agreement which had been entered into with the director;

(d) The licensee has made or caused to be made, in any document filed with the director or in any proceeding under the act, any statement which was, at the time and in light of the circumstances under which it was made, false or misleading in any material respect or suppressed or withheld from the director any information which, if submitted by the licensee, would have resulted in denial of the license application;

(e) The licensee has refused to permit an examination by the director of the licensee's books and affairs pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of section 45-741 or has refused or failed to comply with subsection (5) of section 45-741 after written notice of the violation by the director. Each day the licensee continues in violation of this subdivision after such written notice constitutes a separate violation;

(f) The licensee has failed to maintain records as required by subdivision (8) of section 45-737 or as otherwise required following written notice of the violation by the director. Each day the licensee continues in violation of this subdivision after such written notice constitutes a separate violation;

(g) The licensee knowingly has employed any individual or knowingly has maintained a contractual relationship with any individual acting as an agent, if such individual has been convicted of, pleaded guilty to, or was found guilty after a plea of nolo contendere to (i) a misdemeanor under any state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, depository institution business, or installment loan company business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law;

(h) The licensee knowingly has employed any individual or knowingly has maintained a contractual relationship with any individual acting as an agent, if such individual (i) has had a mortgage loan originator license revoked in any state, unless such revocation was subsequently vacated, (ii) has a mortgage loan originator license which has been suspended by the director, or (iii) while previously associated in any other capacity with another licensee, was the subject of a complaint under the act and the complaint was not resolved at the time the individual became employed by, or began acting as an agent for, the licensee and the licensee with reasonable diligence could have discovered the existence of such complaint;

(i) The licensee knowingly has employed any individual or knowingly has maintained a contractual relationship with any individual acting as an agent if such individual is conducting activities requiring a mortgage loan originator license in this state without first obtaining such license;

(j) The licensee has violated the written restrictions or conditions under which the license was issued;

(k) The licensee, or if the licensee is a business entity, one of the officers, directors, shareholders, partners, and members, was convicted of, pleaded guilty to, or was found guilty after a plea of nolo contendere to (i) a misdemeanor under any state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, depository institution business, or installment loan company business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law;

(l) The licensee has had a similar license revoked in any other jurisdiction; or

(m) The licensee has failed to reasonably supervise any officer, employee, or agent to assure his or her compliance with the act or with any state or federal law applicable to the mortgage banking business.

(2) Except as provided in this section and section 45-742.01, a license shall not be revoked or suspended except after notice and a hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department.

(3) A licensee may voluntarily surrender a license by delivering to the director written notice of the surrender, but a surrender shall not affect civil or criminal liability for acts committed before the surrender or liability for any fines which may be levied against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members pursuant to section 45-743 for acts committed before the surrender. The director's approval of such license surrender shall not be required unless the director has commenced an examination or investigation pursuant to section 45-741 or has commenced a proceeding to revoke or suspend the licensee's license or impose an administrative fine pursuant to this section.

(4)(a) If a licensee fails to (i) renew its license as required by sections 45-706 and 45-732 and does not voluntarily surrender the license pursuant to this section or (ii) pay the required fee for renewal of the license, the department may issue a notice of expiration of the license to the licensee in lieu of revocation proceedings.

(b) The director may adopt by rule, regulation, or order procedures for the reinstatement of licenses for which a notice of expiration was issued in accordance with subdivision (a) of this subsection. Such procedures shall be consistent with standards established by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. The fee for reinstatement shall be the same fee as the fee for the initial license application.

(c) If a licensee fails to maintain a surety bond as required by section 45-724, the department may issue a notice of cancellation of the license in lieu of revocation proceedings.

(5) Revocation, suspension, surrender, cancellation, or expiration of a license shall not impair or affect the obligation of a preexisting lawful contract between the licensee and any person, including a borrower.

(6) Revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration of a license shall not affect civil or criminal liability for acts committed before the revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration or liability for any fines which may be levied against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members pursuant to section 45-743 for acts committed before the revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration.

45-742.01 Mortgage banker or mortgage loan originator license; emergency orders authorized; grounds; notice; emergency hearing; judicial review; director; additional proceedings.

(1) The director may enter an emergency order suspending, limiting, or restricting the license of any mortgage banker or mortgage loan originator without notice or hearing if it appears upon grounds satisfactory to the director that:

(a) The licensee has failed to file the report of condition as required by section 45-726;

(b) The licensee has failed to increase its surety bond to the amount required by subsection (2) of section 45-724;

(c) The licensee has failed to provide any report required by the director as a condition of issuing such person a mortgage banker or mortgage loan originator license;

(d) The licensee is in such financial condition that it cannot continue in business safely with its customers;

(e) The licensee has been indicted, charged with, or found guilty of any act involving fraud, deception, theft, or breach of trust;

(f) The licensee has had its license suspended or revoked in any state based upon any act involving fraud, deception, theft, or breach of trust; or

(g) The licensee has refused to permit an examination by the director of the licensee's books and affairs pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of section 45-741 or has refused or failed to comply with subsection (5) of section 45-741.

(2) An emergency order issued under this section becomes effective when signed by the director. Upon entry of an emergency order, the director shall promptly notify the affected person that such order has been entered, the reasons for such order, and the right to request an emergency hearing.

(3) A party aggrieved by an emergency order issued by the director under this section may request an emergency hearing. The request for hearing shall be filed with the director within ten business days after the date of the emergency order.

(4) Upon receipt of a written request for emergency hearing, the director shall conduct an emergency hearing within ten business days after the date of receipt of the request for hearing unless the parties agree to a later date or a hearing officer sets a later date for good cause shown.

(5) A person aggrieved by an emergency order of the director may obtain judicial review of the order in the manner prescribed in the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department.

(6) The director may obtain an order from the district court of Lancaster County for the enforcement of the emergency order.

(7) The director may vacate or modify an emergency order if he or she finds that the conditions which caused its entry have changed or that it is otherwise in the public interest to do so.

(8) If an emergency hearing has not been requested pursuant to subsection (3) of this section and the emergency order remains in effect sixty days after issuance, the director shall initiate proceedings pursuant to section 45-742 unless the license was surrendered or expired during the sixty-day time period after issuance of the emergency order.

(9) An emergency order issued under this section shall remain in effect until it is vacated, modified, or superseded by an order of the director, superseded by a voluntary consent or compliance agreement between the director and the licensee, or until it is terminated by a court order.

45-743 Violations; administrative fine; costs; lien.

(1) The director may, following a hearing under the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act, impose an administrative fine against any officer, director, shareholder, partner, or member of a licensee, if the director finds the licensee or any such person participated in or had knowledge of any act prohibited by sections 45-737, 45-740, and 45-742 or otherwise violated the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act. Such administrative fine shall be in addition to or separate from any fine imposed against a licensee pursuant to section 45-742.

(2) If the director finds, after notice and hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act, that any person has knowingly committed any act prohibited by section 45-742 or otherwise violated the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act, the director may order such person to pay (a) an administrative fine of not more than five thousand dollars for each separate violation and (b) the costs of investigation.

(3) If a person fails to pay an administrative fine and the costs of investigation ordered pursuant to this section, a lien in the amount of such fine and costs may be imposed upon all assets and property of such person in this state and may be recovered in a civil action by the director. The lien shall attach to the real property of such person when notice of the lien is filed and indexed against the real property in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the real property is located. The lien shall attach to any other property of such person when notice of the lien is filed against the property in the manner prescribed by law. Failure of the person to pay such fine and costs shall constitute a separate violation of the act.

45-744 Cease and desist orders; department; powers; judicial review; violation; penalty.

(1) The department may order any person to cease and desist whenever the department determines that the person has violated any provision of the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act. Upon entry of a cease and desist order, the director shall promptly notify the affected person that such order has been entered, of the reasons for such order, and that upon receipt, within fifteen business days after the date of the order, of written request from the affected person a hearing will be scheduled within thirty business days after the date of receipt of the written request unless the parties consent to a later date or the hearing officer sets a later date for good cause. If a hearing is not requested and none is ordered by the director, the order shall remain in effect until it is modified or vacated.

(2) The director may vacate or modify a cease and desist order if he or she finds that the conditions which caused its entry have changed or that it is otherwise in the public interest to do so.

(3) A person aggrieved by a cease and desist order of the director may obtain judicial review of the order in the manner prescribed in the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act. The director may obtain an order from the district court of Lancaster County for the enforcement of the cease and desist order.

(4) A person who violates a cease and desist order of the director may, after notice and hearing and upon further order of the director, be subject to a penalty of not more than five thousand dollars for each act in violation of the cease and desist order.

45-746 Enforcement of act; director; powers; construction of act; failure to comply with act; effect.

(1) The director may request the Attorney General to enforce the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act. A civil enforcement action by the Attorney General may be filed in the district court of Lancaster County. A civil enforcement action by the Attorney General may seek temporary and permanent injunctive relief, restitution for a borrower aggrieved by a violation of the act, and costs for the investigation and prosecution of the enforcement action.

(2) Except when expressly authorized, there shall be no private cause of action for any violation of the act.

(3) Nothing in the act shall limit any statutory or common-law right of any person to bring any action in any court for any act involved in the mortgage banking business or the right of the state to punish any person for any violation of law.

(4) Failure to comply with the act shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any residential mortgage loan. A person acquiring a residential mortgage loan or an interest in a residential mortgage loan is not required to ascertain the extent of compliance with the act.

45-748 License and registration under Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry; department; powers and duties; director; duties.

(1) The department shall require mortgage bankers, registrants, and mortgage loan originators to be licensed and registered through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. In order to carry out this requirement, the department is authorized to participate in the Nationwide Mortgage

Licensing System and Registry. For this purpose, the department may establish, by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or by order, requirements, as necessary. The requirements may include, but not be limited to:

(a) Background checks of mortgage bankers, registrants, and mortgage loan originators, including, but not limited to:

(i) Criminal history through fingerprint or other databases;

(ii) Civil or administrative records;

(iii) Credit history; or

(iv) Any other information as deemed necessary by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(b) The payment of fees to apply for or renew a license through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(c) Compliance with the prelicensure education and testing and continuing education requirements as provided in the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act;

(d) The setting or resetting, as necessary, of renewal processing or reporting dates; and

(e) Amending or surrendering a license or any other such activities as the director deems necessary for participation in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(2) In order to fulfill the purposes of the act, the department is authorized to establish relationships or contracts with the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry or other entities designated by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry to collect and maintain records and process transaction fees or other fees related to licensees or other persons subject to the act. The department may allow such system to collect licensing fees on behalf of the department and allow such system to collect a processing fee for the services of the system directly from each licensee or applicant for a license.

(3) The director is required to regularly report violations of the act, as well as enforcement actions and other relevant information, to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry subject to the provisions contained in section 45-749.

(4) The director shall establish a process whereby mortgage bankers, registrants, and mortgage loan originators may challenge information entered into the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry by the director.

(5) The department shall ensure that the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry adopts a privacy, data security, and security breach notification policy. The director shall make available upon written request a copy of the contract between the department and the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry pertaining to the breach of security of the system provisions.

(6) The department shall upon written request provide the most recently available audited financial report of the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

45-749 Information sharing; privilege and confidentiality; limitations; applicability of section; director; powers.

(1) In order to promote more effective regulation and reduce the regulatory burden through supervisory information sharing:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the requirements under any federal or state law regarding the privacy or confidentiality of any information or material provided to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry, and any privilege arising under federal or state law, including the rules of any federal or state court, with respect to such information or material, shall continue to apply to such information or material after the information or material has been disclosed to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. Such information and material may be shared with all federal and state regulatory officials with mortgage industry oversight authority without the loss of privilege or the loss of confidentiality protections provided by federal or state law;

(b) Information or material that is subject to a privilege or confidentiality under subdivision (1)(a) of this section shall not be subject to:

(i) Disclosure under any federal or state law governing the disclosure to the public of information held by an officer or an agency of the federal government or the respective state; or

(ii) Subpoena or discovery, or admission into evidence, in any private civil action or administrative process, unless with respect to any privilege held by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry with respect to such information or material, the person to whom such information or material pertains waives, in whole or in part, in the discretion of such person, that privilege;

(c) Any state statute relating to the disclosure of confidential supervisory information or any information or material described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section that is inconsistent with such subdivision shall be superseded by the requirements of this section; and

(d) This section shall not apply with respect to the information or material relating to the employment history of, and publicly adjudicated disciplinary and enforcement actions against, applicants and licensees that is included in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry for access by the public.

(2) For these purposes, the director is authorized to enter into agreements or sharing arrangements with other governmental agencies, the Conference of State Bank Supervisors, the American Association of Residential Mortgage Regulators, or other associations representing governmental agencies as established by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or by order of the director.

45-804 Prohibited acts.

A credit services organization, a salesperson, an agent, or a representative of a credit services organization, or an independent contractor who sells or attempts to sell the services of a credit services organization shall not:

(1) Charge a buyer or receive from a buyer money or other valuable consideration before completing performance of all services, other than those described in subdivision (2) of this section, which the credit services organization has agreed to perform for the buyer unless the credit services organization has obtained a surety bond or established and maintained a surety account as provided in section 45-805;

(2) Charge a buyer or receive from a buyer money or other valuable consideration for obtaining or attempting to obtain an extension of credit that the credit services organization has agreed to obtain for the buyer before the extension of credit is obtained;

(3) Charge a buyer or receive from a buyer money or other valuable consideration solely for referral of the buyer to a retail seller who will or may extend credit to the buyer if the credit that is or will be extended to the buyer is substantially the same as that available to the general public;

(4) Make or use a false or misleading representation in the offer or sale of the services of a credit services organization, including (a) guaranteeing to erase bad credit or words to that effect unless the representation clearly discloses that this can be done only if the credit history is inaccurate or obsolete and (b) guaranteeing an extension of credit regardless of the person's previous credit problem or credit history unless the representation clearly discloses the eligibility requirements for obtaining an extension of credit;

(5) Engage, directly or indirectly, in a fraudulent or deceptive act, practice, or course of business in connection with the offer or sale of the services of a credit services organization;

(6) Make or advise a buyer to make a statement with respect to a buyer's credit worthiness, credit standing, or credit capacity that is false or misleading or that should be known by the exercise of reasonable care to be false or misleading to a consumer reporting agency or to a person who has extended credit to a buyer or to whom a buyer is applying for an extension of credit;

(7) Advertise or cause to be advertised, in any manner whatsoever, the services of a credit services organization without filing a registration statement with the Secretary of State under section 45-806 unless otherwise provided by the Credit Services Organization Act; or

(8) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, charge any brokerage fees or any other fees or charges whatsoever in connection with a loan governed by the Nebraska Installment Loan Act.

45-805 Surety bond or surety account; requirements; action on surety; depository; Secretary of State; powers and duties.

(1) A credit services organization conducting business in this state shall obtain a surety bond or establish a surety account which complies with this section. The bond or account shall be in the amount of one hundred thousand dollars.

(2) If a surety bond is obtained, the bond shall be issued by a surety company authorized to do business in this state and a copy of the bond shall be filed with the Secretary of State. If a surety account is established, the account shall be established and maintained at a federally insured bank or savings and loan association located in this state and notification of the depository, the trustee, and the account number shall be filed with the Secretary of State.

(3) The bond or account shall be in favor of the state for the benefit of any person who is damaged by any violation of the Credit Services Organization Act. The bond or account shall also be in favor of any person damaged by such a violation.

(4) Any person claiming against the bond or account for a violation of the act may maintain an action at law against the credit services organization and against the surety or trustee. The surety or trustee shall be liable only for damages awarded under section 45-810. The aggregate liability of the surety or trustee to all persons damaged by a credit services organization's violation of the act shall not exceed the amount of the bond or account.

(5) A depository holding money in a surety account under the act shall not convey money in the account to the credit services organization that established the account or a representative of the credit services organization unless the credit services organization or representative presents a statement issued by the Secretary of State indicating that subsection (6) of this section has been satisfied in relation to the account. The Secretary of State may conduct investigations and require submission of information as necessary to enforce this subsection.

(6) The bond or account shall be maintained until two years after the date that the credit services organization ceases operation in this state.

45-806 Registration statement; contents; requirements; fee.

(1) A credit services organization shall file a registration statement with the Secretary of State before conducting business in this state. The registration statement shall contain:

(a) The name and address of the credit services organization; and

(b) The name and address of any person who directly or indirectly owns or controls ten percent or more of the outstanding shares of stock in the credit services organization.

(2) The registration statement shall also contain either:

(a) A full and complete disclosure of any litigation or unresolved complaint filed with a governmental authority of this state relating to the operation of the credit services organization; or

(b) A notarized statement that there has been no litigation or unresolved complaint filed with a governmental authority of this state relating to the operation of the credit services organization.

(3) The credit services organization shall update the registration statement within ninety days after the date on which a change in the information required in the statement occurs.

(4) Each credit services organization registering under this section shall maintain a copy of the registration statement in the files of the credit services organization. The credit services organization shall allow a buyer to inspect the registration statement on request.

(5) The Secretary of State may charge each credit services organization that files a registration statement with the Secretary of State a reasonable fee not to exceed one hundred dollars to cover the cost of filing. The Secretary of State shall remit the fees received pursuant to this section to the State Treasurer for credit to the Secretary of State Cash Fund. The Secretary of State shall not require a credit services organization to provide information other than that provided in the registration statement.

45-807 Written statement to buyer; contents; credit services organization; duties.

(1) Before executing a contract or agreement with or receiving money or other valuable consideration from a buyer, a credit services organization shall provide the buyer with a written statement containing:

(a) A complete and detailed description of the services to be performed by the credit services organization for the buyer and the total cost of the services;

(b) A statement explaining the buyer's right to proceed against the surety bond or surety account required by section 45-805;

(c) The name and address of the surety company that issued the bond or the name and address of the depository and the trustee and the account number of the surety account;

(d) A complete and accurate statement of the buyer's right to review any file on the buyer maintained by a consumer reporting agency as provided by the Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. 1681 et seq.;

(e) A statement that the buyer's file is available for review at no charge on request made to the consumer reporting agency within thirty days after the date of receipt of notice that credit has been denied and that the buyer's file is available for a minimal charge at any other time;

(f) A complete and accurate statement of the buyer's right to dispute directly with the consumer reporting agency the completeness or accuracy of any item contained in a file on the buyer maintained by the consumer reporting agency;

(g) A statement that accurate information cannot be permanently removed from the files of a consumer reporting agency;

(h) A complete and accurate statement of when consumer information becomes obsolete and of when consumer reporting agencies are prevented from issuing reports containing obsolete information; and

(i) A complete and accurate statement of the availability of nonprofit credit counseling services.

(2) The credit services organization shall maintain on file, for a period of two years after the date the statement is provided, an exact copy of the statement, signed by the buyer, acknowledging receipt of the statement.

Source: Laws 1991, LB 292, § 7.

45-808 Contract; requirements; cancellation; procedure; notice; breach; effect.

(1) Each contract between the buyer and a credit services organization for the purchase of the services of the credit services organization shall be in writing, dated, and signed by the buyer and shall include:

(a) A statement in type that is boldface, capitalized, underlined, or otherwise set out from surrounding written materials so as to be conspicuous, in immediate proximity to the space reserved for the signature of the buyer, as follows: ''You, the buyer, may cancel this contract at any time before midnight of the third day after the date the contract is signed. See the attached notice of cancellation form for an explanation of this right.'';

(b) The terms and conditions of payment, including the total of all payments to be made by the buyer, whether to the credit services organization or to another person;

(c) A full and detailed description of the services to be performed by the credit services organization for the buyer, including all guarantees and all promises of full or partial refunds, and the estimated length of time, not to exceed one hundred eighty days, for performing the services; and

(d) The address of the credit services organization's principal place of business and the name and address of its agent in the state authorized to receive service of process.

(2) The credit services organization shall return any payment made by a buyer under the contract if the buyer cancels the contract within three days after it is signed. The payment shall be returned within ten days after the date the organization receives the cancellation notice from the buyer.

(3) The contract shall have attached two easily detachable copies of a notice of cancellation. The notice shall be in boldface in the following form:

Notice of Cancellation

You may cancel this contract, without any penalty or obligation, within three days after the date the contract is signed.

If you cancel, any payment made by you under this contract will be returned within ten days after the date of receipt by the seller of your cancellation notice.

To cancel this contract, mail or deliver a signed, dated copy of this cancellation notice or other written notice to: (name of seller) at (address of seller) (place of business) not later than midnight (date) I hereby cancel this transaction.

(purchaser's signature)

(4) The credit services organization shall give to the buyer a copy of the completed contract and all other documents the credit services organization requires the buyer to sign at the time they are signed.

(5) The breach by a credit services organization of a contract under the Credit Services Organization Act or of any obligation arising from a contract under the act shall be a violation of the act.

DELAYED DEPOSIT SERVICES LICENSING ACT

Section

45-901 Act, how cited.

Sections 45-901 to 45-931 shall be known and may be cited as the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act.

Source: Laws 1994, LB 967, § 1; Laws 2006, LB 876, § 36; Laws 2012, LB269, § 1; Laws 2018, LB194, § 2; Laws 2020, LB909, § 35.

45-902 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act:

(1) Annual percentage rate means an annual percentage rate as determined under section 107 of the federal Truth in Lending Act, 15 U.S.C. 1606, as such section existed on January 1, 2020, and includes all fees, interest, and charges contained in a delayed deposit service contract, except for charges permitted for the presentation of instruments that are not negotiable under subdivision (1)(a)(v) of section 45-917 or returned unpaid under section 45-918.01;

(2) Check means any check, draft, or other instrument for the payment of money. Check also means an authorization to debit an account electronically;

(3) Default means a maker's failure to repay a delayed deposit transaction in compliance with the terms contained in a delayed deposit service agreement;

(4) Delayed deposit services business means any person who for a fee (a) accepts a check dated subsequent to the date it was written or (b) accepts a check dated on the date it was written and holds the check for a period of days prior to deposit or presentment pursuant to an agreement with or any representation made to the maker of the check, whether express or implied;

(5) Department means the Department of Banking and Finance;

(6) Director means the Director of Banking and Finance or his or her designee;

(7) Financial institution has the same meaning as in section 8-101.03;

(8) Licensee means any person licensed under the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act;

(9) Maker means an individual who receives the proceeds of a delayed deposit transaction;

(10) Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry means a licensing system developed and maintained by the Conference of State Bank Supervisors and the American Association of Residential Mortgage Regulators for the licensing and registration of mortgage loan originators, mortgage bankers, installment loan companies, and other state-regulated financial services entities and industries; and

(11) Person means an individual, proprietorship, association, joint venture, joint-stock company, partnership, limited partnership, limited liability company, business corporation, nonprofit corporation, or any group of individuals however organized.

45-903 Act; not applicable to financial institutions.

The Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act shall not apply to a financial institution organized under the laws of this state or the laws of the United States.

Source: Laws 1994, LB 967, § 3.

45-904 License required; void transaction; effect.

No person shall operate a delayed deposit services business or make or offer a delayed deposit transaction in this state unless the person is licensed by the director as provided in the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act. Any delayed deposit transaction that is made by a person who is required to be licensed pursuant to the act but who is not licensed is void, and the person making such delayed deposit transaction has no right to collect, receive, or retain any principal, interest, fees, or any other charges in connection with such delayed deposit transaction.

45-905 Application for license; form; contents; criminal history record information check.

(1) An applicant for a license shall submit an application, under oath, to the director on forms prescribed by the director. The forms shall contain such information as the director may prescribe, including, but not limited to:

(a) The applicant's financial condition;

(b) The qualifications and business history of the applicant and of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members;

(c) Whether the applicant or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members have ever been convicted of any (i) misdemeanor involving any aspect of a delayed deposit services business or any business of a similar nature or (ii) felony;

(d) Whether the applicant or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members have ever been permanently or temporarily enjoined by a court of competent jurisdiction from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice involving any aspect of a delayed deposit services business or any business of a similar nature;

(e) A description of the applicant's proposed method of doing business; and

(f) If the applicant is an individual, the applicant's social security number.

(2) The director shall cause a criminal history record information check to be conducted of the applicant, its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members and, on or after January 1, 2021, as provided in subsection (1) of section 45-905.01. The direct cost of the criminal history record information check shall be paid by the applicant.

45-905.01 Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry; licensees; requirements; director; powers and duties.

(1) On and after January 1, 2021, licensees under the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act are required to be licensed and registered through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. In order to carry out this requirement, the department is authorized to participate in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. For this purpose, the director may establish requirements as necessary by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or by order. The requirements may include, but are not limited to:

(a) Background checks of applicants and licensees, including, but not limited to:

(i) Fingerprints of any principal officer, director, partner, member, or sole proprietor submitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and any other governmental agency or entity authorized to receive such information for a state, national, and international criminal history record information check;

(ii) Checks of civil or administrative records;

(iii) Checks of an applicant's or a licensee's credit history; or

(iv) Any other information as deemed necessary by the director;

(b) The payment of fees to apply for or renew a license through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(c) The setting or resetting, as necessary, of renewal processing or reporting dates; and

(d) Amending or surrendering a license or any other such activities as the director deems necessary for participation in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(2) In order to fulfill the purposes of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act, the department may contract with the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry or other entities designated by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry to collect and maintain records and process transaction fees or other fees related to applicants, licensees, or other persons subject to the act. The department may allow such system to collect licensing fees on behalf of the department and may allow such system to collect a processing fee for the services of the system directly from each applicant or licensee.

(3) The director shall regularly report enforcement actions and other relevant information to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(4) The director shall establish a process whereby applicants and licensees may challenge information entered by the director into the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(5) The department shall ensure that the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry adopts a privacy, data security, and breach of security of the system notification policy. The director shall make available upon written request a copy of such policy and the contract between the department and the system.

(6) Upon written request the department shall provide the most recently available audited financial report of the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(7) The director may use the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry as a channeling agent for requesting information from and distributing information to the United States Department of Justice or any other governmental agency in order to reduce the points of contact which the Federal Bureau of Investigation may have to maintain for purposes of subsection (5) of this section.

45-906 Application; fees; bond.

The application required by section 45-905 shall be accompanied by:

(1) A nonrefundable application fee of five hundred dollars and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-905.01; and

(2) A surety bond in the base amount of fifty thousand dollars which, on or after January 1, 2021, shall be increased by fifty thousand dollars for each branch office established or to be established in Nebraska. The surety bond shall be executed by the licensee and a surety company authorized to do business in Nebraska and approved by the director conditioned for the faithful performance by the licensee of the duties and obligations pertaining to the delayed deposit services business so licensed and the prompt payment of any judgment recovered against the licensee. The bond or a substitute bond shall remain in effect during all periods of licensing or the licensee shall immediately cease doing business and its license shall be surrendered to or canceled by the department. A surety may cancel a bond only upon thirty days' written notice to the director.

(3) The director may at any time require the filing of a new or supplemental bond in the form as provided in subdivision (2) of this section if he or she determines that the bond filed under this section is exhausted or is inadequate for any reason, including, but not limited to, the financial condition of the licensee or the applicant for a license, or violations of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act, any rule, regulation, or order thereunder, or any state or federal law applicable to the licensee or applicant for a license. The new or supplemental bond shall not exceed one hundred thousand dollars over the amount of the bond required by subdivision (2) of this section.

45-907 Application; notice of filing; publication; hearing; investigation; costs.

(1) When an application for a delayed deposit services business license has been accepted by the director as substantially complete, notice of the filing of the application shall be published by the director for three successive weeks in a legal newspaper published in or of general circulation in the county where the applicant proposes to operate the delayed deposit services business. A public hearing shall be held on each application except as provided in subsection (2) of this section. The date for hearing shall not be less than thirty days after the last publication. Written protest against the issuance of the license may be filed with the department by any person not less than five days before the date set for hearing. The director, in his or her discretion, may grant a continuance. The costs of the hearing shall be paid by the applicant. The director may investigate the propriety of the issuance of a license to the applicant. The costs of such investigation shall be paid by the applicant.

(2) The director may waive the hearing requirements of subsection (1) of this section if (a) the applicant has held and operated under a license to engage in the delayed deposit services business in Nebraska pursuant to the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act for at least three calendar years immediately prior to the filing of the application, (b) no written protest against the issuance of the license has been filed with the department within fifteen days after publication of a notice of the filing of the application one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where the applicant proposes to operate the delayed deposit services business, and (c) in the judgment of the director, the experience, character, and general fitness of the applicant warrant the belief that the applicant will comply with the act.

(3) The expense of any publication made pursuant to this section shall be paid by the applicant.

45-908 License; issuance; conditions.

The director shall issue a license to an applicant, if, after public hearing and any investigation of the applicant, the director determines that:

(1) The experience, character, and general fitness of the applicant and its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members are such as to warrant the belief that the applicant will conduct the delayed deposit services business honestly, fairly, and efficiently;

(2) The applicant and its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members have not been convicted of a felony in this state or any other jurisdiction which would indicate moral turpitude on the part of the applicant;

(3) The applicant is financially responsible and will conduct the delayed deposit services business pursuant to the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act; and

(4) The applicant has assets of at least twenty-five thousand dollars available for operating the delayed deposit services business.

45-909 Application for license; timely action of director required; appeal.

The director shall approve or deny an application for a license by written order not more than ninety days after the filing of a substantially complete application. Failure of the director to act on a substantially complete application within ninety days shall constitute approval of the application. An order of the director issued pursuant to this section may be appealed, and the appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

45-910 License; posting; renewal; fees.

(1) A license issued pursuant to the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act shall be conspicuously posted at the licensee's place of business.

(2)(a) Except as provided in subdivision (2)(b) of this section, all licenses shall remain in effect until the next succeeding May 1, unless earlier canceled, suspended, or revoked by the director pursuant to section 45-922 or surrendered by the licensee pursuant to section 45-911.

(b) All licenses issued on or after November 14, 2020, and before January 1, 2021, shall remain in effect until December 31, 2021, unless earlier canceled, suspended, or revoked by the director pursuant to section 45-922 or surrendered by the licensee pursuant to section 45-911. All licenses issued on or after January 1, 2021, shall remain in effect until the next succeeding December 31, unless earlier canceled, suspended, or revoked by the director pursuant to section 45-922 or surrendered by the licensee pursuant to section 45-911.

(3) Licenses may be renewed annually by filing with the director (a) a renewal fee consisting of five hundred dollars and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-905.01 for the main office location and five hundred dollars and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-905.01 for each branch office location and (b) an application for renewal in writing through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry containing such information as the director may require to indicate any material change in the information contained in the original application or succeeding renewal applications.

45-911 Surrender of license; effect.

A licensee may surrender a delayed deposit services business license by delivering to the director written notice that the license is surrendered and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-905.01. The department may issue a notice of cancellation of the license following such surrender in lieu of revocation proceedings. The surrender shall not affect the licensee's civil or criminal liability for acts committed prior to such surrender, affect the liability for any fines which may be levied against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members for acts committed before the surrender, affect the liability of the surety on the bond, or entitle such licensee to a return of any part of the annual license fee or fees. The director may establish procedures for the disposition of the books, accounts, and records of the licensee and may require such action as he or she deems necessary for the protection of the makers of checks which are outstanding at the time of surrender of the license.

45-912 Licensee; duty to inform director; when.

A licensee shall be required to notify the director in writing through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry within thirty days after the occurrence of any material development, including, but not limited to:

(1) Bankruptcy or corporate reorganization;

(2) Business reorganization;

(3) Institution of license revocation procedures by any other state or jurisdiction;

(4) The filing of a criminal indictment or complaint against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, members, employees, or agents;

(5) A felony conviction against the licensee or any of the licensee's officers, directors, shareholders, partners, members, employees, or agents; or

(6) The termination of employment or association with the licensee of any of the licensee's officers, directors, shareholders, partners, members, employees, or agents for violations or suspected violations of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act, any rule, regulation, or order thereunder, or any state or federal law applicable to the licensee.

45-914 Change in control of licensee; approval required.

The prior written approval of the director shall be required whenever a change in control of a licensee is proposed. Control in the case of a corporation shall mean (1) direct or indirect ownership or the right to control ten percent or more of the voting shares of the corporation or (2) the ability of a person or group acting in concert to elect a majority of the directors or otherwise effect a change in policy. Control in the case of any other entity shall mean any change in the principals of the organization, whether active or passive. The director may require such information as he or she deems necessary to determine whether a new application is required. Costs incurred by the director in investigating a change of control request shall be paid by the person or persons requesting such approval.

45-915 Licensee; principal place of business; change of location; branch offices; approval required; fees.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, a licensee, on or before December 31, 2020, may offer a delayed deposit services business only at an office designated as its principal place of business in the application. A licensee may change the location of its designated principal place of business with the prior written approval of the director. The director may establish forms and procedures for determining whether the change of location should be approved.

(2) On or before December 31, 2020, a licensee may operate branch offices only in the same county in which the licensee's designated principal place of business is located. The licensee may establish a branch office or change the location of a branch office with the prior written approval of the director. The director may establish forms and procedures for determining whether an original branch or branches or a change of location of a branch should be approved.

(3) On or after January 1, 2021, a licensee shall designate an office in Nebraska as its principal place of business. A licensee may change the location of its designated principal place of business with the prior written approval of the director. The director may establish forms and procedures for determining whether the change of location should be approved.

(4) On or after January 1, 2021, a licensee may operate branch offices in Nebraska. The licensee may establish a branch office or change the location of a branch office with the prior written approval of the director. The director may establish forms and procedures for determining whether an original branch or branches or a change of location of a branch should be approved.

(5) A licensee may offer a delayed deposit services business only at an office designated as its principal place of business and any branch office established pursuant to this section.

(6) A fee of one hundred fifty dollars and any processing fee allowed under subsection (2) of section 45-905.01 shall be submitted with each request made pursuant to this section.

45-915.01 Licensee; books and records.

(1) Each licensee shall keep or make available the books and records relating to transactions made under the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act as are necessary to enable the department to determine whether the licensee is complying with the act. The books and records shall be maintained in a manner consistent with accepted accounting practices.

(2) A licensee shall, at a minimum, include in its books and records copies of all application materials relating to makers, disclosure agreements, checks, payment receipts, and proofs of compliance required by section 45-919.

(3) A licensee shall preserve or keep its books and records relating to every delayed deposit transaction for three years from the date of the inception of the transaction, or two years from the date a final entry is made thereon, including any applicable collection effort, whichever is later.

(4) The licensee shall maintain its books, accounts, and records, whether in physical or electronic form, at its designated principal place of business, except that books, accounts, and records which are older than two years may be maintained at any other place within this state as long as such records are available for inspection by the department.

45-916 Operating with other business; conditions.

A licensee may operate a delayed deposit services business at a location where any other business is operated or in association or conjunction with any other business if:

(1) The books, accounts, and records of the delayed deposit services business are kept and maintained separate and apart from the books, accounts, and records of the other business;

(2) The other business is not of a type which would tend to conceal evasion of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act. If the director determines upon investigation that the other business is of a type which would conceal evasion of the act, the director shall order such licensee to cease the operation of the other business at such location; and

(3) At least thirty days prior to conducting such other business, the licensee provides written notice to the director of (a) its intent to conduct such other business at its location or locations and (b) the nature of such other business and the director does not disapprove of such other business within thirty days after receiving the written notice.

45-917 Licensee; written notice; contents; fees, charges, and penalties; posting required.

(1)(a) Every licensee shall, at the time any delayed deposit transaction is made, give to the maker of the check, or if there are two or more makers, to one of them, a notice written in plain English disclosing:

(i) The name of the maker, transaction date, and transaction amount;

(ii) The payment due date and total payment due;

(iii) The total of fees on the transaction, expressed as both a dollar amount and an annual percentage rate;

(iv) The date on which the check will be deposited or presented for negotiation; and

(v) Any penalty not to exceed fifteen dollars which the licensee will charge if the check is not negotiable on the date agreed upon. If the licensee required the maker to give two checks for one delayed deposit transaction, the licensee shall charge only one penalty in the event both checks are not negotiable on the date agreed upon.

(b) The notice required by this subsection shall include the following language, all capitalized and in at least ten-point font:

1. THIS TYPE OF SERVICE SHOULD BE USED ONLY TO MEET SHORT-TERM CASH NEEDS.

2. THE LAW DOES NOT ALLOW THIS TYPE OF TRANSACTION TO BE MORE THAN FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($500) IN TOTAL, INCLUDING FEES AND CHARGES, FROM ONE LENDER.

3. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO RESCIND THIS TRANSACTION IF YOU DO SO BY THE NEXT BUSINESS DAY BEFORE 5 P.M.

4. YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO RESCIND YOUR AUTHORIZATION FOR ELECTRONIC PAYMENT.

(2) In addition to the notice required by subsection (1) of this section, every licensee shall conspicuously display a schedule of all fees, charges, and penalties for all services provided by the licensee. Such notice shall be posted at every office of the licensee.

45-918 Annual percentage rate; violation; effect; fee; limitation.

(1) A licensee shall not impose an annual percentage rate greater than thirty-six percent in connection with a delayed deposit transaction. Any delayed deposit transaction made in violation of this section is void, and the licensee making such delayed deposit transaction has no right to collect, receive, or retain any principal, interest, fees, or any other charges in connection with such delayed deposit transaction.

(2) The fees set forth in this section shall not be charged to individuals on active duty military or their spouses or dependents in an amount that exceeds what is allowed under 10 U.S.C. 987, as such section existed on January 1, 2018.

45-918.01 Returned check; collection; returned check charge; court costs; attorney's fees.

If a check held by a licensee as a result of a delayed deposit transaction is returned unpaid to the licensee from a payor financial institution due to insufficient funds, a closed account, a stop-payment order, or any other reason, not including a bank error, the licensee shall have the right to exercise all civil means authorized by law to collect the face value of the check. In addition, the licensee may contract for and collect one returned check charge for each delayed deposit transaction, not to exceed fifteen dollars, plus court costs and reasonable attorney's fees as awarded by a court and incurred as a result of the default. However, such attorney's fees shall not exceed the amount of the check. The licensee shall not collect any other fees as a result of default. A returned check charge shall not be allowed if, due to forgery or theft, the transaction proceeds check is dishonored by the financial institution.

45-918.02 Prepayment; how treated.

A licensee shall accept prepayment from a maker prior to the due date without charging the maker a penalty of any kind.

Source: Laws 2018, LB194, § 11.

45-918.03 Rescission; redemption.

(1) A maker shall have the right to rescind a delayed deposit transaction before 5 p.m. the next business day following the delayed deposit transaction.

(2) Prior to the licensee negotiating or presenting the check, the maker shall have the right to redeem any check held by a licensee as a result of a delayed deposit transaction if the maker pays the full amount to the licensee.

Source: Laws 2018, LB194, § 12.

45-918.04 Licensee; payment options; electronic payment with authorization.

(1) A licensee may pay the proceeds from a delayed deposit transaction or rebate to the maker in the form of check, money order, cash, stored value card, Internet transfer, or authorized automated clearinghouse transaction. Neither the licensee nor any affiliate of the licensee shall charge the maker an additional finance charge or fee for cashing the licensee's check or for negotiating forms of transaction proceeds or rebates other than cash.

(2) A licensee may utilize electronic payment through transfer or withdrawal of funds from the maker's account only, but only with the written authorization of the maker.

Source: Laws 2018, LB194, § 13.

45-919 Acts prohibited.

(1) No licensee shall:

(a) At any one time hold from any one maker more than two checks;

(b) At any one time hold from any one maker a check or checks in an aggregate face amount of more than five hundred dollars;

(c) Hold or agree to hold a check for more than thirty-four days. A check which is in the process of collection for the reason that it was not negotiable on the day agreed upon shall not be deemed as being held in excess of the thirty-four-day period;

(d) Require the maker to receive payment by a method which causes the maker to pay additional or further fees and charges to the licensee, an affiliate of the licensee, or any other person;

(e) Accept a check as repayment, refinancing, or any other consolidation of a check or checks held by the same licensee;

(f) Except as provided in section 45-919.01, renew, roll over, defer, or in any way extend a delayed deposit transaction by allowing the maker to pay less than the total amount of the check and any authorized fees or charges. This subdivision shall not prevent a licensee that agreed to hold a check for less than thirty-four days from agreeing to hold the check for an additional period of time no greater than the thirty-four days it would have originally been able to hold the check if (i) the extension is at the request of the maker, (ii) no additional fees are charged for the extension, and (iii) the delayed deposit transaction is completed as required by subdivision (1)(c) of this section. The licensee shall retain written or electronic proof of compliance with this subdivision. If a licensee fails, or is unable, to provide such proof to the department upon request, there shall be a rebuttable presumption that a violation of this subdivision has occurred and the department may pursue any remedies or actions available to it under the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act;

(g) Enter into another delayed deposit transaction with the same maker on the same business day as the completion of a delayed deposit transaction unless prior to entering into the transaction the maker and the licensee verify on a form prescribed by the department that completion of the prior delayed deposit transaction has occurred. The licensee shall retain written proof of compliance with this subdivision. If a licensee fails, or is unable, to provide such proof to the department upon request, there shall be a rebuttable presumption that a violation of this subdivision has occurred and the department may pursue any remedies or actions available to it under the act;

(h) Charge, collect, or receive any finance charges, fees, interest, or similar charges for loan brokerage, insurance, or any other ancillary products;

(i) Negotiate or present a paper check for payment unless the check is endorsed with the actual business name of the licensee;

(j) Engage, in connection with a delayed deposit transaction, in unfair or deceptive practices or advertising under the Uniform Deceptive Trade Practices Act to engage in any act that limits or restricts the application of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act, including, but not limited to, making transactions disguised as personal property, personal sales, or leaseback transactions, or disguise transaction proceeds as cash rebated for the pretextual installment sale of goods and services;

(k) Evade the requirements of section 45-918, including, but not limited to, making, offering, assisting, arranging, or guaranteeing a delayed deposit transaction with a greater rate of interest, consideration, fees, or charges than is permitted therein through any method including mail, telephone, Internet or any electronic means regardless of whether the licensee has a physical location in the state; or

(l) Attempt to deposit or negotiate a check after two consecutive failed collection attempts unless the licensee has obtained a new, written payment authorization from the maker.

(2) No licensee, affiliate of a licensee, or any other person, including a person operating as a credit services organization, shall charge, collect, or receive any finance charges, fees, interest, or similar charges that would cause a maker to pay an amount in excess of or in addition to those permitted under the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act in connection with a delayed deposit transaction, including, but not limited to, charges for loan brokerage, insurance, or any other ancillary products.

(3) For purposes of this section, (a) completion of a delayed deposit transaction means the licensee has presented a maker's check for payment to a financial institution as defined in section 8-101.03 or the maker redeemed the check by paying the full amount of the check in cash to the licensee and (b) licensee shall include (i) a person related to the licensee by common ownership or control, (ii) a person in whom such licensee has any financial interest of ten percent or more, or (iii) any employee or agent of the licensee.

45-919.01 Extended payment plan; request; terms; default.

(1) A maker who cannot pay back a delayed deposit transaction when it is due may elect once in any twelve-month period to repay the delayed deposit transaction to the licensee by means of an extended payment plan.

(2) To request an extended payment plan, the maker, before the due date of the outstanding delayed deposit transaction, must request the plan and sign an amendment to the delayed deposit agreement that reflects the new payment schedule and terms.

(3) The extended payment plan's terms must allow the maker, at no additional cost, to repay the outstanding delayed deposit transaction, including any fee due, in at least four equal payments that coincide with the maker's periodic pay dates.

(4) The maker may prepay an extended payment plan in full at any time without penalty. The licensee shall not charge the maker any interest or additional fees during the term of the extended payment plan.

(5) If the maker fails to pay any extended payment plan installment when due, the maker shall be in default of the payment plan and the licensee immediately may accelerate payment on the remaining balance. Upon default, the licensee may take action to collect all amounts due.

45-920 Director; examination of licensee; powers; costs.

(1) The director shall examine the books, accounts, and records of each licensee no more often than annually, except as provided in section 45-921. The costs of the director incurred in an examination shall be paid by the licensee as set forth in sections 8-605 and 8-606.

(2) The director may accept any examination, report, or information regarding a licensee from the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau or a foreign state agency. The director may provide any examination, report, or information regarding a licensee to the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau or a foreign state agency. As used in this section, unless the context otherwise requires, foreign state agency means any duly constituted regulatory or supervisory agency which has authority over delayed deposit services businesses, payday lenders, or similar entities, and which is created under the laws of any other state or any territory of the United States, including Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, or the Virgin Islands, or which is operating under the code of law for the District of Columbia.

45-921 Alleged violations; director; powers and duties.

(1) The director may examine or investigate complaints about or reports of alleged violations of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act or any rule, regulation, or order of the director thereunder. The director may order the actual cost of such examination or investigation to be paid by the person who is the subject of the examination or investigation, whether the alleged violator is licensed or not.

(2) The director may publish information concerning any violation of the act or any rule, regulation, or order of the director under the act.

(3) For purposes of any investigation, examination, or proceeding under the act, the director may administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, agreements, or other documents or records which the director deems relevant or material to the examination, investigation, or proceeding.

(4) In the case of contumacy by or refusal to obey a subpoena issued to any person, the district court of Lancaster County, upon application by the director, may issue an order requiring such person to appear before the director and to produce documentary evidence if so ordered to give evidence on the matter under investigation or in question. Failure to obey the order of the court may be punished by the court as contempt.

(5) Upon receipt by a licensee of a notice of investigation or inquiry request for information from the department, the licensee shall respond within twenty-one calendar days. Each day a licensee fails to respond as required by this subsection shall constitute a separate violation.

(6) If the director finds, after notice and opportunity for hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, that any person has violated subsection (5) of this section, the director may order such person to pay (a) an administrative fine of not more than two thousand dollars for each separate violation and (b) the costs of investigation. The department shall remit fines collected under this subsection to the State Treasurer for distribution in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

(7) If a person fails to pay an administrative fine and the costs of investigation ordered pursuant to subsection (6) of this section, a lien in the amount of such fine and costs may be imposed upon all assets and property of such person in this state and may be recovered in a civil action by the director. The lien shall attach to the real property of such person when notice of the lien is filed and indexed against the real property in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the real property is located. The lien shall attach to any other property of such person when notice of the lien is filed against the property in the manner prescribed by law. Failure of the person to pay such fine and costs shall constitute a separate violation of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act.

45-922 Licensee; disciplinary actions; failure to renew.

(1) The director may, following a hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, suspend or revoke any license issued pursuant to the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act if he or she finds:

(a) A licensee or any of its officers, directors, partners, or members has knowingly violated the act or any rule, regulation, or order of the director thereunder;

(b) A fact or condition existing which, if it had existed at the time of the original application for such license, would have warranted the director to refuse to issue such license;

(c) A licensee has abandoned its place of business for a period of thirty days or more;

(d) A licensee or any of its officers, directors, partners, or members has knowingly subscribed to, made, or caused to be made any false statement or false entry in the books and records of any licensee, has knowingly subscribed to or exhibited false papers with the intent to deceive the department, has failed to make a true and correct entry in the books and records of such licensee of its business and transactions in the manner and form prescribed by the department, or has mutilated, altered, destroyed, secreted, or removed any of the books or records of such licensee without the written approval of the department or as provided in section 45-925; or

(e) A licensee has knowingly violated a voluntary consent or compliance agreement which had been entered into with the director.

(2) Except as provided in this section, a license shall not be revoked or suspended except after notice and a hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

(3)(a) If a licensee fails to renew its license as required by section 45-910 and does not voluntarily surrender the license pursuant to section 45-911, the department may issue a notice of expiration of the license to the licensee in lieu of revocation proceedings.

(b) If a licensee fails to maintain a surety bond as required by section 45-906, the department may issue a notice of cancellation of the license in lieu of revocation proceedings.

(4) Revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration of a license shall not impair or affect the obligation of a preexisting lawful contract between the licensee and any person, including a maker of a check.

(5) Revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration of a license shall not affect civil or criminal liability for acts committed before the revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration or liability for fines levied against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members, pursuant to section 45-925, for acts committed before the revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration.

45-923 Cease and desist order; procedure; appeal.

If the director believes that any person has engaged in or is about to engage in any act or practice constituting a violation of the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act or any rule, regulation, or order of the director, the director may issue a cease and desist order and prohibit the making of additional delayed deposit transactions as part of such order.

Upon entry of a cease and desist order the director shall promptly notify in writing all persons to whom the order is directed that it has been entered and of the reasons for the order. Any person to whom the order is directed may in writing request a hearing within fifteen business days after the date of the issuance of the order. Upon receipt of such written request, the matter shall be set for hearing within thirty business days after receipt by the director, unless the parties consent to a later date or the hearing officer sets a later date for good cause. If a hearing is not requested within fifteen business days and none is ordered by the director, the order of the director shall automatically become final and shall remain in effect until modified or vacated by the director. If a hearing is requested or ordered, the director, after notice and hearing, shall issue his or her written findings of fact and conclusions of law and may affirm, vacate, or modify the order.

The director may vacate or modify an order if he or she finds that the conditions which caused its entry have changed or that it is otherwise in the public interest to do so. Any person aggrieved by a final order of the director may appeal the order, and the appeal shall be in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act.

45-925 Violations; orders authorized; administrative fine; lien; failure to pay; separate violation.

(1) If the director finds, after notice and hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, that any person has violated the Delayed Deposit Services Licensing Act or any rule, regulation, or order of the director thereunder, the director may order such person to pay (a) an administrative fine of not more than five thousand dollars for each separate violation and (b) the costs of investigation.

(2) If any person is found to have violated subdivision (1)(e), (1)(f), or (1)(g) of section 45-919, the director may also order such person to (a) return to the maker or makers all fees collected plus all or part of the amount of the check or checks which the licensee accepted in violation of such subdivision or subdivisions and (b) for a period up to one year not engage in any delayed deposit transaction with any maker for at least three days after the completion of a delayed deposit transaction with the same maker. If a person fails to pay an administrative fine and the costs of investigation ordered pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, a lien in the amount of such fine and costs may be imposed upon all assets and property of such person in this state and may be recovered in a civil action by the director. Failure of the person to pay such fine and costs shall constitute a separate violation of the act.

45-1004 Installment loans; license required, when; authority of licensee; affiliate of licensee; how treated.

(1)(a) Any person may, after procuring a license from the department, engage or continue in the business of making loans of money and charge, contract for, and receive the maximum for interest and other charges in accordance with the authorization and requirements of the Nebraska Installment Loan Act.

(b) A license shall also be required for any person that holds or acquires any rights of ownership, servicing, or other forms of participation in a loan under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act or that engages with, or conducts loan activity with, an installment loan borrower in connection with a loan under the act.

(2)(a) A license is not required for an affiliate of a licensee if the activities of the affiliate in this state are limited solely to the securitization of loans made by the licensee and the servicing rights to the loans are retained by the licensee or assigned or otherwise transferred to a financial institution, licensee, or permittee.

(b) For purposes of this subsection:

(i) Affiliate means an entity that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with another entity;

(ii) Control means to own directly or indirectly or to control in any manner twenty-five percent of the voting shares of an entity or to control in any manner the election of the majority of directors of any entity; and

(iii) Securitization means the placing of individual installment loans made by licensees into a commingled or pooled security that is subsequently sold or otherwise transferred to another entity.

(c) Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to exempt a licensee or affiliate from the Securities Act of Nebraska.

45-1006 Installment loans; application hearing; protest; procedure.

(1) When an application for an original installment loan license has been accepted by the director as substantially complete, notice of the filing of the application shall be published by the department three successive weeks in a legal newspaper published in or of general circulation in the county where the applicant proposes to operate the business of lending money. A public hearing shall be held on each application except as provided in subsection (2) of this section. The date for hearing shall not be less than thirty days after the last publication. Written protest against the issuance of the license may be filed with the department by any person not less than five days before the date set for hearing. The director, in his or her discretion, may grant a continuance. The costs of the hearing shall be paid by the applicant. The director may deny any application for license after hearing. The director shall, in his or her discretion, make examination and inspection concerning the propriety of the issuance of a license to any applicant. The cost of such examination and inspection shall be paid by the applicant.

(2) The director may waive the hearing requirements of subsection (1) of this section if (a) the applicant has held, and operated under, a license to engage in the business of lending money in Nebraska pursuant to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act for at least one calendar year immediately prior to the filing of the application, (b) no written protest against the issuance of the license has been filed with the department within fifteen days after publication of a notice of the filing of the application one time in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where the applicant proposes to operate the business of lending money, and (c) in the judgment of the director, the experience, character, and general fitness of the applicant warrant the belief that the applicant will comply with the Nebraska Installment Loan Act.

45-1007 Installment loans; license; bond.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a license shall not be issued until the applicant gives to the department a bond in the penal sum of fifty thousand dollars to be executed by the applicant and a surety company authorized to do business in the State of Nebraska, conditioned for the faithful performance by the applicant, as a licensee, of the duties and obligations pertaining to the business of lending money and the prompt payment of any judgment recovered against the applicant, as a licensee, under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act.

(2)(a) Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, a licensee who employs or enters into an independent agent agreement with an individual required to obtain a mortgage loan originator license pursuant to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act shall maintain the surety bond required by subsection (1) of this section and a supplemental surety bond. The supplemental surety bond posted by such licensee shall cover all mortgage loan originators who are employees or independent agents of such licensee. The supplemental surety bond shall be for the use of the State of Nebraska and any Nebraska resident who may have claims or causes of action against such licensee arising from a transaction involving a residential mortgage loan, as defined in section 45-702, or against an individual who is a mortgage loan originator employed by, or in an independent agent relationship with, the licensee. The initial amount of the supplemental surety bond shall be one hundred thousand dollars.

(b) Upon filing of the mortgage report of condition required by section 45-1018, a licensee shall maintain or increase its supplemental surety bond to reflect the total dollar amount of the closed residential mortgage loans originated in this state in the preceding year in accordance with the following table. A licensee may decrease its supplemental surety bond in accordance with the following table if the supplemental surety bond required is less than the amount of the supplemental surety bond on file with the department.

Dollar Amount of Closed Residential Mortgage Loans	Surety Bond Required
$0.00 to $5,000,000.00	$100,000.00
$5,000,000.01 to $10,000,000.00	$125,000.00
$10,000,000.01 to $25,000,000.00	$150,000.00
Over $25,000,000.00	$200,000.00

(3)(a) A person who has been issued multiple licenses pursuant to section 45-1010 and who employs or enters into an independent agent agreement with an individual required to obtain a mortgage loan originator license pursuant to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act shall maintain a surety bond for each license that he, she, or it holds as required in subsection (1) of this section and shall also post one supplemental surety bond which shall cover all licenses held by such person. The supplemental surety bond posted by such person shall cover all mortgage loan originators who are employees or independent agents of such person. The supplemental surety bond shall be for the use of the State of Nebraska and any Nebraska resident who may have claims or causes of action against such person arising from a transaction involving a residential mortgage loan or against an individual who is a mortgage loan originator employed by, or in an independent agent relationship with, the person. The amount of such supplemental surety bond shall be as follows:

(i) The initial supplemental surety bond shall be in the amount of one hundred thousand dollars; and

(ii) Upon filing of the mortgage report of condition required by section 45-1018, the person's supplemental surety bond shall be maintained in accordance with subdivision (2)(b) of this section. For purposes of calculating the amount of the bond that is required, the total dollar amount of the closed loans shall include all residential mortgage loans in this state closed by the person.

(b) A person who holds both one or more installment loan licenses pursuant to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act and a mortgage banker license pursuant to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act shall not be required to post and maintain a supplemental surety bond if such person meets the following conditions:

(i) The person maintains a surety bond as provided in subsection (1) of this section for each installment loan license he, she, or it holds;

(ii) The person maintains a mortgage banker surety bond as provided in section 45-724; and

(iii) The mortgage banker surety bond covers all transactions involving residential mortgage loans, including such transactions done pursuant to the person's installment loan license or licenses.

(4) Should the department determine that a licensee does not maintain a supplemental surety bond in the amount required by subsection (2) or (3) of this section, the department shall give written notification to the licensee requiring him, her, or it to increase the surety bond within thirty days to the amount required by subsection (2) or (3) of this section.

(5) The bond or a substitute bond required by subsection (1) of this section shall remain in effect or the licensee shall immediately cease making loans and the license shall be canceled by the director.

45-1008 License; issuance; requirements; term.

Upon the filing of an application under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, the payment of the license fee, and the approval of the required bond, the director shall investigate the facts regarding the applicant. If the director finds that (1) the experience, character, and general fitness of the applicant, of the applicant's partners or members if the applicant is a partnership, limited liability company, or association, and of the applicant's officers and directors if the applicant is a corporation, are such as to warrant belief that the applicant will operate the business honestly, fairly, and efficiently within the purposes of the act, and (2) allowing the applicant to engage in business will promote the convenience and advantage of the community in which the business of the applicant is to be conducted, the department shall issue and deliver an original license to the applicant to make loans at the location specified in the application, in accordance with the act. The license shall remain in full force and effect until the following December 31 and from year to year thereafter, if and when renewed under the act, until it is surrendered by the licensee or canceled, suspended, or revoked under the act.

45-1009 License; application; grant or denial; time allowed; abandoned application; department; powers.

(1) The department shall approve or deny every application for license under section 45-1008 within ninety days after the filing of an application, if the application is substantially complete and is accompanied by the required fees and the approved bond.

(2) If an applicant for a license under section 45-1008 does not complete the license application and fails to respond to a notice or notices from the department to correct the deficiency or deficiencies for a period of one hundred twenty days or more after the date the department sends the initial notice to correct the deficiency or deficiencies, the department may deem the application as abandoned and may issue a notice of abandonment of the application to the applicant in lieu of proceedings to deny the application.

45-1013 Installment loans; license; renewal; fees; relocation of place of business; procedure; hearing; fee.

(1) For the annual renewal of an original license under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, the licensee shall file with the department a fee of two hundred fifty dollars and a renewal application containing such information as the director may require to indicate any material change in the information contained in the original application or succeeding renewal applications.

(2) For the relocation of its place of business, a licensee shall file with the department a fee of one hundred fifty dollars and an application containing such information as the director may require to determine whether the relocation should be approved. Upon receipt of the fee and application, the director shall publish a notice of the filing of the application in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where the licensee proposes to relocate. If the director receives any substantive objection to the proposed relocation within fifteen days after publication of such notice, he or she shall hold a hearing on the application in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act. The expense of any publication required by this section shall be paid by the applicant licensee.

45-1017 Licensees; business, records, and accounts; inspection; expenses; fines; lien.

(1) The department shall inspect the business, records, and accounts of all persons that lend money subject to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act. The department may examine or investigate complaints about or reports of alleged violations by a licensee made to the department. The department may inspect and investigate the business, records, and accounts of all persons in the public business of lending money contrary to the act and who do not have a license under the act. The director may appoint examiners who shall, under his or her direction, investigate the loans and business and conduct examinations of licensees as often as determined by the director. The expenses incurred by the department in examining licensees and in administering the act shall be charged to the licensee as set forth in sections 8-605 and 8-606.

(2) Upon receipt by a licensee of a notice of investigation or inquiry request for information from the department, the licensee shall respond within twenty-one calendar days. Each day a licensee fails to respond as required by this subsection constitutes a separate violation.

(3) If the director finds, after notice and opportunity for hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, that any person has willfully and intentionally violated any provision of the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, any rule or regulation adopted and promulgated under the act, or any order issued under the act, the director may order such person to pay (a) an administrative fine of not more than one thousand dollars for each separate violation and (b) the costs of investigation. The department shall remit fines collected under this subsection to the State Treasurer for distribution in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

(4) If a person fails to pay an administrative fine and the costs of investigation ordered pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, a lien in the amount of such fine and costs may be imposed upon all assets and property of such person in this state and may be recovered in a civil action by the director. The lien shall attach to the real property of such person when notice of the lien is filed and indexed against the real property in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the real property is located. The lien shall attach to any other property of such person when notice of the lien is filed against the property in the manner prescribed by law. Failure of the person to pay such fine and costs constitutes a separate violation of the act.

45-1018 Licensees; reports.

(1) A licensee shall on or before March 1 of each year file with the department a report of the licensee's earnings and operations for the preceding calendar year, and its assets at the end of the year, and giving such other relevant information as the department may reasonably require. The report shall be made under oath and shall be in the form and manner prescribed by the department.

(2) A licensee shall submit a mortgage report of condition as required by section 45-726, on or before a date or dates established by rule, regulation, or order of the director.

45-1019 Cease and desist order; hearing; judicial review; enforcement; violation; penalty.

(1) The department may order any person to cease and desist whenever the department determines that the person has violated any provision of the Nebraska Installment Loan Act. Upon entry of a cease and desist order, the director shall promptly notify the affected person that such order has been entered, of the reasons for such order, and that upon receipt, within fifteen business days after the date of the order, of written request from the affected person a hearing will be scheduled within thirty business days after the date of receipt of the written request unless the parties consent to a later date or the hearing officer sets a later date for good cause. If a hearing is not requested and none is ordered by the director, the order shall remain in effect until it is modified or vacated.

(2) The director may vacate or modify a cease and desist order if he or she finds that the conditions which caused its entry have changed or that it is otherwise in the public interest to do so.

(3) A person aggrieved by a cease and desist order of the director may obtain judicial review of the order in the manner prescribed in the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department under the act. The director may obtain an order from the district court of Lancaster County for the enforcement of the cease and desist order.

(4) A person who violates a cease and desist order of the director may, after notice and hearing and upon further order of the director, be subject to a penalty of not more than five thousand dollars for each act in violation of the cease and desist order. The department shall remit fines collected under this section to the State Treasurer for distribution in accordance with Article VII, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska.

45-1020 Misleading advertising prohibited; enforcement.

No licensee or other person subject to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act shall advertise, print, display, publish, distribute, or broadcast or cause or permit to be advertised, printed, displayed, published, distributed, or broadcast in any manner whatsoever any false, misleading, or deceptive statement or representation with regard to the rates, terms, or conditions for the lending of money, credit, goods, or things in action. The director may order any licensee to cease and desist from any conduct which he or she finds to be a violation of this section. The director may require that rates of charge, if stated by a licensee, be stated fully and clearly in such manner as the director deems necessary to prevent misunderstanding by prospective borrowers.

45-1021 Installment loans; interest, defined.

The payment in money, credit, goods, or things in action, as consideration for any sale or assignment of, or order for, the payment of wages, salary, commission, or other compensation for services, whether earned or to be earned, shall, for purposes of regulation under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, be deemed a loan secured by such assignment, and the amount by which the assigned compensation exceeds the amount of the consideration actually paid, shall, for the purposes of regulation under the act, be deemed interest or charges upon the loan from the date of payment to the date the compensation is payable. Such transaction shall be governed by and be subject to the act.

45-1024 Installment loans; interest rate authorized; charges permitted; computation; application of payments; violations; restrictions.

(1) Except as provided in section 45-1025 and subsection (6) of this section, every licensee may make loans and may contract for and receive on such loans charges at a rate not exceeding twenty-four percent per annum on that part of the unpaid principal balance on any loan not in excess of one thousand dollars, and twenty-one percent per annum on any remainder of such unpaid principal balance. Except for loans secured by mobile homes, a licensee may not make loans for a period in excess of one hundred forty-five months if the amount of the loan is greater than three thousand dollars but less than twenty-five thousand dollars. Charges on loans made under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act shall not be paid, deducted, or received in advance. The contracting for, charging of, or receiving of charges as provided for in subsection (2) of this section shall not be deemed to be the payment, deduction, or receipt of such charges in advance.

(2) When the loan contract requires repayment in substantially equal and consecutive monthly installments of principal and charges combined, the licensee may, at the time the loan is made, precompute the charges at the agreed rate on scheduled unpaid principal balances according to the terms of the contract and add such charges to the principal of the loan. Every payment may be applied to the combined total of principal and precomputed charges until the contract is fully paid. All payments made on account of any loan except for default and deferment charges shall be deemed to be applied to the unpaid installments in the order in which they are due. The portion of the precomputed charges applicable to any particular month of the contract, as originally scheduled or following a deferment, shall be that proportion of such precomputed charges, excluding any adjustment made for a first installment period of more than one month and any adjustment made for deferment, which the balance of the contract scheduled to be outstanding during such month bears to the sum of all monthly balances originally scheduled to be outstanding by the contract. This section shall not limit or restrict the manner of calculating charges, whether by way of add-on, single annual rate, or otherwise, if the rate of charges does not exceed that permitted by this section. Charges may be contracted for and earned at a single annual rate, except that the total charges from such rate shall not be greater than the total charges from the several rates otherwise applicable to the different portions of the unpaid balance according to subsection (1) of this section. All loan contracts made pursuant to this subsection are subject to the following adjustments:

(a) Notwithstanding the requirement for substantially equal and consecutive monthly installments, the first installment period may not exceed one month by more than twenty-one days and may not fall short of one month by more than eleven days. The charges for each day exceeding one month shall be one-thirtieth of the charges which would be applicable to a first installment period of one month. The charge for extra days in the first installment period may be added to the first installment and such charges for such extra days shall be excluded in computing any rebate;

(b) If prepayment in full by cash, a new loan, or otherwise occurs before the first installment due date, the charges shall be recomputed at the rate of charges contracted for in accordance with subsection (1) or (2) of this section upon the actual unpaid principal balances of the loan for the actual time outstanding by applying the payment, or payments, first to charges at the agreed rate and the remainder to the principal. The amount of charges so computed shall be retained in lieu of all precomputed charges;

(c) If a contract is prepaid in full by cash, a new loan, or otherwise after the first installment due date, the borrower shall receive a rebate of an amount which is not less than the amount obtained by applying to the unpaid principal balances as originally scheduled or, if deferred, as deferred, for the period following prepayment, according to the actuarial method, the rate of charge contracted for in accordance with subsection (1) or (2) of this section. The licensee may round the rate of charge to the nearest one-half of one percent if such procedure is not consistently used to obtain a greater yield than would otherwise be permitted. Any default and deferment charges which are due and unpaid may be deducted from any rebate. No rebate shall be required for any partial prepayment. No rebate of less than one dollar need be made. Acceleration of the maturity of the contract shall not in itself require a rebate. If judgment is obtained before the final installment date, the contract balance shall be reduced by the rebate which would be required for prepayment in full as of the date judgment is obtained;

(d) If any installment on a precomputed or interest bearing loan is unpaid in full for ten or more consecutive days, Sundays and holidays included, after it is due, the licensee may charge and collect a default charge not exceeding an amount equal to five percent of such installment. If any installment payment is made by a check, draft, or similar signed order which is not honored because of insufficient funds, no account, or any other reason except an error of a third party to the loan contract, the licensee may charge and collect a fifteen-dollar bad check charge. Such default or bad check charges may be collected when due or at any time thereafter;

(e) If, as of an installment due date, the payment date of all wholly unpaid installments is deferred one or more full months and the maturity of the contract is extended for a corresponding period, the licensee may charge and collect a deferment charge not exceeding the charge applicable to the first of the installments deferred, multiplied by the number of months in the deferment period. The deferment period is that period during which no payment is made or required by reason of such deferment. The deferment charge may be collected at the time of deferment or at any time thereafter. The portion of the precomputed charges applicable to each deferred balance and installment period following the deferment period shall remain the same as that applicable to such balance and periods under the original loan contract. No installment on which a default charge has been collected, or on account of which any partial payment has been made, shall be deferred or included in the computation of the deferment charge unless such default charge or partial payment is refunded to the borrower or credited to the deferment charge. Any payment received at the time of deferment may be applied first to the deferment charge and the remainder, if any, applied to the unpaid balance of the contract, except that if such payment is sufficient to pay, in addition to the appropriate deferment charge, any installment which is in default and the applicable default charge, it shall be first so applied and any such installment shall not be deferred or subject to the deferment charge. If a loan is prepaid in full during the deferment period, the borrower shall receive, in addition to the required rebate, a rebate of that portion of the deferment charge applicable to any unexpired full month or months of such deferment period; and

(f) If two or more full installments are in default for one full month or more at any installment date and if the contract so provides, the licensee may reduce the contract balance by the rebate which would be required for prepayment in full as of such installment date and the amount remaining unpaid shall be deemed to be the unpaid principal balance and thereafter in lieu of charging, collecting, receiving, and applying charges as provided in this subsection, charges may be charged, collected, received, and applied at the agreed rate as otherwise provided by this section until the loan is fully paid.

(3) The charges, as referred to in subsection (1) of this section, shall not be compounded. The charging, collecting, and receiving of charges as provided in subsection (2) of this section shall not be deemed compounding. If part or all of the consideration for a loan contract is the unpaid principal balance of a prior loan, then the principal amount payable under such loan contract may include any unpaid charges on the prior loan which have accrued within sixty days before the making of such loan contract and may include the balance remaining after giving the rebate required by subsection (2) of this section. Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, charges shall (a) be computed and paid only as a percentage per month of the unpaid principal balance or portions thereof and (b) be computed on the basis of the number of days actually elapsed. For purposes of computing charges, whether at the maximum rate or less, a month shall be that period of time from any date in a month to the corresponding date in the next month but if there is no such corresponding date then to the last day of the next month, and a day shall be considered one-thirtieth of a month when computation is made for a fraction of a month.

(4) Except as provided in subsections (5) and (6) of this section, in addition to that provided for under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, no further or other amount whatsoever shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for, or received. If any amount, in excess of the charges permitted, is charged, contracted for, or received, the loan contract shall not on that account be void, but the licensee shall have no right to collect or receive any interest or other charges whatsoever. If such interest or other charges have been collected or contracted for, the licensee shall refund to the borrower all interest and other charges collected and shall not collect any interest or other charges contracted for and thereafter due on the loan involved, as liquidated damages, and the licensee or its assignee, if found liable, shall pay the costs of any action relating thereto, including reasonable attorney's fees. No licensee shall be found liable under this subsection if the licensee shows by a preponderance of the evidence that the violation was not intentional and resulted from a bona fide error notwithstanding the maintenance of procedures reasonably adopted to avoid any such error.

(5) A borrower may be required to pay all reasonable expenses incurred in connection with the making, closing, disbursing, extending, readjusting, or renewing of loans. Such expenses may include abstracting, recording, releasing, and registration fees; premiums paid for nonfiling insurance; premiums paid on insurance policies covering tangible personal property securing the loan; amounts charged for a debt cancellation contract or a debt suspension contract, as agreed upon by the parties, if the debt cancellation contract or debt suspension contract is a contract of a financial institution or licensee and such contract is sold directly by such financial institution or licensee or by an unaffiliated, nonexclusive agent of such financial institution or licensee in accordance with 12 C.F.R. part 37, as such part existed on January 1, 2011, and the financial institution or licensee is responsible for the unaffiliated, nonexclusive agent's compliance with such part; title examinations; credit reports; survey; taxes or charges imposed upon or in connection with the making and recording or releasing of any mortgage; amounts charged for a guaranteed asset protection waiver; and fees and expenses charged for electronic title and lien services. Except as provided in subsection (6) of this section, a borrower may also be required to pay a nonrefundable loan origination fee not to exceed the lesser of five hundred dollars or an amount equal to seven percent of that part of the original principal balance of any loan not in excess of two thousand dollars and five percent on that part of the original principal balance in excess of two thousand dollars, if the licensee has not made another loan to the borrower within the previous twelve months. If the licensee has made another loan to the borrower within the previous twelve months, a nonrefundable loan origination fee may only be charged on new funds advanced on each successive loan. Such reasonable initial charges may be collected from the borrower or included in the principal balance of the loan at the time the loan is made and shall not be considered interest or a charge for the use of the money loaned.

(6)(a) Loans secured solely by real property that are not made pursuant to subdivision (11) of section 45-101.04 on real property shall not be subject to the limitations on the rate of interest provided in subsection (1) of this section or the limitations on the nonrefundable loan origination fee under subsection (5) of this section if (i) the principal amount of the loan is seven thousand five hundred dollars or more and (ii) the sum of the principal amount of the loan and the balances of all other liens against the property do not exceed one hundred percent of the appraised value of the property. Acceptable methods of determining appraised value shall be made by the department pursuant to rule, regulation, or order.

(b) An origination fee on such loan shall be computed only on the principal amount of the loan reduced by any portion of the principal that consists of the amount required to pay off another loan made under this subsection by the same licensee.

(c) A prepayment penalty on such loan shall be permitted only if (i) the maximum amount of the penalty to be assessed is stated in writing at the time the loan is made, (ii) the loan is prepaid in full within two years from the date of the loan, and (iii) the loan is prepaid with money other than the proceeds of another loan made by the same licensee. Such prepayment penalty shall not exceed six months interest on eighty percent of the original principal balance computed at the agreed rate of interest on the loan.

(d) A licensee making a loan pursuant to this subsection may obtain an interest in any fixtures attached to such real property and any insurance proceeds payable in connection with such real property or the loan.

(e) For purposes of this subsection, principal amount of the loan means the total sum owed by the borrower including, but not limited to, insurance premiums, loan origination fees, or any other amount that is financed, except that for purposes of subdivision (6)(b) of this section, loan origination fees shall not be included in calculating the principal amount of the loan.

1. Constitutionality

Legislative Bill 17 of the 1963 Special Session of the Legislature was sustained as constitutional. Kometscher v. Wade, 177 Neb. 299, 128 N.W.2d 781 (1964).

Amendment to this section in 1963 Special Session by Legislative Bill 11 was unconstitutional as special legislation. State Securities Co. v. Ley, 177 Neb. 251, 128 N.W.2d 766 (1964).

2. Retroactive amendment

Retroactive amendment of this section did not apply to transactions already reduced to judgment. Berg v. Midwest Laundry Equipment Corp., 178 Neb. 770, 135 N.W.2d 457 (1965).

Retroactive reduction in penalty for violation of this section sustained as constitutional. Davis v. General Motors Acceptance Corp., 176 Neb. 865, 127 N.W.2d 907 (1964).

3. Violations

Legislature at 1963 Special Session changed penalty for violation of this section. Highway Equipment & Supply Co. v. Jones, 182 Neb. 234, 153 N.W.2d 859 (1967).

Where maximum rate of interest was exceeded, installment loan violated this section. Robertson v. Burnett, 172 Neb. 385, 109 N.W.2d 716 (1961).

Where excessive charges are made on renewal of loan, there is a violation of this act. State ex rel. Beck v. Associates Discount Corp., 168 Neb. 803, 97 N.W.2d 583 (1959).

In an action based upon an illegal contract by a licensee under the small loan law, such licensee loses all right to collect any sum whatever on the indebtedness under the contract. Nitzel & Co. v. Nelson, 144 Neb. 662, 14 N.W.2d 197 (1944).

The method used here in calculating unearned interest to be rebated did not produce an actuarially accurate rebate but rather produced hidden charges in violation of the Consumer Protection Act, but there was no violation of the Nebraska Small Loan Act, as the Nebraska statutes do authorize calculation of prepayment rebates by this method. Ballew v. Associates Fin. Ser. Co. of Neb. Inc., 450 F.Supp. 253 (D. Neb. 1976).

4. Miscellaneous

Permissive provisions of Installment Loan Act apply to licensees. State ex rel. Beck v. Associates Discount Corp., 162 Neb. 683, 77 N.W.2d 215 (1956).

Amount charged for making loan was not in excess of that permitted by this section. Underwriters Acceptance Corp. v. Dunkin, 152 Neb. 550, 41 N.W.2d 855 (1950).

Notwithstanding limitations on interest rates imposed on state banks by Nebraska law, national bank in Nebraska can charge, with respect to credit card transactions, rates allowed by Nebraska law for ''small loan companies''. Fisher v. First Nat. Bank of Omaha, 548 F.2d 255 (8th Cir. 1977).

This section authorizes the calculation of prepayment rebates by the method used in this case, and an otherwise lawful transaction under this section is not rendered usurious because of the use of this method in calculating a prepayment rebate. Ballew v. Associates Fin. Ser. Co. of Neb. Inc., 450 F.Supp. 253 (D. Neb. 1976).

In suit to declare lender's interest charge usurious where borrower paid maximum legal loan rate plus one hundred dollars, court found the latter charge only ''incidental'' to the extension of credit where borrower received other monetary consideration in addition to a loan. Campbell v. Liberty Financial Planning, Inc., 422 F.Supp. 1386 (D. Neb. 1976).

Defendant's disclosure of method used in computing late charge in language of this section was meaningful. Scott v. Liberty Finance Co., 380 F.Supp. 475 (D. Neb. 1974).

45-1025 Installment loans; additional charges authorized; loan period; violation; effect.

(1) Licensees may charge, contract for, or receive any amount or rate of interest permitted by section 45-101.03, 45-101.04, or 45-1024 upon any loan or upon any part or all of any aggregate indebtedness of the same person. Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, the charging, contracting for, or receiving of a rate of interest permitted by section 45-101.04 does not exempt the licensee from compliance with the Nebraska Installment Loan Act.

(2)(a) Loans made by a licensee pursuant to subdivision (4) of section 45-101.04 are not subject to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act if such loans are not made on real property.

(b) Loans made by a licensee pursuant to subdivision (11) of section 45-101.04 on real property are not subject to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act. A licensee making such loans shall comply with and be subject to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act with respect to such loans, except that the licensee shall not be required to obtain a mortgage banker license under the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act.

(c) Any mortgage loan originator who works as an employee or independent agent of a licensee shall be required to obtain a mortgage loan originator license and shall be subject to the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act.

(3) Except as provided in subdivision (2)(a) of section 45-1024, no licensee shall enter into any loan contract under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act under which the borrower agrees to make any payment of principal more than thirty-six calendar months from the date of making such contract when the principal balance is not more than three thousand dollars. Every loan contract precomputed pursuant to subsection (2) of section 45-1024 shall provide for repayment of principal and charges in installments which shall be payable at approximately equal periodic intervals of time and so arranged that no installment is substantially greater in amount than any preceding installment. When necessary in order to facilitate payment in accordance with the borrower's principal source of income or when the loan contract is not precomputed pursuant to subsection (2) of section 45-1024, the payment schedule may reduce or omit installment payments. Any loan contract made in violation of this section, either knowingly or without the exercise of due care to prevent the violation, shall not on that account be void, but the licensee has no right to collect or receive any interest or charges on such loan. If any interest or other charges have been collected or contracted for, the licensee shall refund to the borrower all interest and other charges collected and shall not collect thereafter any interest or other charges contracted for and thereafter due on the loan involved, as liquidated damages, and the licensee or its assignee, if found liable, shall pay the costs of any action relating thereto, including reasonable attorney's fees. No licensee shall be found liable under this subsection if the licensee shows by a preponderance of the evidence that the violation was not intentional and resulted from a bona fide error notwithstanding the maintenance of procedures reasonably adopted to avoid any such error.

Installment loan made by licensee in excess of authorized rate is void, and neither principal nor interest may be recovered. Powell v. Edwards, 162 Neb. 11, 75 N.W.2d 122 (1956).

45-1026 Installment loans; insurance upon security; licensee may require; restrictions; refunds; when.

(1) The following types of insurance or one or more of the following types of insurance may be written in connection with loans made by licensees under the Nebraska Installment Loan Act:

(a) Fire, theft, windstorm, or comprehensive, including fire, theft, and windstorm, fifty dollars or more deductible collision, and bodily injury liability and property damage liability upon motor vehicles;

(b) Fire and extended-coverage insurance upon real property;

(c) Fire and extended-coverage insurance upon tangible personal property, limited to the principal amount of the loan;

(d) Involuntary unemployment or job protection insurance. In the event of a renewal of a loan contract, this type of insurance shall be canceled and a refund of the unearned premium credited or made before new insurance of this type may be rewritten. Such insurance shall not be required as a condition precedent to the making of such loan; and

(e) Life, health, and accident insurance or any of them, except that the amount of such insurance shall not exceed the total amount to be repaid under the loan contract and the term shall not extend beyond the final maturity date of the loan contract. In the event of a renewal of a loan contract, this type of insurance shall be canceled and a refund of the unearned premium credited or made before new insurance of this type may be written in connection with such loan. Such insurance shall not be required as a condition precedent to the making of such loan.

(2) In addition to the types of insurance written under subsection (1) of this section by licensees under the act, any other type of insurance or motor club service as defined in section 44-3707 may be provided for the benefit of a licensee's borrower or the borrower's immediate family whether or not in connection with a loan, except that such insurance or motor club service shall not be required as a condition precedent to the making of any loan. Nothing in this subsection alters or eliminates any insurance licensing requirements or certificate of authority requirements under the Motor Club Services Act.

(3) Notwithstanding sections 45-1024 and 45-1025, any gain or advantage, in the form of commission or otherwise, to the licensee or to any employee, affiliate, or associate of the licensee from such insurance or motor club service or the sale thereof shall not be deemed to be an additional or further charge in connection with the loan contract. The insurance premium or motor club service contract fee may be collected from the borrower or financed through the loan contract at the time the loan is made.

(4)(a) Insurance permitted under this section shall be obtained through a duly licensed insurance agent, agency, or broker. Premiums shall not exceed those fixed by law or current applicable manual rates. Insurance written, as authorized by this section, may contain a mortgage clause or other appropriate provision to protect the insurable interest of the licensee.

(b) Motor club services permitted under this section shall be obtained through a motor club which holds a certificate of authority under the Motor Club Services Act.

(5) In the event of a renewal of a loan contract, any insurance or motor club service sold pursuant to this section shall be canceled and (a) a refund of the unearned premium or motor club service contract fee credited or made before new insurance or motor club service of the same type as that being canceled may be rewritten or (b) the holder of the loan contract shall send notice to the buyer within fifteen business days after cancellation of the name, address, and telephone number of the insurance company or motor club which issued the insurance contract or motor club service contract or the party responsible for any refund and notice that the buyer may be eligible for a refund. A copy of such notice shall be retained by the holder of the loan contract.

(6) If any insurance or motor club service sold pursuant to this section is canceled or the premium or motor club service contract fee adjusted during the term of the loan contract, any refund of the insurance premium or motor club service contract fee plus the unearned interest thereon received by the holder shall be credited by the holder to the loan contract or otherwise refunded, except to the extent applied toward payment for similar insurance or motor club service protecting the interests of the buyer and the holder or either of them.

(7) If any insurance or motor club service sold pursuant to this section is canceled due to the payment of all sums for which the buyer is liable under a loan contract, the holder of the loan contract shall, upon receipt of payment of all sums due, send notice to the buyer within fifteen business days after payment of the sums due of the name, address, and telephone number of the insurance company or motor club which issued the insurance contract or motor club service contract or the party responsible for any refund and notice that the buyer may be eligible for a refund. A copy of such notice shall be retained by the holder of the loan contract. This subsection does not apply if the holder of the loan contract previously credited the refund of the insurance premium or motor club service contract fee to the loan contract or otherwise refunded the insurance premium or motor club service contract fee to the buyer.

45-1032 Surrender of license; effect.

A licensee may voluntarily surrender a license by delivering to the director written notice of the surrender. Surrender of a license (1) shall not affect civil or criminal liability for acts committed before the surrender or liability for any fines which may be levied against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members pursuant to section 45-1033 for acts committed before the surrender and (2) shall not impair or affect the obligation of a preexisting lawful contract between the licensee and any person, including a borrower. The department shall issue a notice of cancellation of the license following such surrender.

45-1033 License; administrative fine; disciplinary actions; failure to renew.

(1) The director may, following a hearing under the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department under the act, suspend or revoke any license issued pursuant to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act. The director may also impose an administrative fine on the licensee for each separate violation of the act. The director may take one or more of these actions if the director finds:

(a) The licensee has materially violated or demonstrated a continuing pattern of violating the Nebraska Installment Loan Act or rules and regulations adopted and promulgated under the act, any order issued under the act, or any other state or federal law applicable to the conduct of its business;

(b) A fact or condition exists which, if it had existed at the time of the original application for the license, would have warranted the director to deny the application;

(c) The licensee has violated a voluntary consent or compliance agreement which had been entered into with the director;

(d) The licensee has knowingly provided or caused to be provided to the director any false or fraudulent representation of a material fact or any false or fraudulent financial statement or suppressed or withheld from the director any information which, if submitted by the licensee, would have resulted in denial of the license application;

(e) The licensee has refused to permit an examination by the director of the licensee pursuant to subsection (1) of section 45-1017 or refused or failed to comply with subsection (2) of section 45-1017 or failed to make any report required under section 45-1018. Each day the licensee continues in violation of this subdivision constitutes a separate violation;

(f) The licensee has failed to maintain records as required by the director following written notice. Each day the licensee continues in violation of this subdivision constitutes a separate violation;

(g) The licensee knowingly has employed any individual or knowingly has maintained a contractual relationship with any individual acting as an agent, if such individual has been convicted of, pleaded guilty to, or was found guilty after a plea of nolo contendere to (i) a misdemeanor under any state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, financial institution business, or installment loan business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law;

(h) The licensee has violated the written restrictions or conditions under which the license was issued;

(i) The licensee, or if the licensee is a business entity, one of the officers, directors, members, partners, or controlling shareholders, was found guilty after a plea of nolo contendere to (i) a misdemeanor under any state or federal law which involves dishonesty or fraud or which involves any aspect of the mortgage banking business, financial institution business, or installment loan business or (ii) any felony under state or federal law; or

(j) The licensee knowingly has employed any individual or knowingly has maintained a contractual relationship with any individual acting as an agent, if such individual is conducting activities requiring a mortgage loan originator license in this state without first obtaining such license.

(2) Except as provided in this section, a license shall not be revoked or suspended except after notice and a hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act and the rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the department under the act.

(3)(a) If a licensee fails to renew its license as required by subsection (1) of section 45-1013 and does not voluntarily surrender the license pursuant to section 45-1032, the department may issue a notice of expiration of the license to the licensee in lieu of revocation proceedings.

(b) If a licensee fails to maintain a surety bond as required by section 45-1007, the department may issue a notice of cancellation of the license in lieu of revocation proceedings.

(4) Revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration of a license shall not impair or affect the obligation of a preexisting lawful contract between the licensee and any person, including a borrower.

(5) Revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration of a license shall not affect civil or criminal liability for acts committed before the revocation, suspension, cancellation, or expiration or liability for any fines which may be imposed against the licensee or any of its officers, directors, shareholders, partners, or members pursuant to this section or section 45-1069 for acts committed before the surrender.

45-1033.01 License and registration under Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry; department; powers and duties; director; duties.

(1) The department shall require licensees to be licensed and registered through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. In order to carry out this requirement, the department is authorized to participate in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. For this purpose, the department may establish, by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or by order, requirements as necessary. The requirements may include, but not be limited to:

(a) Background checks of applicants and licensees, including, but not limited to:

(i) Criminal history through fingerprint or other databases;

(ii) Civil or administrative records;

(iii) Credit history; or

(iv) Any other information as deemed necessary by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(b) The payment of fees to apply for or renew a license through the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry;

(c) Compliance with prelicensure education and testing and continuing education;

(d) The setting or resetting, as necessary, of renewal processing or reporting dates; and

(e) Amending or surrendering a license or any other such activities as the director deems necessary for participation in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

(2) In order to fulfill the purposes of the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, the department is authorized to establish relationships or contracts with the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry or other entities designated by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry to collect and maintain records and process transaction fees or other fees related to licensees or other persons subject to the act. The department may allow such system to collect licensing fees on behalf of the department and allow such system to collect a processing fee for the services of the system directly from each licensee or applicant for a license.

(3) The director is required to regularly report violations of the act pertaining to residential mortgage loans, as defined in section 45-702, as well as enforcement actions and other relevant information, to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry subject to the provisions contained in section 45-1033.02.

(4) The director shall establish a process whereby applicants and licensees may challenge information entered into the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry by the director.

(5) The department shall ensure that the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry adopts a privacy, data security, and security breach notification policy. The director shall make available upon written request a copy of the contract between the department and the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry pertaining to the breach of security of the system provisions.

(6) The department shall upon written request provide the most recently available audited financial report of the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry.

45-1033.02 Information sharing; privilege and confidentiality; limitations; applicability of section; director; powers.

(1) In order to promote more effective regulation and reduce the regulatory burden through supervisory information sharing:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the requirements under any federal or state law regarding the privacy or confidentiality of any information or material provided to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry, and any privilege arising under federal or state law, including the rules of any federal or state court, with respect to such information or material, shall continue to apply to such information or material after the information or material has been disclosed to the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry. Such information and material may be shared with all federal and state regulatory officials with mortgage industry oversight authority without the loss of privilege or the loss of confidentiality protections provided by federal or state law;

(b) Information or material that is subject to a privilege or confidentiality under subdivision (1)(a) of this section shall not be subject to:

(i) Disclosure under any federal or state law governing the disclosure to the public of information held by an officer or an agency of the federal government or the respective state; or

(ii) Subpoena or discovery, or admission into evidence, in any private civil action or administrative process, unless with respect to any privilege held by the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry with respect to such information or material, the person to whom such information or material pertains waives, in whole or in part, in the discretion of such person, that privilege;

(c) Any state statute relating to the disclosure of confidential supervisory information or any information or material described in subdivision (1)(a) of this section that is inconsistent with such subdivision shall be superseded by the requirements of this section; and

(d) This section shall not apply with respect to the information or material relating to the employment history of, and publicly adjudicated disciplinary and enforcement actions against, applicants and licensees that is included in the Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System and Registry for access by the public.

(2) For these purposes, the director is authorized to enter into agreements or sharing arrangements with other governmental agencies, the Conference of State Bank Supervisors, the American Association of Residential Mortgage Regulators, or other associations representing governmental agencies as established by adopting and promulgating rules and regulations or an order of the director.

45-1041 Installment loans; enforcement.

Whenever the director has reasonable cause to believe that any person is violating or is threatening to or intends to violate section 45-1024 or 45-1025, the director may, in addition to all actions provided for in the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, and without prejudice thereto, enter an order requiring such person to cease and desist or to refrain from such violation. An action may also be brought, on the relation of the Attorney General and the director, to enjoin such person from engaging in or continuing such violation or from doing any act or acts in furtherance of such violation. In any such action an order or judgment may be entered awarding such preliminary or final injunction as may be deemed proper. In addition to all other means provided by law for the enforcement of a restraining order or injunction, the court, in which such action is brought, has power and jurisdiction to impound and appoint a receiver for the property and business of the defendant, including books, papers, documents, and records pertaining thereto or so much thereof as the court may deem reasonably necessary to prevent violations of the act through or by means of the use of such property and business. Such receiver, when so appointed and qualified, has such powers and duties as to custody, collection, administration, winding up, and liquidation of such property and business as shall, from time to time, be conferred upon the receiver by the court.

45-1042 Loans made outside of state; enforcement in this state.

No loan, made outside this state, in the amount or of the value of three thousand dollars or less, for which a greater rate of interest, consideration, or charges than is permitted by section 45-1025 has been charged, contracted for, or received, shall be enforced in this state. Every person participating in such loan in this state is subject to the Nebraska Installment Loan Act, except that the act shall not apply to loans legally made in any state under and in accordance with a regulatory small loan law similar in principle to such act.

45-1043 Borrower's obligation; licensee; contacts limitation.

Except as otherwise provided by the Nebraska Installment Loan Act or other law, a licensee shall not contact any individual who is not living, residing, or present in the household of the borrower regarding the borrower's obligation to pay a debt, other than the borrower's spouse, the borrower's attorney, another creditor, or a credit reporting agency.

45-1045 Licensee; contacts permitted without borrower's consent.

The licensee may contact any person without the borrower's consent:

(1) To ascertain information relating to a borrower's credit worthiness, credit standing, credit capacity, character, general reputation, personal characteristics, or mode of living which is used or expected to be used or collected in whole or in part for the purpose of serving as a factor in establishing the borrower's eligibility for credit or insurance if such contacts are not designed to collect a delinquent debt; or

(2) To locate the borrower when the licensee has reason to believe the borrower has changed his or her employment or has moved from his or her last-known address.

45-1046 Borrower; default; notice to licensee; effect.

If the borrower has defaulted on his or her promise to pay and if he or she has given specific notice in writing, by registered or certified mail, instructing the licensee to cease further contacts with the borrower in regard to the indebtedness, the licensee shall, after such notice, except as provided in sections 45-1047 and 45-1048, limit contacts to one notice per month by mail. No notice shall be designed to threaten action not otherwise permitted by law.

45-1047 Licensee; actions; permitted; prohibited.

(1) Sections 45-1043 to 45-1046 shall not prohibit the licensee from:

(a) Contacting any person in order to discover property belonging to the borrower that may be seized to satisfy a debt that has been reduced to judgment;

(b) Making amicable demand and filing suit on the debt; or

(c) Contacting persons related to the borrower if permission is specifically given in writing at the time the debt arises or at any time after such debt arises.

(2) In connection with the collection of any loan, a licensee may not:

(a) Use or threaten to use violence;

(b) Use obscene or profane language;

(c) Cause a telephone to ring or engage a person in telephone conversation at times known to be inconvenient to the borrower;

(d) Falsely represent the character, amount, or legal status of any debt;

(e) Falsely represent that an individual is an attorney when he or she is not;

(f) Falsely represent that nonpayment of any debt will result in the arrest or imprisonment of the borrower or any member of the borrower's household;

(g) Threaten to take any action that the licensee knows cannot legally be taken at the time the threat is made;

(h) Falsely represent that the borrower committed any crime when he or she did not;

(i) Communicate or threaten to communicate to any person credit information which is known to be false;

(j) Use or distribute any written communication which falsely represents that it is a document authorized, issued, or approved by any court, official, or agency of the United States or any state;

(k) Charge or collect any fees, charges, or expenses, incidental to the collection of any loan, unless such amount is expressly authorized by the loan agreement or permitted by law;

(l) Accept from any person a check or other payment instrument postdated by more than five days unless such person is notified in writing of the licensee's intent to deposit such check or instrument not more than ten nor less than three business days prior to such deposit;

(m) Solicit any postdated check or other postdated payment instrument for the purpose of threatening or instituting criminal prosecution;

(n) Deposit or threaten to deposit any postdated check prior to the date on such check;

(o) Cause charges to be made to any person for communications by concealment of the true purpose of the communication, including, but not limited to, collect telephone calls and telegram fees;

(p) Communicate with a borrower regarding a debt by postcard; or

(q) Communicate with a borrower at the borrower's place of employment if the licensee has received actual notice that the borrower's employer prohibits the borrower from receiving such communication.

45-1048 Borrower; right to action; licensee; judgment; effect.

Nothing in sections 45-1043 and 45-1046 shall limit a borrower's right to bring an action for damages. When the licensee has filed suit and obtained judgment, the licensee shall be permitted to resume contacts with the borrower against whom judgment has been obtained.

45-1049 Borrower; default; agreement; extent of enforceability.

An agreement of the parties to a loan, with respect to default on the part of the borrower, is enforceable only to the extent that:

(1) The borrower fails to make a payment on the loan or other charges required by the agreement; or

(2) The prospect of payment, performance, or realization of collateral is significantly impaired. The burden of establishing the prospect of significant impairment is on the licensee.

45-1050 Borrower; loan; default; licensee; notice; contents.

(1) With respect to a loan, after a borrower has been in default for ten days for failure to make a required payment, a licensee may give the borrower the notice described in this section. A licensee gives notice to the borrower under this section when the licensee delivers the notice to the borrower or delivers or mails the notice to the last-known address of the borrower's residence.

(2) The notice shall be in writing and shall conspicuously state: The name, address, and telephone number of the licensee to which payment is to be made, a brief identification of the loan, the borrower's right to cure the default, the amount of payment and date by which payment must be made to cure the default, and that any credit insurance issued in connection with the loan contract may be canceled unless the borrower cures the default. The department shall prescribe the form of such notice.

45-1051 Borrower; loan; default; right to cure; procedure.

(1) With respect to a loan, after a default consisting only of the borrower's failure to make a required payment, a licensee may neither accelerate maturity of the unpaid balance of the obligation nor take possession of collateral, except voluntarily surrendered collateral, because of such default until twenty days after a notice of the borrower's right to cure is given. The borrower shall have twenty days after the notice is given to cure any default consisting of a failure to make the required payment by tendering the amount of all unpaid sums due at the time of the tender, without acceleration, plus any unpaid charges. Cure restores the borrower to his or her rights under the agreement as though the default had not occurred.

(2) With respect to defaults on the same obligation after a licensee has once given a notice of borrower's right to cure, the borrower shall have no further right to cure and the licensee has no obligation to proceed against the borrower or the collateral.

45-1052 Borrower; loan; default; licensee; possession of collateral; restrictions.

Upon default by a borrower with respect to a loan, unless the borrower voluntarily surrenders possession of the collateral to the licensee, the licensee may take possession of the collateral without judicial process only if possession can be taken without entry into a dwelling or a locked, unoccupied motor vehicle, and without the use of force or other breach of the peace.

45-1053 Loan; third-party obligation; when.

(1) No individual, other than the spouse of the borrower, is obligated as a cosigner, comaker, guarantor, endorser, surety, or similar party with respect to a loan, unless before or contemporaneously with signing any separate agreement of loan or any writing setting forth the terms of the borrower's agreement, the individual receives a separate written notice that contains a completed identification of the loan he or she may have to pay and reasonably informs him or her of his or her obligation with respect to it.

(2) Such notice shall be in the form prescribed by the department.

(3) An individual entitled to notice under this section shall also be given a copy of any writing setting forth the terms of the borrower's agreement and of any separate agreement of obligation signed by the individual entitled to the notice.

45-1054 Borrower; deficiency; liability; how treated.

(1) A borrower is not liable for a deficiency unless the licensee has disposed of the collateral in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner.

(2) If the licensee takes possession or voluntarily accepts surrender of goods in which the licensee has a security interest to secure a loan and at the time thereof the unpaid balance due on the loan is three thousand dollars or less, the borrower is not personally liable to the licensee for the unpaid balance of the debt arising from the loan and the licensee's duty to dispose of the collateral is governed by the provisions on disposition of collateral, article 9, Uniform Commercial Code.

(3) The borrower may be liable in damages to the licensee if the borrower has wrongfully damaged the collateral if, after default, failure to cure, and demand, the borrower has wrongfully failed to make the collateral available to the licensee.

(4) If the licensee elects to bring an action against the borrower for a debt arising from a loan, when under this section the licensee would not be entitled to a deficiency judgment if the licensee took possession of the collateral, and obtains judgment (a) the licensee may not take possession of the collateral, and (b) the collateral is not subject to levy or sale on execution or similar proceedings pursuant to the judgment.

45-1055 Writing evidencing borrower's obligation; form; copies; fee; licensee; duties.

(1) The licensee shall give to the borrower a copy of any writing evidencing a loan if the writing requires or provides for the signature of the borrower. The writing evidencing the borrower's obligation to pay under a loan shall contain a clear and conspicuous notice in form and content substantially as follows:

NOTICE TO CONSUMER: 1. Do not sign this paper before you read it. 2. You are entitled to a copy of this paper. 3. You may prepay the unpaid balance at any time without penalty and may be entitled to receive a refund of unearned charges in accordance with law.

(2) Upon written request of a borrower, the licensee shall provide a written statement of the dates and amounts of payments made and the amounts of any default and deferment charges assessed preceding the month in which the request is received and the total amount unpaid as the end of the period covered by the statement and a copy of the loan agreement, security agreement, and a facsimile of any insurance certificate issued as part of the transaction, if applicable. The licensee may charge a reasonable fee for such copies, not to exceed fifty cents per page.

(3) The licensee shall answer in writing, within ten business days after receipt, any written request for payoff information from the borrower or the borrower's representative. This service shall be provided without charge to the borrower, except that when such information is provided upon request within sixty days after the fulfillment of a previous request, a processing fee of up to ten dollars may be charged.

45-1056 Licensee; discrimination prohibited.

A licensee shall not refuse to enter into a loan or impose finance charges or other terms or conditions of credit more onerous than those regularly extended by that licensee to borrowers of similar economic backgrounds because of the age, color, creed, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex, marital status, or disability of the borrower or because the borrower receives public assistance, social security benefits, pension benefits, or the like.

45-1058 Violation; loan transaction; licensee; liability.

Any violation of sections 45-1043 to 45-1058 in connection with any loan transaction, however acquired, shall not render the indebtedness, any interest, or other charges void or uncollectible. In an action, other than a class action, the borrower may recover from the licensee violating such sections an award of liquidated damages in an amount determined by the court, but not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars. In any legal action brought pursuant to this section in which the licensee is found liable, the court shall award costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to the borrower. A licensee is not liable under this section if the licensee notifies the borrower of an error before the licensee receives from the borrower written notice of the error or before the borrower has brought an action under this section and the licensee corrects the error within thirty days after notifying the borrower. A licensee may not be held liable in any action brought under this section if the licensee shows by a preponderance of evidence that the violation was not intentional and resulted from a bona fide error notwithstanding the maintenance of procedures reasonably adapted to avoid the error.

45-1061 Preauthorized loan, defined.

Preauthorized loan means a loan made by a licensee pursuant to an agreement between the licensee and the borrower whereby:

(1) The licensee may permit the borrower to obtain advances of money from the licensee from time to time or the licensee may advance money on behalf of the borrower from time to time as directed by the borrower;

(2) The amount of each advance and permitted charge and cost is debited to the borrower's account and payments and other credits are credited to the same account;

(3) The charges are computed on the unpaid principal balance or balances of the account from time to time;

(4) The borrower has the privilege of paying the account in full at any time or, if the account is not in default, in monthly installments or fixed or determinable amounts as provided in the agreement; and

(5) The loan agreement expressly states that it covers preauthorized loans. Preauthorized loan does not mean a transaction, resulting in either a credit or a debit to the borrower's account, which is initiated by the use or application of a plastic, metal, or other type of credit or transaction card.

45-1062 Preauthorized loans; charges authorized; computation.

A licensee may make preauthorized loans and may contract for and receive charges on such loans as set forth in subsection (1) of section 45-1024 as follows:

(1) A licensee shall not compound charges by adding any unpaid charges authorized by section 45-1024 or sections 45-1059 to 45-1067 to the unpaid principal balance of the borrower's account, except that the unpaid principal balance may include the additional charges authorized by section 45-1064;

(2) Charges authorized by section 45-1024 or sections 45-1059 to 45-1067 shall be deemed not to exceed the maximum charges permitted by such sections if such charges are computed in each billing cycle by any of the following methods:

(a) By converting each graduated monthly rate to a daily rate and multiplying such daily rate by the applicable portion of the daily unpaid principal balance of the account, in which case each daily rate is determined by multiplying the authorized monthly rate by twelve and dividing by three hundred sixty-five;

(b) By multiplying each graduated monthly rate by the applicable portion of the average daily unpaid principal balance of the account in the billing cycle, in which case the average daily unpaid principal balance is the sum of the amount unpaid each day during the cycle divided by the number of days in the cycle; or

(c) By converting each graduated monthly rate to a daily rate and multiplying such daily rate by the applicable portion of the average daily unpaid principal balance of the account in the billing cycle, in which case each daily rate is determined by multiplying the authorized monthly rate by twelve and dividing by three hundred sixty-five, and the average daily unpaid principal balance is the sum of the amount unpaid each day during the cycle divided by the number of days in the cycle; and

(3) For each method of computation set forth in subdivision (2) of this section, the billing cycle shall be monthly and the unpaid principal balance on any day shall be determined by adding to any balance unpaid as of the beginning of that day all advances and other permissible amounts charged to the borrower and deducting all payments and other credits made or received that day.

45-1063 Preauthorized loan; repayment; requirements.

The borrower under a preauthorized loan may at any time pay all or any part of the unpaid balance in his or her account, or, if the account is not in default, the borrower may pay the unpaid principal balance in monthly installments. Minimum monthly payment requirements shall be determined by the licensee and set forth in the preauthorized loan agreement, except that the minimum monthly payment shall not be less than one and one-half percent of the average daily unpaid principal balance of an account having an average daily balance of more than three thousand dollars nor less than two percent of the average daily unpaid principal balance of an account having an average daily balance of three thousand dollars or less.

45-1064 Preauthorized loans; additional fees, costs, and expenses authorized; restrictions.

In addition to the charges permitted under section 45-1062, a licensee may contract for and receive the fees, costs, and expenses permitted by the Nebraska Installment Loan Act on other loans, subject to all the conditions and restrictions set forth in the act with the following variations:

(1) If credit life or disability insurance is provided and if the insured dies or becomes disabled when there is an outstanding preauthorized loan indebtedness, the insurance shall be sufficient to pay the total balance of the loan due on the date of the borrower's death or the amount due as of the end of the previous billing cycle, whichever is less, in the case of credit life insurance, or all minimum payments which become due on the loan during the covered period of disability in the case of credit disability insurance. The additional charge for credit life insurance or credit disability insurance shall be calculated in each billing cycle by applying the current monthly premium rate for such insurance, as such rate may be determined by the Director of Insurance, to the unpaid balances in the borrower's account, using either of the methods specified in section 45-1062 for the calculation of loan charges;

(2) No credit life or disability insurance written in connection with a preauthorized loan shall be canceled by the licensee because of delinquency of the borrower in the making of the required minimum payments on the loan unless one or more of such payments is past due for a period of ninety days or more, and the licensee shall advance to the insurer the amounts required to keep the insurance in force during such period, which amounts may be debited to the borrower's account;

(3) The department may, by rule and regulation, require a statement of insurance that will be appropriate for preauthorized loans in lieu of that required by section 45-1027; and

(4) The amount, terms, and conditions of any insurance against loss or damage to property must be reasonable in relation to the character and value of the property insured and the maximum anticipated amount of credit to be extended.

45-1068 Reverse-mortgage loan; rules governing; how made or acquired; charges authorized; forfeiture by lender.

(1) For purposes of this section, reverse-mortgage loan means a loan made by a licensee which (a) is secured by residential real estate, (b) is nonrecourse to the borrower except in the event of fraud by the borrower or waste to the residential real estate given as security for the loan, (c) provides cash advances to the borrower based upon the equity in the borrower's owner-occupied principal residence, (d) requires no payment of principal or interest until the entire loan becomes due and payable, and (e) otherwise complies with the terms of this section.

(2) Reverse-mortgage loans shall be governed by the following rules without regard to the requirements set out elsewhere for other types of mortgage transactions: (a) Payment in whole or in part is permitted without penalty at any time during the period of the loan; (b) an advance and interest on the advance have priority over a lien filed after the closing of a reverse-mortgage loan; (c) an interest rate may be fixed or adjustable and may also provide for interest that is contingent on appreciation in the value of the residential real estate; and (d) the advance shall not be reduced in amount or number based on an adjustment in the interest rate when a reverse-mortgage loan provides for periodic advances to a borrower.

(3) Reverse-mortgage loans may be made or acquired without regard to the following provisions for other types of mortgage transactions: (a) Limitations on the purpose and use of future advances or any other mortgage proceeds; (b) limitations on future advances to a term of years or limitations on the term of credit line advances; (c) limitations on the term during which future advances take priority over intervening advances; (d) requirements that a maximum mortgage amount be stated in the mortgage; (e) limitations on loan-to-value ratios; (f) prohibitions on balloon payments; (g) prohibitions on compounded interest and interest on interest; and (h) requirements that a percentage of the loan proceeds must be advanced prior to loan assignment.

(4) A licensee may, in connection with a reverse-mortgage loan, charge to the borrower (a) a nonrefundable loan origination fee which does not exceed two percent of the appraised value of the owner-occupied principal residence at the time the loan is made, (b) a reasonable fee paid to third parties originating loans on behalf of the licensee, and (c) such other fees as are necessary and required, including fees for inspections, insurance, appraisals, and surveys.

(5) Licensees failing to make loan advances as required in the loan documents and failing to cure the default as required in the loan documents shall forfeit an amount equal to the greater of two hundred dollars or one percent of the amount of the loan advance the licensee failed to make.

45-1069 Administrative fine; procedure; lien.

(1) The director may, following a hearing under the Administrative Procedure Act, impose an administrative fine against any officer, director, shareholder, partner, or member of a licensee, if the director finds the licensee or any such person participated in or had knowledge of any act prohibited by the Nebraska Installment Loan Act or otherwise violated the act. Such administrative fine shall be in addition to or separate from any fine imposed against a licensee pursuant to section 45-1033.

(2) If the director finds, after notice and hearing in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act, that any person has knowingly committed any act prohibited by section 45-1033 or otherwise violated the Nebraska Installment Loan Act or any rule and regulation or order adopted thereunder, the director may order such person to pay (a) an administrative fine of not more than one thousand dollars for each separate violation and (b) the costs of investigation.

(3) If a person fails to pay an administrative fine and the costs of investigation ordered pursuant to this section, a lien in the amount of such fine and costs may be imposed upon all assets and property of such person in this state and may be recovered in a civil action by the director. The lien shall attach to the real property of such person when notice of the lien is filed and indexed against the real property in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the real property is located. The lien shall attach to any other property of such person when notice of the lien is filed against the property in the manner prescribed by law. Failure of the person to pay such fine and costs shall constitute a separate violation of the act.

GUARANTEED ASSET PROTECTION WAIVER ACT

Section

45-1101 Act, how cited.

Sections 45-1101 to 45-1107 shall be known and may be cited as the Guaranteed Asset Protection Waiver Act.

Source: Laws 2010, LB571, § 1.

45-1102 Purpose of act; exclusions from act; exemption from insurance requirements.

(1) The purpose of the Guaranteed Asset Protection Waiver Act is to provide a framework within which guaranteed asset protection waivers are offered, sold, and provided in this state.

(2) The act does not apply to:

(a) An insurance policy offered by an insurer under the insurance laws of this state;

(b) A debt cancellation or debt suspension contract being offered in compliance with 12 C.F.R. part 37 or 12 C.F.R. part 721 or other federal law as such part or law existed on July 15, 2010; or

(c) Guaranteed asset protection waivers offered, sold, or provided to borrowers by a financial institution.

(3) Guaranteed asset protection waivers governed under the Guaranteed Asset Protection Waiver Act are not insurance and are exempt from the insurance laws of this state. Persons marketing, selling, or offering to sell guaranteed asset protection waivers to borrowers that comply with the act are exempt from this state's insurance licensing requirements.

Source: Laws 2010, LB571, § 2.

45-1103 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Guaranteed Asset Protection Waiver Act:

(1) Borrower means a debtor, retail buyer, or lessee under a finance agreement;

(2) Creditor means:

(a) The lender in a loan or credit transaction involving a motor vehicle;

(b) The lessor in a lease transaction involving a motor vehicle;

(c) Any retail seller of motor vehicles that provides credit to retail buyers of such motor vehicles if such entities comply with the provisions of the act; or

(d) The assignees of any of the foregoing to whom the credit obligation is payable;

(3) Creditor's designee means a person other than the creditor that performs administrative or operational functions pursuant to a guaranteed asset protection waiver program;

(4) Finance agreement means a loan, credit transaction, lease, or retail installment sales contract for the purchase or lease of a motor vehicle;

(5) Financial institution has the same meaning as in section 8-101.03;

(6) Free-look period means the period of time from the effective date of the guaranteed asset protection waiver until the date the borrower may cancel the contract without penalty, fees, or costs to the borrower. This period of time must not be shorter than thirty days;

(7) Guaranteed asset protection waiver means a contractual agreement wherein a creditor or the creditor's designee agrees, for a separate charge, to cancel or waive all or part of amounts due on a borrower's finance agreement in the event of a total physical damage loss as determined by the insurer issuing the motor vehicle insurance policy subject to the terms of the waiver or unrecovered theft as determined by the insurer issuing the motor vehicle insurance policy subject to the terms of the waiver of the motor vehicle, which agreement must be part of, or a separate addendum to, the finance agreement. If a borrower does not have motor vehicle insurance, the creditor or the creditor's designee will accept a report prepared pursuant to insurance industry standards by a qualified inspector declaring the motor vehicle a total loss or a law enforcement report declaring the motor vehicle an unrecovered theft. Nothing in the act shall be construed to require the waiver to pay more than the amount that would have been paid if the borrower had motor vehicle insurance at the time of loss;

(8) Motor vehicle means self-propelled or towed vehicles designed for personal or commercial use, including, but not limited to, automobiles, trucks, motorcycles, recreational vehicles, all-terrain vehicles, snowmobiles, campers, boats, personal watercraft, and motorcycle, boat, camper, and personal watercraft trailers; and

(9) Person includes an individual, company, association, organization, partnership, business trust, corporation, and every form of legal entity.

45-1104 Guaranteed asset protection waivers; not insurance; exempt from insurance laws; sale options; separate statement of cost; part of finance agreement; sale and marketing restrictions.

(1) Guaranteed asset protection waivers offered, sold, or provided to borrowers under the terms of the Guaranteed Asset Protection Waiver Act are not insurance and are exempt from the insurance laws of this state. Persons marketing, selling, or offering to sell guaranteed asset protection waivers to borrowers that comply with the act are exempt from this state's insurance licensing requirements.

(2) Guaranteed asset protection waivers may, at the option of the creditor, be sold for a single payment or may be offered with a monthly or periodic payment option.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any cost to the borrower for a guaranteed asset protection waiver entered into in compliance with the federal Truth in Lending Act, 15 U.S.C. 1601 et seq., and its implementing regulations, as such act and regulations existed on July 15, 2010, shall be separately stated and is not to be considered a finance charge or interest.

(4) The guaranteed asset protection waiver remains a part of the finance agreement upon the assignment, sale, or transfer of such finance agreement by the creditor.

(5) Neither the extension of credit, the terms of the credit, nor the terms of the related motor vehicle sale or lease may be conditioned upon the purchase of a guaranteed asset protection waiver.

(6) Persons marketing, selling, or offering to sell guaranteed asset protection waivers to a borrower shall not market such guaranteed asset protection waivers to any borrower or potential borrowers as being insured under a contractual liability or other insurance policy issued by an insurer.

45-1105 Guaranteed asset protection waiver; disclosures required.

Guaranteed asset protection waivers shall disclose, as applicable, in writing and in clear, understandable language that is easy to read, the following:

(1) The name and address of the initial creditor or the creditor's designee and the borrower at the time of sale;

(2) The purchase price and the terms of the guaranteed asset protection waiver, including the requirements for protection, conditions, or exclusions associated with the guaranteed asset protection waiver;

(3) That the borrower may cancel the guaranteed asset protection waiver within the free-look period as specified in the waiver, and will be entitled to a full refund of the purchase price, so long as no benefits have been provided. In the event benefits have been provided during the free-look period, the borrower may receive a full refund less any benefits provided under the waiver;

(4) The procedure the borrower shall follow, if any, to obtain guaranteed asset protection waiver benefits under the terms and conditions of the waiver, including a telephone number and address where the borrower may apply for waiver benefits;

(5) Whether or not the guaranteed asset protection waiver is cancelable after the free-look period and the conditions under which it may be canceled or terminated including the procedures for requesting any refund due;

(6) That in order to receive any refund due in the event of a borrower's cancellation of the guaranteed asset protection waiver agreement or early termination of the finance agreement after the free-look period of the guaranteed asset protection waiver, the borrower, in accordance with terms of the waiver, shall provide a written request to cancel to the creditor or the creditor's designee within ninety days after the occurrence of the event terminating the finance agreement;

(7) The methodology for calculating any refund of the unearned purchase price of the guaranteed asset protection waiver due, in the event of cancellation of the guaranteed asset protection waiver or early termination of the finance agreement;

(8) That neither the extension of credit, the terms of the credit, nor the terms of the related motor vehicle sale or lease shall be conditioned upon the purchase of the guaranteed asset protection waiver;

(9) That a guaranteed asset protection waiver is not insurance and is not regulated by the Department of Insurance and that the guaranteed asset protection waiver remains a part of the finance agreement upon the assignment, sale, or transfer of such finance agreement by the creditor or the creditor's designee; and

(10) The events or losses to which the guaranteed asset protection waiver does not apply.

Source: Laws 2010, LB571, § 5.

45-1106 Guaranteed asset protection waiver agreement; authorized terms; cancellation or early termination of finance agreement; refund; calculation; disposition.

(1) Guaranteed asset protection waiver agreements may be cancelable or noncancelable after the free-look period. A creditor or the creditor's designee may offer a borrower a waiver that does not provide for a refund if the creditor or the creditor's designee also offers the borrower a bona fide option to purchase a comparable waiver that provides for a refund. Guaranteed asset protection waivers shall provide that if a borrower cancels a waiver within the free-look period, the borrower will be entitled to a full refund of the purchase price, so long as no benefits have been provided. In the event benefits have been provided, the borrower may receive a full or partial refund pursuant to the terms of the waiver.

(2) In the event of a borrower's cancellation of the guaranteed asset protection waiver or early termination of the finance agreement, after the agreement has been in effect beyond the free-look period, the borrower may be entitled to a refund of any unearned portion of the purchase price of the waiver unless the waiver provides otherwise. The creditor or the creditor's designee shall calculate the amount of the refund using a method at least as favorable to the borrower as the actuarial method. In order to receive a refund, the borrower, in accordance with any applicable terms of the waiver, must provide a written request to the creditor or the creditor's designee within ninety days after the event terminating the waiver or finance agreement.

(3) If the cancellation of a guaranteed asset protection waiver occurs as a result of a default under the finance agreement or the repossession of the motor vehicle associated with the finance agreement, or any other termination of the finance agreement, any refund due may be paid directly to the creditor or the creditor's designee and applied as set forth in subsection (4) of this section.

(4) Any cancellation refund under this section may be applied by the creditor or the creditor's designee as a reduction of the amount owed under the finance agreement unless the borrower can show that the finance agreement has been paid in full.

Source: Laws 2010, LB571, § 6.

45-1107 Modification of guaranteed asset protection waiver; limitations.

The creditor or the creditor's designee shall not offer a guaranteed asset protection waiver when the guaranteed asset protection waiver contains terms that allow the creditor or the creditor's designee to modify, unilaterally, the guaranteed asset protection waiver, unless (1) the modification is favorable to the borrower and is made without any additional charge to the borrower or (2) the borrower is notified of the proposed modification and has the option to cancel the guaranteed asset protection waiver without penalty.

NEBRASKA CONSTRUCTION PROMPT PAY ACT

Section
45-1201. Act, how cited.
45-1202. Terms, defined.

Section

45-1201 Act, how cited.

Sections 45-1201 to 45-1211 shall be known and may be cited as the Nebraska Construction Prompt Pay Act.

Source: Laws 2010, LB552, § 1; Laws 2014, LB961, § 4.

45-1202 Terms, defined.

For purposes of the Nebraska Construction Prompt Pay Act:

(1) Contractor includes individuals, firms, partnerships, limited liability companies, corporations, or other associations of persons engaged in the business of the construction, alteration, repairing, dismantling, or demolition of buildings, roads, bridges, viaducts, sewers, water and gas mains, streets, disposal plants, water filters, tanks and towers, airports, dams, levees and canals, water wells, pipelines, transmission and power lines, and every other type of structure, project, development, or improvement coming within the definition of real property and personal property, including such construction, repairing, or alteration of such property to be held either for sale or rental. Contractor also includes any subcontractor engaged in the business of such activities and any person who is providing or arranging for labor for such activities, either as an employee or as an independent contractor, for any contractor or person. Contractor does not include an individual or an entity performing work on a contract for the State of Nebraska or performing work on a federal-aid or state-aid project of a political subdivision in which the state makes payments to the contractor on behalf of the political subdivision;

(2) Owner means a person (a) who has an interest in any real property improved, (b) for whom an improvement is made, or (c) who contracted for an improvement to be made. Owner includes a person, an entity, or any political subdivision of this state. Owner does not include the State of Nebraska;

(3) Owner's representative means an architect, an engineer, or a construction manager in charge of a project for the owner or such other contract representative or officer as designated in the contract document as the party representing the owner's interest regarding administration and oversight of the project;

(4) Real property means real estate that is improved, including private and public land, and leaseholds, tenements, and improvements placed on the real property;

(5) Receipt means actual receipt of cash or funds by the contractor or subcontractor;

(6) Subcontractor means a person or an entity that has contracted to furnish labor or materials to, or performed labor or supplied materials for, a contractor or another subcontractor in connection with a contract to improve real property. Subcontractor includes materialmen and suppliers. Subcontractor does not include an individual or an entity performing work as a subcontractor on a contract for the State of Nebraska or performing work on a federal-aid or state-aid project of a political subdivision in which the state makes payments to the contractor on behalf of the political subdivision; and

(7) Substantially complete means the stage of a construction project when the project, or a designated portion thereof, is sufficiently complete in accordance with the contract so that the owner can occupy or utilize the project for its intended use.

45-1203 Contractor; payment; payment request; subcontractor; payment; retainage; payment.

(1) When a contractor has performed work in accordance with the provisions of a contract with an owner, the owner shall pay the contractor within thirty days after receipt by the owner or the owner's representative of a payment request made pursuant to the contract.

(2) When a subcontractor has performed work in accordance with the provisions of a subcontract and all conditions precedent to payment contained in the subcontract have been satisfied, the contractor shall pay the subcontractor and the subcontractor shall pay his, her, or its subcontractor, within ten days after receipt by the contractor or subcontractor of each periodic or final payment, the full amount received for the subcontractor's work and materials based on work completed or service provided under the subcontract for which the subcontractor has properly requested payment, if the subcontractor provides or has provided satisfactory and reasonable assurances of continued performance and financial responsibility to complete the work.

(3) The owner or the owner's representative shall release and pay all retainage for work completed in accordance with the provisions of the contract within forty-five days after the project, or a designated portion thereof, is substantially complete. When a subcontractor has performed work in accordance with the provisions of a subcontract and all conditions precedent to payment contained in the subcontract have been satisfied, the contractor shall pay all retainage due such subcontractor within ten days after receipt of the retainage.

45-1204 Withholdings; authorized.

When work has been performed pursuant to a contract, an owner, a contractor, or a subcontractor may only withhold payment:

(1) For retainage, in an amount not to exceed the amount specified in the applicable contract, which shall not exceed a rate of ten percent. If the scope of work for the contractor or subcontractor from which retainage is withheld is fifty percent complete and if the contractor or subcontractor has performed work in accordance with the provisions in the applicable contract, no more than five percent of any additional progress payment may be withheld as retainage if the contractor or subcontractor provides or has provided satisfactory and reasonable assurances of continued performance and financial responsibility to complete the work;

(2) Of a reasonable amount, to the extent that such withholding is allowed in the contract, for any of the following reasons:

(a) Reasonable evidence showing that the contractual completion date will not be met due to unsatisfactory job progress;

(b) Third-party claims filed or reasonable evidence that such a claim will be filed with respect to work under the contract; or

(c) Failure of the contractor to make timely payments for labor, equipment, subcontractors, or materials; or

(3) After substantial completion, in an amount not to exceed one hundred twenty-five percent of the estimated cost to complete the work remaining on the contract.

45-1205 Delay in payment; additional interest payment.

Except as provided in section 45-1204, if a periodic or final payment to (1) a contractor is delayed by more than thirty days after receipt of a properly submitted periodic or final payment request by the owner or owner's representative or (2) a subcontractor is delayed by more than ten days after receipt of a periodic or final payment by the contractor or subcontractor, then the remitting owner, contractor, or subcontractor shall pay the contractor or subcontractor interest due until such amount is paid, beginning on the day following the payment due date at the rate of one percent per month or a pro rata fraction thereof on the unpaid balance. Interest is due under this section only after the person charged the interest has been notified of the provisions of this section by the contractor or subcontractor. Acceptance of progress payments or a final payment shall release all claims for interest on such payments.

45-1208 Applicability to contracts entered into on or after October 1, 2010.

The Nebraska Construction Prompt Pay Act applies to contracts or subcontracts entered into on or after October 1, 2010.

Source: Laws 2010, LB552, § 8.

45-1209 Contract provisions; void.

The following provisions in any contract or subcontract for construction work performed within the State of Nebraska shall be against public policy and shall be void and unenforceable:

(1) A provision that purports to waive, release, or extinguish rights to file a claim against a payment or performance bond, except that a contract or subcontract may require a contractor or subcontractor to provide a waiver or release of such rights as a condition for payment, but only to the extent of the amount of the payment received;

(2) A provision that purports to make any state law other than that of Nebraska applicable to or governing any contract for construction within the state; or

(3) A provision that purports to require that the venue for a court or arbitration hearing be held at any location outside of the state.

Source: Laws 2010, LB552, § 9.

45-1210 Construction performed for political subdivision; liquidated or unliquidated claim; procedure; civil action authorized.

(1) Any liquidated or unliquidated claim against any political subdivision of this state arising from construction performed for such political subdivision shall: (a) Be presented in writing to the individual or officer as set forth in subsection (2) of this section; (b) state the name of the claimant and the amount of the claim; and (c) identify the item or service for which payment is claimed or the time, place, nature, and circumstance giving rise to the claim. All claims shall be filed within one hundred eighty days after the date of substantial completion of the construction project.

(2) A construction contract entered into by any political subdivision of this state may provide the name and location of the office in which a claim under this section may be filed. In the absence of such provision, a written claim shall be filed as follows:

(a) Claims against a city of the metropolitan, primary, first, or second class shall be filed with the appropriate city clerk;

(b) Claims against a village shall be filed with the village clerk;

(c) Claims against a county shall be filed with the county clerk; and

(d) Claims against any other political subdivision shall be filed with the person who executed the contract on behalf of the political subdivision or that person's successor in office.

(3) The applicable political subdivision shall issue a decision on the claim within ninety days after receipt thereof. If no decision has been issued after such period, the claim shall be deemed to be denied in whole and the claimant may commence an action in accordance with subsection (4) of this section.

(4) If a claim is denied in whole or in part, a claimant may bring a civil action on the claim. An action under this subsection may only be brought within two years after the denial of the claim or the date upon which the claim is deemed to be denied. Any such action shall be in the nature of an original action and not an appeal and shall be commenced in the district court of the county in which the construction project at issue was located. Either party may appeal from the decision of the district court.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of law in Chapters 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 23, claims against a political subdivision of this state arising from construction performed for such political subdivision shall be governed by this section.
